Secrets could be 'The Undoing' of privileged Manhattanites in HBO thriller series

Like many Americans, Diedrich Bader's work life came to a screeching halt when the pandemic hit.

He and his castmates were in the midst of filming the Season 4 finale of ABC's "American Housewife" when production shuttered in March, leaving that episode unfinished and the cast and crew idle for months. With it now in the can, that installment becomes the Season 5 premiere, airing Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Picking up where Season 4 left off, the new round finds mom Katie (Katy Mixon) going to great lengths to ensure daughter Taylor (Meg Donnelly) graduates high school, son Oliver (Daniel DiMaggio) devastated to learn best friend Cooper (Logan Pepper) is moving out of town and dad Greg (Bader) finishing a ghost writing project.

The new season also means new horizons for Bader's character, which the 53-year-old actor is looking forward to.

"Greg is actually going to be working on the city council," the Alexandria, Va., native reports, "because we've been watching all those viral videos of people going to city council and kind of freaking out, and we thought that there was a lot to mine there."

Lives of privilege get thrown into turmoil when shocking revelations surface in the wake of a violent death in a limited thriller series upcoming on HBO.

In "The Undoing," a sixpart series premiering Sunday, Oct. 25, we are introduced to Grace and Jonathan Fraser, a Manhattan power couple living the only life they have ever wanted. Grace (Nicole Kidman, "Big Little Lies," "Moulin Rouge") is a successful therapist on the verge of publishing her first book, while Jonathan (Hugh Grant, "Love Actually," "A Very English Scandal") is an oncologist and her devoted husband. They have a young son attending an elite private school in the city.

Overnight, a chasm opens in their lives when a violent death occurs and Jonathan disappears. And in the place of the man she thought she knew, Grace is now faced with a chain of horrific revelations and a decision to dismantle her current life and make a new one for her family.

The series comes from writer/creator David E. Kelley ("Big Little Lies," "Picket Fences"), was directed by Susanne Bier ("The Night Manager") and features a cast that also includes Edgar Ramirez ("Carlos"), Noma Dumezweni ("Black Earth Rising"), Lily Rabe ("American Horror Story") and Donald Sutherland ("Citizen X").

It also has a lot of twists and turns in a world where no one is who they seem, which is why Kidman signed on to work with her "Lies" boss once again.

"I think what the theme of it is ...," the actress says, "choosing to unknow things is a fascinating part of human nature. And when you choose to – and what you choose to believe and what you choose to see would be. ... I mean, that's the basis of a lot of this, of the psychology of this series is we choose to see certain things but also everyone has secrets. They just do."

Chief among them is Grant's character of Jonathan. From episode to episode, the viewer is left to guess whether he's good or evil, which Grant says was a tricky dance to do as an actor without revealing too much.

"Your job as an actor," he explains, "you have to sort of be as truthful to your character as you possibly can be, which actually runs counter to what you sometimes need to do in this kind of film, where you're trying to fool the audience slightly or keep up a pretense. You know, and I think that same applies to ... there's about seven suspects who emerge in this film."

Bader has been mining laughs from his level-headed college professor character since 2016 and a certain comfort level has developed not only between him and the character but between the actor and the writers.

"Greg is very close to myself," Bader explains. "Because these writers have been writing for me, they've shaped it to me and so it's just very easy to play him. It's like falling off a log, it's really fun. And you know, Katy and I, we haven't seen each other in a while because of COVID, but it's just so much fun to be back and to be working together again."

9 p.m. on 56 Movie: Them!

Gotta love giant killer bugs! Enormous ants wreak havoc on a desert town in this 1954 cautionary tale about the dangers of messing with nuclear material. The bug effects are delightfully cheesy, which only adds to the film's campy goodness. James Whitmore "The Shawshank Redemption"), Edmund Gwenn ("Miracle on 34th Street") and James Arness ("Gunsmoke") lead the cast. The movie airs tonight as part of TCM's Happy Halloween Movie Marathon.
