Hugh Laurie racks up 'Roadkill' in new PBS 'Masterpiece' drama

If Hugh Laurie's latest television role echoes his long run as Dr. Gregory House, he maintains he didn't intend it.

The British talent portrays an ethically sketchy politician in "Roadkill on Masterpiece," a BBC-produced drama debuting on the PBS anthology series Sunday, Nov. 1 (check local listings). Written by the esteemed David Hare ("Plenty"), the four-part tale finds Laurie's Peter Laurence barely keeping the approval of England's prime minister (Helen McCrory, "Peaky Blinders") after he wins a libel suit. He also must deal with his wife's (Saskia Reeves) and daughters' (Millie Brady and "Elementary's" Ophelia Lovibond) discovery of his affair with a librarian (Sidse Babbett Knudsen, "Borgen"). Iain De Caestecker ("Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.") also stars.

The wry Laurie appreciates exposing Laurence's nature slowly in "Roadkill." He says, "it may actually be in my nature anyway to not reveal too much too soon. I think it has become a sort of necessity nowadays, in the selling of a story, that you have to declare to the audience what your story's going to be. Sometimes in the form of a trailer, you have to say, 'Good guy, bad guy, traitor, existential threat' ... whatever it is. You have to lay out your wares very quickly.

"It was a challenge, but also a luxury, to have the four hours in which to gradually reveal all of these characters," notes Laurie. "I think it is an amazing cast, and it was wonderful to watch all of them – under Michael's (Keillor) direction, and with David's wonderful script – reveal themselves piece by piece, rather than coming in with a trombone announcing themselves from the start."

Playwright Hare reflects of developing the "Roadkill" plot, "There used to be something called disgrace. When a politician did something wrong and was caught doing something wrong, there was usually meant to be calamity. Something was meant to follow, and now, nothing follows. I wanted to write about that, the change in politics whereby it's OK to do things and you have a fair chance of getting away with them on the likelihood that you resemble the people who vote for you."

As for any comparisons between House and Laurence, Laurie reasons, "There are some things I can't do anything about. I am the same height as Gregory House, and I am a little bit older. (With) anything I do, there are going to be moments or expressions or certain inflections that will possibly cause someone to remember something. Every actor goes through that. That's the nature of the thing. I feel as if I have had the opportunity to play what is, to me, a wonderful range of characters ... all of whom I like and enjoy."

Checking in with
AUBREY DOLLAR

Aubrey Dollar believes it's not bad to be "Filthy Rich."

The "Women's Murder Club" and "Battle Creek" alum has returned to series work in Fox's new Monday saga of Southern relatives shaken to discover that their recently deceased patriarch secretly had three illegitimate children ... who have claims on the family fortune, to others' dismay. It's ironic that a show largely about money features an actress named Dollar, who plays Rose Monreaux, an aspiring fashion designer pursuing her own identity away from her domineering mother (Kim Cattrall).

The friendly Dollar reasons that "Filthy Rich" creator and executive producer Tate Taylor ("The Help") "writes women who have a lot of contradictory things inside of them. I am Southern, and it's really fun for me to get to sort of tap into my roots in that way.

"I think Rose is very caught between being the good Southern woman that her mother wants her to be, and (being) a wild creative artist (who) lives somewhere deep inside of her," notes Dollar. "I think having these new siblings brought into her life kind of makes her wrestle with which of those hats to wear."

Having become a mother since her previous series, CBS' "Battle Creek," Dollar reflects that "it does feel like this is the right moment" for her to undertake such work again. "My son is old enough. Being apart from him was really hard for me, but my mom was with me down there watching him (while "Filthy Rich," held by Fox from last season, was in production in New Orleans), so I think the timing has been really magical in a lot of ways."

Birthdate: Sept. 23, 1980

Birthplace: Raleigh, N.C.

Current residence: Los Angeles

Marital status: Married to actor-writer-producer Lucas Kavner; they have a son

Election 2020

Both incumbent president Donald Trump and his Democratic challenger, former vice president Joe Biden, are touting their political face-off as the most consequential election in American history, so as results from today's election come in, viewership is expected to set records. A new episode called "She Said Yes!" features newly engaged couple Joshua and Madison, who recently purchased their first house together. Unfortunately, the place has zero curb appeal and an outdated, closed-off interior. In short, it's not an ideal place to live, so the couple call on hosts Dave

From his "virtual underground political bunker," Colbert will be virtually joined by "The Circus" co-hosts John Heilemann, Alex Wagner and Mark McKinnon, along with Charlemagne The God. This marks the second time Colbert and Showtime have partnered to bring this unique election coverage. The first was on Nov. 8, 2016, when what was anticipated to be a Hillary Clinton victory party quickly took on a decidedly more downbeat tone.

7 p.m. on 3 3 Young Sheldon Season 4 of this "The Big Bang Theory" spinoff opens with "Graduation," a reference to title character Sheldon's (Iain Armitage) very early graduation from high school. The boy genius suffers a breakdown, though, when he has a crisis of confidence over whether he's ready to begin college. Elsewhere, Dale (guest star Craig T. Nelson) tries to make amends with Meemaw (Annie Potts). Wallace Shawn also guest stars; Zoe Perry and Lance Barber also star.

7 p.m. on 12 7 NFL Football Payback may be on the minds of Aaron Rodgers and the Green Bay Packers tonight at Levi's Stadium, where they'll take on Jimmy Garoppolo and the San Francisco 49ers. The last time these teams met was in January, when journeyman running back Raheem Mostert ran for 220 yards and four touchdowns as the Niners punched their ticket to Super Bowl LIV with a 37-20 victory over the Pack in the NFC Championship game.

7 p.m. on 13 Supernatural Richard Speight Jr., who has played multiple guest roles on this action thriller during its long broadcast history, directs tonight's new episode "Despair," which finds Sam and Dean (Jared Padalecki, Jensen Ackles) teaming up with Castiel and Jack (Misha Collins, Alexander Calvert) in service to the common good, now that their plan against Chuck has swung into motion.

7:30 p.m. on 3 3 B Positive "Mom" writer-producer colleagues Chuck Lorre and Marco Pennette co-created this provocative new comedy series starring Thomas Middleditch ("Silicon Valley") as a therapist and recently divorced father who learns he needs a kidney transplant. This medical connection begins a mutual journey that will change both their lives.

8 p.m. on 13 The Outpost Tobin (Aaron Fontaine) returns to the outpost leading an army, but also harboring a secret, in the new episode "Under Yavalla's Control." Elsewhere, with Talon

8:01 p.m. on 3 3 Mom

Chuck Lorre's but funny comedy series about characters in recovery for substance addiction returns for its eighth season without one of its leading ladies, Anna Faris, who has departed the show for other ventures. Her colleague, Oscar and Emmy winner Allison Janney, continues in her role as Bonnie, who invites the other women in her social circle to a slumber party that includes some childhood games that reveal adult issues in "Sex Bucket and the Grammar Police," the season premiere. Mimi Kennedy and Jaime Pressly also return.

Director Michael Dowse's 2019 buddy cop action comedy may have earned mixed reviews overall, but stars Kumail Nanjiani ("Silicon Valley") and Dave Bautista ("Guardians of the Galaxy") earned lots of critical love for the comedic odd-couple chemistry they bring to their respective roles as mild-mannered Uber driver Stu Prasad and his latest fare, hyper-intense Los Angeles Police Detective Vic Manning. MOVING TO HURON?

You will be the first one they think of!

When new residents arrive in Beadle County this fall and winter, yours will be the first business they think of when they need goods and services in their new hometown. From healthcare to hair care, to car care, you name it, newcomers will be in need of someone they can trust.

10,000 Tri-Fold Color Glossy Pamphlets will be printed and inserted in the Plainsman, as well as included in welcome packets and placed at distribution points around town. Includes relocation phone numbers & addresses, city map, and 2021 city event schedule.

All ads will run in full color. Deadline to reserve space is November 2, 2020.
