AINSMAN December 18 to December 24 - Page 3C

'1923' offers another prelude to 'Yellowstone'

As it expands once more, the "Yellowstone" franchise is looking to the past ... again.

The new show's title offers sufficient proof. "1923" starts its run Sunday, Dec. 18, on Paramount+, with Harrison Ford (in his first continuing series part) and Oscar, Primetime Emmy and Tony winner Helen Mirren as Jacob and Cara Dutton, who head another division of the family that also is central to "Yellowstone" and its first prequel show, "1883." The relatives face such plights as illness and drought as they try to edge into then-modern times. The Taylor Sheridan-created series has a second season of eight episodes, the same length as Season 1, already ordered.

Being filmed principally in Montana, "1923" is "a wonderful adventure" in Mirren's view. "I'd never been to Montana before, so that's been a revelation," the actress says. "I knew it was impossibly beautiful, but the size and the variety of it is extraordinary. Doing this kind of story in this kind of landscape, where they are intrinsically tied together, is an amazing experience. The geography of America has always fascinated me, and these (characters) are dealing with all the glories and difficulties inherent in that."

The large cast of "1923" also includes James Badge Dale ("24") as John Dutton Sr., plus Timothy Dalton, Robert Patrick, Jennifer Ehle, Darren Mann ("Animal Kingdom"), Brandon Sklenar ("Mapplethorpe"), Marley Shelton, Brian Geraghty ("Big Sky") and Jerome Flynn ("Game of Thrones"). Mirren reports that rather than being detailed about her role at the outset, creator-producer Sheridan gave her "a sense of, 'Do you want to come on this ride?' We don't know where the ride's going to take us, and I found that really interesting and exciting."

Mirren first worked with Ford in the 1986 movie "The Mosquito Coast." She recalls that as "a great time, then we went off and did other things and lived a whole life, really. There's been a connection that has never been lost, though ... so when we came together again, there was an incredible sense of familiarity and affection and history. That's invaluable if you're playing husband and wife."

Though Mirren won two of her Emmys for "Prime Suspect" mysteries, she doesn't consider those as series in the same way "1923" is.

"I've never done something like this before," she maintains. "With 'Prime Suspect,' we would do one four-hour story about every two years, so it was more like a miniseries. It wasn't something ongoing like this is, though how far we'll go is a mystery to me. I have to say that Taylor is an extraordinary writer; this springs with such complexity, but at the same time, it's incredibly accessible. It's not high-falutin', but very playable, great writing.'

celebrityscoop

(Writer's note: Though Ralphie isn't a real person, he well could be, as played by Peter Billingsley in the 1983 movie "A Christmas Story" – which will have its annual marathon Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 24 and 25, on both TBS and TNT. Here's an imagined chat with Ralphie today, as if he actually did exist ... with, be forewarned, some "Story" spoilers.)

At Christmas, many people look forward to that one special gift – but arguably no person ever wanted a particular present more than Ralphie Parker did.

From the moment his eyes met a Red Ryder air rifle that was positioned prominently in a store window for the holidays, it was just about the only thing on his mind. He daydreamed about it ... he dropped ample hints about it ... he even hid an ad for it inside one of his mother's magazines. His wish would come true, but Ralphie remembers both the ups and downs of the relentless crusade he waged back then.

"I can still hear it now: 'You'll shoot your eye out!,'
" he recalls. "How could so many adults know exactly the same words to say to destroy a kid's hopes? To be honest, I thought I'd be going without what I really wanted that Christmas, until my father mentioned the one last package hidden behind the tree. When I saw it, it was so tall and long, I just knew what had to be inside the wrapping.

"And who knew it would be my father who came through in the end?," adds Ralphie. "He who cherished a leg lamp, and took strange pleasure in fighting with a furnace and a neighbor's dogs? Part of my delight that Christmas was in seeing the boy that was still inside that man, and it's a feeling I've tried to keep for myself, especially in raising my own children."

Movie: A Christmas Story

This holiday favorite from 1983 stars Peter Billingsley as Ralphie, the little boy who yearns to find a Red Ryder BB gun under the Christmas tree. Not just a Christmas story, it's about parents, little brothers, bullies, decoder rings, double dog dares and most of all, the workings of a youthful mind. The writing by Jean Shepherd (who also narrates) captures it all perfectly. Darren McGavin and Melinda Dillon also star.

Movie: National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation

Written by "Home Alone" film-maker John Hughes, the third installment in the movie-comedy series was a major hit of the 1989 holiday season. Chevy Chase returns as Griswold family patriarch Clark, who tries to ensure a traditional Yuletide for his clan — despite the considerable odds against it. Co-stars Beverly D'Angelo and Randy Quaid also are back. Juliette Lewis plays one of the younger Griswolds.
