Biden seeks to expand 24 / 7 mental health care

BY AMANDA SEITZ
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced plans Tuesday to award millions of dollars in grants to expand all-hours mental health and substance abuse care in more communities around the country. “Today we’re talking about providing to Americans 24/7 support for crisis care,” Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra said. “That’s something that’s only been available to some, in some places. But depending on your income and ZIP code, you could be totally out of luck. That’s going to start to change.” There are more than 400 community behavior health clinics across 46 states that provide 24-hour care for any child or adult who walks through the door, even if they can’t afford to pay. The effort began in 2014,

Cast members rehearse for the upcoming Huron Area Community Theater production of “Ladies in 3,” Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center in Huron. Last weekend the play was presented at the De Smet Event Center.

Huron Area Community Theater presents ‘Ladies in 3’

Shows planned this week in Huron

HURON — When the curtains went down on the last Huron Area Community Theater (HACT) production in 2018, no one could have predicted that it’d be four years until the next time the curtain would rise on another HACT production. That will happen this weekend on Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center, as “Ladies in 3” begins its Huron run after a successful opening weekend at the De Smet Event Center last weekend. Tickets can be purchased at Jensen, the De Smet Event Center, and Huron Community Campus. Huron Kiwanis is sponsoring the three-play series that co-directors Leo Jensen and Annette Bowen say can “give a new meaning to friendship.” After the lengthy layoff, the directors expressed that it is important to keep fine arts alive in the area. HACT board members have sought directors for plays, knowing when a production is done, it allows those in attendance to relax for a time and forget what is going on outside the theater doors. Diane Clayton, who plays Katherine, has been involved with HACT plays since 2009 — she says she has favorites that she’s been involved with, but doesn’t reveal which ones. She explains that her character is more unlike her than like her. “That is what makes it fun,” Clayton states. “Yes, I can be a bit snarky, but I’m not judgmental — right, ladies?” Clayton also mentions that being involved in the theater has been good for her

MN regent criticized for asking if campus is ‘too diverse’

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The vice chairman of the University of Minnesota Board of Regents is publicly questioning whether enrollment declines at one campus are because it’s “too diverse,” a question that has drawn criticism and calls for his resignation. At a public meeting of the board that oversees the university system last week, Vice Chairman Steve Sviggum, a former Minnesota House speaker, asked acting Morris Chancellor Janet Schrunk Ericksen whether it was “possible at all from a marketing standpoint” that the campus had become “too diverse.” “I’ve received a couple letters, two actually, from friends whose children are not going to go to Morris because it is too diverse,” Sviggum said at the meeting. “They just didn’t feel comfortable there.” According to KSTP-TV, which first reported the exchange, Schrunk Ericksen responded “on behalf of minority students,” saying, “I think that they would be shocked that anyone would think our campus was too diverse. ... They certainly feel, at times, isolated where they are located. So, the answer is from that perspective, no.” Sviggum, 71, told the Star Tribune Monday that he was posing a question, not making a statement.

Ukraine’s power, water supplies under Russian attack again

BY HANNA ARHIROVA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

KYIV, Ukraine (AP) — Airstrikes cut power and water supplies to hundreds of thousands of Ukrainians on Tuesday, part of what the country’s president called an expanding Russian campaign to drive the nation into the cold and dark and make peace talks impossible. President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said nearly one-third of Ukraine’s power stations have been destroyed in the past week, “causing massive blackouts across the country.” “No space left for negotiations with Putin’s regime,” he tweeted. Depriving people of water, electricity and heat as winter begins to bite, and the broadening use of so-called suicide drones that nosedive into targets have opened a new phase in Russian President Vladimir Putin’s war. The bombardments appear aimed at wearing down the notable resilience Ukrainians have shown in the nearly eight months since Moscow invaded. Meanwhile, along the front lines, things remained “very difficult” for Russian troops in the southern region and city of Kherson, according to Russia’s new commander, Sergei Surovikin. He told reporters in Moscow that the Russian military would help evacuate civilians ahead of

Thune makes stop in Redfield

REDFIELD — Senator John Thune stopped at Leos Good Food in Redfield Tuesday on his way to Webster for the Veterans History Program. He also planned to stop in Clark as well. Thune visited with Adam Hansen, City of Redfield Finance Officer, and Gianna Schieffer, Grow Spink Director, about how Redfield was doing, what any of their concerns may be and what the struggles are for the Redfield Community. In reference to a few of those topics that were discussed was the need for housing, daycare and employees to fill needed job openings.

OBITUARIES

Bonnie Heasley

MILLER — Bonnie M. Heasley, 87, of Miller, passed away Friday, October 14, 2022, at the Good Samaritan Society in Miller.

Funeral service will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in Miller, with Pastor Robert Brooks officiating. Visitation will begin one hour prior to the service. Burial will be at Morningside Cemetery in Ree Heights.

Bonnie Heasley

Bonnie was born to James “Jimmie” Hall Jr. and Ada (Baruth) Hall on Dec. 5, 1934, in Highmore. Growing up on the ranch southwest of Ree Heights, she enjoyed reading, riding horseback and helping her dad outside. She attended grade school at Cedar School and received her high school education from Miller Public High School, where she graduated with honors and was the 1952 Homecoming Queen. She continued her education at South Dakota State College in Brookings with a degree in Secretarial Science. While in college she worked part time for the Brookings Chamber of Commerce and Education Department of the college as a secretary.

She married Donald “Doc” Heasley on July 18, 1954, at the Ree Heights Congregational Church. They lived in Elizabethtown, Ky., until Doc was discharged from the Army in 1955. They later made their home on the ranch southwest of Ree Heights where they raised one son and two daughters. Bonnie resided and helped where needed on the farm up until 2002 when she moved into Miller.

Bonnie had a passion for teaching, which attributed to her years as a country schoolteacher in Hand County, later leading into opening her own ceramic shop in her home and teaching classes. She cherished the time she got to spend with her children and grandchildren. She enjoyed visiting and teaching them to play games: Kings in the Corner, Monopoly, and Go Fish to name a few. She used her crafting talent to help them learn and create many projects. If you stopped to visit Bonnie, you often found her reading a book, playing Solitaire, or watching an old western on TV.

She was an active 4-H member of the West Hand Baby Beef Club and a project leader. She was involved in the American Legion Auxillary Heasley Post 101, Hilltop Grange, Cedar Extension Club, Presbyterian Women, Red Hat Society and many more. She served on the Cedar School Board and Miller Independent Number One School Board. She was a member of the Cedar Congregational Church, Community Church in Ree Heights and later the First Presbyterian Church in Miller.

She will be greatly missed by her family of three children: Jeff (Pam) Heasley of Miller, Laura (Burt) Anderson of Highmore, and Carol (Tim) Waba of Watertown; eight grandchildren: Travis (Jill) Heasley, Chelsea (Riley) Pugh, Brooke (Will) Jones, J.D. (Sylvia) Anderson, Crystal Anderson (Mark) and Darrah (Kristi) Anderson, Jessica (Sean) Lessin, and Justin Waba; great and great-great-grandchildren, numerous nieces, nephews, and many dear friends.

She was welcomed into Heaven by her husband, Donald “Doc” Heasley; brother and sister: Donald (Joyce) Hall and Lila (Richard) Bawdon; brother-in-law, Kenneth “Bud” (Donna) Heasley; and her parents.

Reck Funeral Home of Miller has been entrusted with Bonnie’s arrangements.

Pet overpopulation is the number one killer of dogs and cats in the United States.

Each year an estimated ten million dogs, cats, kittens and puppies are put to death in shelters as a method of population control. The majority are young, healthy and adoptable. In addition, millions of abandoned pets suffer on the streets as they attempt to survive on their own.

Marvin Northrup

MITCHELL — Marvin Joseph Northrup, 89, of Mitchell, died Saturday, October 15, 2022, at Avera McKennan Hospital.

Funeral services will be 11 a.m. Monday at the Letcher Community Church in Letcher, with burial and military rites at the Butler Cemetery in rural Letcher.

Marvin Northrup

Visitation will be from 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday at the Will Funeral Chapel with a prayer service beginning 6 p.m.

Marvin Joseph Northrup, son of Joseph and Dakota (Alexander) Northrup was born May 14, 1933, in rural Letcher. He attended country school before graduating from Letcher High School in 1951. After his schooling, Marvin helped on the family farm.

He entered the U.S. Army on May 19, 1953, and served 18 months at Quartermaster Depot at Fort Richardson, Alaska. He was honorably discharged with the rank of Corporal on May 10, 1955. After his discharge, Marvin returned to the farm.

He was united in marriage with Joan Black on Feb. 2, 1958, in Armour. The couple lived on a farm NE of Letcher. In 1978, Marvin began working with the Letcher Coop Elevator and continued there until 1991. He started working at MJ Aviation in the fall of 1991 and retired on Dec. 22, 2017. During that time the couple moved north of Mitchell.

Marvin enjoyed collecting toy tractors, toy airplanes and rocks. He also enjoyed woodworking and dancing.

He was a member of the Letcher Community Church and the Letcher American Legion for 60 plus years.

Grateful for having shared his life are his children, Krystal Northrup, Mitchell, Bradley (Jennifer) Northrup, Junction City, Kan., Jewel (Bobby) Kopfmann, Virgil; five grandchildren, Andrew (Heidi) Northrup, Kathy (Joshua) Asher, Molly (Jacob) Rinehart, Kole (Jamie Hogan) Kopfmann, Shyanne (Hayden) Kopfmann; three great-grandchildren, Loukas Asher, Jonathon Asher, Lettie Rinehart; a sister, Norma (Robert) Moe, Mitchell; two sisters-in-law, Janice Northrup, Mitchell, Ella Mae Wood, Denver; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Joan Northrup; a son, Joseph Northrup; his parents; and a brother, Duane.

Dot Hanson

REE HEIGHTS — Dot Hanson, 80, of Ree Heights, passed away Tuesday, October 18, 2022, at Avera Hand County Memorial Hospital, Miller.

Rosary service will be 1 p.m. Monday followed by a 2 p.m. Memorial Mass at St. Ann’s Catholic Church in Miller. Burial will follow Morningside Cemetery in Ree Heights.

Reck Funeral Home of Miller has been entrusted with Dot’s arrangements.

Wayne McNaboe

WILLISTON, N.D. — Wayne Robert McNaboe was born to Leo B. and Rose (Ederer) McNaboe on Sept. 6, 1945, in Huron. Wayne died unexpectedly on October 16, 2022, after an exciting and fulfilling moose hunt.

Wayne was raised in Iroquois. He graduated with a Bachelors degree in Education from Dakota State College and a Masters degree in Guidance and Counseling from SD State University. Wayne was an educator/counselor in Wessington and Poplar, Mo., before settling in Williston where he was a counselor for many years. Wayne enjoyed the students but he really loved hunting with his sons and following his grandchildren’s activities.

Wayne established Mc’s Digging and was the busy owner operator. He always claimed to be “just a ditch digger”.

Wayne is survived by his son, Tim of Rogers, Minn., and children, Ben, Elliott, and Jake; son, Kale (April) of Rapid City, and daughters, Cloe, Abby, and Sophie and his former wife and friend, Sue. Survivors also include his brother, Don (Rena) of Garfield, Ark., and children, Gina, Teri and Bret and his many friends in the Williston and surrounding communities.

The family appreciates the community’s love and support.

A Celebration of Life will be held at a later date. Fulkerson Stevenson Funeral Home of Williston, N.D. is assisting the family. Friends may sign the on-line register book and give their condolences at www.fulkersons.com.

on stage just as it entertains those in the audience. “It is a blast being someone other than myself,” Clayton observes. “I think memorizing is good for me as I enter my twilight years.”

While the actors interviewed all mentioned that the commute between two facilities made times long, the facility in De Smet impressed multiple actors. Susan Hines, who plays Debbie, expressed that it was her first visit to the facility. Hines has really enjoyed acting as an adult as a way to socialize.

“I started onstage in high school and then got involved in James Valley Dinner Theaters early in our married life and have been in many of them,” Hines recalled. “I enjoy getting to know new people through the theater and I like that we are providing entertainment from the live stage to the area. It is a gift to our communities.”

While he has been behind the scenes, working with light and sound for previous HACT productions, Gary Kasperon expressed that he has enjoyed his first experience on stage.

Kristy Hubbard, who plays Suzie, relates to how busy her character is, though she hopes that she executes the juggling of multiple things better!

Hubbard expressed that the ability for the show to adapt to both De Smet and Huron is something the community should support.

“I think it is amazing that we can share actors and bring theater to both communities,” Hubbard shared. “It definitely helps build strength for both community theater programs.”

Hubbard encourages all to come see the play and even try helping out with one!

“I sometimes don’t think that people who come to see the shows truly understand how much we as actors appreciate the support of our sponsors and volunteers — behind stage, in the tech department, with costumes, set pieces, and concessions,” Hubbard expressed. “If you haven’t seen a show, come watch one. If you love watching shows, try helping out with a show. Live theater is something everyone should experience!”

The directors both hope that there will be future plays to come.

“It is great to have theater back with HACT and we hope we can do many more,” Bowen and Jensen said. “If you would like to direct a production, please get in touch with someone on the board, and we will see what we can do.”

“As public policymakers, we have to question all of our programs to see if they’re meeting the intended or unintended consequences,” Sviggum said.

Sviggum said total enrollment at Morris had decreased by 40% as the enrollment of Black, Indigenous and people of color had increased to nearly 45%.

“It’s fair to ask the question: Is there a relationship?” Sviggum said.

Asked what he thought the relationship might be, Sviggum said, “I don’t know.”

Currently, Morris has 1,068 students enrolled. Of those, 54% are white and 32% are Native American. Overall, 41% are Black, Indigenous and people of color.

Former Regent Michael Hsu said Sviggum should resign immediately.

“Sviggum’s time is up,” he said. “His comments and actions have been and are damaging to the university.”

Also calling for his resignation was Teamsters Local 320, which represents 1,500 workers across five University of Minnesota campuses. The union called Sviggum’s questions “racist and divisive.”

Morris, a community of about 5,100, is located in west central Minnesota, about 50 miles south-east of the North Dakota-South Dakota border.

The clinics, often run at the local level or by nonprofits, have struggled with spotty funding from the federal government, making it difficult to retain staff and pay for services. The gun violence bill that President Joe Biden signed into law after shooting rampages at a school in Uvalde, Texas, and a grocery in Buffalo, New York, bolstered federal funding to the states for the program.

In addition, Biden’s COVID-19 relief plans have set aside more than $1.2 billion for the centers. The clinics also serve those with private insurance and offer a sliding pay scale for those who are uninsured.

Scaling back streaming subscriptions is solid savings advice for some. But what if the choice you’re faced with is not whether to pay for Netflix or Hulu, but whether to pay for food or electricity?

Millions of Americans face food, housing and general financial insecurity every year, according to data from the U.S. Census Bureau and Department of Agriculture. And getting help often means navigating a maze of websites, automated telephone systems and confusing applications only to land on a yearslong waitlist or worse — find out you don’t qualify.

The good news: You don’t have to figure this out on your own. There are financial counselors, nonprofits and other local and national organizations that exist to help you find your financial footing.

an expected Ukrainian offensive.

Kherson is one of four regions illegally annexed by Russia last month. Regional head Vladimir Saldo said Tuesday that residents of Berislav, Belozersky, Snigiryovsky and Alexandrovsky were to be moved across the Dnieper River, away from Russian troops building “large-scale defensive fortifications.”

Saldo urged residents to stay calm and said they would “remain under the reliable protection of the Russian army.”

On Friday, too, Saldo had urged Kherson residents to evacuate. Russian authorities promise free travel and accommodations to those who leave for Russia, the only route out that they have offered.

Across Ukraine, even far from front lines, basic utilities are no longer certainties, with daily Russian strikes reaching far into the country and damaging key facilities.

The latest city shorn of power was Zhytomyr, home to military bases, industries and leafy boulevards, about 140 kilometers (85 miles) west of Kyiv. The mayor said the whole city of 250,000 lost power and also water initially. Repairs quickly reconnected some homes but 150,000 people were

Not in crisis mode yet but barely keeping your head above water? Take these steps to prioritize the money you do have coming in, then get help filling in the gaps.

GO BACK TO BASICS

Start with a budget — even if you don’t think you have enough money coming in to have a budget, says Amy Smith, a financial counselor in central Texas.

“It doesn’t matter how much you’re bringing in — any amount of money — because you’re at least telling that money where to go,” says Smith, who is also the membership engagement coordinator for the Association for Financial Counseling & Planning

Air-defense S-300 missiles, which Russia has been repurposing as ground-attack weapons as its stocks diminish, were used to strike the southern city of Mykolaiv. In the eastern city of Kharkiv, eight rockets fired from across the nearby border with Russia hit an industrial area, the regional governor said.

In Zhytomyr, school director Iryna Kolodzynska had students back at their desks within 30 minutes of the air raid all-clear. Without power for their computers, they used the class board to work on math equations.

“We must not break down,” she said. “There are regions that suffered much more from the war than we did.”

Waves of the explosives-laden suicide drones also struck Kyiv on Monday. One slammed into a residential building, killing four people.

The Iranian-made Shahed drones that hit Kyiv have also been widely used elsewhere in Ukraine in recent weeks. An Associated Press photographer caught one on camera Monday, its triangle-shaped wing and pointed warhead clearly visible, though the Kremlin refused to confirm their use.

Education.

Your first budget won’t be pretty. Your third or fourth might not be either. That’s OK. Try to stick with it and play around with different budgeting methods to find one that works for you.

“When I started this journey, the end of my budget was red,” Smith says, indicating that she didn’t have the funds to cover all of her expenses. “At least I knew I needed extra money.”

You will also know how to reallocate your funds if you get some extra income or a few months of utility assistance.

PRIORITIZE THE ESSENTIALS

If there’s not enough money to cover all your expenses, tend to your basic needs first. These include housing, utilities, food, transportation and child care, among other things.

“If that means a credit card doesn’t get paid that month, that happens,” Smith says.

speaking on condition of anonymity to discuss intelligence, said Russia is pursuing a strategy of “attempting to destroy Ukraine’s electricity network” with long-range strikes that are causing civilian casualties rather than degrading its military.

The official said the Iranian drones “are playing an increasingly significant role, although we can see that Ukraine is effectively neutralizing many of them before they hit their targets.”

In a televised address on Monday night, Zelenskyy said Russia is using the drones because it is losing ground in the war.

“Russia doesn’t have any chance on the battlefield, and it tries to compensate for its military defeats with terror,” he said. “Why this terror? To put pressure on us, on Europe, on the entire world.”

Zelenskyy’s tweet ruling out talks with Putin wasn’t the first time he’s said that he won’t negotiate with the Russian leader. Russia and Ukraine held several rounds of talks in the first month after Moscow’s invasion but they fell apart. The Kremlin has said talks could only be possible if Ukraine meets Russian demands and accepts its land-grabs of Ukrainian territory. Ukraine has flatly ruled out talks on those terms. In other developments:

- Ukraine’s nuclear energy operator said Russian forces have detained two more senior employees at the Zaporizhzhia Nuclear Power Plant. Energoatom said their whereabouts are unknown. Also unknown are the whereabouts of another executive who was detained earlier in October.
- In Russia, the death toll from Monday’s crash of a Russian warplane into a residential area rose to 15. The Su-34 bomber came down in the port city of Yeysk after one of its engines caught fire during takeoff for a training mission, the Defense Ministry said. Both crew members bailed out safely, but the plane struck a neighborhood, causing a huge blaze, officials said.

called to get help for their students.

Doctors send patients who need immediate help to the clinic, to avoid long wait times at expensive, private rehabilitation centers. And police officers now take some people who are in crisis to the lodge, rather than jail cell or a hospital.

The lodge’s urgent care is staffed with nurses, mental health specialists and peer counselors who help walk-ins develop plans for treatment, said executive director Mike Drummond.

“On a walk-in basis, we can evaluate them, assess them, develop a plan of treatment, initiate treatment,” Drummond said.

to scale up their efforts around the clinics, offering $1 million grants starting next year for up to 15 states to map out an expansion of the centers. Ten of those states will then be selected in 2024 for more money for their programs through Medicaid by securing federal matching funds at an enhanced rate. The goal is for 10 states to join the program every other year until all 50 are folded in.

Nine states are already getting higher reimbursement rates from Medicaid for patients who seek help from community centers. In the other states, centers can receive money directly from the federal government -- $300 million worth of grants were awarded in September.

Children as young as 4 years old have sought help at the Arundel Lodge in Edgewater, Maryland, since it launched an urgent care center for mental health and substance abuse in December with the help of a $2 million federal grant. Area teachers and school counselors have

“The basis of our government’s being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter.”

Thomas Jefferson

Why are you so good to me?

About 20 years ago, after dark on a chilly October weeknight, I went to a local discount store to buy a tie. They have cheap ties.

When you walked into the store, you came through the outside door, and there was a small area and then a flight of five or six stairs, and then the door into the store. In between the doors was a bench built into one wall.

In front of me was an older couple, maybe in their 70s. She wore black pants, a bright red blouse and a short black coat. He wore the kind of blue work clothes a lot of men wear to work in auto body shops or factories. I’ve known plenty of men who wore work clothes long after they stopped working, not because they were poor but because they didn’t think they had a reason to buy new clothes just because they retired.

They walked in the door ahead of me, and he sat down on the bench.

“What’s the matter?” the woman said.

“Nothing,” the man said. “Just let me catch my breath.”

“We can go home if you want,” she said.

“Naah,” he said. “I said I’d take you shopping. Just let me sit for a minute. Go in and look around. I just need a minute.”

She put her hand on his shoulder.

“I don’t know why you’re so good to me,” she said.

“I don’t know why, either,” he said.

Of course, she stayed with him, and I saw them come in together in a few minutes, and I bought a blue tie with red dots on it, and I went home.

I was single then, with no thought of marrying anyone, but I knew I wanted what they seemed to have, even though I didn’t know what it was called, and still don’t.

I took my wife, Deborah, to the hospital last week, to a hospital in Boston, 40 miles from where we live. The doctor had found something growing inside her, and the doctor wasn’t sure what it was, and I wasn’t even sure where it was, only that it was inside her small, pale body, and the doctor had listed cancer among the possibilities.

By: Marc Dion

They took her away to surgery, and I sat in the waiting room for five hours, considering the terrifying thought of loss and going outside every 45 minutes to stand on the sidewalk and smoke while people wearing office clothes went in and out of the Starbucks across the street.

And I thought of that old couple and how maybe I was done having the thing they had that I wanted.

The surgeon came and found me and said my wife didn’t have cancer, that the thing they took out of her wasn’t cancer. She’ll be fine.

That old guy in the discount store probably couldn’t describe how he felt about the older woman in the bright red blouse, but I saw it in his eyes, and I knew it for what it was, even all those years ago.

Any man who describes love is probably just repeating what he’s heard, saying, “She’s the best thing that ever happened to me” or, “She’s the love of my life.” Despite the poems and the songs and the Valentine’s Day cards, no one has ever really described love, and it’s possible that old news dogs like me shouldn’t even try.

Love is the worst thing that can happen to a man because it means he can’t live just for himself anymore, and it’s the best thing that can happen to a man because it means he doesn’t have to live just for himself anymore.

Other than that, it’s just sitting and waiting, trying to catch your breath, and hoping she stays with you.

Off-roading with dad

Arden’s married son, Jason, came to visit and wanted to have some fun. “Dad, why don’t we spin up some dirt and mud with my new Jeep? I hear the lake is really low this year. We could buzz along the shore.”

“I don’t know,” Arden replied. “I’m getting a bit old for something like that. And what if we get stuck? I’m not much good at pushing, digging, or walking for help.”

Jason laughed. “Don’t worry. We won’t get stuck. I’ve got one of the newest, coolest Jeeps around. It has exceptional tires, a tow cable, and, of course, four-wheel-drive.”

Arden paused briefly. He was getting to that age where every part of him ached if he overexerted himself even a little. But his son’s confidence finally won him over.

It wasn’t long before they reached the lake. They followed the road to the boat ramp that ended well above the waterline. The nearby dock sat high and dry on the sand. It had been a low snow-pack year, and the usual spring rains had been less than average.

At the bottom of the boat ramp, Jason turned the Jeep and headed down the beach. The smooth ride of the pavement gave way to the bumpy, twisted travel of the slanted lake side. Arden had to clench his teeth together to keep them from chattering. He had to hold on to keep from being thrown around inside the seat belt he was wearing.

Jason gunned the engine, and the back wheels spun mud higher than the jeep. If there were huge rocks, Jason would slow down and creep over them to keep his Jeep safe. But if the rocks were small to medium in size, he’d hit the accelerator, making the jeep fly over them.

Arden thought about how he was so much like Jason when he was young. But now, being older, he liked things calm and safe. He was sure just the twisting, jumping, and turning was going to make him so sore he wouldn’t sleep for a week.

At one point, when Jason spun out a huge mud geyser behind them, he turned to his father and grinned. “Some fun, huh?”

They reached a part of the lake that widened, and the water was hundreds of yards from the usual shoreline. Instead of turning and following the shoreline, Jason stayed close to the water and headed across the open sand toward a point where the shore was again near the water. That was when the problem started.

Instead of being solid like the bank, the sand out farther in the lake was apparently more saturated with water. As they started to sink, Jason seemed to know they were in trouble. He gunned the Jeep, and they moved fast toward the solid ground he was aiming for. But speed alone was not enough to overcome the soggy sand, and they gradually came to a stop with all four wheels spinning.

By this time, they were a long way from any help. But Jason was still confident. “We’ll just reel out the tow cable and connect it to a tree on the shore. We can use that to pull us in.”

The nearest tree was quite a distance away. Arden hadn’t ever seen a tow cable that long. But he dutifully got out and grabbed the cable. Jason hit the button, and the cable slowly came out. The mud attempted to swallow Arden’s feet, and the cable grew heavier the farther he went. Finally, father and son had to switch places. Arden’s arms and legs ached as he climbed in to push the button as Jason continued to pull the cable toward the tree. When they were only about twenty feet from the tree, the cable started to

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 19, the 292nd day of 2022. There are 73 days left in the year.

Today’s Highlight in History:

On Oct. 19, 2001, U.S. special forces began operations on the ground in Afghanistan, opening a significant new phase of the assault against the Taliban and al-Qaida.

On this date:

In 1781, British troops under Gen. Lord Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown, Virginia, as the American Revolution neared its end.

In 1814, the first documented public performance of “The Star-Spangled Banner” took place at the Holliday Street Theater in Baltimore.

In 1944, the U.S. Navy began accepting Black women into WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service).

In 1950, during the Korean Conflict, United Nations forces entered the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

In 1953, the Ray Bradbury novel “Fahrenheit 451,” set in a dystopian future where books are banned and burned by the government, was first published by Ballantine Books.

In 1960, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was arrested during a sit-down protest at a lunch counter in Atlanta. (Sent to prison for a parole violation over a traffic offense, King was released after three days following an appeal by Robert F. Kennedy.)

In 1977, the supersonic Concorde made its first landing in New York City.

In 1987, the stock market crashed as the Dow Jones Industrial Average plunged 508 points, or 22.6 percent in value (its biggest daily percentage loss), to close at 1,738.74 in what came to be known as “Black Mon-

In 1990, Kevin Costner’s Western epic “Dances with Wolves” had its world premiere in Washington, D.C.

In 2003, Pope John Paul II beatified Mother Teresa during a ceremony in St. Peter’s Square.

In 2010, the Pentagon directed the military to accept openly gay recruits for the first time in the nation’s history.

In 2016, in the third and final 2016 presidential debate, Republican Donald Trump stunned the forum in Las Vegas by refusing to say he would accept the results of the election if he were to lose; Democrat Hillary Clinton declared Trump’s resistance “horrifying.”

Ten years ago: The Dow Jones industrial average had its worst day in four months, sinking 205.43 points, or 1.5 percent, to close at 13,343.51.

Five years ago: Puerto Rico Gov. Ricardo Rossello, meeting with President Donald Trump at the White House about a month after Hurricane Maria, described the situation in the island territory as “catastrophic”; Trump rated the White House response to the disaster as a “10.” Counter-demonstrators greatly outnumbered supporters of white nationalist Richard Spencer, drowning him out as he spoke at the University of Florida. The Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs 11-1 to reach the World Series for the first time in almost three decades.

One year ago: A House committee investigating the Jan. 6 Capitol insurrection voted unanimously to hold former White House aide Steve Bannon in contempt of Congress after the longtime ally of former President Donald Trump defied a subpoena for documents and testimony. A federal grand jury indicted U.S. Rep. Jeff Fortenberry of Nebraska, accusing him of lying to the FBI and concealing information from federal agents who were investigating campaign contributions funneled to him from a Nigerian billionaire. (Fortenberry was convicted in March 2022; he resigned two days later.) The U.S. Supreme Court declined to block a vaccine requirement imposed on Maine health care workers, the latest defeat for opponents of vaccine mandates.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Fall Harvest Festival planned

IROQUOIS — Come enjoy the great autumn weather at the Fall Harvest Festival beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, in Iroquois.

The event is sponsored by the Iroquois Community Club and the Iroquois American Legion.

Children’s games and activities for all ages will begin at 3 p.m. on main street, including a fall sensory bin, hand turkeys, pumpkin painting, pumpkin golf, pumpkin corn hole, witches ring toss, pumpkin carving, relay races and sack races. There will be a $5 charge per child, or $10 for families with two or more children.

Trunk or Treat will be held south of the Legion Hall from 4 to 5 p.m. Iroquois residents are encouraged to dress up and decorate their vehicles while passing out treats to the kids.

A freewill offering spaghetti supper begins at 5 p.m. at Bensley-Rounds Legion Hall. Community Club members are asked to bring a dessert to be served with the meal.

BINGO will follow at 6:30 p.m. with cards $1 each. A variety of gift certificates and gift baskets will be given away as BINGO prizes.

Lacey Huls also plans to have a photo booth set up in the hall. Anyone interested in helping with games should contact Morgan Jacobs.

All proceeds go to the Iroquois Community Club and Iroquois American Legion to provide community events and activities.

BLOOD DRIVES

Good turn-out at blood drive

Next blood drive planned Oct. 27

HURON — The LifeServe Huron Community blood drive held at HRMC had a good turn-out, with 24 donors able to donate and 31 units of life saving blood collected. Thank you to every donor who participated in the drive. The units donated at the blood drive can help save up to 93 lives!

The blood drive had five people who reached milestone donations and one donor who donated for the first time:

- 1 gallon: BobbiJo Zavesky, Huron
  - 1 gallon: Garret Smith, Hitchcock
  - 2 gallons: Trevor Johnson, Clark
  - 7 gallons: Marlene Fullerton, Huron
  - 12 gallons: Gregory Blue, Cavour
- First time donor:
- Chyan Blythe, Huron
- Special thanks to HRMC for sponsoring the blood drive. LifeServe could not help patients in need of blood at HRMC and the 29 other S.D. hospitals they serve without communities like Huron and its loyal blood donors!
- The next blood drive in Huron will be Thursday, Oct. 27, from 12:30 to 6 p.m. at Huron Christian Church, 777 21st. S.E.
- To schedule an appointment, call 800-287-4903 or go to lifeservebloodcenter.org.

Wessington blood drive results

Next blood drive planned Feb. 7

Monthly Blood Donation Fact: Every 2 seconds someone receives a blood transfusion.

WESSINGTON — LifeServe Blood Center held a blood drive in Wessington on Sept. 29, and had a great turn-out with 24 donors able to donate and 27 units of life saving blood collected. Thank you to every donor who participated in the drive and helped to boost the local blood supply. The units donated at the blood drive can help save up to 81 lives!

Special thanks to Patty Schilling for coordinating the blood drive, Karen Clarke for working the day of the drive, the Wessington Ambulance Crew for sponsoring the drive, and to the American Legion for the use of their location. LifeServe could not help patients in its 29 S.D. hospitals without communities like Wessington and its loyal blood donors.

The next blood drive in Wessington is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 7, from 12:30 to 6 p.m. at the American Legion. Please call Patty Schilling at 605-354-2084 or go to www.lifeservebloodcenter.org to schedule your appointment.

A reminder to donors that they can easily transfer their lifetime donations to LifeServe! Go to lifeserve.info/transfer to fill out the form and we will get your donation accomplishments up to date in their system!

wind in around the other direction, and they had to stop.

They then started to dig and gather branches, rocks, and anything else they could stuff under the tires. They would only make a foot or two, then have to get some more material. It was just getting dark when they finally were close enough to the tree to wrap the cable around it.

As soon as it was secured, Jason started working the cable in as he slowly spun the wheels forward. Gradually, the cable pulled them to solid ground. It was almost midnight when the two sore, exhausted men made it home. Arden’s wife expressed her worry, and Arden told the story.

“Is the Jeep okay?” she asked.

Arden rolled his eyes. “You can’t hurt something that isn’t moving.”

Pumpkin carving

Holy Trinity second graders invited their fathers or another special person to help them carve a pumpkin. The students talked about the life cycle of a pumpkin and seeds were roasted. This is the 11th year for this special event.

International Credit Union Day

Thursday, Oct. 20

Hawaiian Macaroni Salad

2 cups half & half
1 ½ Tablespoons grated yellow onion
2 teaspoon pepper
1 pound elbow macaroni
5 green onions
1 cup grated carrots

2 cups mayonnaise
1 Tablespoon dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup apple cider vinegar
2 large celery ribs

In a medium bowl whisk together the half & half, mayonnaise, onion, sugar, salt and pepper until smooth. Refrigerate until needed.

Cook noodles per the package instructions, except add 5 minutes to the cooking time on the package (noodles need to be very soft and plump to absorb the dressing better.) Drain the macaroni into a colander and then dump it back into the pot. Add the vinegar and stir until the pasta absorbs the vinegar. Cover with a lid and cool for 20 minutes at room temperature.

Add half of the dressing to the noodles and stir to combine. Cover and cool for another 20 minutes. Add remaining dressing, green onions, celery, and carrots and stir to combine and season with salt and pepper, if needed. Cool completely to room temperature, about 30 more minutes. Transfer the macaroni salad to a bowl and cover with plastic wrap. Chill in the refrigerator for at least 2 hours before serving.

(This recipe is great to make ahead of time as it will keep covered in the refrigerator for up to 3 days. Just make sure you give everything a good stir before serving. It can also be frozen in an airtight container and thaw in fridge the day before serving it).

Individuals from the SD Central Chapter collected a large variety of food and miscellaneous paper products as a donation to the Salvation Army food pantry in Huron.

Country Scalloped Potatoes and Ham (crockpot)

8 thinly sliced potatoes
1 medium onion, chopped
1 pound cooked ham, cubed
1-ounce package country gravy mix
1 10 ¾ ounce can cream of mushroom soup
2 cups water
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese (or your preference)

Combine potatoes, onion, and ham in a lightly-sprayed slow cooker.
Combine gravy mix, mushroom soup, and water. Whisk until combined. Pour over potatoes. Cover. Cook on low 7-9 hours, or high 3-4 hours.
Top with shredded cheese during last 30 minutes of cooking.

Egg Bake

8 to 10 eggs
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup Monterey cheese
2 cups ham
12 sausage links, cut up
¼ cup flour
1 ¾ cup milk
Salt and pepper, to taste*

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 9-by-13-inch pan. Mix all ingredients together. Bake for 35-40 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes before serving.

*Can also add bell pepper, onion, bacon, black olives

Football Party Chip Dip

24 ounces sour cream
1 package shredded cheese
1 package dry ranch dressing
2-ounce can chopped black olives (drained)
2 ounces chopped jalapenos

Mix and serve with chips.

Chicken Noodle Casserole

2 10.5-ounce cans cream of chicken soup
1 cup milk
8 ounces spaghetti, cooked and drained
3 chicken breasts, cooked and cut into small chunks
4 Tablespoons breadcrumbs
2 Tablespoons butter

Cook, drain and rinse spaghetti. Mix the cream of chicken soups and milk, then add the cooked chicken breasts and the cooked spaghetti noodles. Pour the mixture into a greased 3-quart casserole dish and bake in a preheated 400 degrees F oven for 20 minutes. While this is cooking, mix the softened butter and breadcrumbs. After the casserole has baked for 20 minutes, sprinkle the butter/breadcrumb mixture over the top and bake for 5 more minutes.

Several members of the Central Chapter donate their time for the Adopt-A-Highway Project. Each fall volunteers gather to clean up garbage in a 2-mile stretch of ditch along the highway south of Huron.

Chex Scotcharoos

1 cup corn syrup, light
2 cups peanut butter
6 cups Chex cereal
2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips

1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups butterscotch chips

Butter a large bowl, then measure 6 cups of cereal into it — set aside. Butter 9-by-13-inch baking pan (or line with wax paper).

In a small saucepan, combine the corn syrup and sugar over medium heat. Once melted, remove from heat and stir in 1 ½ cups peanut butter. Pour over cereal and fold together. Press mixture into pan — set aside.

Melt together the chocolate chips, butterscotch chips, ½ cup peanut butter and vanilla. If microwaving, heat in 10 second intervals stirring inbetween to prevent the mixture from burning. Once smooth, pour over the cereal mixture in the pan.

Allow to cool completely at room temperature for the frosting to set up.

Members of the S.D. Central Chapter of Credit Unions made a $300 donation to the Pierre chapter of “Sleep in Heavenly Peace,” an organization dedicated to building, assembling and delivering beds to children and families in need. Funds were raised through 50/50 drawings.

Huron’s Karsyn Kopfmann tips the ball at the net as teammate Emma Miller backs her up on the play during their match against Pierre on Tuesday at Huron Arena.

Pierre sweeps Tigers

BY BENJAMIN CHASE
OF THE PLAINSMAN

HURON – In a rematch of a five-set marathon match two weeks ago in Pierre, the Pierre Governors swept the Huron Tigers in straight sets Tuesday at Huron Arena.

Set scores for the Governors were 25-14, 25-19, and 25-19.

The Tigers simply never got in system in the first set as the Governors jumped out to a 3-0 lead before Elin Schoenhard recorded a kill to give the Tigers their first point on the scoreboard.

Errant Tiger hitting led to five hitting errors in the first 10 points for Pierre. A Lily Sanchez block/kill led to a 12-5 lead for the visitors and the first timeout from Huron coach Joshua Lien.

The Tigers went on to a 4-1 run out of the timeout, but Pierre got a pair of service aces from Sanchez to cap a 4-0 run and make it 19-11.

Brynn Gose recorded kills in two of the next three points, and Heaven Gainey recorded a kill to make it 20-14, but that was as close as the Tigers would get.

Pierre was able to get four kills from four different hitters in the final five points to close out a 25-14 first set win.

After falling behind 2-0 to open the second set, the Tigers clawed back and actually took the first lead of the night on an ace from Schoenhard that made it 5-4. The teams exchanged points, with the score knotted seven times in the early going.

However, after a Schoenhard block made it 11-9 Huron, the largest Tiger lead of the night, Pierre called a timeout. After the timeout, the Governors used a pair of Sanchez kills, a Tiger hitting error, and a kill from Ayvrie Kaiser to go on a quick 4-0 run, take the lead back at 13-11 and draw a timeout from Tigers coach Lien.

The bleeding didn’t stop there, however, as Pierre went on a 3-1 run out of the timeout, prompting a second timeout by Lien.

Gose battled Sanchez kill for kill in the third set, as Gose tallied six kills in the second frame. However, Sanchez got the last laugh, putting down three straight points, giving her eight kills in the set, to give Pierre set point.

A Lainey Reinke ace gave the Governors the 25-19 set win in the second set.

The long runs for the Governors were simply something the Tigers could not match on the night.

GOLF GLANCE

PGA TOUR
CJ CUP IN SOUTH CAROLINA
Site: Ridgeland, South Carolina.
Course: Congaree Golf Club. Yardage: 7,431. Par: 72.
Prize money: $10.5 million. Winner's share: $1.89 million.
Television: Thursday-Sunday, 3-6 p.m. (Golf Channel).
Defending champion: Rory McIlroy. FedEx Cup leader: Keegan Bradley.
Last week: Keegan Bradley won the Zozo Championship.
Notes: This is the third straight year the CJ Cup of South Korea is being held in the United States because of travel restrictions related to the COVID-19 pandemic. ... The previous two tournaments were held in Las Vegas. ... The 78-man field features 15 of the top 20 in the world ranking. ... Twenty-one players in the CJ Cup last year in Las Vegas are now part of LIV Golf and are ineligible to play. ... Congaree held a PGA Tour event last year to replace the Canadian Open, which remained under travel restrictions. Garrick Higgo won the event. He is not in the field for the CJ Cup. ... Rickie Fowler is playing on a sponsor exemption. He has two top-10 finishes in three starts, including a runner-up finish in Japan last week. ... Harris English received an exemption. He missed the first half of last year while recovering from hip surgery. ... Rory McIlroy has five straight top 10s, including a win, since missing the cut in the FedEx St. Jude Championship.

Boyfriend less than thrilled with woman’s spiritual adviser

DEAR ABBY: My longtime girlfriend has male friends who visit her during the day while I am gone for about a week each month. I know them, they are interesting people, and I'm OK with that. She now has a friend who is a faith-based healer -- something she gravitates toward.

He lives three hours away, and when he visits, he stays overnight. I met him recently. He's there now while I am two states away. He does hands-on healing with her and other people she introduces him to. He goes in the water every day of the year, and now my girlfriend does, too, usually very early in the morning. Presumably, they do this together while I am away. Maybe he goes in naked; she would consider that natural.

She told me to not worry about the overnights and the hands-on healing because "he is a man of God." I told her it doesn't make any difference. He is divorced and single. Am I being a dope to let this happen without making a strong objection? -- MYSTIFIED IN MAINE

DEAR MYSTIFIED: Because this woman is your "longtime" girlfriend, you have the right to make your feelings about the arrangement known. If you weren't comfortable with the idea of her entertaining a divorced single man overnight in your absence, you should have said so from the beginning. Whether the two of them are sexually involved is beside the point. If she cares about your feelings, she should respect them. However, if she doesn't, then it may be time for you to find another girlfriend.

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband and I met in 2006, had a beautiful daughter in 2007, married in 2010 and divorced in 2013. He was honest with me about being a recovering addict (drugs and alcohol) when we met. Our first few years together were great. However, he fell off the wagon after the wedding and started using drugs and drinking again. It quickly spiraled out of control, and I refused to raise our young daughter in that environment.

Dear Abby

He continued in his addictions for seven years after our divorce. He became clean and sober again in 2019, has rekindled his strained relationship with our daughter and is attempting to rekindle ours as well. We are currently co-parenting and call each other friends, but he wants more.

I have forgiven him for the past hurt and betrayals, but I can't forget the pain. I can't help but be afraid that if I let him back into my life romantically, history will repeat itself. Should I let go of the past and give him another chance, or continue to co-parent and keep him in the friend zone? -- FORGIVEN BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

DEAR FORGIVEN: I suggest you attend some meetings of Nar-Anon (nar-anon.org), an organization founded to help friends and family affected by someone else's addiction. If you do, it will give you added insight. Addicts in recovery have been known to fall off the wagon, as you well know. My question for you is, are you strong enough to go through it again should the need arise? No one else can answer that question for you.

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

would constitute negligence or professional malpractice; or

(13) Performing solvent-based extractions on marijuana using solvents other than water, glycerin, propylene glycol, vegetable oil, or food grade ethanol, unless permitted by statute.

Section 3.
That title 34 be amended by adding a NEW SECTION to read: This chapter does not:

(1) Require that an employer permit or accommodate an employee to engage in conduct allowed by this chapter;

(2) Affect an employer's ability to restrict the use of marijuana by employees;

(3) Limit the right of a person who occupies, owns, or controls private property from prohibiting or otherwise regulating conduct permitted by this chapter on or in that property; or

(4) Limit the ability of the state or a local government to prohibit or restrict any conduct otherwise permitted under this chapter within a building owned, leased, or occupied by the state or the local government.

Section 4.
That title 34 be amended by adding a NEW SECTION to read: Subject to the limitations in this chapter, and notwithstanding any other law, the following acts, if done by a person at least twenty-one years of age, may not be an offense under state or local law, regulation, or ordinance; be subject to a civil fine, penalty, or sanction; be a basis for detention, search, or arrest; be a basis for the denial of any right or privilege; or be a basis for asset seizure or forfeiture:

(1) Possessing, using, ingesting, inhaling, processing, transporting, delivering without consideration, or distributing without consideration one ounce or less of marijuana, except that not more than eight grams of marijuana may be in a concentrated form;

(2) Possessing, planting, cultivating, harvesting, drying, processing, or manufacturing not more than three marijuana plants and possessing the marijuana produced by the plants, if:

(a) The plants and any marijuana produced by the plants in excess of one ounce are kept at one private residence, are in a locked space, and are not visible by normal, unaided vision from a public place;

(b) Not more than six plants are kept in or on the grounds of a private residence at one time; and

(c) The private residence is located within the jurisdiction of a local government where there is no licensed retail store where marijuana is available for purchase pursuant to this chapter.

(3) Assisting another person who is at least twenty-one years of age, or allowing property to be used, in any of the acts permitted by this section; and

(4) Possessing, using, delivering, distributing, manufacturing, transferring, or selling to persons twenty-one years of age or older marijuana accessories.

Section 5.
That title 34 be amended by adding a NEW SECTION to read: A person who commits the following acts is subject to a civil penalty not exceeding the amount specified:

(1) Violates section 4(2)(a) of this chapter by cultivating marijuana plants that are visible by normal, unaided vision from a public place, two hundred and fifty dollars.

(2) Violates section 4(2)(a) of this chapter by cultivating marijuana plants that are not kept in a locked space, two hundred and fifty dollars.

(3) Smokes marijuana in a public place, other than in an area licensed for such activity by the department, one hundred dollars.

(4) Is under twenty-one years of age and possesses, uses, ingests, inhales, transports, delivers without consideration or distributes without consideration one ounce or less of marijuana or possesses, delivers without consideration, or distributes without consideration marijuana accessories, one hundred dollars. The person shall be provided the option of attending up to four hours of drug education or counseling in lieu of the civil penalty.

Section 6.
That title 34 be amended by adding a NEW SECTION to read: This chapter must be broadly construed to accomplish its purposes and intents. Nothing in this chapter purports to supersede any applicable federal law, except where allowed by federal law. If any provision in this chapter or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality may not affect other provisions or applications of the chapter that can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this chapter are severable.

PENNIES:

Bills you can't cover shouldn't be ignored, though. Call the creditor — whether it's your landlord, mortgage company, utility provider or credit card issuer — and explain the situation. Then, ask if there's any help available. Even a waived late fee can help.

TAKE HELP WHERE YOU CAN

Don't let perceived social stigma keep you from getting the help you need. And don't fall into the trap of thinking services like food banks or food stamps aren't for you, or that things aren't "that bad" yet.

It can take time to get from application to assistance, especially for federal programs. The waitlist for some federal housing vouchers can be years long, according to Erik Gartland, a research analyst at the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. On the flip side, SNAP benefits (often referred to as food stamps) can kick in within seven days of applying if you have no income, says Dottie Rosenbaum, a senior fellow and director of federal SNAP policy at the CBPP.

Tracking down programs, forms, applications and eligibility requirements is tedious and time consuming, especially if you're facing language barriers, don't have reliable internet access or simply don't have the time because you're caring and providing for your family.

Lean on organizations with the sole focus of connecting people in need to the assistance available.

administered by nonprofits, religious organizations and state and federal agencies.

- 211.org: You can call 211 or visit 211.org to find local experts who know what help is available where you live and can connect you with the benefits you need.
- Association for Financial Counseling & Planning Education: Financial counselors work with clients on the basics — managing expenses, building a budget, creating a long-term plan — and they're tuned in to local resources and assistance programs. You can sign up for a free virtual session with a certified financial counselor at finadanafe.org/pro-bono.
- National Low Income Housing Coalition: This nonprofit organization maintains a database of Emergency Rental Assistance programs, searchable by the city, county, state territory or tribe. Crucially, the database also includes up-to-date information on each program's status: accepting applications, on hold or permanently closed.
- Legal Services Corporation: Legal aid organizations across the country offer free legal help to low-income individuals. Their services cover everything from evictions and foreclosure to wage disputes and disaster relief. Legal Services Corporation is an independent nonprofit that provides funding to more than 100 legal aid groups across the country and the U.S. territories. Visit their website (lsc.gov), select "Get legal help" and enter your address to find a local legal aid office.

Hurricane Ian farm loss could reach $1.56B

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Agriculture losses in Florida from Hurricane Ian's high winds and drenching rains could reach $1.56 billion, with citrus, cattle, vegetable and melon operations among the hardest hit, the University of Florida reported Tuesday in a preliminary estimate.

The school's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences said there could be many impacts that are yet to emerge from flooded acreage and depend in part on whether some damaged crops can be replanted to salvage some of the winter vegetable growing season.

"There's still a lot of uncertainty," said Christa Court, an economist and director of economic analysis for the institute. "The effects can be very different in a single location."

The estimated losses this year are for a high scenario of $1.56 billion and a low potential loss of about $787 million. That's in an area of Florida where total agricultural production is valued at more than $8 billion on an annual basis, according to the report.

"It's not completely devastating to the entire agriculture industry in the state," Court said during an online news conference. "Some of the seasons were just getting started."

Hurricane Ian swept ashore Sept. 28 in southwest Florida as a Category 4 storm with winds estimated at 155 mph (250 kph), then bisected the center of the state, where most agricultural production is located. About 5 million acres of farmland were affected by the storm, according to the UF report.

Before the storm, citrus production in Florida was already forecast to drop by a third compared with the year before, in part because of winter freezes and ongoing disease problems. Now, a primary source of orange juice for much of the nation will take another hit, with losses estimated at as much as $304.2 million.

And the harvest season for oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and similar fruit was just beginning.

"The impact on Florida's affected commodities cannot be understated, especially the heartbreaking damage to Florida citrus, an industry already facing significant challenges," state Agriculture Commissioner Nikki Fried said in a statement.

The University of Florida loss estimates do not take into account the impact on consumer prices, but the storm is likely to press prices upward and force orange juice producers to rely even more heavily on California and imported oranges from Latin America.

The estimated loss for vegetable and melon crops in Florida ranges from $208 million to $393 million. For horticultural crops — flowers, landscape plants, ornamental trees, sod grass — the loss could top $297 million. And for cattle and other animal production it's as much as $221 million.

The greatest unknown is the effect flooding and heavy rains from Hurricane Ian will have over the long term. The university report indicates more than 20 inches (508 mm) of rain fell in places where the storm center passed, with 12 inches (304 mm) common outside that zone. Several rivers in farm regions set new flood stage records.

Some citrus trees weakened by the storm could die. Cattle that survived a flood could die from disease or injury and could have problems obtaining enough high-quality food in damaged pastures.

The complete damage picture in the flood areas, the report noted, "cannot be determined until fields dry out."

Huron middle school volleyball hosts Pierre

BY PLAINSMAN STAFF

HURON – Huron Tigers seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams swept five matches from the Pierre Governors on Monday at Huron Middle School.

Eighth grade

The eighth grade “A” team moved to 11-3 with a 25-17 and 25-21 victory.

Isabelle Kremer was 19 of 19 serving with seven aces and let the team with 13 assists. Natalie Kinsley was 6 of 7 serving with four aces.

Kya Tschetter led Tigers hitters with eight kills on 13 of 14 hitting.

The B team moved to 4-6 with a 25-11 and 25-19 win.

Olivia Purintun led hitters with four kills for Huron. Allyra Karlin and Jerriann Fergen each recorded three aces at the service line for the Tigers.

The Tigers’ C team recorded its first win of the year to move to 1-9 by 25-6 and 25-22 set scores.

Kennedy Bergquist recorded a kill and three service aces. Jessalyn Noyes had six aces from the service line.

Seventh grade

The Huron seventh grade “A” team swept Pierre 25-16 and 25-16.

Reagan Bischoff was 17 of 17 serving with six aces. Piper DeJean, Rosalina Moreno, and Maggie Storm each had a pair of aces.

The B team won by set scores of 25-22 and 25-9.

Lennon Magness-Caudell led the Tigers, going 14 of 15 serving with eight aces and also going 7 of 8 hitting with three kills.

Middle school volleyball is back in action on the road Thursday at Watertown.

TIGERS:

Lien stated after the match. “We’re not doing a good enough job keeping the other teams’ hitters at bay.”

The Tigers fell behind heavy in the third set, with Lien calling his first timeout with the Tigers down 8-2. Huron did pick up a kill from Gose and Gainey out of the timeout, but a brutal collision between Bryn Huber and Emma Ross on defense stopped the match as Ross was aided off the court and attended to by trainers.

The team struggled to find its footing after the collision, falling behind by as many as 10, at 21-11.

That’s when the Tigers made a run toward a respectable finish in the set.

Gainey recorded a kill and Huber landed a service ace. Two long volleys ended in hitting errors by Pierre attackers, leading to a timeout by the Governors at 21-15.

After getting to match point at 24-16, the Tigers made a last-gasp run, with a Gainey kill bringing the Tigers within 24-

19, but the Tigers sent the next hit long, ending the set at 25-19 Pierre and giving the Governors the sweep.

Coach Lien expressed that the loss was one of the toughest of the season in his eyes.

Stanton, Judge HR, Yankees beat Guards, into ALCS vs Astros

NEW YORK (AP) — Gleyber Torres stepped on second base for the final out, swinging his arms back and forth, four times in all, while glaring at Josh Naylor and the Guardians dugout.

Giancarlo Stanton and Aaron Judge rocked Cleveland with early homers, and Nestor Cortes and the New York Yankees rolled into another AL Championship Series matchup with the Houston Astros.

“We got our revenge. We’re happy to beat those guys. Now they can watch on TV the next series for us,” Torres said after the Yankees beat the Guardians 5-1 in the decisive Game 5 of their AL Division Series on Tuesday night. “It’s nothing personal. Just a little thing about revenge.”

Yankees manager Aaron Boone won his gamble by starting Cortes on three days’ rest over Jameson Taillon, making the late switch after Monday night’s rain caused a postponement.

Cleveland manager Terry Francona stayed the course with Aaron Civale instead of switching to 2020 Cy Young Award winner Shane Bieber on short rest.

“I’ve never done it,” Bieber said. “But could I have? Sure.”

Civale had trouble throwing strikes, and the Guardians never recovered from Stanton’s three-run homer just 21 pitches in.

Taillon will start Wednesday night at Houston, which goes with Justin Verlander. The AL match-up features the league’s top two regular-season teams in the 106-win Astros and 99-win Yankees, a contrast to the NL championship between wildcard San Diego and Philadelphia.

“When they’re all clicking they’re great,” Yankees ace Gerrit Cole said of the Astros, his former team. When they’re not all clicking, they’re great.”

Cole got two wins against Cleveland and carved the Guardians with just three words. Naylor made the rocking the baby motion repeatedly while rounding the bases after homering off Cole in Game 4.

Cole responded: “Whatever. It’s cute.”

“We feel like it is a little disrespectful, not just Cole but for the team,” Torres said.

Yankees fans in the sellout crowd of 48,178 greeted Naylor with derisive chants of “Who’s your daddy!” echoing their treatment of Boston pitcher Pedro Martinez two decades ago.

No offense, Naylor said.

“That was so sick,” he said. “That was honestly like a dream come true as a kid. Playing in an environment like this, where they’ve got diehard fans. It’s cool.”

Now 27, Cortes he was traded by the Yankees to Seattle after the 2019 season, was dropped by the Mariners a year later and became an All-Star after resurfacing in the Bronx.

“Just the legend of Nestor,” Boone said. “Honestly going in, I would have been really excited about 10 batters.”

Cortes dominated with three-hit ball for five innings for the win, throwing 61 pitches.

“I’ve got nothing to lose. I’ve been in the gutter before. I’ve been down,” Cortes said. “So for me, this is just a cherry on top,”

Jonathan Loáisiga, Clay Holmes and Wandy Peralta finished with five-hit scoreless relief. Peralta became the first Yankees pitcher to appear in all five games of a Division Series..

“Just getting the last out, it’s hard to explain. It’s such an exciting moment,” Peralta said through a translator.

With two outs and two on, Myles Straw hit a grounder to shortstop Isiah Kiner-Falefa, who flipped to Torres to end it.

Anthony Rizzo had a fifth-inning RBI bloop single for AL East champion New York, which is seeking its 28th title and first since 2009,

AL Central champion Cleveland, the youngest team in the majors, remained without a championship since 1948. The Guardians whose $68 million payroll is a fraction of the Yankees’ $274 million, led 2-1 in the best-of-five series.

who totaled 13 kills and three service aces in the match. Kaiser added eight kills and three aces for the Governors.

Huron falls to 15-8. Gose led the Tigers attack with 12 kills. Gainey had six kills, and Schoenhard put down five kills and also recorded a service ace.

Pierre swept the JV match by scores of 25-15 and 25-20. Huron took the sophomore match by scores of 25-16 and 25-21. The Huron freshmen won in three sets by scores of 16-25, 25-19, and 15-7.

The Tigers host Mitchell Tuesday in the team’s annual fundraiser to combat breast cancer game.

Lien hopes the positive attitude that typically surrounds the game could inspire his team.

“Individually, we have to get better at every position,” Lien observed. “Hopefully, the girls will come and play hard next week for pink night against Mitchell and we can get back on track.”

“So far I haven’t been completely frustrated at our losses,” Lien sighed. “Tonight, this might be one of those. This is a tough one for me.”

Pierre moves to 13-4 behind a tremendous match from Sanchez,
