

County Board Approves New Hire, More Help For Assessors Office

by Kyle Herschel

After a month without a supervisor of assessments, the Montgomery County Board believes they may have a solution to the overworked and overwhelmed staff in that office.

The Supervisor of Assessments (SOA) office has been shorthanded since the resignation of past SOA Kendra Niehaus, who submitted her resignation on June 10, with her last day in office coming on June 27. Adding to the trouble were retirements and resignations that left the office with just one employee, Michaela Gray, who has been shouldering the full workload.

During the monthly meeting of the Montgomery County Board, Chairman Doug Donaldson introduced Niehaus' possible successor, Tysha Mullen, who was approved as chief deputy assessor at the meeting.

Mullen comes to the position after serving as chief operating officer for the Montgomery County Housing Authority. Development and Personnel Committee Chairman Chad Ruppert said that Mullen is currently enrolled in classes to become SOA certified and would be a candidate for that position once those classes are completed.

Board member Patty Whitworth asked if Mullen was guaranteed the job once she was certified. Both Donaldson and Ruppert said that wouldn't be the case and the hiring of the position still had to be approved by the personnel committee and the full board.

In addition to Mullen's hiring, the board also approved a contract with Property Evaluation and Tax Advisors (PETA) for a per month cost of just over $14,000. Ruppert said that the office currently ranks near the bottom in efficiency in the state, but he believed that PETA will help get the office back on track, keep it from falling further behind and set it up for success in the future.

Donaldson added that PETA said they would work with the company on a month-to-month basis and would only stay as long as they were needed in the office.

Board member Evan Young asked where the money to pay for PETA was coming from. Donaldson said since they were not paying an SOA salary, most would come from there, with Ruppert estimating that three quarters of the cost would come out of the office's budget.

Board member Ethan Murzynski asked if Gray was also taking the classes to become SOA certified. Donaldson said she was and might be interested in the position down the road. Board member Bill Bergen asked if she was interested in the position now, with Donaldson saying no and that it was more of a long term goal.

Later in the meeting, the board approved a $3,000 bonus for Gray, with Finance and Budget Committee Chairman Andy Ritchie saying he had received good reports about her work in the office.

Ritchie added that she was able to successfully open the 2025 board of review for complaints and has handed out some complaint packets, but has not received any packets back yet. He also thanked the board for approving PETA's hiring as there are 170 township changes and the additional help will be crucial for inputting those changes correctly.

Little Action Taken At Nokomis Council Meeting

by Ben Schwarm

Despite a long executive session held by members of the Nokomis City Council at its regular Monday, Aug. 11 meeting, few issues were actually brought forward for a vote.

In the brief open meeting portion of the council session, perfunctory motions were approved to accept the past meeting minutes and for the approval of the monthly bills. The council also approved a building permit for the property at 301 W. State St., as well as granting a business district grant to that property in an amount up to $25,000.

The property was the site of the former Standard Oil gas station and is being renovated for the "Farmer's Station" shop which will offer fresh produce and meat products and will include a drive through window for ready-to-eat food service.

The council then went into a closed executive session to discuss, according to the agenda, "the setting of a price for the sale or lease of property owned by the public body" and "disciplinary action with respect to police personnel."

After well more than an hour in the private session, the council returned to the open meeting and announced that no action had been taken in the executive session and adjourned without further comment.

Mayor Dylan Goldsmith and commissioners Mike Glenn, Tisha Morris and Charlie O'Malley were present at the meeting. Commissioner Scott Arkebauer was absent.

The Illinois Review Board has approved the certificate of need for major infrastructure modernization at Hillsboro Health (formerly Hillsboro Area Hospital) this August. The project, which is expected to begin in 2026, will include replacement of the central utility plant, expansion of surgery services and renovation to the hospital's front lobby.

Review Board Approves Hillsboro Health Updates

The Illinois Health Facilities and Services Review Board officially approved Hillsboro Health's Certificate of Need application for a construction project at its main hospital campus on Tuesday, Aug. 12. This critical infrastructure upgrade is designed to modernize facilities, expand outpatient surgery services and ensure continued access to high-quality care for the Hillsboro community and surrounding areas.

The proposed building project includes three major components:

- Central Utility Plant Upgrade: Replacement of aging mechanical systems to improve energy efficiency, reliability and support future growth.

Hillsboro School Board Prepares For First Day

by Isaiah Atkins

While students are enjoying the final few days of summer vacation, the Hillsboro School Board was informed on Tuesday evening, Aug. 12, that maintenance staff and construction crews are on track to have the new high school ready to go for the first day of school on Monday.

District maintenance supervisor Fred Butler shared with the board that all the schools' various summer projects are wrapping up and that they will all be ready come Monday. Regarding the new high school, "There are a lot of little things still to do," Butler said. "We will be ready to go come Monday." Superintendent Hope McBrain thanked Butler and his crew for "pushing really hard to have the school ready for students on Monday."

The new practice gym area will not be completed by the start of the school year, Butler explained, with plans to install the gym floor on Monday, beginning a four-week process. "All the materials are on-site and ready to go, but we have to get the gym floor down," Butler said.

"The concession stand will be ready, and the bathrooms are ready. The gym is the main unusable space."

Demolition of the old building is down to the final foundation, McBrain said, with a chance to be completed by Monday. Considering parking lots, McBrain said that the tentative goal is to have the new lots finished around the end of the first quarter.

After being directed to develop a district budget for FY26, McBrain presented a "definitely tentative" budget for the current fiscal year.

The LST 325 will visit Alton's riverfront on Sept. 18-22 with public tours available. Photo courtesy of USS LST Ship Memorial

World War II Ship Will Host Fall Tours In Alton

A piece of world maritime history, the LST 325, will dock at the Alton Riverfront Sept. 18-22 and be open for public tours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Admission for these self-guided tours is $20 for adults, $10 for those six to 17 years of age and free for kids five and under.

Visitors to the LST 325 will meet the ship's crew who will provide detailed descriptions of the role the LST ships played during U.S. wars and honor the men who served on the ships. The ship, which was used in the invasion at Omaha Beach on D-Day, is one of 1,051 LSTs built in the U.S. during World War II, and is the only remaining working LST in the country.

"This is an important piece of our World War II history and we are pleased to welcome the LST 325 to Alton," Cory Jobe, president and CEO of the Great Rivers and Routes Tourism Bureau said.

The LST ships could carry 20 Sherman tanks in the hold of the ship and 30 to 40 trucks, tons of fuels, ammunition or supplies and soldiers. The LSTs were used during World War II and the Korea and Vietnam conflicts. The Landing Ship Tank (LST) measures 328-feet-long.

Present during the World War II invasion of Omaha Beach on D-Day, June 6, 1944, the LST 325 was also in Sicily, Italy, on July 10, 1943. It was one of the first LSTs to be built in the U.S. at the U.S. Navy Shipyard in Philadelphia.

Other ships were built on the Illinois River at Seneca and on the Ohio River in Pittsburgh, PA, and Evansville, IN. Shipyards completed construction of an LST ship every five days and then workers, welders and equipment installers boarded the vessels and completed the work while they were enroute down the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico.

During World War II, the LST 325 made more than 42 round trips from England to France, supplying allies with fuel, ammunition and other supplies. The LST took wounded soldiers back to England, serving as a hospital ship. On one of her trips, the crew rescued 600 soldiers in the North Sea after their ship was torpedoed and sunk.

The LST 325 has a home port of Evansville, IN.

• Surgical Services Expansion: Construction of an 11,000-square-foot addition to house two new operating rooms, a procedure room, post-surgery recovery suites and a modern central sterilization area.

• Enhanced Patient Experience: Renovation of the hospital's front lobby and construction of a new entrance canopy to improve accessibility and the overall patient and visitor experience.

Much of the hospital's current infrastructure dates to its original construction in 1975. This project will replace outdated mechanical equipment and surgical spaces with modern, efficient and patient-centered designs that reflect today's standards of health care delivery.

"This project represents a significant investment in the future of health care in our area," said Hillsboro Health President and Chief Executive Officer Michael Alexander. "Upgrading our infrastructure and expanding outpatient surgery capabilities ensures patients have access to high quality health care without having to travel long distances. This growth will also enable us to continue to serve our community for generations to come."

Construction is expected to begin in early 2026 with completion targeted for late 2027.

One notable change (~$950,000) from FY25 to FY26 is that the district will not receive ESSER grant funding this year. The grant funds were used to fund building and construction needs.

The other big difference is regarding state funding for certain mandated categoricals, which McBrain said the state is predicting that the district will not receive all of the money they have received in the past. "It's a pretty bleak outlook in terms of what we are going to receive for state funding," McBrain said. While not affecting evidence-based funding (EBF) or corporate personal property replacement tax (CPPRT), it will affect the reimbursements received for special education, transportation, driver's ed, etc. "We are looking at receiving 73 percent reimbursement this year, compared to last year's 79 percent," McBrain said. Reimbursement for private facilities, such as alternative schools and sites, is expected to go from 80 percent to 40 percent.

On the expense side of the Ed Fund, the biggest change this year is in salaries, where retirements (and their subsequent lower-salaried replacements) led to a decrease.

Coaching salaries were updated for FY26, with several adjustments to align with coaching stipends and officiating expenses, along with more equitable funding to some of the programs that were not receiving a supply budget.

Retirement, IMRF, and Tort are funds that have been underlevied in the past, with expected deficits in the budget, albeit not as far in the red as in previous years.

All in all, total operating funds are projected to be $584,352 in the black, or $731,530 without Tort, both good numbers. "I think we are in a pretty good spot," McBrain concluded. "I am concerned about how we will continue that moving forward if the state doesn't provide some of those reimbursement models."

She added that she expects the budget will shift quite a bit over the next month as they continue working on it. The tentative budget will remain on file for public inspection for 30 days until an FY26 budget hearing at the next school board meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 16, at the unit office.

Superintendent McBrain and the school administrators across the district took time to introduce much of the new district staff that has been hired for the upcoming school year. Coffeen principal Marci Gutierrez introduced Coral Christian, who is coming aboard as a pre-K teacher, as well as aides Tia Niehaus and Hannah King and Kim Leible as a trained home visitor.

Beckemeyer Principal Zach Frailey introduced his three new teaching hires, all in the third grade hallway: Madison Hamby, Alli Suess, and Chloe Mattson. Four aides have also been brought on board: Ronald Newton, Reagan DeVasher, Audra Moore, and Gloria Holt.

New junior high principal Adam Haston introduces the new faces at HJHS, beginning with aides Tammy Bauman and Erin Gile. Cassidy McGaughey and Steven Fenske were hired as special education and seventh-grade science teachers, respectively.

HHS Principal Blake Lipe introduced new high school chemistry teacher Erin Caveny.

Additionally, McBrain introduced new junior high dean of students Dan Stewart and new curriculum director Autumn Amling. "We are fully staffed and running. We feel good about where we are at," McBrain said, adding that she is looking forward to the school year.

The present board voted unanimously to approve the consent agenda, along with last month's proposed policy recommendations and a change order to the construction project, paving the north parking lot with concrete instead of chip and oil. All votes passed 6-0, with Board President Matt Lentz absent.

McBrain presented the 2025 administrator and teacher salary and benefits report, which is available on the school website.

The board also voted unanimously to again approve the hiring of Scheffel Boyle to conduct the district audit for fiscal year 2026.

In good news reports, McBrain reported that the district has been notified they will be receiving the Energy Grant funds they applied for, although the specifics are still to be announced. The funds are not presently included in the tentative FY26 budget.

High school principal Blake Lipe thanked Fred Butler and his team for their hard work getting the high school ready for the new year, citing the significant progress in the last ten days.

At 7:44 p.m., the board motioned to move into closed session. Following the closed session, the board approved the employment of bus aides Tabatha Dewitt and Michelle Bergman, part-time business teacher and technology support specialist Laura Rench, junior high science teacher Steven Fenske, teaching assistants Erin Gile, Audra Moore, and Gloria Holt, volunteer junior high softball coach Carly Boden, and volunteer high school tennis coach Emma Dixon. The meeting adjourned at 8:42 p.m.

Finance and Budget

In other business in the finance and budget committee, Ritchie reported that the Capital Improvement and Coal Fund reports had a June payment of $170,361.72, which he believed put the funds over one million dollars for the year.

Ritchie also reported that the contract with Bruce Harris and Associates for the Geographic Information System (GIS) update is ready to be signed, with an initial fee not to exceed $22,003.31, plus a monthly fee of $752 for support. Ritchie said that is less than what the county currently spends with current GIS provider, Beacon.

Ruppert asked if there was a transition date to switch over to the new website. Ritchie said between six weeks and two months.

The board approved the contract and an updated pre-approved payment list. Ritchie spoke about a training reimbursement policy, which would require employees to repay training costs if they leave their position before a certain date. County Clerk Sandy Leitheiser suggested the policy and will continue to research what other areas do before a completed policy is brought to the board.

The county was also able to void its assessment contract with Grisham/Walshville/East Fork townships, who now have a township assessor. Ruppert asked if that assessor would be afforded the same access to the county's software as North Litchfield's assessor. County Coordinator Mike Plunkett said that North Litchfield is considered a test case for the county's IT department and if everything goes smoothly, they hope to do the same with the aforementioned townships and possibly Hillsboro Township as well.

The county will also begin the budget process later this month, with hearings scheduled for 8 a.m. on Thursday, Aug. 28, with Bellwether. Ritchie said that preliminary information suggests that the county can expect a six figure surplus and that they will look closely at over-appropriations and credit and debit card usage.

Roads and Bridges

In roads and bridges committee, Committee Chairman Ethan Murzynski said that the cost of the culvert replacement on Hill Circle will be $26,000, with the county covering half that amount. Murzynski also spoke about the Arches Rail Trail, which is in need of repair due to motorcycles and ATVs using it.

County Engineer Cody Greenwood spoke about the Walshville Road improvement project, saying that the state archeological department is doing tests and has contacted nearby land owners, and a request to vacate streets and alleys in Zanesville Township.

Greenwood said that attorneys for landowners asking for the streets to be vacated gave a plat to the county clerk's office, but he needed guidance on the next step of the process. County Clerk Leitheiser said that the area is part of an area called Leesburg and the streets were platted, but never developed.

State's Attorney Andrew Affrunti, joining the meeting remotely, said that there needed to be a petition signed by two-thirds of the land owners. Donaldson said he believed three landowners were involved, so just two would be needed for the petition. Plunkett added that something similar had been done with half of Van Burensburg and he expected another petition to vacate the other half in the future.

Greenwood also gave an update on the heavy equipment shed, saying that they went a cheaper route on some items, such as fewer windows, in order to reduce costs. He added that they were expected to hang ceilings on Aug. 13, with overhead door installation coming in a week or two.

Buildings and Grounds

In buildings and grounds committee business, the board approved a bid from Henson Robinson for two high efficiency boilers, which will replace three cast iron boilers, for a cost of $70,592. Committee Chairman Mark Hughes said that Maintenance Director Phil Ernst was able to find a grant from Ameren to cover $3,500 of the cost.

Jaytech Water Solutions also took water samples for county buildings and had suggestions on chemicals that could be added to improve water quality and efficiency in some equipment.

Hughes also spoke about three dead trees that needed to be removed from near the jail, adding he hoped the highway department could help with the project, and heating and cooling problems in courtroom three in the Montgomery County Courthouse. Hughes said he believed they have a solution to the problem and are getting bids to install a mini-split.

The county is also getting bids for work involving the Illinois Clean Lighting Act and Ameren, who will provide lighting upgrades, with the county just paying for labor.

Hughes closed out his report by thanking Rob Smith of RL Contractors for pouring concrete, Hillsboro Rental for donating use of a post hole digger and Jeff Dunn for painting the pole for the new historical marker on the grounds of the Historic Courthouse.

Development and Personnel

In the development and personnel committee report, Chairman Ruppert said that bids were being sought to enclose the front porch of the animal facility, there are fewer animals at the facility than at the previous meeting and that Animal Control Warden Trish Papin has implemented a call log to give the board a better idea of what they are doing, adding that they responded to their fourth call that day just before the meeting.

Papin added that the animal control now has a verbal agreement with Dr. Stacey Funderburk of Countryside Vet Services for veterinary needs in Dr. Alan Probst's absence. She added that Dr. Funderburk may be able to help with lower cost spaying and neutering for the animals at the facility.

Papin said another source of low cost spaying and neutering services, the Animal Protective League, is short-handed as a new veterinarian is coming from out of the country and is having difficulty with immigration.

She also thanked County Clerk Sandy Leitheiser's office for donating expired first aid kits, which are able to be used for the animals.

The board also approved siting permits for CF IL Solar (Farmersville), RDC IL N. 24th Solar (by Harvest) and both Atticus Solar and Finch Solar (Route 127 south of Hillsboro), each with five to six conditions. Board member Evan Young voted against the RDC IL N. 24th Solar and the Finch Solar projects.

During public comments, Bill Schroeder expressed concern over the number of solar projects in the county and suggested putting a cap on that number and how many acres they can use. He said that the county or someone will end up with a lot of useless equipment at some point when these projects have exceeded their lifespan and it will be up to taxpayers to pay for it.

After Schroeder spoke, Evan Young mentioned that there is not much the county can do if the solar companies meet the criteria required by the state.

"We have ad hoc committees doing this, that and the other thing," Schroeder responded. "When are we going to be our own regulators? When are we going to have a say in what actually affects our community?"

During the discussion on the permits, Ruppert said that the county has to abide by the state guidelines, but all solar contracts have to have reclamation clauses included if the solar company goes bankrupt.

Later in committee business he added that the county is continuing to work on its Montgomery First program, which would encourage projects like the solar farms to recruit local labor and buy from local vendors.

In other business, Ruppert reported that the county had been fully reimbursed for projects through phase one of the Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity (DCEO) Energy Transition Grant and were working on phase two. Plunkett added that the county was notified that day that applications for the third phase were now being accepted. This will be the final year the county is eligible for the grant, which was for three years after the closing of the Coffeen Power Plant.

Ruppert closed out his report by saying that the next committee meeting will be moved to Tuesday, Sept. 2, at 5 p.m. due to the Labor Day holiday, and that the committee discussed the secession resolutions regarding Indiana and that he did not believe it was in the best interest of the board to make a statement on that.

Coordinating

In coordinating committee business, Chairman Donaldson said that IT Director Kurt Watkins is working on improvements to the telephone system and the GIS system and recently completed phishing testing, which Donaldson said revealed some issues that needed to be addressed.

Donaldson said that County EMA Director Danny Hough was working on a grant to update the sirens system, but Hough received word that the county did not receive those grants.

Donaldson noted that the wooded acres ad hoc committee met on July 15 and will meet again on Aug. 19, and that the rules committee met and changed language for when the county terminates the head of a department.

Evan Young asked about the language, with board member Connie Beck saying that the new language calls for the department head to be suspended with pay until the full county board can vote on the decision.

Donaldson said that he recently attended a mayors meeting, where they discussed derelict properties and how to respond. He also spoke about the request from Bluewave Solar and Silicon Ranch Solar regarding putting a solar project on the county farm. State's Attorney Affrunti said he will look at the contract and possibly reach out to the attorney general.

The board also approved keeping the closed session minutes from meetings on March 3, March 31 and June 4 permanently sealed.

Other Business

The meeting started with Leitheiser speaking about the late Laura Cerven, who worked in the County Clerk's office and passed away on July 21. Leitheiser said that Cerven had a wonderful attitude, was always quick to help and will be greatly missed.

Before the committee reports, the board approved the mileage and per diem requests, the minutes of the last board meeting and heard the liaison reports.

Russ Beason reported as CEFS Board liaison that the Meals on Wheels program is facing financial trouble due to cuts from DOGE and other factors, like food costs. Beason said that the cost has been as high as $11 per meal, but was currently at $9 per meal for the 140 people currently receiving meals. He said that number fluctuates, but usually is around the 100 person mark.

Beason said that CEFS is soliciting donations from the community and that they are currently down $50,000 in Montgomery County.

In other liaison reports, Mark Hughes attended the MCEDC board meeting and the corporation is switching to a partnership with Rivers and Routes, Rob Corso attended the UCCI conference in Galena, Ethan Murzynski said that the 708 Board is reviewing applications and Chris Daniels said that bids are being accepted for renovating the kitchen and replacing carpet at the senior center.

Before closing out the meeting, the board approved the committee reports, a motion to pay bills and payroll and the appointments of Amy Jeffers to the Hillsboro Area Ambulance Service, Leonard Rovey to the Farmersville Waggoner Fire Protection District and Brett Holliday to the 708 Board.

Before adjourning the meeting at 6:45 p.m. Donaldson mentioned that the fall electronics recycling drive has been moved to the old highway department building on Seymour Avenue in Hillsboro, from 9 a.m. to noon on Sept. 13.

Litchfield Travelers
Tour Southern Europe In July

by Matt Vaughn

Thirty-seven Litchfield-area residents took an 11-day tour of the Alps and Mediterranean, traversing five countries and thousands of miles between July 13 and 23. Headed up by group leader and Litchfield High School teacher Shane Cress, the travelers included recent LHS grads, current students, some adult family members and four chaperones. This is Mr. Cress's sixth European summer tour that he has organized through EF Educational Tours.

After a long travel day on July 13, the group touched down in Zurich, Switzerland early the next morning before visiting the gorgeous waterfalls of the Rhine River, followed by a guided tour of Zurich's Altstadt (Old Town) with views of the Limmat River and Lake Zurich.

The Swiss portion continued the next morning with a walking tour of Lucerne to the winding Chapel Bridge and the Lion Monument, a memorial to fallen Swiss soldiers. Regarding the monument, LHS grad Selina Cochran said, "I like how it captured the Swiss spirit. It was really peaceful there." That afternoon, the travellers crossed Lake Lucerne aboard the MS Gotthard and took a cog train into the clouds as they ascended the nearly 7,000 foot Mt. Pilatus.

Recent graduate Bella Reyes described Mt. Pilatus as the highlight of Switzerland. Climbing many steps to the highest lookout point in the thin air was challenging but worth it, she said, adding that the restaurant inside the visitor's center had the "best real Swiss chocolate, not the tourist stuff."

That night, the tour group attended a Swiss fondue dinner and cultural show, complete with traditional songs, yodeling, folk dances, and the blowing of the 10 foot long Alphorn. Several LHS students and grads successfully sounded the horn. Junior Dean Gibbs recalled, "You kind of put your lips together and make a kind of spitting sound." Afterwards, recent grad Caitlyn Travis joined Mr. Cress on the stage for a folk dance.

It was an opportunity of a lifetime for 37 Litchfield students, recent graduates, family members and chaperones as they toured the southern Europe for 11 days. With the Lion of Lucerne in the background, in front, from the left are Karen Cress, Michelle Wernsing, Kim Law, Addison Farrar, Audrey Vaughn, Hunter Heyen, Amanda Lamore, Stacy Carter, Alex Gasperson, Caitlyn Travis, Bella Reyes, Marilou Crispens and Olivia Goldman. In the second row are Paul Leefers, Landon Wernsing, Noah Polus, Matt Vaughn, James Vaughn, EF tour director Sam Levi Tas, Ava Ballard, Daphney Hartel, Alex Calladine, Ella Savage, Braden Alexander, Selina Cochran and Theresa Hays. In back are Doug Wernsing, Jacob Volentine, Leslie Farrar, group leader Shane Cress, Josh Hughes, Katie Savage, Billy Gibbs, Dean Gibbs, Bill Crispens, Keith Cochran, Les Hays and Matt Goldman.

The following day took the travelers to Como, Italy for a hot lunchtime stop in the ancient city by the lake. The impressive twelfth century Cathedral of the Santa Maria Assunta dominated the central square. The heat of Como, however, was exceeded the next day as EF tour director Sem led the group to La Spezia to catch the train to the Cinqueterre region. The name, literally "five lands," refers to a series of five waterfront villages that are inaccessible by road. LHS grad Alex Gasperson recalled about riding the train, "We could see these little glimpses of the Mediterranean. And when we got off the train it was right there. Beautiful."

The day was scorching as travelers first explored Riomaggiore, where some students and graduates swam in the marina while others climbed the steep hill to explore the village above. The next train stop was Vernazza for lunch. One popular choice was handheld paper cones of fried seafood, including calamari, cod, shrimp, and sardines. The final stop of the afternoon was Monterosso al Mare, where many travelers hit the beautiful pebble beach there.

The next day's journey was through the French Riviera, including the tiny city-state of Monaco, one of the wealthiest places on the planet per square kilometer. There, travelers took a walking tour to St. Nicholas Cathedral and the Prince's Palace, decorated in red and white Monaco flags for an upcoming celebration of Prince Albert II's 20 years of reign. The city of Nice on France's Mediterranean coast was an eclectic mix of modern luxury hotels on the beachfront with the centuries-old pastel-painted buildings covered in awnings and shutters.

The next morning's jaunt to the French seaside village of Cassis included a boat cruise to explore the impressive cliffs and coves from the water. Choppy seas and salt spray made for an exciting excursion before a waterfront lunch.

For history lovers, the day's highlight was the medieval city of Avignon to visit the Palace of the Popes there, the headquarters of the Roman Catholic Church in the fourteenth century. During the bus ride there, LHS history teacher Josh Hughes took the microphone to tell the story of the conflict between King Phillip IV of France and Pope Boniface VIII. LHS grad Noah Polus said of Mr. Hughes' storytelling, "I think that was the main reason I liked Avignon so much. I've had several classes with him and like how he teaches."

The next day's walking tour in Arles focused on Dutch artist Vincent Van Gogh, who resided there between 1888 and 1889, including the notorious incident when he severed his own ear. Local guide Alexia led the group to a series of recognizable locations Van Gogh had painted. The Forum Square, where Van Gogh had painted Cafe Terrace at Night, was a popular site for selfies.

The final stop before leaving Arles was the Roman amphitheater there, which hosted gladiator combat and chariot races in the ancient Roman colony. It remains in use today, as was evident by the workers there setting up for a bullfight to be held later in the week.

Roman ruins remained the focus as the bus headed to Pont du Gard, a restored stretch of Roman aqueduct. Three tiers of massive stone arches rise 160 feet above the Gardon River. After a trip to the museum, travelers crossed the aqueduct and descended to the riverfront to swim. Several jumped down some 18 feet from a rock platform to splash in the cold mountain waters below. One who made the jump, junior Addison Farrar, remembered that it was "a little scary. I told people I was going to do it, but it was a lot higher than I thought it was."

The next day's bus ride to Spain was broken up by a morning excursion to the seaside town of Le Barcares in France for some paddleboarding. Afterwards, EF tour director Sem organized the LHS students and grads to shop in a French grocery store for a picnic lunch. Late that afternoon, the tour bus reached the last hotel, beachfront accommodations in Calella, Spain, on the beautiful Costa Brava. Most travelers spent the rest of the afternoon before dinner at the beach, splashing in the dark blue Balearic Sea.

The trip's final destination was Barcelona in Spain's Catalonia region. The morning included guided walking tours of the ingeniously designed Park Ruell and the Basilica of the Sagrada Familia. This eye-catching church defies description as competing architectural and visual styles stretch to the heavens. Studded with statues and engravings, the church's exterior showcases major bible stories. Some 20 travellers joined a bicycle tour through the city's Parc de la Ciutadela and to the waterfront. The final evening concluded with a performance of flamenco, a traditional Spanish style of singing, dancing, and guitar playing.

After many days' journey by plane, bus, train, and boat, the tour group finally made it home to Litchfield after midnight on July 24, very tired but happy to have had the travel experience of a lifetime.

Next year's trip is a tour of Germany, Austria, the Czech Republic and Italy.

Library's Main Street Scavenger Hunt Rocks

Over 30 families enjoyed deciphering clues and locating painted rocks along Hillsboro's Main Street businesses during the first annual Hillsboro Main Street Painted Rock Scavenger Hunt which ran from July 23 to Aug. 2. The activity was organized by the Junior High Summer Book Club and Hillsboro Public Library as an auxiliary activity to their summer reading selection, Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library, written by Chris Grabenstein.

The students chose 22 Main Street locations, developed clues for each location, then painted and placed the rocks in a loop along Main St. from Summer St. to the Historic Courthouse.

All participants received an embroidered "Hillsboro Main Street Painted Rock Scavenger Hunt 2025" keychain for returning the game card. Three grand prize winners were randomly drawn from all completed entries. Grand prize packages included Old Settlers ride tickets, Orpheum movie pass, Sweet Spot gift card, and Hillsboro Creamery gift certificate.

Grand prize winners were James McLaughlin, Lexi Downey and Becca Schlechte. All other participants received one of the above prizes.

The Junior High Summer Book Club and Hillsboro Public Library wish to thank everyone who participated in the scavenger hunt and to let them know that planning for the second annual Hillsboro Main Street Painted Rock Scavenger Hunt is already in the works.

Breakfast and Bingo
The Hillsboro Area Public Library will also be hosting a free community breakfast and bingo on Friday, Aug. 22, from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

Golf Ball Drop Kicks Off 12th Annual TEAM Playday

It's a two-day celebration of all things related to Lincolnwood athletics as the TEAM Playday committee prepares for this year's golf outing on Aug. 23.

The 12th annual golf tournament has a full slate of teams, but there are plenty of other opportunities to contribute to the success of Lincolnwood/Morrisonville athletics.

The festivities begin on Friday, Aug. 22, at 6:30 p.m. at Shoal Creek Golf Course in Raymond, with the Lancer coaches selling hotdogs and ribeye sandwiches to the crowd. At 7 p.m., there will be a live auction, with items ranging from items from the old Lincolnwood gym to St. Louis Cardinal tickets. The annual TEAM silent auction will also start on Friday night and will continue on into Saturday, closing at the end of the tournament.

Friday's feature event is the TEAM Golf Ball Drop, when four hundred golf balls will rain down from the Raymond-Harvel Fire Department ladder truck at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $20 per ball and can be purchased from Lincolnwood/Morrisonville athletes or Lincolnwood Athletic Director Josh Stone by email teamgolfouting@gmail.com or text 217-246-4220 and you do not have to be present to win. The two golf balls closest to the pin win $500 each, while the ball farthest from the hole wins $250.

The committee is also partnering with Your Design or Mine on a special TEAM for the Kids store, with T-shirts, tanks, polo shirts, blankets and tumblers available for purchase at teams.itemorder.com. Items can be picked up at Shoal Creek Golf Course on the day of the TEAM Golf Ball Drop with no shipping charges.

To date, the TEAM Playday has raised for Lincolnwood athletics $283,500 over the last 11 years, including $32,000 last year. This year, the committee hopes to put their money where their mouths are, literally, as some of the funds will go toward an updated sound system at the newly renovated Lincolnwood gym.

To donate to the cause, contribute an auction item, or find out how you can help, contact Dana Pitchford at 217-494-4524.

Lentz, Cooper Finish 1-2 At Mission Impossible

Walshville's Travis Lentz and Donnellson's Cooper Duff showed that the real impossible mission was keeping them off the podium as the two Montgomery County racers took the top two spots in the youth division at IXCER's Mission Impossible race on Sunday, Aug. 10.

The two 15-year-olds raced in the Super Mini (8-15) class, and posted the two best times of the day. Lentz ran a 1:04:25 to snag the top spot, with Duff coming in 91 seconds later with a time of 1:05:56. The win was Lentz's second straight in the series after taking the top spot at Pleasant Ridge in Canaan, IN, on July 20.

Two more Illinois riders also had solid runs in the younger divisions as Loami's Carter Workman was second in the 65cc (7-12) youth class and Easten Daniels was tenth out of 31 riders in the 65cc (7-12) intermediate class.

In the pro class, Morrisonville's Jhak Walker was near the front in the early going, but had to call it a day after completing the first lap in 24:43.854.

The IXCER Cross Country Racing Series will continue on Aug. 30, with round nine, Whiskey River, in Milton, KY, on Aug. 30-31.

Morrisonville Picnic Hosts Bags Tournament

The Frog Jump wasn't the only thing hoppin' at this year's Morrisonville Homecoming and Picnic. Local players enjoyed the annual Bags Tournament, held Saturday, Aug. 9. Pictured above are the first place winners, Brayden Q and Cassie Buerk. Coming in second place were Jeremy Frazier and Ron Compton, followed by Randy Boden and Andrew Herpstreith in third place and Nate Schneider and Levi Davis in fourth place.

Bremer Sanctuary was the perfect place to be as local youth enjoyed a special outdoor cooking class for kids on Saturday, Aug. 9. The program was led by Beth Groves of the University of Illinois Extension with about a dozen participants. They learned about fire safety, how to make food in a dutch oven and how to make popcorn and chicken nachos over an open fire. The program concluded with a short hike around the sanctuary to learn about what animals eat.

Litchfield drag racer Brayden Hearn picked up his third win in the Junior Dragster Thunder class at World Wide Technology Raceway on Saturday, Aug. 9, and secured a track championship in the process. Hearn Snags Championship In Madison

Litchfield drag racer Brayden Hearn picked up his third win in the Junior Dragster Thunder class at World Wide Technology Raceway in Madison on Saturday, Aug. 9, and secured a track championship the following day.

Hearn, the 11-year-old son of David and Michelle Hearn, started off the season with a win and never trailed in the points standings. His win on Saturday gave him some breathing room going into Sunday's finale, when he finished off the championship.

Damon Haberberger kept Hearn from getting too far ahead, though, winning three races and finishing 23 points back in second place in the final standings.

The Hearn family, along with a large contingent of friends and family, were hoping to celebrate a second championship as well as Brayden's older brother Timothy was in the hunt for a title in the Ranken Technical College High School series.

The Litchfield High School junior was third in the points going into the race, but slipped to fourth in the final standings after a tough weekend on the track. Friend and fellow racer Conner Awalt slipped past Hearn by making it to the finals on Saturday, finishing with 285 points, 22 more than Hearn.

Luke Beach, who won on Saturday, won the points title this season, while Bobby Meyers was second with 329 points.

While the points race at World Wide Technology Raceway is in the books, the race season isn't over for the Hearn family, who plan to be at the Twin 10Ks at Midstate Dragway in Havana next weekend.

Kade Beckmier Awarded At State Fair Contest

Sixty-five young livestock exhibitors vied for the title of "Grand Champion Overall Master Showman" on Aug. 8, during the 2025 Illinois State Fair Master Showmanship Contest.

Locally, Kade Beckmier, from Morrisonville, was named the Reserve Champion Sheep Division, representing Christian County. He is the son of Craig and Michelle Beckmier.

The exhibitors, who were the winners of their respective 4-H county contests, showcased their skills and knowledge of animal husbandry at the Illinois State Fairgrounds. This prestigious competition invites 4-H members ages 14-18 years to display their showmanship skills across three species – beef, sheep and swine. The 4-Hers were judged on their ability to handle each animal, knowledge of the species and animal husbandry, as well as overall showmanship skills.

Three winners were named for each species and scores for all three species were tallied to determine the top five winners overall.

Hunter Shike, from Sadorus, representing Champaign County, Grand Champion Overall Master Showman, while Cole Kinsella, from the village of Wyoming in Stark County, was named Reserve Grand Champion Overall Master Showman. Third place was awarded to Laikyn Parchert from Illinois City in Rock Island County, while fourth and fifth went to Nolan Hoge of Good Hope, McDonough County, and Carly Powell of Saint Augustine, Knox County, respectively.

Nearly $8,000 worth of prizes donated by sponsors were awarded this year. First, second and third place overall winners received $500, $400 and $300 cash (respectively), a new show box and other various prizes. Fourth and fifth place overall received a $200 and $100 cash (respectively) and other various prizes. Each species division winner received a $100 gift card and a zero-gravity chair. Each contest participant received a T-shirt, bucket, harness and $25 gift card.

This year marked the 25th Annual Master Showmanship Contest held at the Illinois State Fair. This year's contest was hosted by Illinois Farm Bureau. Illinois Farm Bureau Vice President Evan Hultine presented the awards. Congratulations to these outstanding young livestock exhibitors!

Shoal Creek Celebrates 35 Years

Thousands of golfers have hit the links at Shoal Creek Golf Course in Raymond and on Sunday, Aug. 3, the village took time to show their appreciation to some of them.

The nine-hole public course hosted lunch, activities and giveaways on Sunday in celebration of the 35th anniversary of Shoal Creek Golf Course, which was first proposed in 1987.

In 1988, 93 acres of farmland north of Route 48 was purchased, along with an abandoned residence, and cleared to pave the way for the new addition to the village landscape.

With more than 15,000 volunteer hours, the course was ready for golfers in March of 1990, as customers purchased three-year passes, with a plaque in the pro-shop commemorating their contribution.

Since then, Shoal Creek has hosted countless tournaments, rounds of golf with friends and high school matches for the Lincolnwood

RAYMOND SHOAL CREEK GOLF COURSE 1990 VILLAGE BOARD OF RAYMOND TRUSTEES PRESIDENT - DENNY HELD TRUSTEES: NORMAN ANCHERS, JOE MARTIN, MARK COLEBY, GLENN MITCHELL, DAN HOUGH, BOB DYRENDORF. THIS PROJECT MADE POSSIBLE BY VOLUNTEER LABOR AND CONTRIBUTION FROM THE PEOPLE OF RAYMOND AND SURROUNDING AREAS.

Thirty-five years after helping bring Shoal Creek Golf Course to fruition, Raymond Village Trustee Bruce Poggenpohl (left) and Mayor Denny Held are the last two members of the 1990 Raymond Village Board who are still serving today. The plaque, which was erected on the course's 30th anniversary, honors the board and all of the volunteers who made a public golf course in Raymond a reality back in 1990.
