Brian Austin Green is a panelist as "The Masked Singer" premieres Sunday on Fox.

'The Masked Singer' spawns 'The Masked Dancer' as new Fox contest debuts

If there can be a "Masked Singer," why not a "Masked Dancer"?

Well, there can be, and Fox is giving the latest entry in the franchise a special advance debut Sunday, Dec. 27. (The show then settles into its regular time period by assuming "Singer's" usual Wednesday slot Jan. 6.) The premise is similar, as celebrities in elaborate costumes display their dancing aptitude while viewers try to guess along with the series' panel who's inside the outfits.

Based on a segment featured on Ellen DeGeneres' weekday talk show (she's an executive producer here), "The Masked Dancer" offers actor-comedian Craig Robinson ("The Office") as host. Current Fox staple Ken Jeong is a panelist, as are singer-choreographer and "American Idol" veteran Paula Abdul, "Beverly Hills, 90210" alum Brian Austin Green and singer-actress Ashley Tisdale.

"It is something new for me, but it's really fun," the friendly Green maintains. "There's nothing really negative; that's just not part of the process. The voting is for the person you want to see the most, not the person you enjoyed the least. It's all in good fun, and everybody who works on this show seems to have a good time, so it's a cool experience. It's nice to be a part of something as positive as this show is."

Green did a "Masked Singer" guest stint this past season as that show's "Giraffe," and he confirms that made him prone to sign up for "The Masked Dancer" when the opportunity arose. "I was in rehearsal for weeks, I had to have wardrobe fittings, it was a whole process – and when I was doing the performance stuff, I realized, 'Oh. The panelists just come in for this. That's the job to have!'"

At the same time, his giraffe stint has given Green an appreciation for what "Masked" guests do: "It was really hard to sing and move, because you have a very limited view inside the costume. The costumes are so tailored for a show like this, the masks are smaller and you have a much better field of vision. And the costumes are much easier to move in. It's just so impressive that these people can do what they're doing. They're not just little moves, they're fully choreographed numbers."

Being back on Fox, where he spent a decade as "90210's" David Silver (and then on "Terminator: The Sarah Connor Chronicles" and last year's "BH90210" variation), also holds appeal for Green. "I've had nothing but great experiences with everybody there," he reflects. "Even when there are new people, it feels like new members of a family that I'm already part of. And they know I'm a part of it, so it's a very good environment."

Tabu is an award-winning Bollywood actress whose work in films such as "Missing," "Life of Pi" and "The Namesake" is well known to fans here and in her native India. Now, she makes her television debut in a drama series currently streaming on Acorn TV.

In "A Suitable Boy," adapted by Andrew Davies ("Pride and Prejudice") from the novel by Vikram Seth, the 50-year-old actress reunites with "Namesake" director Mira Nair to tell the story of Lata (rising star Tanya Maniktala), a spirited young university student in 1951 India trying to forge her own path while her traditional family tries to find her a suitable husband.

Tabu stars as Saeeda Bai, a courtesan involved in a passionate affair with one potential suitor, Maan (Ishaan Khattar, "Beyond the Clouds"), a charming though directionless young man connected to Lata through their siblings' marriage.

For the role, Tabu did research on courtesans, essentially women from upper classes who entertained rich men with singing and other charms. She also spoke with author Seth and worked closely with Nair, a collaboration she was more than happy to revisit.

"Working with Mira is and always will be a special experience," Tabu says. "She's a force of energy which takes the whole crew with it, and I'm happy to submit to it. She has given me two wonderful characters in my career with "The Namesake" and now "A Suitable Boy." "I feel a lot of creative freedom with her on playing my character and I know something beautiful will come out of our collaboration. Also she knows how to make filming a fun experience at times, even when there's so much happening around. I'm happy to have found her."

tonight's picks

Mayim Bialik

Sunday
12 p.m. on 52

Empires of New York
This limited documentary series event wraps up with a finale called "Legacy" of the '80s: Greed Is Still God," which sees the same titans who gave New York a dramatic makeover now being devoured by their own creations. As the decade of the 1990s begins, some are either in jail or awaiting sentencing, while others are left licking their fiscal wounds in the wake of humiliating defeats. Even as their former admirers cheer their downfall, however, the American Dream now reflects an aversion to modesty and an appreciation of shamelessness.

7 p.m. on 181; 11 p.m. on 181
Molly: Cheer Squad Secrets
Kelly (Margaret Anne Florent) succeeds in helping her daughter,

Amelie (Karis Cameron), win the coveted position of cheer-leading squad captain in this 2020 thriller, but she's far less thrilled to discover someone is trying to discover someone is preparing to do anything, up to and including murder, to cover up that arrangement. Anita Brown and Matthew Anderson also star.

7:20 p.m. on 43 5

NFL Football
A clash of division leaders is in the offing tonight at Lambeau Field, where Aaron Rodgers and the Green Bay Packers hope to lock up the NFC North with a victory over Ryan Tannehill and the AFC South-leading Tennessee Titans. The 37-year-old Rodgers has found the fountain of youth this season and he recently added another laurel in his storied career, throwing his 400th touchdown pass, thus becoming the fastest quarterback in NFL history to do so.

8 p.m. on 12 7

2021 Fox Winter Preview
Mayim Bialik, who stars in the new Fox sitcom "Call Me Kat," joins "The Masked Dancer" host Craig Robinson and Curt Menefee from the Fox Sports team to anchor this half-hour preview special, which provides a sneak peak at the new and returning shows to the network's lineup. Fan favorites ready to start a new season include "The Resident"; "911" and its spinoff, "911: Lone Star"; "Prodigal Son"; "Hell's Kitchen"; and the Sunday night animated lineup including "The Simpsons," "Bob's Burgers" and "Family Guy."

tonight's picks

Ken Jeong

Thursday 7 p.m. on 43 5
New Year's Eve: Escape From 2020
 Carson Daly ("The Voice") returns to host NBC's coverage of New Year's Eve events from Times Square in New York City, joined by co-hosts Stephen "tWitch" Boss and Amber Ruffin, star of Peacock's streaming "The Amber Ruffin Show." Performers from across the country include Blake Shelton, Gwen Stefani, Jason Derulo, Kylie Minogue, Pentatonix, Goo Goo Dolls, AJR, Busta Rhymes featuring Anderson .Paak, Chloe x Halle, CNCO, Bebe Rexha featuring Doja Cat, and Sting featuring Shirazee.

7 p.m. on 12 7
FOX's New Year's Eve Toast & Roast 2021
 Ken Jeong and Joel McHale team up to toast the highs and roast the lows of 2020 in this New Year's Eve special, in which they'll make a special point of celebrating individuals who somehow helped make a demanding year a little bit easier for everyone else. As usual, tonight's special airs in two parts, with a break between them for local newscasts. Jeong and McHale, who starred on "Community" together and also co-host "The Darkest Timeline" podcast, welcome several surprise celebrity guests and some of the year's top musical acts.

7 p.m. on 8 8
United in Song: Celebrating the Resilience of America
 Airing as part of PBS' national New Year's Eve special broadcast, this 90-minute program includes performances filmed at George Washington's Virginia home at Mount Vernon and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Program details are still to be announced, but reportedly are being planned to encourage the nation to come together again and unite to embrace and celebrate our shared irrepressible strength as Americans.

7 p.m. on 9 9
Dick Clark's Primetime New Year's Rockin' Eve With Ryan Seacrest 2021
 Emmy, Grammy and Tony Award winner Billy Porter ("Kinky Boots," "Pose"), who hosted New Year's Eve festivities in New Orleans last year, joins Ryan Seacrest and Lucy Hale in New York's Times Square, to cover the evening's activities leading up to the iconic dropping of the ball at midnight. This year's special may look somewhat different, owing to COVID-19 concerns, but ABC promises to deliver five and a half hours of musical performances, as well as glimpses of celebrations around the world.

7 p.m. on 56
Movie: That's Entertainment!
 Many other movie-clip compilations followed, but none has ever done it better than this 1974 merging of scenes from classic MGM musicals. Such talents as Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Elizabeth Taylor, James Stewart and Liza Minnelli introduce segments from "An American in Paris," "Show Boat," "Royal Wedding" and numerous other films. The footage of a star-packed MGM luncheon is priceless. TCM sees out 2020 and ushers in 2021 in lavish style, too: The sequels "That's Entertainment! II" and "That's Entertainment! III" immediately follow, with a grand finale of "That's Dancing!"

John Leguizamo both directed and stars in this well-received 2020 biographical drama inspired by the true story of the Miami Jackson High School chess club, which became the first inner-city team to win the U.S. National Chess Championship. Leguizamo plays Cuban-American teacher Mario Martinez, the faculty advisor for the club. The cast also includes Michael K. Williams, Rachel Bay Jones, Jorge Lendeborg Jr., Angel Bismark Curiel and Will Hochman.

A good cast elevates Nisha Ganatra's somewhat familiar 2020 comedy-drama about a longtime personal assistant (Dakota Johnson) to a veteran R&B singer (Tracee Ellis Ross) who years for a career of her own as a music producer. Kelvin Harrison Jr. ("Godfather of Harlem") co-stars as an aspiring young musician who catches her attention. Johnson's mom, Melanie Griffith, has a cameo; Ice Cube, Jonathan Freeman, June Diane Raphael, Bill Pullman and Eddie Izzard also are featured.

Jenna (Alexa PenaVega) was a professional dancer until an injury ended her career. Now, she teaches dance, and her sports agent cousin hopes she may be able to help a hockey client, Ryan "Coop" Cooper (Luke Macfarlane), recover from a very similar sports injury. Jenna needs the money, so she takes the gig, although Coop is initially really skeptical about this unconventional therapy. Eventually, though, they get on the same page, and as he makes impressive strides in his recovery, the pair strikes romantic sparks as well.

Paranormal investigators and real-life BFFs Amy Brunni and Adam Berry reteam with psychic medium Chip Coffey as they return for another season of this hit series, which finds them digging deeply into America's past to contact and identify some of the restless spirits that are said to haunt some of the country's oldest inns, homes and estates. The premiere, "Devil in Salem," takes the trio to Massachusetts to the home of John Proctor, one of the men found guilty and executed during Salem's infamous witch trials.
