LL Cool J and Chris O'Donnell star in "NCIS: Los Angeles," airing the first half of a two-part series finale Sunday on CBS.

CBS' 'NCIS: Los Angeles' bids farewell with a two-part finale

News of its cancellation this past January surely shocked and saddened fans of "NCIS: Los Angeles." But they'll be heartened to know the long-running CBS military drama will be getting a proper send-off with a two-part finale and retrospective.

Airing consecutive Sundays May 14 and 21, the finale titled "New Beginnings" picks up with the ATF seeking the NCIS team's help in investigating stolen military-grade weapons and locating a missing agent. Also, Rountree's (Caleb Castille) sister interviews for medical school and Sam (LL Cool J) encourages his father to take part in a drug trial.

And Callen and Anna (Chris O'Donnell, Bar Paly) will be putting the finishing touches on their wedding, though all indications are that it will be anything but smooth sailing.

Immediately following the May 21 closer will be "A Salute fo NCIS: Los Angeles," an hourlong special hosted by Kevin Frazier that features features footage, behind-the-scenes memories and interviews with cast including O'Donnell, Paly, Castille, LL Cool J, Daniela Ruah, Eric Christian Olsen and Medalion Rahimi.

Bringing a series to a close after 14 seasons and 322 episodes posed a formidable challenge for showrunner and executive producer R. Scott Gemmill, who wanted to not only satisfy longtime viewers but also do justice to the individual characters, chief among them O'Donnell's G. Callen and his impending nuptials.

"We sort of put Callen on that path in previous seasons," Gemmill explains, "and once we found out that we were going to be wrapping up, it seemed like a natural progression for his character, I think, in the sense that he always played this sort of lone wolf ... but wasn't one really to commit to even his own stable sort of lifestyle. And I think by having him take this leap and make a commitment to the Anna character, it sort of shows him moving into a next stage of his life and sort of coming to terms with who he is and what he wants for the future."

As for other storyline threads, Gemmill indicates there will be a few surprise guest appearances though he didn't get into specifics other than to say they will help bring closure and put characters on a hopeful path. After 14 seasons, the cast and crew have become like family to him and he hopes there will be other collaborations.

"You know the old saying 'Don't be sad that it's over; be happy that it happened in the first place,?'" he says. "That's what we're trying to focus on. And over 14 years, you forge many, many friendships ... . So I'm sure a lot of us will cross paths and we all want to work together again - Chris and Todd (LL Cool J) and Eric (Olsen) and Danny (Ruah) and I. So I'm sure we will find ways."

Checking in with MARK CONSUELOS

"What can possibly go wrong with a No. 1 show?"

Mark Consuelos is asking himself that question - out loud - as he settles into his new role as permanent co-host opposite wife Kelly Ripa on the newly renamed, syndicated weekday program "Live With Kelly and Mark." The challenge is slightly different for him now as a steady fixture rather than a visitor, but he took the job feeling quite prepared for it.

"I'm walking onto a championship team," the friendly Consuelos reasons, "and what's the worst that could happen? Everything! But I'm a big believer in just being in the moment. I don't make catastrophes out of many things. For this, I've had on-the-job training."

Indeed, Consuelos has guest-hosted "Live" numerous times, certainly during the tenure of his immediate predecessor, Ryan Seacrest. "I've done it with little or no preparation, sometimes last-minute," notes Consuelos. "I believe in myself. I'm sure I'll have 'off' days and I'm sure I'll hear about it, but I know I can bounce back and hopefully be more additive than reductive to the show."

Also, Consuelos has faith in "Live" continuing what he deems "a tried-and-true formula" that also endured through pre-Seacrest co-hosts Regis Philbin and Michael Strahan. "With (executive producer) Michael Gelman leading the way, I know what they do here very, very well."

Consuelos realizes he's part of a changing landscape in daytime talk, also factoring in the endings of "Rachael Ray" and "Dr. Phil." He allows, "You typically don't have two big shows leaving at the same time, but I can't concern myself with any of that. My focus is on our hour. And I hope I don't screw anything up."

Birthdate: March 30, 1971
