

Doylestown
Presbyterian Church

Be a bridge for Christ and a beacon of His love

Doylestown Presbyterian Church invites the community to attend “A Service of Light in the Midst of Darkness.”

The service takes place Sunday, November 19 at 4 pm in the Sanctuary (127 E. Court Street) and can also be viewed online at www.dtownpc.org/watch-us-live

As the holidays approach, joyful celebration is the theme. For many, however, the death of a loved one makes it difficult to participate. This Service of Light is a place to honor our grief, find comfort through music and scripture, and gain hope and strength for the days ahead. Doylestown Presbyterian Church Deacons will read scripture, Pastor Pauline Sexton will offer a hopeful meditation entitled “Treasures in Darkness,” and beautiful music will be provided by soloist Gina Ricci along with DPC Organist Rev. Dr. Mina Choi.

Those viewing online are encouraged to have a candle on hand to light during the service in memory of loved ones.

What: A Service of Light in the Midst of Darkness

Where: Doylestown Presbyterian Church, 127 East Court Street, Doylestown, PA. Join in the sanctuary building or online at www.dtownpc.org/watch-us-live

When: Sunday, November 19 at 4:00 pm

Questions may be directed to Christian Menno, Director of Communications, at christianm@dtownpc.org