Think

FRESH fruits and vegetables don't have to be expensive if you buy them in season and many are in season year round. To learn more, visit www.sdharvestofthemonth.com

FROZEN fruits and vegetables are packed and frozen within hours of harvest, so they don't lose their flavor or nutritional value. Try steaming vegetables in the microwave or stovetop rather than boiling to keep in more nutrients.

CANNED fruits and vegetables often get a bad rap but they are still nutritious. Choose 100% fruit juice with no added sugar and vegetables with no sale added. Remember to drain the water, juice, or syrup and rinse with water to help remove some of the extra sugar and salt.

Jennifer Nettles is down on the farms in reality-show revival

As her celebrated career in music continues, Jennifer Nettles has been building another one in unscripted television.

A winner of many awards (including Grammys) as a member of country music's Sugarland, Nettles also is a solo artist, and she has extended her brand by serving as a judge on the series "Duets" and "Go-Big Show." She potentially expands her reach again by playing host as four rural men seek mates from city-based prospects in a Fox revival of "Farmer Wants a Wife," premiering Wednesday, March 8.

Originated in England, "Farmer Wants a Wife" has yielded a number of international versions, the first U.S. one having aired on The CW in 2008. The friendly Nettles admits that reality television is "not my favorite genre, so I'm super-selective about the projects I choose. This one really stood out to me because it's so different. Everyone who's involved gets a chance to really look at everyone else, so it's authentic, and that's what I appreciate."

Deeming herself a "storyteller" no matter which aspect of her work she focuses on, Nettles believes that "Farmer Wants a Wife" also fulfills that designation for her. She calls it "a television fairy tale. It's really heartwarming to see these folks who are out there looking for love ... and who doesn't love a love story? That's what really drew me to it, to see that take place in real time, and for people who are in it for the right reasons."

Explaining that she's much more involved directly with the farmers on the show than with the women who are candidates to become their wives, Nettles likens her "Farmer Wants a Wife" role to that of "a fairy godmother, in a 'mentor' sort of way, to help them through this process. It is quite intimidating, I think, for them to take on a task like opening up their hearts and making themselves vulnerable – and doing it while cameras are around."

Also an actress, having starred on Broadway in "Chicago" and "Waitress" and having made a couple of Dolly Partoninspired NBC holiday movies, Nettles maintains that music remains the strongest part of her professional mix. Her most recent solo album was the 2021 coverversion collection "Always Like New," and she maintains that she isn't certain when she might reteam with Sugarland partner Kristian Bush again.

"There are lots of ways to tell stories," Nettles reflects, who also has been making a movie in Atlanta lately. "While music is obviously my first love, I've been expanding over the past 10 years into TV and film and theater. That's mostly been on the scripted side, but it's fun to do unscripted things, too. It's all worked out wonderfully well."

celebrity scoop

With a resume ranging from TV comedies such as "First Wives Club" and dramas like "Chicago Fire" to historical pieces like "Warm Springs" and the action film "Thunder Force," Melissa Ponzio's career has run the gamut.

And with her roles in "The Walking Dead," "Vampire Diaries," "Teen Wolf" and its recent film follow-up "Teen Wolf: The Movie," she can even say she's done a thorough walk-through of the horror genre with zombies, vampires and werewolves.

"I have the trifecta," the actress acknowledges with a laugh. "I think over the years a lot of different fandoms have made it so monsters really aren't the bad guys anymore. You know, they have attributes and they have character traits and they have emotions just like humans in some of these fandoms.

"And so I feel like they have become much more relatable and understandable and more like iconic images and feelings to people when they're watching these shows with all these different types of 'monsters' on them. Monsters are our friends now."

In "Teen Wolf: The Movie," now streaming on Paramount+, Ponzio reprises her role of Melissa McCall, the hard-working single mom of title character Scott (Tyler Posey) that she played for six seasons and 100 episodes on MTV's "Teen Wolf."

For the 50-year-old New York native, the reunion with her castmates after five years was a joyous one and she reports seeing everyone again felt like no time had gone by.

"We picked up right where we left off," she says. "We were all pretty much submerged right back into our characters and we all know how special it is for a fandom like this to have a TV show to then move into a movie. You know, we don't all get a second bite at the apple and we're all very thankful and grateful that we were able to come together one more time."

Name: Melissa Ponzio Birth date: Aug. 3, 1972 Birthplace: New York City

Family ties: Married to actor Kenny Alfonso, with whom she has a daughter, Jessy

Movie: Men in Black 3 It was a long break between the two sequels, but this 2012 installment of the comedy-fantasy series proves there's still fun to be mined from the franchise. Much of that is provided by Josh Brolin, in a spot-on imitation of Tommy Lee Jones as they share the role of Agent K at different ages, as Agent J (Will Smith) goes back to the future to alter circumstances that otherwise will lead to his alien-fighting partner's assassination. Emma Thompson also stars. The film airs as part of a "Saving the Day Time" marathon.

Meanwhile, fresh off the heels of hiring her new campaign manager, Erin (Bridget Moynahan) prepares for a trial surrounding a beloved pro-baller Scott Tayler (Tyler Brooks) who fell from grace after being accused of rape in the new episode "Close to Home."

Movie: An American in Paris In hindsight, this lavish 1951 movie musical didn't deserve to take the 1951 Academy Award for best picture over either "A Streetcar Named Desire" or "A Place in the Sun." Taken on its own terms, however, it's still a dazzling crowd pleaser, combining the formidable skills of composer George Gershwin, director Vincente Minnelli, actor-dancer-choreographer Gene Kelly and actress-dancer Leslie Caron.
