GUIDE

2021

A GREAT GIFT—The 43 Catholic high schools in the archdiocese are places where excellence abounds and students step toward the future in the classroom, on fields of play and in learning about their faith. Clockwise, from top left: Cardinal Dolan speaks to students at Moore Catholic High School on Staten Island, where he dedicated a new athletic field in May; football was a spring sport in the 2020-2021 year as shown in this March contest at John F. Kennedy Catholic Preparatory School in Somers; students share a Sprite toast as the Academy of Mount St. Ursula in the Bronx marked its 165th anniversary last October; and students at Iona Preparatory School in New Rochelle focus on their lessons in March. The pages of this section are filled with information about each of the high schools.

CONVENT OF THE SACRED HEART

Convent of the Sacred Heart, 91st Street is a pre-K through grade 12 all-girls' school founded in 1881. Part of an international network of Sacred Heart schools, 91st Street allows students to study abroad as well as throughout the United States. The Exploring Entrepreneurship program, a collaboration between 91st Street and a Sacred Heart school in Atherton, Calif., gives students a unique opportunity to engage with some of the world's leading finance and technology companies.

At Sacred Heart, students are empowered to take intellectual risks. Students learn how to progressively cultivate skills of critical analysis, creative thinking, leadership and ethical judgment. We offer more than 90 courses so students have a variety of academic and intellectual interests. A low teacher-student ratio fosters strong connections between students and teachers.

Sacred Heart's FutureLab Project is transforming the school's science and technology program and spaces. Scheduled for completion in fall of 2022, FutureLab will include a digital media lab, two MakerSpaces, seven science labs, two additional multi-purpose classrooms, and more. The project creates extraordinary opportunities for students in science, technology, engineering, and math.

Sacred Heart also boasts a 50-000-square-foot Athletics and Wellness Center, which hosts both P.E. classes and practices for over a dozen Sacred Heart competitive sports teams.

The Athletics and Wellness Center offers a 25-yard, six-lane regulation-size pool, a regulation-size gym, a strength and conditioning studio, an athletic trainer room, a dance studio, and 2,000

DOMINICAN ACADEMY

Dominican Academy (D.A.) stands alone as the only all-honors Catholic college preparatory school for girls in New York state. Founded in 1897 and sponsored by the Dominican Sisters of Peace, D.A. celebrates its 125th jubilee this year. In 2017 and 2018, D.A. renovated its landmark mansion on the Upper East Side to add classrooms, an expanded student cafeteria and updated security and technological infrastructure. Dominican Academy has been twice named a Blue Ribbon School of Excellence by the U.S. Department of Education, is accredited by the New York Association of Independent Schools (NYSAIS) and the Middle States Association, and has received honorable mention from the Catholic High School Honor Roll. It was honored by Niche school rankings as the No. 3 Catholic girls' high school in New York state for 2021.

Students commute from New York City, Westchester, Long Island, Connecticut and New Jersey to benefit from D.A.'s rigorous curriculum and family-like atmosphere.

D.A. offers an All-Honors and Advanced Placement curriculum, including over 15 A.P. courses, ranging from art history and U.S. government to environmental science and computer programming. Students may choose from more than 20 elective courses across various disciplines.

There are more than 30 clubs and extracurricular activities available to D.A. students, including Student Council, campus ministry, Student Prints (newspaper), yearbook, literary journal, Mock Trial, Pre-Med Society, Dance Club, Women's Empowerment, Students of Color Alliance, and Girls Who Code. Students participate in monthly liturgies, annual retreats and a four-year service learning program. Annual opportunities for travel abroad are open to all students and their families.

The athletic program includes intramural tennis, and these varsity sports: basketball, soccer, softball, swimming, cross country, indoor and outdoor track and volleyball. The varsity soccer and volleyball teams were division champions in their most recent seasons.

Enrollment: 248 students. 100 percent of graduates attend four-year colleges and universities in the U.S. and abroad. Cristo Rey New York High Cheers Visit of First Priest Alumnus

By CHRISTIE L. CHICOINE

You might say Homecoming came early at Cristo Rey New York High School in East Harlem.

Father Steven Gonzalez—a 2010 alumnus who has the distinction of being the first priest ordained from the school—returned to campus for a visit Sept. 17 after concelebrating the 8 a.m. Mass of the Holy Spirit next door at St. Cecilia and Holy Agony Church.

Cardinal Dolan served as principal celebrant and homilist, and Father Peter Mushi, the pastor, also concelebrated.

The liturgy marked the first time the student body was assembled together in person since the global coronavirus pandemic caused classes to go remote 18 months ago.

“We believe with all our heart and soul,” Cardinal Dolan said in his homily, “that everything that is good and true and beautiful, and noble, enlightening, inspirational, uplifting—everything that enhances the dignity of the human person and fosters the sacredness of all human life—all of that comes from God.”

And one of the best ways those aspirations are accomplished, he said, is through Catholic schools.

Father Gonzalez, 28, who was ordained at St. Patrick's Cathedral in May, is renowned at Cristo Rey for his acting chops as the lead in the school musical about Buddy Holly. That was evident as Cardinal Dolan and Father Gonzalez toured the school after the liturgy. A highlight was their visit with English department chair Sister Jude Biank, S.C.C., who directs the school plays; she taught Steven Gonzalez in English class and directed him when he played Buddy Holly his senior year.

An audio recording of Father Gonzalez singing from his performance as Buddy Holly over a decade ago was playing as the cardinal and Father Gonzalez greeted Sister Jude.

“It's so surreal to be back,” Father Gonzalez told CNY after the tour. Cristo Rey, he said, “was my first introduction to Catholic school.”

He appreciated Sister Jude's “beautiful” gesture of playing a recording of his performance. “I'm very close to Sister,” he said and “was always very close to Sister as a student.”

His experience on stage as a student actor at Cristo Rey helps him today in the church sanctuary as a priest. He is a parochial vicar at Our Lady of Angels parish, the Bronx, and part-time chaplain at Cardinal Hayes High School, the Bronx.

“Certainly, that was one of the things they taught us in the drama club, how to have a stage presence, how to feel comfortable speaking in front of people,” he said. “It was introduced here.”

“I rarely get any stage fright,” he added with a laugh. “Being able to convey the message of God, being an instrument of God's mercy, and that they have a real encounter with the Lord, that's my hope and my prayer,” he said of the homilies he preaches to the congregation.

Adriana Duran, a senior, was among the student ambassadors who guided the cardinal on the tour. “The Mass was lovely,” she told CNY. “I just felt the presence of the Holy Spirit. It set us off to a good start.”

“It's always a pleasure to represent Cristo Rey,” Adriana added of her role as an ambassador. “This is my home. I love Cristo Rey and I'm down to assist Cristo Rey in any way possible.”

Cristo Rey, located at 112 E. 106 St. in Manhattan, opened in 2004, supported by three congregations: Jesuits, De La Salle Christian Brothers and the Society of the Holy Child Jesus. The president is Daniel Dougherty. Rose Batista is the principal.
