David Furr and Louisa Jacobson in "The Gilded Age"

Operatic opposition: HBO period drama lifts curtain on Season 2

Whether first heard as a quippy one-liner from famous New York humorist Fran Lebowitz ("Pretend It's a City") or read in Esther Crain's book "The Gilded Age in New York, 1870–1910," there is little doubt you've heard about New York City's penchant for change. Per Crain's aforementioned book, released in 2016 and available through most major booksellers, "the most common observation about New York is that it never stops evolving."

This is especially true in the HBO series "The Gilded Age," premiering Season 2 on its home network and the Max streaming service Sunday, Oct. 29. Starring Carrie Coon ("Gone Girl," 2014), Cynthia Nixon ("Sex and the City") and Christine Baranski ("Mamma Mia!," 2008) as some of New York's finest wealthy gossips, the series follows a group of business moguls and socialites as they work hard to make a name for themselves and build an empire in New York City during the turn of the 20th century.

Coon stars as Bertha Russell, a "new money heiress" who caused some major waves in Season 1 alongside her husband, railroad tycoon George Russell (Morgan Spector, "The Plot Against America"), and her fellow socialite Mrs. Caroline Astor (Donna Murphy, "The Nanny Diaries," 2007), the leader of aristocratic social society called The Four Hundred. With her own societal standing foremost in her sights, Bertha often stirs up more trouble than is necessary to get what she wants.

Also to blame for her fair bit of trouble is Marian Brook (new talent Louisa Jacobson), who fell on hard times when her father died in the series premiere and began Season 1 by moving into her estranged aunts' house for a bit of a lifestyle makeover in the Big Apple. Marian's aunts, Ada Brook (Nixon) and Agnes Van Rhijn (Baranski), both belong to the old-money world and thus have very particular views on how things should be done among New York's finest. While Marian does her best to please her aunts, she has also learned that not everyone subscribes to her family's conservative school of thought.

Returning alongside Coon, Murphy, Jacobson, Nixon and Baranski for Season 2 is Denée Benton ("UnREAL"), who plays highly motivated writer Peggy Scott, who moved from Pennsylvania to New York City with Marian. Despite holding down a job as Agnes' secretary, Peggy is of respectable societal standing herself and has come to enjoy the company of her old friend in a new city. She also enjoys testing the boundaries set in place by those in high-up positions, often complicating matters for herself and those closest to her.

Headed into the show's second season, the Primetime Emmy-winning series follows more of the petticoat-clad drama that comes along with Gilded-era expansion. This time, according to the official HBO trailer, it seems that the bulk of the hullabaloo centers on the world of the operatic arts. More specifically, it likely revolves around the 1886 closing of the Metropolitan Opera House.

As newcomers to the show (and maybe even some avid fans) may not yet know, "The Gilded Age" takes many of its plot lines from the annals of history. While hardly to be considered a true story, the first season held to realities of the robber barons of the late 1800s, like the railroading Russells. (The Astors were also a real family, fictionalized for the series.) Now headed into its second season, "The Gilded Age" is placing its focus on the so-called "Opera House War" of the 1890s and the subsequent end of the "Knickerbocker era."

Checking in with VANNA WHITE

With "Wheel of Fortune" poised to move into a new era, Vanna White will remain a constant of it, at least for a while.

Though host Pat Sajak is leaving after the syndicated, Merv Griffin-created weekday game show's current 41st season, television's iconic "letter-spinner" recently signed a deal that will keep her on the program for two more years once Ryan Seacrest assumes Sajak's former spot. White rarely has been absent from "Wheel" since she joined it in 1982 (though she was absent for a week of shows that aired earlier this month), and she's also prominent on the "Celebrity Wheel of Fortune" edition Wednesdays on ABC, so there had to be interest in keeping her there for consistency .. with a pay hike reportedly a part of her new deal.

Having a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and a Guinness Record as the most frequent clapper in television history – indicating her enthusiastic cheerleading for contestants – White knows firsthand what it's like to be a game player. Before she began her "Wheel" tenure, she made it to Contestants' Row on "The Price Is Right," though she didn't make it to the stage with host Bob Barker.

Previously a model and a Miss Georgia USA contender, White actually was one of three hostesses who initially worked with Sajak after Susan Stafford left "Wheel." It only took a couple of months for that position to go solely to her, and though she customarily has held that job, she got a temporary promotion to host when Sajak needed emergency surgery toward the end of 2019. She also hosted the show for a week in early 2020, assisted then by Sajak's daughter Maggie.

Whether "Wheel" watchers will have to brace themselves for White's departure as well won't be known for a while, so in the meantime, they can continue to enjoy her spirited cooperation as players buy vowels and consonants in the pursuit of puzzle-solving.

Married at First Sight

29 7 p.m.

If you've ever wondered about impossibly ever getting married to a stranger based on scientifically matching up in key dynamics, you're in good company. Statistics say marrying a perfect stranger is just as big of a mistake as marrying someone you like.

Ghost Adventures

The Orcutt Ranch is an estate haunted by rumors of secret basement rituals and a gruesome double-homicide next door. Zak and the crew suspect evil forces are afoot as they tread on the very dark grounds in an attempt to unravel the mystery.

The Amazing Race

3 8:30 p.m.

The only constant when traveling the world in a televised race is that host Phil Keoghan will magically appear to greet you upon your arrival. While this season's supersized episodes make the competition more interesting, the back-packs look even heavier.

The $100,000 Pyramid

9 9 p.m.

Michael Strahan returns as host to the financially lucrative geometric shape that pairs celebrities with contestants

It's a smith's most terrifying challenge: create a Frankenstein blade from discarded pieces of scrap steel. After a scarier-than-usual round of testing, the remaining two smiths must head back to their home forges looking to create the legendary Crusader Bible Falchion.
