Michelle Dockery, Jaeden Martell and Chris Evans star in "Defending Jacob," premiering Friday on Apple TV+.

Murder rocks a suburban Boston town and family in Apple's 'Defending Jacob'

A popular teen's murder rocks a leafy Boston suburb and a prosecutor finds himself conflicted when his son is accused of the crime in a drama series that premieres this week on Apple TV+.

In "Defending Jacob," an eight-episode limited series that begins streaming Friday, April 24, Chris Evans ("Gifted," the "Captain America" movie series) stars as Andrew Barber, assistant district attorney in Middlesex County, husband of Laurie (Michelle Dockery, "Downton Abbey," "Good Behavior"), head of a local private school, and father of Jacob (Jaeden Martell, "Knives Out," "St. Vincent"), by all appearances, a normal, happy junior high schooler.

When popular classmate Ben Rifkin is stabbed to death apparently on his way school, none of the kids interviewed want to give up any information. But multiple texts from other teens accuse Jacob of the crime, thus getting the police's attention and placing Andy between the law he has sworn to uphold and the love for his son.

"The heart of this story is about a family," executive producer/director Morten Tyldum explained to a recent gathering of journalists in Pasadena, Calif. "It's about a family who's experienced this extraordinary situation, this nightmare, this thing that both tears them apart and pulls them together in some way. And you really need to feel for them and you need to believe it 100 percent that this is a family. ... And it's the little things, it's the small things, and how they touch and feel and talk and look and behave around each other, that suddenly (makes this) a family you believe in."

Best known for his action roles in Marvel films, Evans has drawn critical acclaim for turns in recent dramatic productions such as "Knives Out" and "Gifted." Here, the unmarried, childless actor takes on the emotional rigors of playing a parent in crisis, a challenge that he embraced.

"There's body language there, there's postures, there's so many things that ... I drew from my own childhood of what a dad looks and feels like," he says. "I really, really, really enjoyed it, actually, because it really does lend itself to the complexity and depth of the film. I think being a parent, I would imagine, unlocks depths of love that you didn't know you were capable of. And I think that only raises the stakes and makes things more interesting. So for me, it was a fun place to start off that kind of blinding love at times and how far you would go to keep it pure."

Dockery, also a singleton with no offspring, agrees.

"Like with any role, you have to immerse yourself in the character and ... you kind of observe others," the actress says. "I felt like it was very easy for us to sort of become a family on set. We all had a really lovely time together in spite of the intensity of the subject matter. ... I feel like we bonded very quickly, and I think that comes across on screen."

As Chris Harrison knows, on any show in the "Bachelor" franchise, it's enough to be lucky in love ... but for the latest one, the participants have to be marvelous at music, too.

Now airing Mondays on ABC, "The Bachelor Presents: Listen to Your Heart" is more or less a reality-show version of "A Star Is Born," pairing melodically inclined – and, not coincidentally, really good-looking – people who also are seeking romance. "The whole key to this," pleasant series host Harrison notes, "is that you can't just be great singers and fake your way through a relationship. It's about both, about finding everything, and it's a really interesting journey through that process."

"Listen to Your Heart" involves such music veterans as Jason Mraz and Train lead singer Pat Monahan, but alums of the "Bachelor" franchise including the still-engaged JoJo Fletcher and Jordan Rodgers also serve as judges. "We wanted 'professional eyes' on these couples as they are performing," explains Harrison, "watching and seeing if they are truly the real deal and equipped to have that relationship off-stage."

Also a producer of "Listen to Your Heart," Harrison reasons that he "definitely grew into" that job over his years as a "Bachelor" staple.

"During the first few years," he reflects, "I was much less a producer and just the host who was trying to find his role on the show. Now, almost 20 years later, this clearly is a massive collaboration. I work closely with all of our executive producers and with Mike Fleiss, the creator of 'The Bachelor.' We're all really good about listening to each other and trying to keep this thing fresh."

tonight's picks

Scott Bakula

Sunday
7 p.m. on 150; 2 a.m. on 150
The Lake Erie Murders
 Season 2 wraps up with a finale called "Cabin Fever," which chronicles the sad fate of Ian and Nancy Blackburn. After the couple fail to turn up as scheduled for an annual maple-tapping celebration, their bodies are discovered in the trunk of their own car. A whirlwind investigation ensues, eventually pointing toward a monster who was hiding in plain sight, just waiting to strike.

8 p.m. on 57;
10:30 p.m. on 57
Family Karma
 With his engagement imminent, Vishal braces himself for the return of his future mother-in-law Lopa, who trash-talked his family at the gala in the new episode "I Kinda Don't Like You." Elsewhere, Amrit throws a launch party for his new firm, but what begins as a professional event turns into an unfortunate circus when Monica, Anisha and Bali air some personal grievances in front of everyone.

9 p.m. on 3 3
NCIS: New Orleans
 In a new episode called "Predators," Pride (Scott Bakula) and his team investigate the bizarre case of a Navy microbiologist and avocational "myth buster" who evidently died at the hands of a legendary creature from the bayou. Meanwhile, Agent Khoury (Necar Zadegan) leads an investigation into past actions of Deputy Director Van Cleef (recurring guest star Richard Thomas), who recently demoted her due to allegedly poor judgment. Vanessa Ferlito also stars.

9:58 p.m. on 46;
1:58 a.m. on 46
Dragnificent!
 In each episode of this new personal make-over series, some of America's most popular and celebrated drag queens work their magic to help individuals reimagine their appearance for an upcoming special day. Before these guests reveal an inner nature of which they've only dreamed, the audience is taken on a poignant journey of that person's life and struggles up to that point. The featured queens include Alexia Michelle, BeBe Zahara Benet, Mijubee and Thongy Thor.

Movie: Double Indemnity
A classic that set up an entire genre, director Billy Wilder's 1944 drama established the idea of illicit lovers plotting a spouse's murder. Barbara Stanwyck plays the greedy beauty who preys upon an insurance salesman's (Fred MacMurray) weakness for her, thereby ensuring her husband's demise. Edward G. Robinson also stars. The screenplay is by Wilder and mystery novelist Raymond Chandler, adapted from James M. Cain's novel.

7:20 p.m. on 401

Movie: Stuber
Director Michael Dowse's 2019 buddy cop action comedy may have earned mixed reviews overall, but stars Kumi Nijjani ("Silicon Valley") and Dave Bautista ("Guardians of the Galaxy") earned lots of critical love for the comedy odd-couple chemistry they bring to their respective roles as mild-mannered Uber driver Stu Prasad and his latest fare, hyper-intense Los Angeles Police Detective Vic Manning. On a night when Stu just wants to concentrate on getting his first five-star review, Vic needs a driver to help pursue a brutal drug lord (Iko Uwais).

Somewhere South

Given that the South is a heavily agricultural region with a long history of growing its own food, it's hardly surprising that natives of the region have a passion for fresh vegetables, especially if they're creatively prepared. At an annual homecoming celebration of the Lumbee Tribe of North Carolina, host Vivian Howard discovers the wonders of a collard sandwich. Later, during a trip to Georgia, she meets refugee farmers who grow greens that remind them of home in the new episode "It's a Greens Thing."

Mama June: From Not to Hot
In the new episode "Family Crisis: Mama's Cry for Help," Mama finally hits rock bottom and no longer can deny that she is in desperate need of professional help. Her family supports her getting treatment but things quickly spiral out of control, as usual. On another front, after her first day back at school, Alana acts out on social media and creates a disastrous scene that quickly goes viral.

International Jazz Day From Australia

From the iconic Hamer Hall in Melbourne, more than two dozen world-renowned musical artists unite for this one-hour special, a global concert to celebrate jazz. The program spans genres from bebop to bossa nova, from Ben Webster's "Did You Call Her Today" with vocalist Kurt Elling to Wayne Shorter's "Beauty and the Beast" with pianist and Jazz-Day co-chair Herbie Hancock, saxophonist Tineke Postma, drummer Antonio Sanchez and bassist Ben Williams.

Vagrant Queen

Elida (Adriyan Rae) and her loyal but motley team finally arrive on Wix, where they experience a flurry of unexpected revelations in a new episode called "Temple of Doom." As events unfold, a shocking act of betrayal leads to a bloody showdown. Tim Rozon, Alex McGregor and Paul DuToit also are featured.

Movie: Hustlers
Jennifer Lopez scored a Golden Globe nomination for her uninhibited performance in this 2019 crime drama laced with black comedy, which proved both a critical and commercial success during its theatrical run. Writer-director Lorene Scafaria ("Nick & Norah's Infinite Playlist") based the film, about former strip club employees striking back at their entitled male clients, on a New York Magazine article.

Line of Duty

Gates (Lennie James) still finds himself hounded by his blackmailers after the money-laundering investigation is passed to the Fraud section in a new episode called "Terror." Fleming (Vicky McClure) is so determined to prove Gates is corrupt and has ties to Jackie's murder that she pushes her relationship with him to a reckless point, causing Morton (Neil Morrissey) to begin questioning her loyalty. Nigel Boyle, Martin Compston and Adrian Dunbar also star.

Hugh Jackman
