coverstory

BY GEORGE DICKIE

The iconic beagle flies high in Apple's 'The Snoopy Show'

For those who have delighted in the adventures of the Peanuts gang over the decades, “The Snoopy Show” offers up pure red meat.

Indeed, the half-hour series that premieres Friday, Feb. 5, on Apple TV+, presents the further adventures of the care-free beagle made famous in late animator Charles Schulz’s 1950-2000 comic strip and subsequent TV specials, joined by his best friend Woodstock. Charlie Brown, Linus and Lucy and the rest of the crew serve as background characters here.

Each episode consists of three seven-minute vignettes that are based on the iconic comic series and features the signature animation style that has entertained audiences for more than seven decades.

The objective, says executive producer Mark Evestaff, is to stay as true to Schulz’s original creation as possible.

“For a lot of the people working on the show, they’re all fans first and all the artists are fans first, so the opportunity to give Snoopy his own series felt like the right thing to do,” he explains. “And certainly there was enough material with Charles Schulz producing like almost 18,000 strips over the years. and a lot of our stories are mined from those strips specifically to create stories in the show. ... We really did go back to the strips and really looking at the details of Schulz’s poses and even of course lines from the strip, if we can use them and it still works, then absolutely. We tried to stay as close and faithful to that spirit.”

And part of that spirit lies in the dialog – or lack thereof. As a dog and a bird, Snoopy and Woodstock don’t speak human English so Evestaff and the team had to come up with ways to tell stories without the use of words.

“It really was just more animation, more acting and then adding, of course, the odd vocalizations to what we do have and carried that through ...,” Evestaff explains. “You throw enough artists at it, enough talented artists that have a passion and bring that passion, we’re able to tell these stories and it’s really wonderful how that some of our best stories are almost without dialog at all through seven minutes and are some of our most heart-warming and our best friendship stories.”

In the end, this is a story of a friendship between two iconic characters with whom viewers have had a long relationship and Evestaff didn’t want to betray that.

“There’s, of course, a lot of trepidation off the top – are we going to ruin Snoopy in all these things?” he admits. “But truthfully, I think if you pack it with enough of the right people and they bring enough of that passion and hard work, then the results sort of speak for themselves.”

There’s never a guarantee how long someone will have a television job, certainly not for 40 years. Then, there’s Pat Sajak.

The multiple Daytime Emmy winner was a Los Angeles weathercaster when series creator and executive producer Merv Griffin invited him to become the host of “Wheel of Fortune.” As the game’s weeknight version continues in syndication, Sajak and “letter turner” Vanna White also are presiding over the famous-player-driven “Celebrity Wheel of Fortune” Thursdays on ABC.

“Part of that is just through longevity, not to be too modest,” Sajak reflects of his enduring popularity that “Wheel” has helped solidify. “If you put a well-trained Labrador Retriever on for 30 years, people would say, ‘Hey, that’s Rusty! I know him!’” Still, Sajak believes he has succeeded through recognizing that “the game is the star. Otherwise, you can wear out your welcome pretty quickly.”

A measure of how welcome Sajak remains was the response from “Wheel of Fortune” fans when he required emergency intestinal surgery in late 2019. Allowing that he’s “a pretty private guy,” he recalls that outpouring as “very nice. It was just one of those fluky things, I have no underlying health issues, and my life is back to total normal.”

Had the situation happened at a time when “Wheel” wasn’t in production, Sajak notes, “it’s possible no one even would have known about it ... but they had to tape those shows, because it was our biggest promotion of the year, a big sweepstakes that had to be done by a certain date. So, they had to make the announcement, and what a trouper for Vanna (to substitute as host).”

Birthdate: Oct. 26, 1946

Birthplace: Chicago

Current residences: Maryland and Los Angeles

Marital status: Married; has two children, son Patrick and country-singer daughter Maggie

On having gone to the “Wheel” studio while recovering from his 2019 surgery: “I dragged myself in for a couple of reasons. I wanted to assure the staff, because our producer was leaving after 25 years, and no one likes change ... and now, the host was in the hospital. I wanted to show them that I was OK and was going to be fine. I was not strong enough to host, but I got to stand backstage and and support my daughter (who filled in as guest letter turner). And by the way, she did a fabulous job.”

The Watch
 In their high-stakes race against Carcer Dun (Samuel Adewunmi) for the second mystical artifact, Cheery, Angua and Carrot (Jo Eaton-Kent, Marama Corlett, Adam Huggill) venture into the Mines of Tak, where Cheery is forced to confront some shadowy facets of her past, in the new episode "The Dark in the Dark." Meanwhile, back in Ankh-Morpork, Vimes and Sybil (Richard Dormer, Lara Rossi) defend the besieged Watch House from Doctor Cruces (Ingrid Oliver) and her colleagues from the Assassins Guild.

8 p.m. on (401); 10:30 p.m. on (401); 12:30 a.m. on (401)
The Lady and the Dale
 This four-part documentary producers Mark and Jay Duplass uses an inventive visual presentation style to explore the fascinating story of the rise and fall of 1970s-era transgender entrepreneur Elizabeth Carmichael and her radical car, which she dubbed The Dale. Carmichael rose to prominence during that decade's oil crisis when she promoted her fuel-efficient three-wheeled vehicle, which she promised would get 70 miles to the gallon. Shedding light on the story are Carmichael's daughter, Candi, and son, Michael.

9 p.m. on (8) (8)
The Long Song on Masterpiece
 This three-part adaptation of a critically acclaimed and best-selling novel by Andrea Levy chronicles the saga of July (Tamara Lawrance, "King Charles III"), a strong-willed house slave who clashes with her demanding and capricious mistress, Caroline Mortimer (Hayley Atwell), in Jamaica during the era of emancipation in the 19th century. The excellent cast also includes Jack Lowden ("Mary Queen of Scots"), Sharon Duncan-Brewster ("Rogue One"), Jordan Bolger ("Peaky Blinders"), Gordon Brown ("Only God Forgives") and Lenny Henry.

"Independent Lens"

Monday
8 p.m. on (57); 9:30 p.m. on (57)
Below Deck
 A series of recent incidents cause Francesca to lose all trust in Elizabeth in the new episode "Hide the Salami," while Rachel continues to grow frustrated with the interior over miscommunication. Meanwhile, Elizabeth's high expectations for her birthday celebration fall disappointingly short, and the crew grows fearful of COVID-19 as increasingly scary reports of the pandemic back home reach them.

8 p.m. on (150); 11 p.m. on (150)

Atlanta Justice

When she hasn't heard from her mother, Candice Person, all day, her daughter goes to check on her and finds Candice lying dead on her bedroom floor in the new episode "Closer Than You Think." Detectives inspecting the crime scene note indications that the victim had been sexually assaulted, and her purse is missing as well, but they soon realize this is no ordinary murder.

8 p.m. on (401); 12:35 a.m. on (401)

30 Coins

Fleeing from Santoro (Manolo Solo), Vergara (Eduard Fernández) hides among soldiers and war hospitals in Syria in the new episode "Holy War." Meanwhile, Elena (Megan Montaner) follows Roque (Antonio Velázquez) to Paris, where much to her horror the coin finds its way back to her. In Pedraza, Paco (Miguel Ángel Silvestre) is on the verge of resigning when a sinister new priest arrives.

9 p.m. on (8) (8)

Independent Lens

In their new documentary "9 to 5: The Story of a Movement," Julia Reichert and Steven Bognar look back at a grassroots revolution in the 1970s and '80s, as secretaries banded together to create meaningful changes in the workplace. The ideas these women came up with eventually dovetailed with the women's and labor movements of the time. Their passion and commitment also inspired the 1980 movie comedy "9 to 5" starring Lily Tomlin, Jane Fonda and Dolly Parton.

9 p.m. on (52); 12 a.m. on (52)

American Gred

In Dallas, a delusional and debt-ridden spinal surgeon, who also may well be dabbling in narcotics, maims and even kills patients in one botched surgery after episode in the aptly titled new episode "The Real Dr. Death." It falls to two colleagues to step in where others won't and bring him down before his depraved indifference takes an even heavier toll.

9 p.m. on (401); 11:45 p.m. on (401)

The Investigation

A hit in its native Denmark, this taut six-part Scandinavian series delves into the real-life 2017 murder of Swedish journalist Kim Wall, who was killed after boarding a homemade submarine. After pieces of Wall's corpse were found in different drop spots, submarine owner Peter Madsen was charged with her murder. The series follows Jens Moller (Soren Malling), the head of homicide, and his team as they search for the truth.

Katie's runaway travel fantasies come to a screeching halt, though, when she discovers this new chum is hoping to become a first-time dad and relies on her for parenting guidance.

8 p.m. on 46 5
Chicago Fire
 The title of the new episode "My Lucky Day" is bitterly ironic, especially for Herrmann and Cruz (David Eigenberg, Joe Minoso), as Firehouse 51 is called to the scene of a dangerous blaze inside a 10-story storage unit. All the firefighters recognize the dangers that abound in such an inferno, but even these two veterans face disaster as they repeatedly find themselves trapped inside a freight elevator with all communications cut off.

8:30 p.m. on 9 9
Call Your Mother
 Jean (Kyra Sedgwick) soon becomes aware that balancing her new job with trying to spend time with children Jackie and Freddie (Rachel Sennott, Joey Bragg) may not actually be the best way to manage her time in the new episode "New Car, New Job, New Jean."

9 p.m. on 8 8; 1 a.m. on 8 8

Europe's New Wild
 This visually stunning new nature docuseries examines the work being done by scientists and other experts to re-flourish green areas of Europe by reintroducing many of the same wild animals that until recently were being pushed to the brink of extinction. The premiere, "The Missing Lynx," takes viewers on a journey to a great valley in Portugal where unique species are starting to thrive once again in diverse landscapes ranging from oak forests to scattered fields, rocky heath lands and plunging river gorges.

9 p.m. on 401
C.B. Strike
 Danger is in the air for Robin Ellacott (Holliday Grainger) in the new "Lethal White: Part 3." In the wake of blackmailed government minister Jasper Criswell's death, she and Strike (Tom Burke) seek to discern whether the death was murder or suicide, but when Robin goes undercover to learn more about political activist Jimmy Knight (Nick Blood), she attracts the unwelcome attention and subsequent suspicion of some very lethal characters. Christina Cole also stars.

Movie: Beverly Hills Wedding

When her kid sister gets engaged, small-town wedding photographer Molly (Brooke D'Orsay) typically takes control of things, with the best of intentions. She manages to win a dream wedding for the altar-bound couple, with the glamorous ceremony held at a historic Beverly Hills hotel and coordinated by "planner to the stars" Terrence Roquefort (Matthew MacCaull). When the bride and groom start to feel overwhelmed by it all, though, Molly must stop and ask herself whose dreams she's trying to fulfill.

A Wild Year On Earth

"May-June: A Time of Volatility" looks at an annual time of seasonal gear-shifting and the stirring of powerful forces of nature. Wild mustang herds gather on the grassland as violent tornadoes tear across the plains in the heart of North America. Meanwhile, monsoon season arrives in Southeast Asia, bringing with it the largest migration of rain on the planet and inundating the subcontinent.
