coverage through Qualified Health Plans, Child Health Plus, Essential Plan and Medicaid, where it insures 18 percent of such patients in New York.

Fidelis Care has been governed by a board, together with the bishops of each diocese in New York state serving as members.

"In recent years, Fidelis Care has recognized that providing health insurance is rapidly changing and increasingly complex in this uncertain regulatory environment...Centene is the largest operator of state-sponsored health care in the country, and is well-positioned to continue the successful management and operation of Fidelis Care in providing quality care to poor and low-income New Yorkers."

"Centene's scale, expertise and resources, including its advanced data, analytics and state of the art technology, will help Fidelis Care improve members' health, enhance the overall member and provider experience, support affordability and access to health care and expand Fidelis' grassroots, community-based approach, while continuing to serve all those covered by Fidelis."
