Local environmentalist's lawn thrives with Long Island plants

BY SAM DESMOND

The future of domestic greenery on Long Island is a swift move away from the monoculture lawns that have dominated in Nassau and Suffolk counties for the past 100 years.

Marshall Brown, of Sayville, founder of The Long Island Conservancy along with Frank Piccininni and Mark Murray, an environmental group that has made its mission the resurgence and reinstatement of native plants on Long Island, has taken another leadership position in redoing his entire front lawn to include only species that are ecologically sound for the area.

"The conservancy is meant to fill the gap between the public and the private," said Brown, citing local officials like Town of Brookhaven supervisor Ed Romaine, Town of Islip councilwoman Mary Kate Mullen, State senator Alexis Weik, Peter Scully and Dorian Dale of the Suffolk County Parks Department, and the Bayport Blue Point Historical Association, as actively moving towards the goals of the group, with removal of invasive, non-native plants in town-owned properties.

Brown is a self-described social entrepreneur who "empowers others while building movements."

Beginning in the mid-90s, Brown was integral to many internet startups in New York City's Silicon Alley, then in the Civic Tech space, assisting them in the development of their technology and business plans.

In the 2000s, Brown was a leader in creating the public Wi-Fi movement in

New York City by lighting up 10 parks in 18 locations in four boroughs, including Time Square and Union Square.

Since 2012 until present, Brown has been standing up for the environment and for habitat restoration, for building sustainability at scale and in every community.

From 2012 to 2020, Brown was a key, instrumental part of Save The Great South Bay, a 501(c)3 nonprofit with over 15,000 members that continues to be a powerful local voice for the environment, that serves as a bridge for scientists and local communities to address the shared

The annual Sayville Rotary Beefsteak event last Thursday night, headed by Rotary president Drew Baldwin, welcomed over 350 jubilant guests, who helped raise funds for local community nonprofits and projects at the Long Island Maritime Museum. A true hometown gathering, raffle baskets and gifts were donated by Burton Interiors,

Shawn Weis, The Farm on Lakeland, Brinkmann's, Cull House, Massage for Life, Clare Rose and Sayville Ford. The popular beer truck featuring free brews was donated by congressman Andrew Garbarino. Besides the tasty beef and secret sauce on bread, with corn, tomatoes and watermelon, Roxy's Ice Cream Truck, sponsored by assemblyman Jarett Gandolfo, Legis. Anthony Piccirillo and Islip Town councilman James O'Connor, attracted long lines for their free creamy treats. The Ed Travers Band was sponsored by Long Island Community Hospital. About $25,000 was raised with over 50 Sayville Rotary members pitching in.

Proposed Dunkin' now developing community features

Civic meeting overview

BY SAM DESMOND

The Blue Point Civic Association held its monthly meeting on Aug. 1 at the Bayport-Blue Point Library.

Legis. Dominick Thorne (R-8th District) was in attendance and spoke of his ongoing efforts to have stop signs installed on the eastern and western sides of the intersection of Corey Avenue and Middle Road.

The intersection, which has increased traffic during the summer months with popular neighborhood restaurants open for patronage, has long been a point of contention with community members requesting more safety measures.

Crosswalks and signage were installed earlier this spring, and a traffic study has been authorized by the county to reexamine the foot and vehicular traffic load that the intersection bears.

In addition, the following items were discussed:

1. Future Dunkin' on the former Capital One Bank site on Montauk Highway and Blue Point Avenue

BPCA president Jason Borowski said there was some delay after the initial rush of activity, but after meeting with councilman Foley (R-5th District) and the owners of the future Dunkin', activity has resumed. "To the owner's credit, they have been very transparent and cooperative throughout the entire process," said Borowski.

The proposed Dunkin' to take over the former Capital One site on Montauk Highway and Blue Point Avenue is currently developing community feature ideas based on input from local residents.

File photo

The Pine Barren credit (all development and redevelopment requires the purchase of a Pine Barren credit to offset the added use intensity brought about by the development) is being determined.

Utility easement is needed because the overhead electric for the adjacent houses cross through the corner of the future Dunkin' property.

2. Suffolk County Main Street Grant

A field meeting was scheduled for July 28 to finalize light locations

Suffolk County approved the plans submitted in May 2021 in October 2021.

3. Five Mile Look Restoration

An initial submission was made to the Department of Environmental Conservation following community comments.

The BPCA anticipates a resubmission to the DEC later this month.

4. Blue Point Dock Renovation

The gazebo roof has been completed by the Town of Brookhaven.

5. Roe Park

The park entrance will be relocated and provided with a four-way stop.

Purgatory Creek will be opened up to the site.

Skate park input has been made by the community and is being considered.

Construction is set for a September time frame.

6. McGill Pond

A meeting took place on Aug. 3 between Thorne and councilman Neil Foley (R-5th District)

Two years ago, the pond underwent a drainage project, which dealt with the flooding issues.

According to Foley, "The pond is stagnant and in need of a lot of attention."

Later this year, a plan is in place for a solar powered pump that will bring more oxygen to the pond.

The Town of Brookhaven Highway Department will now be more attentive to removing phragmites, a common reed, and other invasive species along the pond.

The DEC will be planting native plants that will thrive in the surrounding area of the pond

7. Felice's Auto Repair

Currently, there are no open permits on the property.

The next BPCA meeting will be at the BBP Library on Sept. 12.

Public hearing held for former Mama's Family Restaurant site

Town of Islip planning board recap

BY MARIANA DOMINGUEZ

On Wednesday, Aug. 10, the Town of Islip planning board held their meeting at Islip Town Hall West. The board held a public hearing for an application from Bolla Operating L.I. The site is located at 3289 Veterans Memorial Highway and Washington Avenue on the northwest corner of Veterans Memorial Highway Ronkonkoma.

The applicant requested two planning board special permits for a fast-food restaurant switch drive-through and a retail fuel service station with a convenience market component, in the industrial corridor district. The applicant also requested permission to be located less than a quarter mile from an existing fuel service station. Site-plan modifications are also requested as part of this application.

David Altman, of Brown, Altman and DiLeo, LLP, was representing the applicant. The site is currently vacant with the applicant hoping to put in six fuel pumps with 12 fueling positions. The drive-through would be able to accommodate 17 queuing cars.

The planning department noted that the traffic consultant recommended this approval will be contingent on the proposed roadway and traffic signal improvements to both Veterans Memorial Highway and Remington Boulevard. The board voted to approve the application subject to the conditions brought forth by the board, and subject to the state's approval of the current site planning. In addition, the board included the condition that the applicant can have up to 10 seats in the site if they choose to add seating to the application.

The board also held a public hearing for an application from Hionas Enterprises LLC for a site located at 1352 Montauk Highway in Oakdale on the southwest corner of Montauk Highway and Lincoln Drive. The applicant requested two planning board special permits for a restaurant and outdoor seating as an accessory use to a restaurant, in the business 1 district. Site-plan modifications are also requested as part of this application.

SCN/Dominguez

A representative for the applicant said the site is a pre-existing pizzeria/restaurant with 90 seats and the applicant is asking for 88 seats, 60 inside and 28 outside. The site was formerly Mama's Italian Restaurant.

During the public comment section, five individuals spoke against the applicant, including the president of the Oakdale Civic Association. Many residents who live near or next to the site spoke, stating that they do not like the idea of so much outdoor seating right near their backyards and that the site is currently in disrepair and has not been maintained.

The planning board staff recommended granting the application, but after hearing input from the community about the site, the board chose to reserve a decision while the applicant addresses the community's concerns and works with planning staff on the site.

Town honors local firefighters for heroic actions

At the Town of Islip Board Meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 9, Islip Town supervisor Angie Carpenter and the Islip Town Board honored five local firefighters from three different departments for their heroic actions in the line of duty.

Firefighters Matthew Arthurs and Danny Blasucci, of the Islip Terrace Fire Department; Michael Hand, of the East Islip Fire Department; and first assistant chiefs Jared Gunst and Alden Schroeder, of the Islip Fire Department, were recognized for saving a young woman and her three dogs from a house fire earlier this summer.

Firefighters quickly responded to the home after receiving a 9-11 call from a woman stuck in the basement of a house. Islip Terrace firefighters Matthew Arthurs and Danny Blasucci were able to break a basement window and pull the woman to safety. While doing so, Islip Fire chief and Suffolk County police officer Jared Gunst, Islip fire chief Alden Schroeder, and East Islip firefighter and Town of Islip employee Michael Hand searched and rescued three canines.

Gunst, who serves as a member of the SCPD's Medical Crisis Action Team, had recently undergone tactical medical training to assist medical emergencies involving police canines. Through this lifesaving training, he was able to deliver advanced medical support to the dogs before they were transported to the Veterinary Medical Center of Long Island in West Islip.

"On behalf of myself and the town board, a sincere thank you from all of us for your exemplary deeds, and for your continued bravery and dedication to safeguard the well-being of all in our community, including our beloved four-legged friends. You are truly heroes," said Carpenter.

The woman and her three dogs have made a full recovery.

Sloth Encounters encounter scrutiny

Humane Long Island holds protest in Islip over allegedly exploited sloths

BY MEGAN NAFTALI

Sloths may be slow, but Humane Long Island wasn't slow in protesting Sloth Encounters, a business in Hauppauge where you can hold and feed sloths.

"There is no excuse for animal abuse," protesters chanted in front of the Town of Islip building on Aug. 9.

TOWN OF ISLIP

At the protest was John Di Leonardo, an anthrozoologist and the founder and president of Humane Long Island, his wife Juliana Cinone, the vice president of humane education, and about 20 other protesters supporting their cause.

"We're urging the Town of Islip to do the right thing and shut him down and send a message to other bad actors, that it is not okay to exploit wild animals within the township," Di Leonardo said.

Di Leonardo claims the sloths are being exploited, kept in "ramshackle" cages, and that they should not be kept awake during hours of operation since they are nocturnal creatures. He also said that there is footage of Larry Wallach, the owner of Sloth Encounters, "electroshocking a baby tiger with an electric prod."

Wallach maintains that his sloths are under the best care and that he uses an electric prod to train the big cats, but does not electrocute them.

"If I press the button, as long as you hear that noise, you're not electrocuting anything," Wallach said. "The other thing is, you never electrocute a tiger because tigers remember. You do something to a big cat, he'll wait, and if he doesn't see the stick, he'll kill you."

Humane Long Island also received alleged reports of a child who was bitten by a sloth on July 24 and a man who was bitten on Aug. 5 at Sloth Encounters.

"I can tell you it's an animal, and people will touch them and if they bite them, we put on a Band-Aid, notify the Board of Health, and that's it," Wallach said.

After about a half an hour, the protesters moved into the Islip Town meeting to voice their concerns and request that Sloth Encounters be shut down.

Before the meeting was open for public comment, John R. DiCioccio, the town attorney, gave an update on the town's progress involving Sloth Encounters.

"On July 25 and Aug. 1, the fire marshal's office was out at the property. They conducted multiple inspections, they issued notices of violation for change of use, for other fire code issues, and also a violation of Islip town code chapter 12," DiCioccio said. "They have until Aug. 29 to remedy. If the property is not up to compliance on that date, the fire marshal's office will go back, will issue appearance tickets, and the property owner will end up in court with the Town of Islip."

Wallach stated that the fire marshal only wrote him a citation stating he needs to put up smoke and carbon detectors, a fire extinguisher, and fix the electrical panel. He also claimed those issues were resolved on the same day.

Sloth Encounters has a permit to operate a petting zoo, which expires Dec. 31, 2023, but Islip Town supervisor Angie Carpenter stated at the meeting that they are "operating illegally" because they don't have a change-of-use permit.

Di Leonardo also claims that Wallach allegedly called him from a private number claiming he was a Newsday reporter and tried to get his home address.

"When I told him 'I know you're not Newsday. Is this Larry?' He responded by saying, 'You [expletive] dweeb. You better watch out. I'm coming for you,' and then he hung up," Di Leonardo said.

Wallach denies allegations of calling and threatening Di Leonardo and claims he already had his address because he hired a private investigator.

A change.org petition urging Carpenter to shut down Sloth Encounters has over 1,000 signatures, while a petition started by Sloth Encounters in support of the business has over 200 signatures. ■

Historical tours a big hit

The tour traverses Ocean Walk in The Pines from the eastern end to the western end of the community, and can accommodate up to 30 individuals.

Learn the history of the Fire Island Pines

BY MARIANA DOMINGUEZ

Long Island has always been known as a mecca of history, but just a ferry ride away hides another amazing historical community, the Fire Island Pines. A longtime haven for the LGBTQIA+ community, the Fire Island Pines features beautiful architecture, historical homes, plenty of celebrity gossip, and, of course, represents a big part of the gay rights movement.

To help both visitors and locals better understand the history of this special community, the founder of the Fire Island Pines Historical Preservation Society, Bobby Bonanno, created a walking tour that people can sign up for.

"I started this in 2021 and I thought it was a great idea to begin with, because we had COVID restrictions then and it was outside," Bonanno said of his initial idea.

The tour, which can accommodate about 30 people and takes Ocean Walk from the eastern end of The Pines to the western end, takes about an hour and a half and features a guided booklet and over 40 stops. Bonanno noted that the leader of the tour has a microphone, so everybody can hear.

Bonanno, who has been a resident of The Pines for over 40 years, said he got the idea for the tours when he was standing outside of a house in The Pines with a friend, and he began talking to three younger people nearby about the history of the house.

"Part of the mission of the organization is about mentoring young people, and I thought that this could be a great way to do it," Bonanno said. "I didn't want it to be so literal and so strict. I wanted it to have somewhat of a light-heartedness to it, but with information. Our topics range from architecture, parties, celebrity, to gossip. We run the gamut."

"The biggest compliment is when a young person comes up and says, 'Wow, I really love what you do and I'm so grateful.' That means we're doing our job because that's who we really want to reach."

The tours are very popular and continuously sell out, with many people from Long Island as well as neighboring Fire Island communities coming to learn some history.

"If a person can walk away from a tour with three to five things that they can share with their housemates, it's just a great thing," Bonanno said.

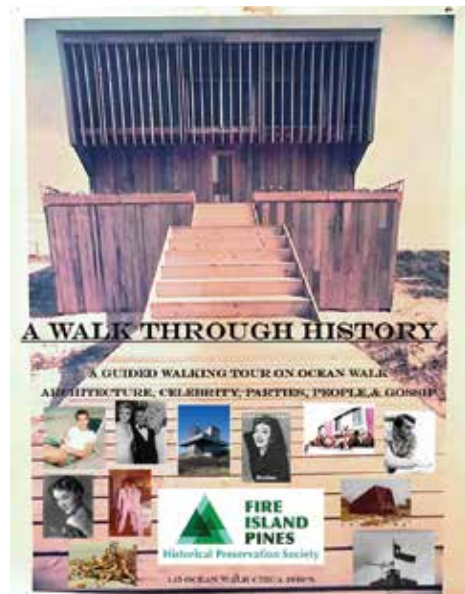

Because of the heat, the tours tend to run in the early summer as well as later in the summer. The next scheduled tours are planned for Labor Day weekend.

In addition, Bonanno said that he and the organization are currently working on a shorter 45-minute tour for next year.

"Fire Island is just a beautiful place, and it amazes me sometimes when people on Long Island tend to say they were never there," Bonanno said.

Tickets for the tours are $35 each and can be made online at pineshistory.org. The Fire Island Pines Historical Preservation Society can also be visited on Instagram and Facebook @fipines.

According to their website, "The Fire Island Pines Historical Preservation Society is a group of The Pines community members whose mission is to collect, preserve, display, and celebrate the rich and colorful history of the Fire Island Pines for present and future generations." ■

That awful smell is coming from the bay

It's no secret. The bay smells. Just take a walk down to the Davis Park Ferries on a hot, dry day, and the odor is inescapable.

But where is it coming from?

It's certainly not sewage—though the Village of Patchogue residents were the first to blame it. The village inspected the issue and sewage isn't the cause. Also, other areas without sewers are also experiencing the issue, including reports via social media from waterfront residents and businesses from East Patchogue, Blue Point, and Brightwaters.

So, what's to blame?

According to Save the Great South Bay, they have been in touch with their colleagues at the Stony Brook School of Marine and Atmospheric Science, who are investigating whether the issue is from a foreign and invasive red seaweed or another red tide.

A red tide is an event that occurs on the coastline when algae—a plant-like organism—grows out of control. Additionally, red tides often cause a rotting smell, also a very sulfurous scent.

The Japanese red seaweed was first detected on Long Island years ago and now seems to be pretty much everywhere. Like many other types of algae and organic matter, when decomposing it can emit hydrogen sulfide gas after it washes up and decays on the shore.

What's the solution?

Either way, the solution is to stop the nitrogen pollution in the bay through connecting homes and businesses to sewers rather than cesspools. The county also provides good grant opportunities, written about in this publication, for residents to install innovative and alternative on-site wastewater treatment systems (IA/OWTS). Another contributing factor is landscaping fertilizers.

Also, we can't help but think as the inlet starts to close, our waters are becoming more and more prone to filth and decomposition from unwanted intruders. Though Superstorm Sandy caused an immeasurable amount of damage, the best thing it did was help flush out the Great South Bay with cleaner and healthier waters.

As Marshall Brown said, the breach was flushing around 8 percent of the bay's water initially. Although it is indeed closing, by federal law, we must "let nature take its course." He also noted that no breach can compensate for the fact that we are doing next to nothing to curb the pollution of our surface and groundwater.

We wholeheartedly agree with him when he says it is time to go big. We need to find the money to improve out water quality. We must. Or else we will see ecological collapse.

Now that the smell's got you, are you listening?

Seafood festival returns

Local museum expects thousands in attendance

BY SAM DESMOND

The Long Island Maritime Museum's 29th annual Seafood Festival will be held this Saturday, Aug. 20 and Sunday, Aug. 21, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., and is expected to bring in over 15,000 people from all across Long Island.

Free parking is available at the Baymen Soccer Field, located at 165 Tariff Street, West Sayville, and a gratis shuttle bus will be on constant runs between the lot, the Sayville Long Island Rail Road station, and the museum. Only handicapped and vendor parking is available at the museum.

There will be over a dozen musical acts over the weekend, ranging from Stevie Nicks and Fleetwood Mac tribute bands like Gypsy, who has lead singer Diane Lutz capturing Stevie in all her witchery wonder; to Beyond Fab, who will showcase Beatles music; and acoustic sets from Rick Eberle, a favorite personality on grunge-genuflecting station 94.3.

While listening to the bands, you can have local seafood from Claws and Blue Island Oyster in the west and east pavilions, respectively.

Roasted corn, gourmet desserts, ice cream, pretzels, and popcorn will also be on hand for those who want the full carnival feel with their meal.

Over 60 arts and crafts vendors will be in attendance, with boutique and bespoke items for sale that will be perfect as gifts for the upcoming holiday season.

Children can look forward to face painting and a treasure hunt and pirate

Last held in 2019, the Seafood Festival is the unofficial goodbye to summertime as it has food, music, shopping, and sights to round out the season.

show from the Pirate Brotherhood, who will be dressed in full marauding maritime costume.

With swashbuckling tales, they will give a live presentation of the "Pirates of the Caribbean" for young ones to sing along with and search for treasure.

The origins of the Seafood Festival are not fully known, but executive director Terry Lister-Blitman believes it started as a board initiative for fundraising and grew larger each year, until it became the widespread event it is known to be today.

"I think someone must've said, 'We're a maritime institution, let's have a festival with fresh seafood, arts, and crafts, etc.,' and it just grew into the explosion we know today."

The museum's 1888 oyster sloop, the Priscilla, will be docked in the basin and open for interior tours and historical lessons, but will not be sailing the festival weekend.

Her dimensions are 60 feet in length overall, 40 feet on deck, with a 14-foot beam and 4-foot 3-inch draft. In 2006, Priscilla was designated as a National Historic Landmark.

With the weather predicted to be a perfect, cool summer breeze with sunny skies and highs in the upper 70s/lower 80s, it's the perfect way to end the season before school starts.

(Fido will have to sit this one out, as pets and coolers are not allowed at the Seafood Festival). ■

'Cooking with a Veteran' cookbook is now available

This 120-page, full color, 8.5x11 book covers 66 of author Dave Rogers's most-watched recipes on the Cooking with a Veteran Facebook page. The book also includes tips and tricks to cooking, some stories of where Rogers learned some of these dishes, images of him and grunts around the VFW world, and images of his paintings. Also, 30 percent of proceeds from each book go to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Unmet Needs Program. For a digital version of the book, you can also download on Amazon for Kindle. Apple Book will be available soon. Rogers also plans to release an audio version as well as his second cookbook late this fall, "Cooking with a Veteran II, Making it Last," which will talk about making great meals on a budget. Part of the proceeds from the second book will go to the VFW National Home.

AUGUST 1952

Joseph Fisher brought into the Suffolk County News office quite a strange specimen of vegetable. He had cut off the head of a cabbage and a day or two later, when he pulled up the roots, he found three small, but well-formed, heads, which had grown into the ground.

More than 100 pictures were shown at the third annual art exhibit of the Wet Paints Studio Group at the Community House in Sayville. Prizewinners for the evening included Henry Bejemann, first prize, watercolors and black and white; and Martin Weise, first prize, oil painting. Mrs. William Baasch was chairperson for the show.

Alfred Kennedy of Lakeland Avenue, Sayville, is appearing in "The Mad Woman of Chaillot," a comedy playing at the Gateway Theatre in Bellport.

The Bayport Little League played a father-and-son game at the school with the boys winning 15-12. Following the game, a barbecue was held at the home of David Hope on Snedecor Avenue, Bayport.

Mrs. Dean Strong was the guest of honor at a surprise stork shower given for her by Mrs. Everett Trochelman at her home on Seaman Avenue, Bayport, with her daughter, Althea, as co-hostess.

Under the leadership of Dr. Rudolph F. Herriman, 25 residents of Bayport formed the Bayport Civic Association Inc. John J. White was elected president; Dr. Herriman, first vice president; Sarah E. Morgan, second vice president; and John G. Helber, secretary-treasurer.

The choir of the First Reformed Church of West Sayville entertained after Sunday evening's service in honor of June Vanderborgh, who is to be married next week to Donald Smith, of Blue Point.

Mrs. Andrew Vanderborgh Jr. and Mrs. Richard Feyk were co-hostesses at a bridal shower given for June Vanderborgh at Mrs. Andrew Vanderborgh's home on Division Avenue, West Sayville.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Essendelft, of West Sayville, are spending a week at Niagara Falls, Howe Caverns, and in upper New York State.

Charles Keil, of Washington, is visiting his father, Dr. Peter Keil of Shore Drive, Oakdale. They have enjoyed several successful fishing trips.

Mr. and Mrs. John Newhouse, of Oakdale, entertained the members of the Patchogue Bay Power Squadron at a delightful clambake at their home.

Young Keith Sklar, age 10, of Edgewood Avenue, Oakdale, is the founder of what should prove to be the largest carnival for the benefit of muscular dystrophy in Suffolk County. Originally, Keith, who also designed games for the carnival, wanted to hold the fundraiser in his backyard, which proved too small. He then contacted the Suffolk Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, and the event was moved to Community Park on Gillette Avenue, Sayville.

Sheila M. Carberry of Hamilton Street, Sayville, a former teacher in the Sunrise Drive School, is teaching for a year in the Jonathan Wainwright School on the Air Force base in Taiwan.

Erin Madigan of Broadway Avenue, Sayville, is traveling to Montreal with the Huntington Twirlers team to appear in Expo '97. This group also won the national championship in Washington, D.C.

Steve Mandells, American history teacher at James Wilson Young High School in Bayport, returned from Australia after spending a year as an exchange teacher. While overall he enjoyed his experience, he returned without much of a tan, as he unknowingly visited during rainy season. Mr. Mandells also deemed that the Aussie's "beer is ruddy marvelous."

Army Capt. Edward B. McEvoy of Baywood Lane, Bayport, received the Bronze Star during ceremonies at Cam Rahn Bay, Vietnam, for outstanding meritori-

A farm fundraiser

Raising money and awareness for EPP

BY SAM DESMOND

With raging sun the last few weeks of summer, many enjoyed basking in the light before school starts, but for those with erythropoietic protoporphyria (EPP), typical day activities like bike riding, going to the beach, and playing outdoor sports cannot be enjoyed.

BLUE POINT

To raise funds for an EPP organization, The United Porphyrins Association, Morgan McKillop and her family decided to once again sell their produce from their evening-tended mini-farm.

The United Porphyrins Association is “committed to improving the quality of life of the porphyria patient community and is relentlessly focused on advancing disease awareness, research, and therapies in all the porphyrias,” and have a vision for “a world where patients are free from the pain and challenges of porphyria.”

“The UPA is working to support quicker diagnosis, better management, and access to treatment for the porphyria community. We feel supported knowing that UPA is working every day to help improve the quality of life for patients with porphyria,” said Morgan’s mother, Colleen.

Hosting a farm exchange this past Saturday, Aug. 13, the McKillops hope to raise as much or close to the $600 they collected last year.

The farm stand offers cucumbers (pickling and regular), green peppers (bell, jalapeno, snacking), tomatoes (grape, cherry and few other random), acorn squash, zucchini, and from a neighbor, carrots, summer squashes, and potatoes.

Morgan and her father, Ben, have grown closer by tending to their mini-farm as they cultivate and care for their crops in the early evening, when the sun is at a lower intensity and more bearable for Morgan.

EPP is a rare genetic disorder caused by the deficiency of the enzyme ferrochelatase, which is essential for the production of hemoglobin. As a result of the lack of this enzyme, there is an abnormal accumulation of protoporphyrin in the bone marrow, plasma, and red blood cells.

The major symptom of EPP is severe pain after exposure to sunlight, while some with EPP can even be sensitive to certain artificial light. Symptoms may start with tingling, itching, or burning of the exposed skin.

These phototoxic reactions are generally not responsive to pain medications and antihistamines and are usually treated with fans, cold washcloths, and hot showers.

EPP patients are advised to avoid sunlight and wear sun-protective clothing, such as long sleeves, hats and gloves.

Thirteen-year-old Morgan was diagnosed with EPP at the age of 2 and half, after going to a pediatric dermatologist when general practitioners and allergists failed to diagnose her issues, which resulted in severe swelling and an unsettling puffiness in her face and body.

“She looked like a Cabbage Patch Kid, with puffy skin and sunken eyes,” said mother, Colleen McKillop.

The early diagnosis did help in that Morgan was able to grow up accommodating her special needs as someone with EPP. Morgan’s parents guided her towards indoor sports like volleyball, basketball and gymnastics, where she excelled.

To make a donation, please visit: <https://www.porphyrin.org/>. ■

Another farm stand will be held by the McKillops on Saturday, Aug. 20, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the old Bayport-Blue Point Library parking lot.

Special-needs athletes reach elite status

Local high school hosts neurodivergent camp

BY SAM DESMOND

Inclusive Sports and Fitness (ISF), based in Holbrook, has been hosting a six-week summer camp program for students with special needs and neurotypical student-athlete mentors from surrounding high schools in Bayport-Blue Point, Sayville, and Connetquot school districts.

In total, there are approximately 120 mentors and 40 athletes, many of whom receive regular services at ISF’s state-of-the-art facility for the neurodivergent.

The summer camp is a free service that is three hours a day, four days a week for six weeks, between July and August.

Bayport-Blue Point schools provided the site for the summer camp, and BBP high school principal, Robert Haas, attended some of the events held by ISF.

“The Bayport-Blue Point School District has been a proud partner with ISF since the summer of 2014. Over the years, the summer program has operated out of several buildings, including Academy Street, Blue Point Elementary, and the high school. As a district, we are so proud of this partnership with ISF, as it not only provides a great experience for the athletes in our local area, but it allows for students of Bayport-Blue Point to serve as mentors to them,” said Haas, adding, “The development of the relationship between the mentors and the athletes has been amazing to see. The athletes have benefited from the care and support provided by the mentors, while the mentors have learned so many life lessons from their athletes.”

BBP high school junior Zachary Teufel said, “To me, ISF has meant judgment-free opportunities for everyone to have fun. I have been able to experience firsthand different people from all walks of life come together to enjoy

Choices for long-term care

Being able to care for oneself independently can be a source of pride. However, illness or age can affect people in ways that require them to seek assistance with medical needs or daily activities for an extended period of time. In such instances, long-term care services can fill a need.

Long-term care assists people in their homes, in the community or in various types of facilities with various daily and medical requirements. According to WebMD, research shows that many people are unaware of long-term care options or may be misinformed about what's out there.

Home care

Various services can be utilized in the comfort of home. According to the Knoxville-Knox County Community Action Committee Office on Aging, services can include home-delivered meals, pest control, minor home modifications, or visiting nurses and health aides. Other benefits may include shopping or physical therapy.

Community care

Community services can include adult day care centers, meal programs, senior centers, community transportation, and others. Community services enable people to continue to live in the community with some support. They also may help family or friends serving as caregivers enjoy a break from the assistance they have been providing.

It is never too early to begin planning for elder care that may include long-term care possibilities. Individuals are urged to work with an elder care lawyer to help navigate the complexities of planning for medical care and their potential financial needs.

Whether you or your loved one is in need of a companion at home, in a long term or short term facility TLC Companions Home Health Care can be of assistance in the majority of living situations.

Long Island's first Platelet-Rich Plasma Clinic

DERMADUO, INC. is Long Island's first Platelet-Rich Plasma (PRP) Clinic. The Nurse Practitioner "duo", specialize in Gynecology and Internal Medicine. They are Board-Certified medical experts and Certified by the Cellular Medicine Association to perform PRP treatments. The Nurse Practitioner-duo are extremely passionate about medicine and offer non-surgical, results-oriented aesthetic, hair restoring and sexual-enhancing treatments. DERMADUO aims to give you an experience, unlike any pampering encounter you've had before. PRP therapy is an absolutely safe healing modality that can only rarely cause any side effects. The Nurse Practitioners maintain sterile PRP preparation techniques and use FDA approved devices.

WHAT IS PLATELET RICH PLASMA?

Platelet-rich plasma consists of two elements: plasma, or the liquid portion of blood, and platelets, a type of blood cell that plays an important role in healing throughout the body. Platelets are well-known for their clotting abilities, but they also contain growth factors that can trigger cell reproduction and stimulate tissue regeneration or healing in the treated area. Platelet-rich plasma is simply blood that contains more platelets than normal.

To create platelet-rich plasma, the nurse practitioners collect your blood and place it into a centrifuge that rapidly spins the sample, separating out the other components of the blood from the platelets and concentrating them within the plasma.

WHAT TREATMENTS ARE OFFERED?

Vampire Facial, Vampire Facelift, Vampire Hair Restoration, Vampire BreastLift, Orgasm Shot, Priapus Shot, Microneedling with Hyaluronic Acid, Botox, Fillers

WHAT CONDITIONS DOES PLATELET RICH PLASMA TREAT?

Hair loss and Hair thinning in both Women and Men (Alopecia), Hyperpigmentation of the skin, Dark Circles, Cheek Volume Loss, Surgical scars, Large Pores, Loss of skin elasticity due to decreased collagen production, Changes in skin texture and color, Fine lines/Wrinkles, Aging skin, Stretch Marks, Atrophic acne scars, Decreased libido (sex drive), Breast volume loss due to weight loss or nursing, Stress urinary incontinence, Vaginal Dryness (with resulting painful intercourse) from Menopause or from Breast Cancer Treatment, Decreased ability to orgasm, Painful intercourse, Urge urinary incontinence, Lichen sclerosis, Lichen planus, Postpartum fecal incontinence, Chronic pain from trauma from childbirth (episiotomy scars), Chronic pain from mesh, Chronic interstitial cystitis

All the above are solvable conditions with a non-surgical pain-free PRP treatment. PRP is currently considered a therapeutic modality for disorders that are refractory to conventional drugs.

LI NATIVES: Plantings that help conserve water issues of the environment.

"We recognize the urgent need for habitat restoration, locally, nationally, and globally," said Brown of his co-founding of The Long Island Conservancy, which focuses on local community-driven projects, adding, "We must repair nature where we still can—in our public and commercial spaces and in our yards."

Descending from an English-nobility mentality of boasting enough land to have empty space in the form of a sprawling lawn, the American grass obsession is borne from a mindset not inclusive of the nature it's imposing on.

The first settlers of the country brought with them grasses from Europe along with their cattle. By 1672, 22 European species of weeds had taken up residence around Massachusetts Bay.

In addition, with most Long Island lawns being made up of 95 percent non-native species, there is inherent and costly waste in the maintenance with water, fertilizer, and pesticides.

Long Islanders typically use more than 50 percent more water than the average American (150 gallons per day versus 100), which Brown said is "largely attributable to our lawn fetish—watering and watering to get that perfect iridescent cartoon-green color." He continued, "As we are destroying what little native plants we have left and replace them with whatever we picked up at Lowe's or Home Depot or at the garden store, or with whatever was chosen out at some nursery (non-native most likely), we are seeing animal populations collapsing—birds, amphibians, reptiles, and most importantly, insects. No native plants mean no native insects."

Due to their natural flourishing on

Sweezy Photography

Long Island, native plants do not require extensive water, fertilizers, and pesticides because they are well-acclimated to the island's sandy, nutrient-poor soil.

Brown's own lawn, surrounding a grand historical home, has been outfitted and formed in the image of the ideal native, life-giving ecosystem.

These include ferns (sensitive, hay-scented, Christmas, brackish, sweet), milkweeds (common, butterfly, swamp), goldenrod (seaside and Canada), as well as purple cornflower, blazing star, Joe Pye weed, New York ironweed, white coneset, white aster, bayberry, beach plum, high bush blueberry, compact inkberry, blue lobelia, sweet meadow, viburnum, scarlet oak, red maple, beech, sassafras, pitch pine, and black willow, among others.

For information on how to transform your lawn into a thriving, native center for indigenous species on Long Island, please visit <https://longislandconservancy.org/about-us/>. ■

Call to Action

The trouble begins when we divide ourselves from nature in pursuit of some artificiality, which often, of course, requires we spend the money. It all ends up looking plastic and cheap, but it seems we are at the point where no one knows any better. The estrangement from nature has gone on too long. Fewer and fewer remember when our local wildlife was profuse, where the fish were abundant, before the sound of croaks and chirps began to dim.

Do your part, then. Create some native habitat in your yard. Engage in "outdoor placemaking," so that you can be amidst nature without leaving home. As you reconnect, you will find you had no idea what you were missing. We are all suffering to one degree or another from plant blindness. We are oblivious to what we are actually seeing, don't know the species or its purpose. And with the plants come the insects and birds. I am seeing a lot of butterflies these days. They are signs of hope.

physical activities and making new friends, and I am looking forward to continuing the program."

At ISF's 6,000-square-foot facility, they use proprietary metric and performance tools to customize individual plans for neurodivergent students to accommodate their particular gait, alignment, and coordination issues.

"It is very much a physical, social, emotional, cognitive behavior profile to address a child's needs holistically," said Alex Lopez, a professor of occupational therapy at New York Institute of Technology, who is one of the leaders of ISF.

"We can assess needs of the full autism spectrum and determine how the brain responds when there is a misstep in synchronicity or rhythm in physical movement," said Lopez.

While the ISF facility does not accept insurance, they charge a nominal fee of $25 per visit, similar to a co-pay.

During the camp and through the course of treatments at ISF over the year, one of the fastest runners in the program, clocking in with a 5.2-minute mile on a treadmill, has achieved up to 24 miles per hour in six- to 10-minute intervals.

"We can take average runners and make them exceptional," said Lopez. ■

August is Back To School Month

Dental care begins soon after birth. After each feeding, gently wipe the baby's gums with a soft damp cloth. Teething is the next step. To help soothe the baby, a cool teething ring can be a big help. When the teeth first appear, they should be cleaned daily with a children's soft toothbrush. This prepares the child for their first dental visit. He or she will be getting used to someone cleaning their teeth. It's OK if the baby wants to chew on the toothbrush to soothe the teething soreness. Some babies actually prefer it over the teething ring. Be sure to check the toothbrush for breakdown of the bristles; and, if so, replace it. One common problem is "baby bottle tooth decay". This occurs when the baby is given a bottle with milk, formulae, juices, soda or a pacifier dipped in honey, juice or soda. Constant contact with a high sugar content should be avoided. Only a bottle with water should be given to the baby to fall asleep.

The eruption of baby teeth occur between 6 months and 3 years old. At 5, the first adult tooth, a molar, erupts. Up to the age of 5 or 6, an adult should still brush the child's teeth. As the child's independence develops, try to "check the good brushing job" by going over it all once again. It is easiest if you stand behind the child, placing your hand over theirs and brush their teeth as if they were your own. It is important to maintain the baby teeth because they guide the permanent teeth into their proper position.

A child's 1st visit should be no later than 3 years old and should be a happy experience. Merely tell the child the dentist is going to count their teeth with a tooth counter (mirror and explorer), polish their teeth with a tooth tickler, and place a special flavored sauce on their teeth to make them really strong (fluoride). Do not say the "H" word – "hurt"; as in "It won't hurt." Try to put the visit in a very positive perspective. Then maintain their dental health with 6 month maintenance visits.

One way to prevent cavities in the future is to have sealants placed on the chewing surfaces of the back teeth. Sealants are a hard composite flowed and bonded into the grooves of the teeth. This blocks bacteria from getting into the grooves and starting decay. Most sealants last about 2 years or longer, depending on wear, and may need to be reapplied. Also, keep away from fruit roll-ups, gummy-bears, raisin, fruity chewy snacks and any other sticky high sugar foods.

To celebrate Back To School and for your child's introduction appointment or continued care for a happy, healthy smile or even an appointment for yourself for a healthy smile, call The Bellport Village Dentist at (631)286-4243 or visit our website BellportVillageDentist.com. An In-Office Plan is available. This information has been written and provided by Dr. Joseph P Graskemper.

What's that smell?

Red stuff shows up on the shores, creating a noxious odor

BY NICOLE FUENTES

It can only be described as a raw sewage smell with a hint of sea. South Patchogue residents, especially those located near the Davis Park Ferry Terminal, are complaining, largely on social media, about the horrible smell filling the air on hot, dry days—which comprised most of the summer.

Is it the hot weather or sewage?

According to Patchogue Village officials, they have had the Suffolk County Department of Health and the village's Department of Public Works scout the location to ensure the smells were not emerging from the sewage system. At times when there are strong odors near the bay, the staff has also checked the area near the northern wastewater treatment plant, where no odors were found. However, nothing is malfunctioning. Instead, the village attributed the smells to the high temperatures and lack of rain.

While down at the Brightwood Street ferries, Davis Park Ferry owner Stephanie Sherman agreed that the smells weren't from sewage. Instead, she said she thought it was a rotting seaweed smell.

"It is some sort of strange seaweed. It's brownish-red and it has only recently been here; we don't know where it came from," she said. "It's everywhere."

She said she can smell it on the Davis Park side as well, though, she laughed and said she has become accustomed to it by now.

Nearby restaurant Drift 82 owner John Sarno affirmed the smell, noting, "It smells like yesterday's diapers."

Fortunately, he said, the winds have kept the odors minimal at his business; however, it is something he definitely doesn't want his patrons subjected to. He hopes the New York State Department of Conservation resolves the issue as soon as possible.

But this is not just an isolated issue. The odors are popping up in bayside locations across the South Shore, including the neighboring hamlet of Blue Point, where councilman Neil Foley said residents are complaining as well.

"The Town of Brookhaven is well aware of the odor. This is caused by a lack of rain, heat, and strong southwest winds," Foley stated. "The Parks Department is removing seaweed as fast as they can. The issue should resolve itself in a couple of weeks. We will continue to monitor and clean the beaches until it subsides."

Even South Shore residents as far as

What does it smell like?

The odor at first smells like raw sewage but with a hint of sea, almost like fecal matter mixed with low tide, but it is all easily wafted away by a good wind. But take a whiff for yourself. The smell can be strongly detected by the Davis Park Ferry Terminal on a dry, hot day.

the Village of Brightwaters have been victim to the smells. Mayor John Valdini confirmed the reports, noting that residents most noticed the smell and red, murky waters near Gilbert Park, the beach area that's farthest into the bay in the village.

So, where is the smell coming from?

According to Save the Great South Bay, they have called on their colleagues at Stony Brook University School of Marine and Atmospheric Sciences, who are looking into the issue. Robyn Silvestri, executive director of SGSB, said it could be the seaweed or it could be the red tide again like last year. (A red tide is an event that occurs on the coastline when algae—a plant-like organism—grows out of control. Additionally, red tides often cause a rotting smell, also a very sulfurous scent, although no visible red, murky waters were seen on foot by the Patchogue marina or the ferries.)

Either way, the solution is to stop the nitrogen pollution in the bay through connecting homes and businesses to sewers rather than cesspools, she said, noting residents can also upgrade to innovative and alternative on-site wastewater treatment systems (IA/OWTS). Grants are available through Suffolk County. Another contributing factor, she added, is landscaping fertilizers.

"Nitrogen pollution in the bay triggers algal blooms. Our organization diligently advocates for municipalities, businesses, and homeowners to reduce the nitrogen load coming from the mainland by connecting to sewers, updating outdated cesspools, and reducing—or better yet, eliminating—the use of chemical-laden fertilizers," said Silvestri.

What is the red seaweed?

The recent Japanese red seaweed invasion at Heckscher State Park had Save the Great South Bay supporters on high alert, Silvestri wrote on the SGSB website. The seaweed is an invasive seaweed from Japan first detected on Long Island waterways three years ago and has now spread to the point of being "everywhere." The seaweed, according to SGSB, becomes a health hazard and releases hydrogen sulfide gas when it decays. It can also be harmful to marine life.

The New York State Department of Conservation has also received reports of various macroalgae (seaweed) and eelgrass washing up and decomposing along Long Island's shore. Dasyphyllia japonica is an invasive alga that has a major presence in the Great South Bay and was first reported in New York in 2018, the NYSDEC explained.

"This particular algal species is associated with large red masses and a sulfur smell when decaying. It prefers cooler water temperatures, and the recent high temperatures likely have contributed to the increased die off," a NYSDEC spokesperson explained.

Like many other types of algae and organic matter, when decomposing it can emit hydrogen sulfide gas after it washes up and decays on the shore. More details about health effects can be found here: https://www.health.ny.gov/environmental/chemicals/hydrogen_sulfide/.

OP-ED

Hope for a healthy bay

BY MARSHALL BROWN
CO-FOUNDER AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR,
SAVE THE GREAT SOUTH BAY

October. It was at the time called a 300-year storm. I think we know different now.

Arguably, the breach [Superstorm] Sandy left in Fire Island, south of Bellport, was in part a product of climate change—nor'easters don't normally combine with tropical storms in late

The breach was flushing around 8 percent of the bay's water, initially. It is indeed closing, as breaches do—part of a natural process. By federal law, we must "let nature take its course." That is why there is even a breach in the first place. It happened on National Seashore land.

The breach has improved water quality around Bellport Bay. It's a minor miracle to see nature rebound. But again, it is only a minor one. The Great South Bay has heated up to over 80 degrees in this extreme heat. Cooler water would help—from the ocean, or from our now overheated lakes, rivers, and creeks.

The macroalgae Dasysiphonia japonica, first detected four years ago, is now widespread throughout the bay, and indeed around the world. It flourishes here because our bay has exceptional levels of nutrient levels in it, fueling any number of algal blooms, including this new one.

We can only begin to hope for a healthy bay when we actually begin to lower the nutrient load entering into its watershed. That is true of all of Long Island's waters, many of which are listed by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation as impaired. No breach can compensate for the fact that we are doing next to nothing to curb the pollution of our surface and groundwater.

Ultimately, the problem comes down to money. We cannot afford to spend the billions it will take to improve water quality enough to turn the corner. Saying the problem will take a long time to fix because it took a long time to create overlooks the fact that we are witnessing ecological collapse in the here and now.

We have a choice—go big or go home. Dasysiphonia japonica is yet another stark example of how sick our waters have become. It is not the canary; it is the coal mine itself. ■

We encourage all readers, elected officials and public figures to contribute op-ed articles giving their personal views on local issues, current events or day-to-day life. All submissions 600 words or less will be considered for publication.

LEGAL NOTICE

REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS Pursuant to the rules and regulations set forth in the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) and pertinent regulations for other sources, the Suffolk County Department of Labor, Licensing & Consumer Affairs (LLCA), an equal opportunity employer, hereby solicits proposer qualifications for Grant Writing Services. The LLCA invites proposals from qualified parties to provide grant writing services, on an as-needed basis, for an undetermined number of grants, associated with the completion of grant applications for federal and/or state agencies as well as other entities. This Request for Qualifications (RFQ) and bids submitted by proposer to this request, and any final contracts negotiated with the successful bidder(s) as a result of this proposal is subject to WIOA final regulations issued on June 30, 2016 and any subsequent guidance provided by the United States Department of Labor (USDOL) and New York State Department of Labor (NYSDOL).

An RFQ package may be obtained from the LLCA website www.suffolkcountyny.gov/Departments/Labor or by contacting the Suffolk County Department of Labor, Licensing & Consumer Affairs at (631) 853-6612, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Completed proposals must be received by September 16, 2022 in order to be considered. However, responses will be accepted after September 16, 2022 provided the funding is available. Completed applications should be mailed to:

Mr. Eric Lopez
Suffolk County Department of Labor, Licensing & Consumer Affairs
P.O. Box 6100
Hauppauge, NY 11788-0099

PLEASE NOTE: The RFQ does not commit the LLCA to award a contract, to pay any costs incurred in the preparation of a proposal to this request, or to procure or contract for services or supplies. The LLCA reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals received as a result of this request, to negotiate with all qualified sources, or to cancel in part or in its entirety this RFQ if it is in the best interest of the County, the funded program, or the LLCA to do so or to request further information from any applicant.

Public Hearing #2

WHEREAS, the Town of Islip currently penalizes any person violating provisions of Chapter 35 within the Town of Islip; and

WHEREAS, it has been brought to the Town Board of the Town of Islip's attention that such language in the code will impede future prosecution of violations; and WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on August 9, 2022 at 2:00pm; NOW THEREFORE, on a motion made by Councilperson Jorge Guadron, seconded by Councilperson Mary Kate Mullen, be it, Resolved that the Islip Town Board hereby amends Chapter 35, entitled "Noise".

CHAPTER 35: NOISE

§ 35-2 Definitions.
Noise Disturbance.

A. That level of sound which, in each context described in 5 35-3, either: (1) Annoys or disturbs a reasonable person of normal auditory sensitivities; or

(2) Is clearly audible outside the residential, real property boundary from which it originates; or (3) Is loud, disturbing, unusual, unreasonable and unnecessary as well as audible outside the structure or the real property boundary from which it originates.

B. A noise disturbance may be substantiated by either of the following: (1) Sworn affidavits from two or more residents who are in general agreement as to the times and durations of the noise and who reside in separate residences, apartments, condominiums, or any other place of residence; or

(2) A noise in excess of the maximum permissible A-weighted sound levels, as measured by a sound level device, authorized by Noise Control Table 1.[1]; or

(3) The personal observation of a noise disturbance by a duly sworn Police Officer or a Town of Islip Peace Officer.

§ 35-6 Penalties for offenses.

Any person or business entity who shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter shall be guilty of an offense, and such violation shall be punishable by a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $500 for a first offense, by a fine of not less than $500 and not more than $1,000 for a second offense, and for any offenses thereafter, a fine not less than $1,000 and not more than $1,500, and for any such offense whatsoever, in addition to a monetary fine as described herein, said violation could result in imprisonment for a period not in excess of 15 days.

Education advocacy company wins award from Senate

BY SAM DESMOND

On Monday, Aug. 15, state Sen. Alexis Weik (R-3rd District) presented Eileen Tyznar, founder of TEACH Consulting Services Inc. in Sayville, with a New York State Senate Empire Award for Tyznar and her company's outstanding devotion to the community.

Each year, the New York State Senate gives special recognition to New Yorkers who have contributed significantly to their communities in the areas of community involvement, leadership, local business, public service, military service, and acts of bravery and heroism.

TEACH was selected as a business that gives back, "whose acts of volunteerism, leadership, philanthropy, and innovation elevate our community and make it a better place for everyone to do business, work, and live," according to the New York State Senate parameters for the award.

TEACH Consulting Services Inc. has been an incorporated business since 2009, helping over 600 families across Long Island advocate for students with special needs. Tyznar has been an educational advocate for children with special needs starting with Sayville SEP-TA (Special Education PTA) and now supports the community's children, branching out all the way from Queens to Montauk. TEACH provides services to children of all levels of needs, socially and emotionally, to help them maximize their full potential academically and socially in their school environment. "As a proud small-business owner who knows the trials and tribulations that come along with ownership, I was so grateful and honored for the acknowledgement and this incredible award from Sen. Weik. I hope to be an inspiration to other woman, as well as men and younger people, that all of you can make the American dream happen!" said Tyznar.

"The NYS Empire Award honors local small businesses that also give back to the community, and that's exactly what Eileen and TEACH Consulting Services do!" said Weik, adding, "Students with special needs are often overlooked, and they require guidance from people who are experts in their field. Eileen is one of those rare individuals who works tirelessly for those children with special needs and never takes no for an answer." ■

Suffolk County
Notice to Redeem From
Tax Sale of 2021

THE SUFFOLK COUNTY NEWS

August 18, 2022

Suffolk County
Notice to Redeem
From
Tax Sale of 2021
August 18, 2022

WHEREAS, the following described tracts, pieces or parcels of land were sold at the Tax Lien Sale held by the County Comptroller of Suffolk County on the 10th day of December, 2021, and remain unredeemed (the names given being those of the reputed owners or occupants as the same appear on the assessment rolls for said tax year, followed by the Suffolk County Tax Map Number ascribed to the parcel and appear on the assessment roll of 2020/2021 from which the returns of unpaid taxes and the above mentioned tax sale was had; the amounts given being, in each case, (1) the amount of the tax plus (2) interest calculated to the last day on which redemption can be made, plus (3) advertising charges and plus (4) additional sums for the subsequent or older taxes or assessments, with interest and penalties, advanced through June 10, 2022, by the tax sale purchaser pursuant to the provisions of Section 75 of the Suffolk County Tax Act, and in addition to the amounts, specified; owners of the rights of redemption may be obliged to pay additional sums advanced by tax sales purchasers pursuant to Section 75 of the Suffolk County Tax Act on or after June 10, 2022.) Outstanding balances subsequent to this listing may be affected by acceptance of any partial payments made pursuant to Suffolk County Code Chapter 820 and/or Suffolk County Tax Act § 47-a.

All parcels must be redeemed within twelve months after the date of such sale except residential properties, which are defined as properties improved by a one, two or three family dwelling unit shall be permitted thirty-six months after the date of such sale to be redeemed.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that unless the sales of such tracts, pieces or parcels of land are redeemed on or before the 10th day of December, 2022, they will, where required, be conveyed to the purchaser or purchasers of said properties and the holders of the tax sale certificates, according to the provisions of the laws applicable thereto.
