FRESH fruits and vegetables don't have to be expensive if you buy them in season and many are in season year round. To learn more, visit www.sdharvestofthemonth.com

FROZEN fruits and vegetables are packed and frozen within hours of harvest, so they don't lose their flavor or nutritional value. Try steaming vegetables in the microwave or stovetop rather than boiling to keep in more nutrients.

CANNED fruits and vegetables often get a bad rap but they are still nutritious. Choose 100% fruit juice with no added sugar and vegetables with no sale added. Remember to drain the water, juice, or syrup and rinse with water to help remove some of the extra sugar and salt.

BY DANA SIMPSON

Arushi Garg appears in "Hot Wheels: Ultimate Challenge," airing on NBC.

Hot TV: 'Hot Wheels' competition comes to NBC

Unlock some memories and kick it into high gear with NBC's newest competition series, "Hot Wheels: Ultimate Challenge."

Premiering Tuesday, May 30, the unscripted show is equal parts "nostalgia and creativity" (per NBC) as each contestant overhauls one of their most beloved and memorable vehicles, ultimately transforming it from an average automobile into their dream car. Hosted by "Top Gear's" Rutledge Wood and featuring a panel of car-loving celebrity guests, "Hot Wheels: Ultimate Challenge" is inspired by childhood fun and a healthy dose of friendly competition.

NBC describes its new 10-episode competition as follows: "Each episode will invite two passionate car fans and Hot Wheels lovers into the Chrome Zone, where they will face off in each transforming an ordinary vehicle into an extraordinary Hot Wheels showstopper, inspired by personal stories and pop culture touchstones. Working alongside a team of automotive magicians known as 'The Car Pool,' the two Superfans will manufacture their designs in high-tech, decked-out garages." There is also a chance to raise the stakes via "the Inspirationator 5000, a larger-than-life vending machine that will rev up in each episode to present the Superfans with a twist in the road."

While Wood acts as host, he will surely not be the only familiar face seen during the wild ride. Among the celebrity judges making an appearance on "Hot Wheels: Ultimate Challenge" are "Community" and "The Soup's" Joel McHale; comedian and star of the recently finished sitcom "Black-ish," Anthony Anderson; WWE Superstar Ettore Ewen, better known by the moniker

Big E; and "Brooklyn Nine-Nine" star and "America's Got Talent" host Terry Crews.

Perhaps unsurprisingly, two famous car lovers are also welcomed to the show's premiere season as guest judges: former "Tonight Show" host Jay Leno and star of the Fast and Furious saga, Sung Kang.

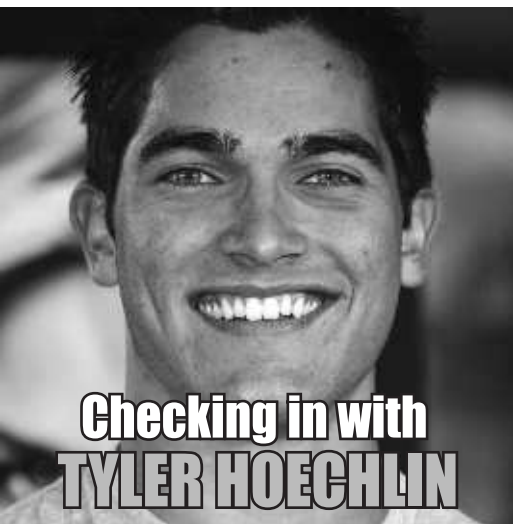

Leno, who also hosts the web series "Jay Leno's Garage," is the proud owner of roughly 180 cars and 160 motorcycles, valued at more than $52 million. Widely recognized as one of the most knowledgeable car fanatics in Hollywood, Leno will bring his insight and interest to "Hot Wheels: Ultimate Challenge" as he assesses the final products presented by the eager contestants.

As for Kang, who originated the role of Han Lue in the third Fast and Furious film, subtitled "Tokyo Drift" (2006), the actor has collected several custom cars over the years. These include a Nissan 240SX, a 1967 Mustang Fastback and the 1973 Datsun 240Z he restored himself and which he "affectionately refers to as 'Fugu Z,' according to the Rubber B website, which featured Kang in a promotional profile for the Swiss watch brand.

Corie Henson, executive vice-president of unscripted programming for NBCUniversal Television and Streaming, announced her excitement for the program in a statement, saying, "Everyone remembers their first car, the life experiences they had and the friends who came along for the ride. Hot Wheels is a legendary brand with broad appeal that has created a space for imaginations to run free. We are so thrilled to partner with Mattel to combine this nostalgia with fantastical, extreme car transformations."

Checking in with
TYLER HOECHLIN

It seems that just about everyone is well-versed in, and on, Superman ... except, perhaps, for the actor who's currently playing him on weekly television.

As a youngster, Tyler Hoechlin had other interests, but he got a quick education in the Man of Steel upon landing the coveted role on "Superman & Lois." Now heading toward the end of its third season Tuesdays on The CW (and, in Canada, on CTV Sci-Fi Channel), the series has taken a very deep dive into the family life of the title characters — extending to how they've dealt with a family health crisis lately. That's new material for the iconic figures, and that may have benefited Hoechlin in his not having a preconceived, long-held notion of Superman.

"I really don't have a history with the character," the friendly "7th Heaven" alum confirms. "I played baseball and was acting at a young age, so all of my free time was taken up, and comic books weren't really my thing ... but in what I think in a fortunate way, that lack of history is beneficial, in that I can approach (Superman) in a way that's very honest and intuitive."

Indeed, Hoechlin believes the approach taken by "Superman & Lois" sets it apart from other incarnations of the saga that he's now aware of. Noting that "the tone is very different," he emphasizes, "We've never seen this before, and that's a very freeing experience on the set."

Even then, Hoechlin wasn't sure he wanted to take flight as Superman at the start. He was enjoying being a free agent with acting gigs, but he changed his mind just in time. He recalls the producers "were thinking this was something they might actually get done, and I was ready to commit to something long-term again. It just worked out for everybody."
