

Father Paul Kang, 56, Served as Parochial Vicar of Three Parishes

Father Paul Chin-Yong Kang, a former parochial vicar of three parishes in the archdiocese, died June 22. He was 56.

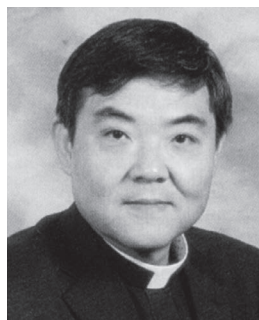

He was parochial vicar of Our Lady of Mount Carmel parish, Poughkeepsie, 1993-1995; St. Patrick's, Staten Island, 1992-1993; and St. Ann's, Ossining, 1991-1992.

Since 1998, he had worked outside the archdiocese, including at a parish in Korea. He also served for three years in New Jersey, beginning in 1995.

He was born in Seoul, Korea, and his family was not Catholic at the time. According to a profile about Father Kang published in CNY in 1991, his introduction to the Church came when he was in sixth grade and went to Mass at Immaculate Conception Cathedral in Seoul with Catholic friends.

He wanted to know what the ceremony meant, and a friend spoke to a nun, who gave him a catechism. He studied it and began attending religious instruction. He was baptized at age 15 in 1977.

He became an altar boy and served

Father Paul Chin-Yong Kang

Mass for the late Cardinal Stephen Kim of Seoul. At age 16, he entered preparatory seminary, Holy Ghost High School. After graduation he began seminary studies at Seoul Catholic College.

In 1983, his family immigrated to the United States. They settled in Flushing, Queens, and went to Mass at St. Philip Neri parish, the Bronx. They became parishioners of St. John Nam in the Bronx.

Guided by the pastor, Father Simon H. Nam, he entered St. John Neumann Residence in 1984 before studying at St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie. He was ordained in 1991 at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

He earned a master's degree in divinity and a bachelor's in sacred theology from St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, and a bachelor's in philosophy and theology from St. John's University in Queens.

A Funeral Mass was offered June 26 at the Catholic Korean Church of St. Paul Chong Ha-Sang in Flushing, Queens.

Burial was at St. Charles Cemetery, Farmingdale.

specific proposed legislation, such as that working its way through the California legislature or proposed in Australia in response to a government inquiry into the sex abuse crisis.

"The priest, in fact, comes to know of the sins of the penitent 'non ut homo sed ut Deus'—not as a man, but as God—to the point that he simply 'does not know' what was said in the confessional because he did not listen as a man, but precisely in the name of God," the Vatican document said.

"A confessor's defense of the sacramental seal, if necessary, even to the point of shedding blood," the note said, "is not only an obligatory act of allegiance to the penitent but is much more: it is a necessary witness—a martyrdom—to the unique and universal saving power of Christ and His Church."

The Vatican document also placed the question of secrecy in the larger context of a "cultural and moral 'involvement'" that seems incapable of "recognizing and respecting" essential elements of human existence and life in the Church. Too often, it said, "the judgment of public opinion" is invoked as the highest court, and people feel free to publish or broadcast anything with the excuse of letting the public be the judge without concern for a person's conscience, reputation and right to defend him- or herself. —CNS

Margaret Barrett, Mother of Priests

Margaret Barrett, mother of Father Michael Barrett and the late Father Brian Barrett, died June 24. She was 94.

Father Michael Barrett, a priest of Opus Dei, is the pastor of St. Agnes parish, Manhattan, and Father Brian Barrett, a priest of the archdiocese, served as professor of moral theology at St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, before his death in 1996.

Born in Manhattan and raised in the Bronx, she was a graduate of Cathedral

High School and St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, both in Manhattan.

Her daughters, Aileen Ferrick, Marie Clifford and Teresa Hamdan, also survive her as well as 10 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and her sister, Anne Murphy. Her husband of 52 years, Patrick Barrett, predeceased her.

A Funeral Mass was offered June 28 at St. Joseph's Church, Bronxville. Burial was in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Hawthorne.
