Talk show host Wendy Williams tells her story in biopic and documentary on Lifetime

How is Wendy Williams doing? Just fine, thank you very much, but it wasn't always

Indeed, the host of the syndicated "The Wendy Williams Show" has experienced many highs and lows over the course of 30-plus years on her way to television stardom, as told in an upcoming biopic and documentary on Lifetime.

In "Wendy Williams: The Movie," premiering Saturday, Jan. 30, Ciera Payton ("The Oval," "A Madea Family Funeral") stars as Williams, a girl from Asbury Park, N.J., who found her niche as a disc jockey in the late 1980s and rode ratings success at radio stations in New York and Philadelphia to the top of her profession. And later, of course, to a thriving TV career.

But the road to get there was rocky and she endured much heartbreak and pain, including rape by an acquaintance, drug abuse, an abortion, two miscarriages, a stillbirth, a husband living dual lives and a subsequent divorce, bad management and health issues, including a very public collapse on her show in 2017.

Williams serves as executive producer on the drama, which also stars Morocco Omari ("Empire"), Rebecca Davis ("Ice"), Liza Huget ("Riverdale"), Drummond Macdougall ("Arrow") and Rothaford Gray ("Mary Kills

The film portrays Williams as the ultimate survivor, someone who never let setbacks get to her or get in her way and who never let anyone tell her who she is. That's illustrated in an early scene in the movie, when she makes a conscious decision to not let her mother's criticisms define her but rather drive her to attain her goals.

"I knew what I wanted to do," Williams explains. "I was very involved with the college radio station and also an internship I'm gonna impress them by doing the four years and when I get out of here, my life is totally mine. And I'm gonna show them and I'm gonna show the world. I'll show 'em, I'll show 'em, I'll show 'em.' I'll show 'em I'll be a good jock on the radio. Sure, a good one. Award-winning? I wasn't sure but I'd get an award and win something."

Of course, she did more than win something. Fame, fortune and awards came her way but so did trouble. In the end, her perseverance saw her through, which she says is the message behind the movie.

"If she can do it, I can at least try," Williams says. "Now, what it is, I'm not exactly sure. ... (And) stop being so sensitive. At least until you get in the house, then if you want to cry or be mad or whatever. But stop being so sensitive."

Immediately following on Saturday is the documentary "The Wendy Williams Story ... What a Mess!" which Williams also executive produces and tells her story with footage and commentary by Williams herself.

People").

The "Rookie Blue" alum missed much of the CBS drama's second season as she and actor husband Tom Oakley welcomed their first child, Otis. She's now back for Season 3, which has aired only two new episodes, having been delayed by the coronavirus pandemic ... but it returns with a special Sunday airing after the AFC championship football game Jan. 24, then resumes in its usual Tuesday slot two nights

" 'Overwhelming' is probably the best word," the friendly Peregrym allows of her new balance between work and family. "It's a lot of adjustments and changes. I didn't really consider myself a career person until I had a child, and now, work is completely different because all I'm thinking about is Otis. You're so emotionally attached to this person, and it's something you've never experienced before."

Peregrym is grateful, therefore, to be back in the company of "FBI" co-workers she already knew well. "It would be much harder if it was a brand-new job," she reasons. "It feels really nice to have the same team."

Maggie Bell's (Peregrym) return to FBI duty has been marked by her revelation to partner "OA" (Zeeko Zaki) that she is romantically involved with a colleague from her recent undercover assignment.

"I think it's a really big deal for Maggie to have somebody in her life in a serious way," Peregrym reflects. "Especially because of what happened to her husband (a reporter who died in a supposed car accident), she'd probably want to keep it as private as possible. There's been some good character stuff."

Birthdate: June 16, 1982 Birthplace: Montreal

Current residence: New York

Marital status: Married to Australian actor and producer Tom Oakley; they have one child, Otis, born last March

Kate (Jen Lilley) is a committed New Yorker who never sees any need to leave Manhattan, until her job requires her to travel to Canada to do a story. Much to her dismay, once she arrives she finds herself sorely tested by an extended tour of the great outdoors, despite the charms of the adventurous local (Chris McNally) who is serving as her tour guide. Movie: Burden

Mike Burden (Garrett Hedlund), a young man raised in a culture of racist hate in a small South Carolina town, finds a path to redemption thanks to a compassionate Black preacher (Forest Whitaker) and a young woman (Andrea Riseborough) who senses hidden, untapped sensitivity in Mike. Similarly, even critics who found the film itself a mite trope-heavy praised Hedlund for his richly nuanced performance. Director Andrew Heckler's film won the Audience

Award at the 2018 Sundance Film Festival.

Movie: Bloodshot

Based on a Valiant Comics character, this 2020 superhero action movie stars Vin Diesel as Ray Garrison, a Marine who is killed in action, then brought back to life with new superpowers by an organization that plans to use him as a weapon. Sam Heughan ("Outlander"), Eiza González, Toby Kebbell, Guy Pearce and Lamorne Morris also star in the film, which launched a projected cinematic universe with Diesel expected to reprise his role in sequels.
