"Yes Day" premieres
 Friday on Netflix.

A family can't say no to 'Yes Day' in Netflix comedy

It's a phenomenon that's catching on around the country.

Parents, tired of constantly saying no to their kids, relax the rules and let their kids do whatever they please for a 24-hour period – provided, of course, it's not illegal, immoral, life-threatening or will tick off the neighbors. It's called a "Yes Day" and it's also the title of an upcoming Netflix movie.

Premiering Friday, March 12, the family comedy stars Jennifer Garner ("13 Going on 30," "Alias") and Edgar Ramirez ("Wrath of the Titans," "American Crime Story") as Allison and Carlos Torres, a Los Angeles couple who weary of being the heavies to their kids Katie, Nando and Ellie (Jenna Ortega, Julian Lerner, Everly Carganilla) and let them take the reins and make the rules for a day.

On the surface, it's a win-win for all concerned as the youngsters get to plan their own fun without restrictions and Mom and Dad get to take something of a mental health day. But in this case, it also leads to a day of adventure around L.A. that includes a trip to Magic Mountain, a massive water balloon fight and a tidal wave of soap suds in the Torres house.

It's the brainchild of Garner, an executive producer here who recently granted her own kids a Yes Day and pitched the idea to Miguel Arteta ("Youth in Revolt," "The Good Girl"), who directed the film.

"One of the things that really blew my mind was that there's been a little bit of research on it ..." Arteta explains. "And one of the things that has been consistent is that kids request to turn off their phones and parents to turn off all devices ... . Because nowadays to think of anything that would have kids (wanting) to get offline, it's just so surprising and also so hopeful.

"And Jennifer Garner told me that's one of the (reasons why she) really wanted to make this movie, is that there is hope that people want to spend time with each other and appreciate each other and really be present with each other."

Filming gave the cast a few weeks of fun. The younger actors got to go on the rides continuously during the three-day shoot at Magic Mountain and fling in excess of 30,000 water balloons during the five days filming that scene in a park north of Pasadena, where Nat Faxon's ("The Way Way Back") character got pummeled. And Ramirez, best known for roles in action films, got to try his hand at comedy.

"It's always such a pleasure when you take a dramatic actor and give him a free rein to have more fun," Arteta says. "And Jen Garner was really helpful with that, encouraging him, making him feel safe to be silly. And we really lucked out that they loved each other and the kids and the five really loved each other. You hope for that kind of chemistry and you pray for it. You try to predict it. It doesn't always happen but I think one of the reasons that there is sweetness in the movie is because they all really, really dug each other."

The chance to play Krypton's most famous native may be a dream job, but had it come to him earlier, Tyler Hoechlin might have turned it down.

"It's a big commitment," he notes, but he ultimately accepted the role he now plays in "Superman & Lois" Tuesdays on The CW (and, in Canada, CTV Sci-Fi Channel). Hoechlin first had the role in recurring appearances on "Supergirl," then played it in the "Arrowverse" crossovers "Elseworlds" and "Crisis on Infinite Earths" ... joined for those by the Lois Lane to his Man of Steel, "Grimm" alum Elizabeth Tulloch.

"When you do series TV, it's not six weeks, it's not eight weeks – it's a majority of the year, and hopefully, multiple years," reasons Hoechlin, who knew that firsthand from his work on "7th Heaven" and "Teen Wolf." "I wanted to have time to really figure out what I wanted to do, and to have the freedom to go from one project to another.

"I did that for a time, then everything kind of fell into place around the same time," the friendly Hoechlin adds. "They were thinking this was something they might actually get done, and I was ready to commit to something long-term again. It just worked out for everybody."

When Hoechlin started playing Superman, a super-series of his own wasn't part of the plan. "They just wanted to have a fun salute to the character on 'Supergirl,'" he recalls, "then it kind of evolved over the years. It's been such a great experience, I've really, thoroughly enjoyed it. And I've been really lucky to work with a lot of incredible people along the way."

tonight's picks

Saturday.

5 p.m. on (180); 10 p.m. on (180)

Movie: Fast Times at Ridgemont High

"What are you, Heckerling? On DOPE?" Amy Heckerling ("Clueless") made her directing debut with this 1982 comedy set in a California high school. The plot, such as it is, involves a naive, likable guy and girl (Brian Baker, Jennifer Jason Leigh) who should get together but are getting the wrong kind of relationship advice from their respective friends (Robert Romanus, Phoebe Cates). But it's Sean Penn's surfer dude who steals every scene he's in.

Nickelodeon's Kids' Choice Awards 2021

Grammy Award-winning pop star Justin Bieber is the headline performer for this year's ceremonies at the annual event that celebrates fan-favorite stars across the worlds of TV, film, music, sports and other categories. The singer is scheduled to perform his latest single, "Anyone," and his chart-topping "Intentions," joined by Quavo. Hosted for the live event is "Saturday Night Live" favorite Kenan Thompson, who will take fans on the first-ever virtual world tour aboard Nickelodeon's Orange Blimp.

6:30 p.m. on (62)

Movie: Isn't It Romantic

Plagued with low self-esteem, architect Natalie (Rebel Wilson) developed an aversion to romantic comedies early in life, so when she's knocked unconscious during an attempted mugging, she's horrified to wake up and find herself somehow trapped in just such a cliché-filled love story. Complicating matters, the people Natalie meets in her "real" life have changed into Hollywood stereotypes.

7 p.m. on (29); 11:01 p.m. on (29)

Movie: A House on Fire

To the casual observer, Dr. Deborah Green (Stephanie March) had a perfect life that included a thriving career, two well-behaved children and a dotting husband (Shaun Benson), who shared a picture-perfect home in an affluent neighborhood. What many people fail to notice is that Deb's bedside manner leaves a lot to be desired and she has trouble working with her medical colleagues. She also is seething with jealousy that her husband's professional life overshadows her own. This situation does not end happily for most of them.

Stephanie March
