Happy New Year's Eve! TV gets into the spirit

Variety won't be lacking as television rings in 2023.

Whatever sort of music a viewer may prefer, there will be something that fits the bill ... but it doesn't stop there, with classic movies and recaps of 2022 also providing television options on Saturday, Dec. 31. Here's a look at some of the choices.

"A Toast to 2022!" (NBC): Various personalities reflect on notable events and individuals of the past 12 months.

"Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve With Ryan Seacrest 2023" (ABC): It simply wouldn't be the holiday without this. Seacrest holds forth in New York's Times Square once again, welcoming music stars both in primetime and after late local news, with the world-famous descent of the illuminated globe that will mark the start of the new year. Co-hosts include Ciara (at Disneyland), Billy Porter (New Orleans) and D-Nice (Los Angeles).

"New Year's Eve Live: Nashville's Big Bash" (CBS, Paramount+): As the country-music capital becomes the site of a New Year's Eve telecast again, Jimmie Allen and Elle King team with "Entertainment Tonight's" Rachel Smith as the hosting trio. Also on the roster of scheduled performers are Brooks & Dunn, Kelsea Ballerini, Little Big Town and Zac Brown Band. This also starts in primetime, then continues in late-night.

"Miley's New Year's Eve Party" (NBC, Peacock): Miley Cyrus will be in Miami for the second consecutive year to stage her own televised bash, with quite a noteworthy co-host to assist her – Dolly Parton, returning a favor in a sense to Cyrus, who appeared recently in the TV movie "Dolly Parton's Mountain Magic Christmas."

"United in Song 2022: Ringing in the New Year Together" (PBS; check local listings): The latest variation of a special that public television has shown for several years, this program sees the American Symphony Orchestra joined by vocalists from various categories.

"New Year's Eve With Anderson Cooper and Andy Cohen" (CNN): The close pals who have been teamed to cover Times Square festivities for a number of years do it again, though the overall merriment may be slightly less this year. Reportedly, an edict has been issued by CNN that any participants except the two hosts cannot drink on the air.

"The Thin Man" (Turner Classic Movies): The mystery-with-humor movie series, teaming William Powell and Myrna Loy as married sleuths Nick and Nora Charles, typically has a place on TCM on New Year's Eve ... and it does so again this year.

"Ocean's Eleven" (TNT): The 2001 reboot of the 1960 "Rat Pack" crime caper prompted a franchise of several movies, all of which are shown in a marathon. George Clooney plays the title leader of the gang intending to rob several Las Vegas casinos simultaneously.

celebrity scoop

From his childhood as a Boy Scout to his work with Big Brothers Big Sisters to his role as a reporter for CBS News, Steve Hartman has always had a soft spot for acts of kindness. So he's bringing the spotlight to those who perpetrate them in an upcoming CBS special.

In "The Gift: Kindness Goes Viral," premiering Wednesday, Dec. 28, Hartman examines how one simple act of kindness can create a ripple effect that can cause real, positive change. He also meets with an MIT professor as she works out a formula that posits how kindness can spread through simple, everyday acts.

"What's always fascinated me most," explains Hartman, who also does a segment called "Kindness 101" for CBS News, "was these stories about little, simple acts of kindness that don't stop there. There'll be somebody who will do something and for whatever reason – the right circumstances or luck or coincidence, whatever it is – the kindness keeps spreading. Somebody will do something kind for somebody else. And it doesn't peter out; it just keeps going."

Among the people he highlights here are a Minneapolis woman who gives haircuts to the homeless; a Dallas school bus driver who doubled as a mentor for his charges; and an Ohio crime reporter who teamed with a girl who was going blind to create a "visual bucket list" of places and things to see for others losing their eyesight.

In each case, those acts of kindness have spawned others and it's the type of thing Hartman has been championing all his life.
