Feeding Our Neighbors' a 'Pro-Life' Collection, Cardinal Says

By MARY ANN POSEY

Cardinal Timothy Dolan led off this year's "Feeding Our Neighbors" food collection for the newly opened occasion of the Feast of the Holy Family on Jan. 8, 2013. He was joined by Catholic Charities officials and food campaign partners including the United Jewish Appeal (UJA) Federation of New York and Knights of Columbus—and scholarships who helped fund a Catholic Charities mobile food pantry and a Bronx Jewish Community Center kitchen with other non-perishable foods.

"Everybody takes about hunger and how bad it is," the cardinal said, "and our politicians argue about it, do laws about it, but the truth is, everybody cooks. It's a disconcerting thought."

The cardinal said it's appropriate to have the kitchen continue on the day after the holiday honoring the civil rights leader the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.
