Phineas and Ferb make a comeback in new, animated Disney+ movie

The return of Phineas and Ferb is out of this world. Literally.

The popular, animated musical-comedy series that ran on Disney Channel for four seasons (and later on Disney XD) makes a temporary comeback with the new “Phineas and Ferb The Movie: Candace Against the Universe,” which Disney+ begins streaming Friday, Aug. 28. The title stepbrothers embark on a mission to rescue their sister, who’s been kidnapped by aliens ... and whisked off to a world she likes so much, she has little interest in being “saved,” very particularly by Phineas and Ferb.

Vincent Martella, who supplies the voice of Phineas, believes interest in continuing the franchise was stoked when the characters made a crossover appearance on “Milo Murphy’s Law.” He adds, “I’ve seen the lathe presence it has on social media, and it’s stayed in the consciousness of people’s minds. The ‘Milo’ crossover kind of gave me hope that people were still excited about the show.”

While much of the original voice cast is back – also including Ashley Tisdale as Candace, Caroline Rhea as the family matriarch, and series creators and executive producers Dan Povenmire and Jeff “Swampy” Marsh as Dr. Heinz Doofenshmirtz and Major Monogram – there’s a new Ferb: David Errigo Jr. succeeds Thomas Sangster. Guest voices include Wayne Brady, Diedrich Bader (“American Housewife”) and Thomas Middleditch (“Silicon Valley”).

“I started playing Phineas when I was 13 and now, I’m 27,” Martella reflects, “so to be able to have this character in my life for this long has meant so much to me. Having all of the characters back with this really exciting new story, that’s so special. And recording the ADR (doing dialogue dubbing) and all the music, it was really like it used to feel. It was a challenge being on the show, learning so much about voice acting and animation.”

Martella typically records his lines individually, which he says helped as the onset of the coronavirus pandemic caused production of “Phineas and Ferb The Movie: Candace Against the Universe” to be completed remotely from many different locations.

All the existing “Phineas and Ferb” episodes are available on Disney+, and Martella likes that they have that still relatively new streaming outlet. He also has appeared on such live-action series as “The Walking Dead” and “Everybody Hates Chris,” and though people recognize him by voice “occasionally,” he maintains it doesn’t happen that often.

“With Phineas’ voice being a lot younger and higher,” Martella reasons, “that doesn’t happen as often as people just knowing me from my career and having seen me on something else ... but it has happened a couple of times. Either way, if it means people have enjoyed what I do, that’s great.”

“Phineas and Ferb The Movie: Candace Against the Universe” premieres Friday on Disney+.

Checking in with
SERINDA SWAN

celebrity scoop
BY GEORGE DICKIE

Some people go their entire lives without finding their true calling. Serinda Swan, Dr. Jenny Cooper on The CW summer series “Coroner,” had her future determined at age 3.

It was 1987 and Swan had accompanied her mother to an audition for the 1989 romantic comedy “Cousins.” During auditions, the boisterous tyke had so charmed the film’s director, Joel Schumacher, that he invited her mother to bring her and her sister to filming.

In the film, Serinda had a bit part in a wedding scene in which she danced with the movie’s co-star Ted Danson. But it was another instance that occurred off camera that told the girl she was where she belonged.

“I was raised as a vegetarian with no sugar,” the 36-year-old Vancouver native explains, “and Ted Danson one day saw me looking at the crafty cart and was like, ‘Do you want something?’ And I was like, ‘Yeah.’ And he gave me a bag of candy and I was like, ‘Whatever job this is, I want it.’

“So I would make a joke that, ‘I’m pretty sure I chose my career based off the proximity to candy as a child,’ ” she adds with a laugh. “ ‘This is the best.’ And then I didn’t get back into acting until my mid-20s. That was just sort of this one-off role that just instilled this love of storytelling.”

In “Coroner” (which also streams in Canada on CBC Gem), Swan plays a newly widowed doctor who investigates sudden, unnatural or suspicious deaths in Toronto. Part of her preparation for the role was to shadow a real pathologist and even sit in on an actual autopsy.

“I have just such a fascination with all of it,” she says. “As we’d bring the fake cadavers in, I’m like, ‘What’s this? How do we do that? Look at this!’ Like I just love it. Everybody laughs at me, they just think it’s so funny how much I love the anatomy.”

Movie: Airplane!

What's this? It's one of the funniest movies ever made — but that's not important right now. This sidesplitting disaster-film parody, which AMC airs to mark the broad comedy's 40th anniversary, stars Robert Hays as a neurotic former war pilot pressed into service when food poisoning strikes an airliner's crew. The film held audiences helpless with laughter on its 1980 release. And it surely — Shirley, get it? — launched Leslie Nielsen on a lucrative comedy career. Julie Hagerty, Lloyd Bridges and Peter Graves also star.

7 p.m. on 3 3

Love Island

Host Arielle Vandenberg and sassy narrator Matthew

Hoffman return for Season 2 of this relationship series, in which a new group of single "Islanders" pursue love, friendships and, with luck, a lasting relationship in a stunning tropical location. After tonight's two-hour season premiere, the series airs nightly in one-hour episodes, followed by a two-hour highlights episode each Saturday. Pandemic health constraints are being implemented, with regular testing during production and daily screening for COVID-19 symptoms. Crew and staff will wear PPE and work in socially distanced "pods."

8 p.m. on 33; 11 p.m. on 33

Love It or List It

In the new episode "No Love for the Land," co-hosts Hilary Farr and David Viscintin work with clients Katherine and Tyler. The former only reluctantly agreed to move into his "well-established" bachelor pad after they got married. Tyler and their son, Liam, both love their current place because of its location, which is ideal for outdoor enthusiasts. Katherine might be able to get on board with that, too, if she didn't really, really hate the interior of their home quite so much.

9 p.m. on 42; 1 a.m. on 42

Intervention

The middle child of seven, Coleman wasn't able to get much attention from his mother, who tried to provide for her large brood while her husband was in prison. Coleman was only 10 when he started experimenting with alcohol and drugs to cope with his father's death, and his habit became more severe a few years later when an older brother died of cancer. After a brief period of sobriety, Coleman relapsed when his girlfriend died of an overdose, and he lost custody of his 4-year-old daughter as a result.

10 p.m. on 32; 2 a.m. on 32

Into the Unknown

Hawaii conjures blissful visions of island paradise for most people, but that doesn't mean this culture is lacking when it comes to some chilling folklore, including a legend about the Night Marchers, reputedly the ghosts of long-dead warriors who rise on the darkest nights of the year to make a chilling procession through the islands. Confronting one of his deepest fears, host and adventurer Cliff Simon arrives on the Big Island just days before the dark moon, determined to witness this blood-curdling phenomenon for himself.

Masters of Illusion

An air cannon card trick is just one of the head-scratching feats on display in the new episode "Copycats, Magical Matrimony, and Moments in Time." Among the magicians welcomed by host Dean Cain are Kyle Marlett, Ed Alonzo, Matthew Laslo, Angela Funovits and the illusionist known simply as "Lefty."

7 p.m. on 56

Movie: Now, Voyager

"Don't let's ask for the moon. We have the stars." Bette Davis found one of her most rewarding roles in this 1942 adaptation of Olive Higgins Prouty's novel about a Boston spinster who escapes her suffocating mother (Gladys Cooper) to find a measure of happiness with an unhappily married man (Paul Henreid). Max Steiner's radiant musical score won an Academy Award; both Davis and Cooper were nominated. Claude Rains and Bonita Granville co-star. This beloved tearjerker airs in a "Summer Under the Stars" salute to Henreid.

7:01 p.m. on 465

Movie: Greed

Fans of Robert Altman's character-driven, large-ensemble comedies are likely to enjoy this 2019 British satire written and directed by Michael Winterbottom, starring Steve Coogan in his most abrasive mode as billionaire fashion mogul Richard McCreadie, who is throwing himself a 60th birthday party on a Greek island for fellow one-percenters. That party premise serves as an excuse to sprinkle celebrity cameos into a script overstuffed with multiple plot lines. Isla Fisher, Shirley Henderson, Asa Butterfield, Stephen Fry, Colin Firth, Keira Knightley, Chris Martin and Keith Richards are featured.

8 p.m. on 13

Being Reuben

Reuben is thrilled when U.K. pop star Tulisa invites him to do her makeup for her show at Manchester Pride festivities in the new episode "Pride and Joy." On top of other considerations, Reuben sees this gig as an opportunity to dispel his manager Freddy's impression that Reuben's social media content isn't all that it could be. Back in Wales, Vicky attends a speed-dating event after Reuben and Coco secretly sign her up. Another new episode immediately follows.

Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives

The new episode "Takeout: Bringing Comfort Home" finds host Guy Fieri welcoming some alumni from past episodes of this series for remote video chats illustrating how to cook up some of their most successful restaurant recipes at home. On the menu are a gourmet grilled cheese sandwich from Nashville, stellar fried chicken from Memphis, Tenn., savory Greek kebabs from Houston and some primo pizza from Boulder, Colo.

tonight's picks

Saturday

7 p.m. on 3 (3)

Love Island

If you missed some of this premiere week's first episodes, take heart, because tonight's two-hour recap special with host Arielle Vandenberg will provide latecomers with highlights from this week's action, as well as exclusive interviews with this season's participants and other previously unaired footage. Frankly we're hoping that the latter includes insights into how this season of a show that's all about romance and passion can pull that off while being filmed under pandemic-mandated health guidelines.

7 p.m. on (123);

1:20 a.m. on (123)

Earthflight

Elegant demisolee cranes deftly navigate a treacherous pass through the Himalayas en route to India in the new episode "Asia and Australia," which gives viewers a bird's-eye view of both those continents. Among other highlights, vultures circle above a streak of tigers on the hunt, hoping eventually the big cats will leave behind a nice meal for them. Pigeons serve as unlikely but unerring guides to the greatest gatherings of camels on Earth, while in the Australian outback, white cockatoos swirl by the thousands. David Tennant narrates.

7 p.m. on (401)

Movie: The Way Back

Gavin O'Connor's inspirational 2020 sports drama about an alcoholic construction worker (Ben Affleck) who gets a chance at redemption when he is recruited to become head basketball coach at his former high school got a warm critical reception on its release just days before the coronavirus pandemic closed theaters around the world. Al Madrigal plays a supportive faculty colleague of Affleck's character, with Janina Gavankar and Michaela Watkins as his wife and sister respectively. Glynn Turman and Todd Stashwick costar.

8 p.m. on (74); 11 p.m. on (74)

Family or Fiancé

The new episode "Ashley and Social Media Is One" spotlights an aspiring influencer who is engaged to a man with no social media presence whatsoever. Worse, he makes it no secret that he disapproves of her new career aspirations. As for the prospective in-laws, her family worries that he clearly has some major control issues, while her body-positive social media posts have some of his relatives convinced that her morals are a bit too relaxed for comfort.
