Caring for caregivers

■ Group supports caregivers of those with dementia

By JODELLE GREINER The Brookings Register

BROOKINGS – Caring for someone with Alzheimer's disease or other types of dementia can take a toll on the caregiver. The Alzheimer's Caregiver Group can help, said Lisa Miller.

Miller is the facilitator for the group that has met at 10 a.m. every third Wednesday of the month since the same struggles," Miller said. For more information, contact Kathi Herreid, the state program director for the South Dakota Alzheimer's Association at 605-339-4543, ext. 8228, or email kherreid@alz.org online. Herreid will give them information on the group and send them an information packet.

Dementia is a blanket term for a syndrome – a group of related symptoms – associated with an ongoing decline of brain function, according to the National Health Service in the United Kingdom.

"There are many different forms of dementia. Alzheimer's disease is the most common form and may contribute to 60-70% of cases," according to the World Health Organization online. "As a nurse, I see more and more elderly people moving to the Brookings community for this very reason, to be closer to family so that they can get more help that they need. So I see this as a huge, huge need in our community," Miller said.

Miller understands what caregivers go through on a personal and professional level.

"I had an aunt who had Alzheimer's disease, who was very close to me. As a nurse in this community, I have just seen so many family members so distraught and so empty," she said.

She knew the time had come to have a group like this in Brookings.

20th-I-29 work on tap for council

By JODELLE GREINER The Brookings Register

BROOKINGS – The Brookings City Council will consider finances tied to the 20th Street South interchange at its meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday in the City & County Government Center.

20th St. S. interchange

There are two items on the agenda relating to the planned interchange at 20th Street South, which will cross Interstate 29.

The first item will be a supplemental appropriation to the 2020 budget. The ordinance will amend the 2020 budget for the following changes: Create the project account for the 20th Street South BUILD project; amend revenue line items for the 20th Street South BUILD project; and amend expenditure line items for the 20th Street South BUILD project, according to an attachment to the agenda, which is available on the city's website.

The city has been award-ed a federal "Better Utilizing Investments to Leverage Development" (BUILD) grant which is for $18.6 million. The city will chip in $2 million, and the county will add another $2 million. Private donors will contribute $669,407 for a total of $23.3 million. 'The city will be responsible for the 20% match for the project, which will be split between the city/county and private donors. This budget is being created for the city, county and private donor share of the project," according to an attachment to the agenda. "This proposed budget amendment includes the figures from the project budget outlined in the grant application. The engineering design for

2 - 9 - 17 - 36 - 40 Star Ball: 7 Next Jackpot: $7.9 million No jackpot winner Saturday

"It's a place for the caregivers to seek some support and some time away. Just to talk with others who either have gone through or (are) currently going through the same kind of struggles that they are," Miller said.

"As a nurse in this community, I have just seen so many family members so distraught and so empty ... and not knowing where to turn, and that's just heartbreaking to me," she said. "So, I decided, you know what, we need to get this going here."

Although the name has Alzheimer's in it, the group is for any person caring for a loved one with any type of dementia because they all deal "with "Worldwide, around 50 million people have dementia," according to who. int online. "Every year, there are nearly 10 million new cases. The estimated proportion of the general population aged 60 and over with dementia at a given time is between 5-8%. The total number of people with dementia is projected to reach 82 million in 2030 and 152 million in 2050."

"The number of people with dementia is increasing because people are living longer," according to nhs.uk online. With more cases, the need for care is growing, as well.

Caregiving takes a toll

Dementia affects the patient in different ways, meaning the demands on a caregiver can vary with the type of disease and its progression, Miller said.

"It's not uncommon for the caregiver to get to the point where ... it's turned into a 24-hour job for them, day and night," she said. "It's hard to take care of someone else when you yourself have not had your own needs met."

Many caregivers are run down physically and emotionally.

"The danger, obviously, would be just physical and emotional burnout, where they just absolutely cannot do it anymore," Miller said.

LEGISLATURE: Wants pay increases

January, but its sponsor said it will be more difficult to convince the Senate to approve the proposal.

LGBT groups are planning to protest at the Capitol on Monday morning during the committee meeting. They say the bill targets transgender children.

Updated budget projections

The Legislature will receive updated information on how much money they can expect in the state budget. Lawmakers have said they want to find a way to fund pay increases for teachers, state employees and service providers.

Gov. Kristi Noem has told lawmakers she wants them figure out the pay increases. But the budget is tight. The state will lose about $20 million in revenue after a tax on internet service expires.

Hemp

The House is set to vote on a bill that would legalize industrial hemp in the state. A House committee approved the proposal last week, marking progress on an issue that split Noem and legislators last year.

Funding for the issue may still prove to be a sticking point. The governor wants legislators to find $3.5 million to start up and run the program.

COUNCIL: Grant deadlines set the project includes engineer's cost estimates at 30%, 60% and 95% intervals to aid in budgeting. There will be future budgeting amendments to update the project amounts as the costs are refined," according to the attachment.

A memo by Erick Rangel, Chief Financial Officer, explained in more detail.

"Following the current Governance & Ends Financial Stability Policy, the city's $2 million share will be first funded with restricted cash reserves for economic development. The current confirmed balance for restricted reserves for economic development is $1,204,998; the remaining $795,002 will be funded with unrestricted cash reserves," according to Rangel's memo.

"If the City Council determines to use unrestricted reserves to fund the full $2 million, Ordinance 20-003 can be amended to reflect this change for the second reading," according to Rangel's memo.

The second item is to authorize the city manager to sign documents for the 20th Street South BUILD project.

"The Brookings City Council approved a Memorandum of Understanding between the SDDOT and the City via Resolution 20-013 on Jan. 28, for the state to administer the 20th Street South BUILD Grant Project along with the Federal Highway Administration," according to a memo by City Engineer Jackie Lanning.

"The project has specific deadlines required by the grant.

There will be future administrative documents which will need to be authorized with a short approval time to keep the project on schedule. The BUILD grant funds must be obligated by Sept. 15, 2021, and the grant funds must be expended by Sept. 30, 2026," according to Lanning's memo.

The following is a schedule of activities for the city to meet the grant deadlines:

• June 30, 2020 – Submit project preliminary gradeline plans;

• Aug. 12, 2020 - Conduct the preliminary design inspection;

• Oct. 23, 2020 – Conduct the final design inspection;

• Dec. 16, 2020 – Provide a release to right-of-way;

• Feb. 9, 2021 – Release final plans for review to the state;

• June 15, 2021 – Provide all certifications, final plans, rightof-way certifications, environmental clearances, utility certifications, and necessary state and federal project documentation;

• Sept. 15, 2021 – Anticipated bid date;

• 2022 - Anticipated construction.

"With the city manager stated as the city's representative for the 20th Street South BUILD Project, authorizing the city manager to sign project documents in a short time frame will aid in keeping the project on schedule," Lanning's memo says.

"Documents to be signed include: work order for engineering services, easements, and other project-related documents. The SDDOT will have administration authority for the project, and this resolution will authorize the city manager to sign project related documents on behalf of the city."

Other items

The council will consider other items, including:

• Purchasing 3,965 new automated yard waste carts from Sanitation Products, Inc., in Sioux Falls for $235,931 through Sourcewell, according to an attachment.

• A request to re-zone land in the Krogman First Addition, located at 1806 Highway 14 from JJR-1B to JJB-3. The land to be rezoned is entirely surrounded by property zoned JJB-3 with the RJ's Gas Stop immediately to the south. The applicant would like to relocate the existing residence and use the property for a use consistent with the Joint Jurisdiction B-3 District.

• A financial report by Brookings Municipal Utilities.

At the end of the meeting, the council will go into executive session "for purposes of discussing marketing or pricing strategies by a board or commission of a business owned by the state or any of its political subdivisions, when public discussion may be harmful to the competitive position of the business, and for discussing the qualifications, competence, performance, character or fitness of any public officer or employee or prospective public officer or employee. The term, employee, does not include any independent contractor," according to the agenda.

International Rolling Stones Show, who offer a faithful rendition of the music and style of Mick Jagger, Keith Richards and the bad boys of the British Invasion.

The Swiftel Center show is part of a 125-stop tour of the U.S., Australia and Canada and has been touring since 2011. The show also performs longterm residencies for a number of the Harrah's Casino properties. The production includes some of the more popular songs from the two rock pioneers and covers the scope of their musical careers, although the set list for Satisfaction usually includes Rolling Stones songs up to the 1980s.

During the two-hour show, the bands perform three sets each, trading places in quick set changes and ending the night with an all-out encore involving both bands. The band members have their outfits custom-made, since avid fans know exactly what the Beatles and Stones wore onstage during different time periods in their careers. There's a lot of good-natured jabbing between the bands as well.

"(Caregivers) feel very much alone. They feel like it's ... hard to talk about. Mostly because of ... the social stigma. I mean, it's a disease just like high blood pressure and diabetes are a disease," Miller said.

Caregivers have to learn to take care of themselves, too, or they can't properly care for their loved one.

Many caregivers do not know where to turn to share their experiences with others going through the same thing.

"(The group) gives them a place where they can really feel very comfortable with openly talking about the things that are a challenge to them," Miller said.

The meetings

If you are a caregiver, you are welcome to attend the meetings; you do not need a referral, Miller said.

There have been as few as four attendees and as many as 10, depending on people's schedules, she said.

Miller said they have caregivers in the group who are spouses, children and nephews, "so it's all kinds of people, all ages."

Folks can bring their own refreshments to the meetings, but none are provided. The meetings only last an hour and are right before lunch, she said. Not providing refreshments cuts down on expense and bother, Miller said.

"I don't want the attendees to feel like they have to bring something. 'Cause that's just more work for them," she said. As facilitator, Miller opens the meetings by asking if anyone has anything they want to ask about, share something they found that works well, or discuss a particular challenge they are having. Then she allows the caregivers to steer the discussion.

Confidentiality is of utmost importance.

"What we talk about in the group is strictly confidential. Everything that's discussed in the room amongst us stays in the room. I feel that's really, really important," Miller said.

Many caregivers do still feel the stigma of having a relative with dementia and they "don't want anyone to know, or their loved one doesn't want anyone to know ... I think that's really important to them," Miller said.

Growing in the future

Knowing how prevalent dementia is and that more people will need help in the future, Miller wants to start preparing now.

The need for caregiver groups will increase, as well, but it's best to limit the size of each group, she believes.

"Of course, the smaller groups are better. Eight or 10 people is about it. And we've had 10 already at a meeting, so we're probably getting really close to needing to start up another group or two," Miller said.

If anyone in the community would like to facilitate a group, Miller asks that you contact Herreid to volunteer.

One of the biggest things is to get rid of the stigma, she said.

"Do what you can," Miller said and suggested each person should work on themselves to see how they can improve their personnal view of dementia.

"I want them to know that it's here and it's a big deal and I think that we as a community of Brookings certainly have the resources to take care of our people, each other, and I really think it's our job as a human being to take care of each other," Miller said.

"It's not," said Dr. Sam. "It's my son's fourth grade class from St. Celia's. Say hello to Mr. Mullen, kids.'

"Hello, Mr. Mullen," they said in unison.

"You're their Show and Tell this week," he said as he snapped off his rubber gloves.

"Excuse me, but isn't there a priva-cy issue here?" I asked Dr. Sam. His real name is much longer, but he goes by Dr. Sam. He told me once that his full name means "Smith" in Urdu.

"Certainly there is a privacy issue. It would be very inappropriate for knows he'll need a new liver before he needs a new kidney. And stop worrying about the kids. They were watching a separate video of a colonoscopy; I just told them it was yours. It gets their attention. Trust me, once you've seen one colon, you've seen them all. It's not like they saw you naked or anything.

"I didn't want to scare them, I just don't want these kids to go through life thinking that there's something embarrassing about getting a colonoscopy. I don't want them to wait 17 years between checkups, the way you did. People have got to learn that a physical exam is as natural as breastfeeding a baby on a bus."

"What bus have you been riding?" "Don't be silly, I drive a Jaguar. It was just a figure of speech. You can put your clothes back on now."

Why bother? I thought. He's seen places on me that I haven't. Maybe more people would get physicals if the doctors had to take off their clothes every time they asked you

"Of course, I'm joking. Everyone to take off yours. My nudity comfort level is very low. I don't even wear shorts in the summer.

Why do men wait so long before going to the doctor? Probably because when they do go, they spend half their time saying, "You want to do what to my what?!" and "You don't reuse these cups, do you?"

But when you think about it, the doctors are going to examine you once you get sick, and it's going to be just as embarrassing then as it is when you're healthy. So you may as well suck up your pride and go.

Or you could get one of those do-it-yourself at-home screening tests for those ultra-personal exams. I got one, and it came with a disposable spork and a cotton swab. Wait five minutes and if it turns green, you go back to work on Monday. If it turns red, you start maxing out your MasterCard.

At least Dr. Sam gives you more choices.

Mourning

Recently I said that I planned to publish two beautiful poems of grief and loss by David Baker, from his new and selected poems, Swift, published last year by W. W. Norton. This is the second of those poems. Baker teaches at Denison University in Ohio and is the poetry editor of Kenyon Review, one of our most distinguished literary journals.

Mercv

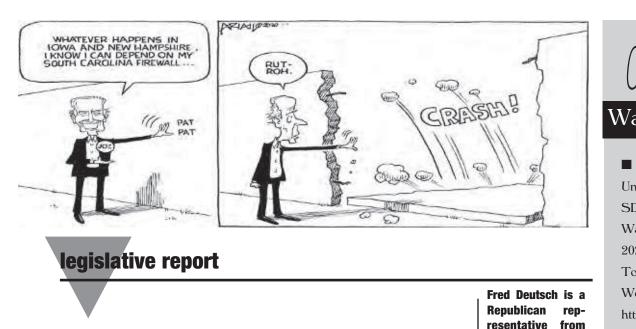

Small flames afloat in blue duskfall, beneath trees

anonymous and hooded, the solemn trees-by ones and twos and threes we go down to the water's level edge with our candles cupped and melted into little pie-tins to set our newest loss free. Everyone is here.

Everyone is wholly quiet in the river's hush and appropriate dark.

The tenuous fires slip from our palms and seem to settle in the stilling water, but then float, ever so slowly, in a loose string like a necklace's pearls spilled, down the river barely as wide as a dusty road.

No one is singing, and no one leaves—we stand back beneath the grieving trees on both banks, bowed but watching, as our tiny boats pass like a long history of moons reflected, or like notes in an elder's hymn, or like us, death after death, around the far, awakening bend.

A time of trouble

This is the most personal and difficult article I have written. Two weeks ago my wife of nearly 40 years, Kathleen, called me in Pierre to let me know she was diagnosed with cancer.

This past week she had surgery. We are still in the initial stages of getting information, and there is a lot we don't yet know.

However, for most of the remainder of session, I will be at home taking care of her and seeing people in my chiropractic office (because she can't). I will make periodic trips to Pierre as her health allows, and I will contribute to future news columns when I am in Pierre. If I don't write one week, it's because I didn't attend session that week.

Thank you for understanding.

Will you please pray for Kathleen's health?

Growing South Dakota's communities

Communities are the heartbeat of South Dakota. As I travel across the state, I hear this over and over: people love our state, and they want to preserve our special way of life for generations to come.

I agree.

South Dakota's communities are strong, and our people value the traditions rooted in our movie theatres, cafes, and landmarks. In order to preserve these treasures, though, and keep our kids and grandkids right here in South Dakota, we must continue to grow and expand opportunity for them.

At the end of January, I outlined a plan that would fix one of the problems holding back growth in our communities, the conditional use permitting process. My legislation protects local control by letting a local community decide what projects they want to support, rather than a fringe few. It would set up a fair, certain, and reliable system for everyone - the community members and economic developers. In short, as I laid out in my State of the State, it rolls out the red carpet, not the red tape for those who want to create or expand their business.

Thus far, we've received the support of county commissioners, agriculture associations, energy business leaders like the South Dakota Wind Energy Association, and many others from around the state.

Notably, Scott VanderWal, president of the South Dakota Farm Bureau. said that the bill will "fix a lot of the issues and irritations we've had with our permitting process for many years."

Pennington County Commissioner Gary Drewes supports the change, too, saying "timing is critical for developments, and this bill brings back more local control."

Craig Anderson, the president of South Dakota Pork Producers, agreed. "This legislation will streamline the process for projects which will make job creation easier in rural South Dakota," he said.

And Jerry Schmitz, executive director of the South Dakota Soybean Association, said this "opens the gates of opportunity" for our hometowns and our way of life. The most sure-fire way to strengthen South Dakota is to expand economic opportunity so our kids and their kids can stay here and raise their families. I love our state, and we're working hard to ensure our communities stay strong for generations to come.

Thoughts on public notices, abortion, recreation facility

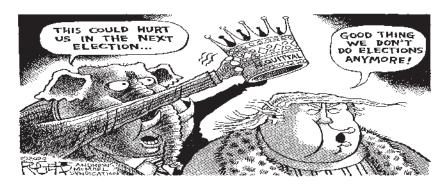

I'm reminding the public to engage their interests in local government actions by reading the public notices that are published in The Brookings Register – that of the city, the hospital and public schools, which we the citizens of Brookings are the owners of.

Remember: Abortions eliminate bodies that may some day be in our workforce to help move the economy forward.

Also continue your efforts in the establishment of recreation facilities with many amenities.

Man pleads not guilty to murder

ABERDEEN (AP) – A South Dakota man charged with shooting and killing a man who was in a relationship with his daughter has pleaded not guilty

The Aberdeen News reports Jarrett Jones, 48, of Bath appeared in court on Friday and asked for a jury trial. A judge also reduced Jones' $1 million bond to $400,000.

Jones is accused of killing 28-year-old Jon Schumacher on Jan. 2. Defense attorney Marshall Lovrien said Schumacher was in a relationship with Jones' daughter and had made threats against her.

According to court records, Jones' daughter showed investigators photos of bruises she received from Schumacher. Court documents also show Schumacher was arrested on charges of driving under the influence hours before he was shot. Schumacher was driving a pickup owned by Jarrett Jones, who retrieved the vehicle after Schumacher was arrested.

Schumacher returned to Jones' home after he was released from custody and was shot twice after an altercation between the men.

Brown County Chief Deputy State's Attorney Ernest Thompson says video surveillance shows Jones pointing a gun at Schumacher, looking over his shoulder, then approaching Schumacher before shooting He said Schumacher made no move toward Jones, who shot Sch.umacher a second time when he was on the floor.

Lovrien said Schumacher was reaching for his pocket before he was shot a second time, and that a knife was found in his pocket.

House bars tribal IDs for voter registration

PIERRE (AP) - South Dakota Democrats called foul on Friday after the Republican-dominated House shot down their efforts to allow Native Americans use their tribal IDs to register to vote.

The defeat Thursday evening prompted several Democrats to level accusations of voter suppression. Republicans say their resistance is all about keeping voter registration secure.

"The way our voting system is set up does disenfranchise in particular Native American voters," said Rep. Ryan Cwach, a Yankton Democrat.

In the 2018 general election, tribal communities reported some of the lowest voter turnout figures in the state. Native Americans make up 9% of the state's total population.

On Thursday, the House considered an amendment to a voter registration bill that would have allowed tribal IDs to be used for voter registration, alongside state drivers' and nondrivers' licenses and social security numbers. Republicans defeated the measure, arguing that the secretary of state could not verify the information on the IDs, which are issued by the tribes. They were also concerned that not every tribal ID provides an address, which could allow people who live outside the state to vote in South Dakota elections.

Rep. Shawn Bordeaux, a Mission Democrat who is a member of the Rosebud Sioux Tribe, said tribes in the state have improved the quality of their IDs in recent years. They now include addresses, holographics and other security measures. They are recognized by federal agencies and can be used to take flights.

Standards for IDs and membership vary from tribe to tribe, said Rep. Tamara St. John, a Sisseton Republican who is a member of the Sisseton-Wahpeton Tribe. She opposed the amendment but called for a measure similar to Washington's Native American Voting Rights Act that would comprehensively address the issue.

Cwach said state laws don't recognize the needs of Native Americans and unintentionally hamper voting. He pointed to people who move frequently and may not receive mailed notifications on their voter status.

Oregon flooding abates; part of interstate closed

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP) -Waters covering roads in floodhit northeastern Oregon were starting to recede, allowing residents to return and assess the damage.

An approximately 10-mile stretch of Interstate 84 south of Hermiston, Oregon, remained closed Sunday due to flood damage, and authorities say it could be a week before it reopens.

À detour is in place.

Oregon National Guard troops aboard two helicopters airlifted 21 people to safety on Saturday, and authorities reported a 62-year-old woman who lived in one of the areas hit by floods was missing. The helicopter missions continued Sunday and volunteers also assisted flood victims.

Residents in the foothills of the Blue Mountains in northeast Oregon had to be airlifted by from their flooded homes and even were taken out in a front-end loader as rain and melting snow caused rivers to crest their banks. Some neighborhoods in Pendleton, a town of 16,000, were hit, damaging mobile homes.

Seventeen evacuees spent Friday night at the Red Cross shelter in the Pendleton Convention Center, and numerous people dropped off blankets, pillows and other comfort items, said Nadine McCrindle, the Red Cross executive director for central and eastern Oregon.

Another eight people stayed at a shelter in Walla Walla, Washington.

"They'll be able to go to their homes and see what is left, if anything, and see what the damage is," McCrindle said.

The forecast was for mostly sunny skies and no rain Sunday and Monday.

Many roads in Umatilla County, where Pendleton is the county seat, were still closed because of high water or damage, the county sheriff's office said.

The Umatilla River crested just before 10 p.m. Thursday at more than 19 feet, nearly four times the average height for that date. Rivers all around the region overran their banks.

The Umatilla County office said.

Sheriff's Office said Saturday night that it is searching for a woman who went missing near Bar M Ranch, which has had flooding in recent days.

Janet Tobkin Conley, 62, was last seen about 7 p.m. Thursday in the Bar M Ranch area, the sheriff's office said. Neighbors discovered she was missing Friday morning.

Conley is an experienced hiker and camper and is familiar with the area, the sheriff's

Massive firework shot over Colorado breaks world record

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) - A massive firework launched over a Colorado ski resort town has set a record for the world's largest aerial firework.

The 2,800-pound shell flew 2,200 feet above the Steamboat Springs Winter Carnival before it burst, turning the sky bright red and drawing gasps from the crowd, The Steamboat Pilot & Today reported.

Tim Borden of Steamboat Springs headed the team that developed the firework over seven years. Borden first attempted to set the world record last year, but failed when the shell exploded inside the mortar without lifting off the ground, the newspaper reported.

Guinness World Records representatives witnessed both attempts. Christina Conlon of Guinness said she verified the shell launched Saturday was the world's largest.

The firework was 400 pounds heavier than the previous record-holder, a 2,397pound explosive launched in the United Arab Emirates in 2018.

During a ceremony after the launch to present Borden and his team with their certificate, Conlon said they showed tenacity and perseverance in coming back after last year's failed attempt.

Man hunts down alleged hit-and-run driver

CORONA, Calif. (AP) - A Southern California man who made it his mission to track down the hit-and-run driver who killed his wife and mother of their eight children led police to an 85-year-old suspect, who was arrested, authorities said.

Brenda Richardson died after a white Lexus struck her motorcycle last week in Corona, police said.

Her husband, Rod Richardson, told KNBC-TV that he decided to search for the car that hit his wife.

While at the intersection where the collision occurred, Richardson said he spotted the entrance of an apartment complex.

"Something was on my heart, tugging me, saying 'you need to go in,'" Richardson told the news station.

As soon as he entered the complex, he saw a white Lexus with damage to passenger's side front door.

"My heart dropped," he said.

He called Corona police and officers arrested Tashiro Isa on suspicion of felony hit and run and vehicular manslaughter. It wasn't known Sunday if the 85-year-old Corona resident has an attorney.

Police Sgt. Chad Fountain confirmed Richardson's account, the Riverside Press-Enterprise newspaper reported Saturday.

HEALTH

Your guide for prevention and wellness

Primary care doctors do a lot of different things. We diagnose illnesses from the trivial, to the catastrophic. We treat maladies both chronic and acute. We confront, and we console.

Of course, these are common roles in medicine, filled by many different providers. One role the primary care physician is more uniquely suited to fill, however, and one of my personal favorites, is that of guide. I'm talking specifically about the art of prevention, of maintaining wellness over the long term, and reducing the risk of diseases that might make it harder to do what you need to do, what you want to do, what you love to do.

Prevention is truly underutilized. We're a lot better at looking for a problem, and a pill or a procedure to fix it, than we are at fixing what might lead to a problem in the first place. In fairness, human beings are inclined to wait for the crisis to hit before we believe it is really and truly ahead. Changing habits is hard, and eating takeout pizza while watching must-see TV is a lot less work than hitting the gym and making a salad.

On the other hand, some parts of prevention are easy. It's easy to get a flu shot, or a shingles shot. It's easy to get a mammogram, or a colonoscopy. It's easy to get blood drawn, and get checked for diabetes or hepatitis C.

Of course, it's only easy to do these things if you are aware of the benefits of doing so. This is the value of the annual checkup. From birth, to your last birthday, wellness visits have an important role.

For infants and children, we monitor growth and development. For adults, we screen for diseases, and give advice on reducing risk factors that might lead to disease. Even the oldest of our old can benefit from simple tests for things such as hearing and memory. At every age, we think about safety: Is that infant sleeping on her back? Is that teen wearing his seatbelt? Is that adult drinking and driving? Is that elderly person at risk for falls? Has that patient received their flu shot?

Under the Affordable Care Act, most insurance programs cover prevention visits with no copay. This even includes Medicare. Everyone can benefit from these opportunities to focus on staying well, rather Thursdays at 7 p.m. central.

Prevention is an important part of being a primary care doctor, and an important reason to HAVE a primary care doctor. So, take your preventative action today, make a call and set up an appointment, just for that checkup.

'If we see a product that is targeted to kids, we will take action," Mitch Zeller, who heads the agency's tobacco center, said in a statement. Thursday was the deadline for makers of reusable e-cigarettes to stop selling fruity and candy flavors. Juul was already in compliance. It dropped its best selling mint and most other flavors before the ban was announced in early January and only sells tobacco and menthol. At a congressional hearing Wednesday, the head of Fontem U.S., which makes blu vapes, was pressed to drop its vivid vanilla and cherry crush disposable e-cigarettes. Fontem chief Antoine Blonde countered that its customers are adults, not children. Less than 3% of high school students who vape reported blu as their preferred brand, according to 2019 government data. "We're not aware of any issue caused by our disposable flavors," Blonde said.

Narrow networks of doctors and hospitals limit patient choice

The next time you hear someone - likely a politician or spokesperson for a medical special interest group - argue that America's health insurance arrangements are fine because they offer lots of choice for patients, don't take them seriously.

What choice are they talking about? Almost anyone navigating the health system over the last decade knows that insurers have limited where they can go for care and whom they can see.

The concept of limiting patients' choice of doctors, hospitals, and other medical services like radiology practices or speech therapy began a few decades back with HMOs. The health management organizations argued that, to assure quality, they were allowing their insured patients to see only the best providers.

The theory sounded good, but in practice the health providers squawked, and networks gradually became more inclusive. That changed again as costs continued to rise and insurers started to choose only doctors who accepted their fee schedules. Things got kind of muddy for patients because they didn't know for sure whether a doctor was in the network because they charged low prices or because they offered superior care. The way networks operate has gotten even more opaque and manipulated, according to new research from Penn State assistant professor of public policy Simon Haeder and his colleagues. Their research tells us more about how insurance carriers are limiting patient choice.

me that may be happening.

For example, diabetics need to see endocrinologists periodically to help manage their disease, but if the insurer constructs a network with no or few endocrinologists, patients may be forced to seek care elsewhere or pay out of pocket. Such a strategy, says Haeder, allows an insurer "to offload costs" they don't want to pay.

It's even harder to find doctors in fields where there are fewer providers such as cardiac surgeons, podiatrists, and in some cases obstetricians and gynecologists. The problem is even greater in rural areas where it's common for patients to drive many miles to find a practitioner to treat them.

Haeder and colleagues also found that the problems with Medicare Advantage plan members than for those who get coverage from policies sold in the Affordable Care Act marketplace.

Înaccurate and out-of-date directories also limit patient choice. If directories report that certain specialists for treating kidney problems are located nearby, but when you call for an appointment you find they are no longer practicing, what do you do? Go without care? Pay out of pocket? Or search far and wide for someone who takes your insurance?

When the Affordable Care first went into effect and for a few years after that, the media and advocacy groups did point out that many plans had few providers and others offered directories that were out of date. They singled out those plans.

There's not much of that kind of reporting or outrage these days. Maybe it should come back to highlight the significant barriers to care Haeder uncovered.

'We thought if we gave people insurance everything would be great," he told me. "But there's a difference between having insurance and having access to care. The focus of advocates, policymakers, and even some insurers became the premium people would pay. But the premium is only one element of a policy that determines the final bill to the consumer. Coinsurance, copays and deductibles, all of which have risen astronomically in the last few years, are equally important and are contributing to the rising medical debt. Knowing which providers are in a network is important. So is understanding the games insurers play to do what insurers always do: limit their risk of paying out money for sick people.

some young people have already moved on to a newer kind of vape that isn't covered by the flavor ban.

These disposable e-cigarettes are sold under brands like Puff Bar, Stig and Fogg in flavors such as pink lemonade, blueberry ice and tropical mango.

The Food and Drug Administration's crackdown narrowly targets reusable vaping devices like Juul, the blockbuster brand that helped trigger the teen vaping craze in the U.S. Under the new policy, only menthol and tobacco flavors are allowed for those devices.

Critics of the FDA policy fear teens will simply switch to the cheaper disposables, which are widely available at convenience stores and gas stations

"They are very accessible and seem to be the new buzzy product," said Dr. Karen Wilson, a tobacco researcher and pediatrician at Mount Sinai's medical school in New York.

The FDA confirmed that the flavor restriction won't apply to "self-contained, disposable products," but only to rechargeable ones that use pods or cartridges prefilled with a nicotine solution.

The agency's rationale: Reusable vaping devices are far and away the most popular with underage users, preferred by more than 60% of Sales of disposable e-cigarettes and all other tobacco and vaping products are prohibited to teenagers under the government's new age limit, which went from 18 to 21 late last year.

High school student Philip Fuhrman says most of his New York classmates who vape have ditched Juul for disposables like Stig, a tiny e-cigarette sold in flavors like mighty mint and mango bomb.

Do insurers deliberately exclude doctors offering certain specialties in the hope of forc-ing out the "lemons" among their insured patients - those likely to be sick? Haeder told network adequacy also applied to coverage offered through Medicare Advantage (MA) plans. Sales presentations for MA plans often omit the fact they restrict choice through narrow networks.

Haeder's study examined MA plan networks in California and found that seniors may have trouble accessing care. His research showed that large numbers of them might have to travel 30, 60, or even 120 miles to find a higher quality doctor. Furthermore, he noted, an analysis of coronary stent procedures in New York State showed that provider networks might be more restrictive for

Gail Godwin, a novelist and short-story writer, said, "Good teaching is one-fourth preparation and three-fourths theater."

Humor in classes is excellent, but it shouldn't totally distract your audience. So, let's look at the North hand. South opens one club, North responds one diamond, and South rebids one spade. What should North do now? is to bid no-trump if he has a stopper in the fourth suit. Here, South does have a good heart holding, so he continues with two no-trump. (Note that there is no need to jump to three no-trump, because the auction is game-forcing.) After North raises to game,

Dear Abby

Dear Abby: Our son "Greg" has come out as gay. My husband can't accept it and refuses to meet Greg's boyfriend. Our other son is getting married (to a girl), and Greg will be bringing his boyfriend. My husband says he won't come to the wedding because our son's boyfriend will be there. He says it would "make a mockery" of the wedding. He has not told them yet.

I have tried everything I can to convince my husband to come. I told him this will destroy our family and marriage. He said he doesn't care! I told him this has nothing to do with the wedding. He will embarrass both sides of the family. He finally admitted he just doesn't want to see Greg's boyfriend. I told him he doesn't have to talk to him, but no argument works. I know our children will never speak to him again. I cannot stay married to him if he does this. I have no idea what to do. — Supportive Mom In New York

Dear Mom: Tell your husband, as calmly as possible, that the wedding isn't the only milestone in his sons' lives he will miss unless he has an attitude adjustment. Skipping the wedding will be just the beginning of his isolation because he will be absent from other important family milestones — celebrations, christenings, birthdays, sporting events, recitals and graduations. If that doesn't wake him up, nothing will. However, if he still cannot relent, whether you should end your marriage isn't something you should decide on impulse or out of anger. A licensed marriage and family therapist should be consulted.

Dear Abby: My sister, who is estranged from our siblings, has been diagnosed with cancer. The more-than-three-year estrangement wasn't her choice, and she was devastated by it. She has requested that they be kept ignorant about her medical condition. We are all (six of us) in our 60s, and I don't know how much time any of us has left. I would hate for my siblings to regret not having time with her, or to disown me for keeping this secret. Do I betray her trust and tell them? — Sibling Dilemma In Nevada

Dear Sibling Dilemma: Do not betray your sister's trust and reveal her diagnosis to the siblings who ostracized her. The news is hers and hers alone to convey. You are assuming they would rush to her side to support her, which isn't necessarily true. This could be detrimental to her recovery, so do not risk it.

"Oh boy, roast beef! I know two of my toes are gonna be happy!"

CEANIE

Dear Abby: My daughter expects that her children always receive a "gift" from their four grandparents on Valentine's Day. My wife and I are OK with this, yet WE receive no cards, gifts or phone calls from the grandchildren or our children. Are we old-fashioned, or is my daughter's expectation inappropriate? — Old-Fashioned

Dear Old-Fashioned: Your daughter's expectations are inappropriate. They are also nervy. Your daughter should be teaching her children that exchanging holiday greetings is a reciprocal endeavor. If your daughter doesn't want to buy Valentine cards for her children to give to you, the kids should MAKE them for Grandma and Grandpa. (They would make precious keepsakes, framed individually or as a collage.)

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. He seems to have no good bid. He cannot support clubs with only three, or rebid diamonds with only a doubleton, or bid no-trump with no heart stopper. What does he do?

Here's where fourth-suit gameforcing rides to the rescue. North rebids two hearts, which says that he has an opening bid too, and asks partner for more information about his hand. His No. 1 priority West leads the heart five: two, nine, jack. How should South continue?

Declarer has eight top tricks, including the heart trick just won. So, one more trick is needed. That is easily available in clubs, but South must make sure that East doesn't get on play to push a heart through. Declarer should lead a club to dummy's ace, then run the jack through East. Here, at least one overtrick results, and a second is available by cashing winners and endplaying West with the fourth spade.

Women's pelvic exams aren't needed frequently

BY MEHMET OZ, M.D. AND MIKE ROIZEN, M.D.

It seems the pelvic exam to check a woman's vagina and uterus for medical problems has been done for millennia: There are versions of the speculum (a device that aids in the examination) in textbooks from the time of the famous Greek physician Galen in 130 AD. In the 20th century, the exam was often an unwelcome rite of passage for teenage girls. But in this century, there are new guidelines, supported by the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force, the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and the American Cancer Society, that clearly state pelvic exams and cervical cancer screenings are no longer routinely recommended for most females under the age of 21. So why does a new study by researchers from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention along with colleagues from the University of California-San Francisco estimate that more than half of the 2.6 million pelvic exams given to young women 15 to 20 annually — that's 1.4 million of them — are potentially unnecessary? Plus, 1.6 million unnecessary Pap tests are given every year!

The exams aren't needed to prescribe most contraceptives and are often unnecessary for diagnosing sexually transmitted diseases. Plus, the potential for false-positive test results, overdiagnosis, anxiety and unnecessary costs are enormous. Parents, be aware of these guidelines and help your daughters get the medical attention they need without subjecting them to unnecessary exams. Young women, it's tough, but tell your doc no, unless you're given a medically specific reason for the exam or test.

- Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Saturday. By Dave Green

FROM SDSU SPORTS INFORMATION

ATHENS, Ohio - Three of South Dakota State's ranked wrestlers won by technical fall as the Jackrabbits turned in another dominant performance, defeating Ohio University, 28-9, in nonconference dual action Sunday afternoon at the Convocation Center.

With their third road victory in a row, the Jackrabbits improved to 10-5 overall to secure a winning dual season with three matches remaining. Ohio, which dropped a 31-6 decision to Mid-American Conference rival Northern Illinois earlier in the day, fell to 6-8 in duals.

SDSU raced out to a 9-0 lead through two matches behind a technical fall from Danny Vega and a major decision by Zach Price. Vega, ranked 24th at 125 pounds by FloWrestling, recorded a 20-3 victory over Trevor Giallombardo, while Price scored a 13-2 win over Giovanni DiSabato in the 133-pound matchup.

The Bobcats' lone ranked wrestler in the lineup, No. 18 Skakur Laney, put Ohio on the board with an 11-3 major deci141-pound matchup.

The Jackrabbits put the match out of reach with three consecutive victories in the middle weights, starting with a 7-0 decision by ninth-ranked Henry Pohlmeyer. A senior from Johnston, Iowa, Pohlmeyer and Alec Hagan went into the third period of their match scoreless. Pohlmeyer tallied a point on an escape in the opening seconds of the final stanza, then recorded a takedown and four-point nearfall in the closing seconds for the 7-0 victory.

Peyton Smith notched SD-SU's third bonus-point victory of the match with a 9-0 major decision over Kade Kowalski in the 157-pound matchup, while Tanner Cook turned up the pressure in the third period of his bout against Nick Vestal for a 7-1 decision at 165 pounds. Cook led 1-0 through two stanzas before taking down Vestal and adding a four-point near-fall.

The Jackrabbits' two other technical falls came in back-toback matches. At 184 pounds, 17th-ranked Zach Carlson worked from the top in the second period of his bout with have all been bonus-point victosion over Clay Carlson in the Hunter Yeargan, turning a scoreless deadlock into a 16-0 technical fall with a series of four-point near-falls. Carlson's win was his 20th of the season as he also improved to 12-3 in duals.

Tanner Sloan, ranked 18th at 197 pounds, marked his return to the lineup with a 16-1 technical fall over Jake Walker. Sloan missed the last two duals due to injury.

Other winners for the Bobcats were Logan Stanley (174 pounds) and Jordan Earnest (285 pounds).

Notes

SDSU recorded its first dual victory in four tries against the Bobcats (Ohio leads 2-1-1). ... The Jackrabbits have now recorded a winning dual campaign in five of the last six seasons. ... SDSU has outscored its opponents by a combined 99-24 over the last three duals. ... Sloan improved to 10-2 in duals, while Pohlmeyer and Vega upped their dual marks to 9-2. ... Six different SDSU wrestlers went 2-0 in action this weekend, including Zach Carlson, who won both of his matches by technical fall. ... Carlson's last five dual wins ries - two majors and three tech falls - and his 12 dual wins on the season have resulted in 51 team points (four decisions, three majors, three tech falls and two pins)

SDSU men run away from Omaha

BY ANDREW HOLTAN The Register

BROOKINGS - It was a typical performance for the SDSU men's basketball team at Frost Arena Saturday. Get out to a lead, the road team gets back in it and the Jackrabbits take control in the second half.

SDSU won its 21st-straight game and this time their victim was the Omaha Mavericks. The Jacks jumped out to a 21-8 lead eight minutes into the game and it looked like they were going to run away with a victory. SDSU led 30-20 with 8:25 left in the first half and Omaha went on a 13-3 run to tie the game. The Jacks then went on a 8-0 run in the final two minutes of the half and took a 40-33 lead into the locker room.

"We got out to a great start and it was mostly because of [the fans]," SDSU head coach Eric Henderson said. "... We had a little lull there in the first half, but that 7-0 run to end the first half was really important to us and got the momentum back."

The Jackrabbits momentum continued in the first five minutes of the second half as their lead grew to 16. SDSU's lead grew to as much as 21 as they cruised to a 81-64 victory and improved to 18-8 overall and 9-2 in the Summit League.

SDSU was led by Douglas Wilson who had 24 points, eight rebounds and five blocks. The Jacks' other forward also had a big game. Matt Dentlinger finished with 19 points and seven rebounds.

Wilson has now scored in double figures in all but two games this season. He is averaging 17.9 points per game which is tied for third in the conference. He is shooting 60.7% from the field which is second in the Summit League only behind Dentlinger who is shooting 62.1%. Dentlinger has scored in double figures in eight of the last 10 games.

Omaha head coach Darrin Hansen said Wilson and Dentlinger tough to match up against, but they do damage in different ways.

"Doug is so quick. He's elusive, he can get it and he can drive it at you and can go side to side. Matt can bang you and bang you and get to a spot for a two or three foot jump shot. Not that Wilson doesn't do that, but they definitely go at it in different ways and that puts pressure on which ever post is guarding them. When you get shots at the paint like they did, and then of course you have [Alex] Arians doing all the stuff that he does, a lot of points are coming from the paint and that makes a big difference," Hansen said.

Arians, who moved to point guard at the beginning of Summit League play, finished with 19 points and three assists. Arians has now scored in double figures in four of the last five games.

"We play through our post a lot and teams have to make some tough choices with how they're going to guard our guys down there. Are they going to double team us or are they going to dig or are they going to play one on one. For the most part tonight they were playing one on one and they started digging off of Alex early and he made them pay and got off to a really good start making those two three's.

"To be honest with you, ever since we started playing Alex at point guard, he's impacted the game in a lot of different ways. Obviously 19 points tonight, which was a great performance, but he's had nights where he had nine points, 10 assists and 10 rebounds. So he's able and is affecting the game in multiple ways and I'm really proud of the way he's playing," Henderson said.

Ómaha (12-13, 5-5) was led by KJ Robinson who had 20 points. Marlon Ruffin had 14 points and four rebounds. Matt Pile had a double-double with 10 points and 12 rebounds. JT Gibson had 9 points and Wanjang Tut had six.

SDSU now has five games left. They sit at 9-2 and are tied for first place in the Summit League with North Dakota State and are a game ahead of South Dakota. They host Denver at 7 p.m. Friday and Purdue Fort Wayne at 2 p.m. Sunday. They will then travel to North Dakota on Feb. 19th before hosting South Dakota on Feb. 23rd. The Jacks will close out the regular season at NDSU on Feb. 27th.

The Jacks would like to get a top-two seed in the Summit League Tournament because the top-two seeds play their first game on Saturday and then get a day off before the

SDSU splits at UNI tourney

FROM SDSU SPORTS INFORMATION

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa - The Jackrabbit softball team wrapped up its stay at the 2020 Doc Halvorson/UNI Dome Classic on Saturday with another split.

South Dakota State defeated Northern Iowa 6-1 in its first action of the day before falling to Drake 8-1 in Game 2. The Jacks are now 2-2 on the season.

South Dakota State 6, Northern Iowa 1

Grace Glanzer improved to 2-0 on the season with her second consecutive complete game. She struck out seven and scattered four walks and four hits, allowing just one run.

Peyton Daugherty, Cylie Halvorson and Allison Beaudry each had two-hit performances. Halvorson and Beaudry tallied doubles, while Beaudry and Jocelyn Carrillo each had a pair of RBIs. Mia Elliott and Chiara Bassi drove in the other runs for SDSU.

After working around trouble in the first two innings, the Jackrabbits saw Northern Iowa break through to take the lead in the third. The Panthers led off the frame with a triple to center, and though the Jacks looked to get out of another jam after two quick outs, UNI broke through with an RBI single in the next at-bat.

South Dakota State struck back immediately in the top of the fourth with four runs. Paige Gerdes was hit by a pitch to start the inning, and after Halvorson drew a walk, Kelsey Lenox singled to load the bases. Beaudry followed with a two-run, ground-rule double to put the Jackrabbits in front. Elliott drove in another run with a pinch-hit ground ball with one gone, and Bassi made it 4-1 with a two-out single up the middle.

The Jackrabbits tacked on two more in the seventh behind Jocelyn Carrillo's RBI single. Daugherty and Allison Yoder (bunt) opened the frame inning with back-to-back singles, and with one gone Halvorson was hit by pitch to load the bases. Carrillo followed with her first hit of the season, driving in two runs to push SDSU's lead to five.

Drake 8, South Dakota State 1

Kendra Conard started and threw two complete innings, allowing four runs on three hits and six walks. She struck out one before Emma Hardin entered in relief.

Hardin tossed the next four innings in relief with three runs allowed and three strikeouts.

Olivia Douglas pitched the seventh inning and allowed one run on two hits and a pair of walks.

Daugherty tallied her third multi-hit game of the season in the loss, leading the Jackrabbit offense that saw Halvorson (RBI), Elliot, Bassi and Callie Wethor add singles.

Drake jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first after a bases-loaded walk and two-RBI ground-rule double, then pushed it to 4-0 with a sacrifice fly in the second.

The Jacks got on the board in the third behind a two-out rally that started with back-to-back singles from Bassi and Daugherty. Yoder loaded the bases with a four-pitch walk, and Halvorson drove Bassi home with a single to left.

That was as close as they'd come; however, as the Bulldogs tacked on three more in the sixth and one more in the seventh while thwarting any Jackrabbit comeback attempts.

Drakes' Macy Johnson went 3-for-3 with a pair of walks. Libby Ryan and Emily Valtman both drove in two runs.

Nicole Timmons earned the win in the circle after allowing one run on five hits and a walk with four strikeouts in six innings.

Notes

The Jackrabbits are 3-15 all-time against Northern Iowa and 6-11 against Drake. ... SDSU is 13-23 at the UNI Dome Classic over seven appearances and went 2-2 at the 2020 event. ... Daugherty now has nine multi-hit games in her career.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. - Tre Jones got Duke to overtime, and Wendell Moore Jr. finished off North Carolina.

They did it with a pair of plays sure to live on in replays and the lore of the fierce rivalry, too.

Jones hit a jumper at the horn to force the extra period, then Moore scored on a putback of Jones' air-balled jumper as time expired in OT to help the No. 7 Blue Devils top the Tar Heels 98-96 in a wild renewal of the longtime series Saturday night.

"There's really nothing to put into words," Jones said with a laugh. "I'm still trying to wrap my head around what happened."

So was everyone else in the Smith Center.

"What happened in the game, it's just unreal," UNC freshman

Duke (20-3, 10-2 Atlantic Coast Conference) rallied from 13 down in the final 41/2 minutes of regulation on Jones' contested shot after he ran down a long rebound on his own intentionally missed free throw. Then the Blue Devils had to rally from five down in the final 20.9 seconds after the Tar Heels had seemingly steadied themselves after looking staggered following Jones' jumper.

Jones hit a free throw to tie it with 6.6 seconds left in OT only to miss the second, but Moore tapped the rebound beyond the 3-point arc to be recovered by teammate Jordan Goldwire. Jones got the ball and drove to launch an off-balance shot off one foot and missed everything, but Moore flew in behind Christian Keeling to snatch the ball near the left side of the rim and put it right back in.

Jones had 28 points for Duke, which trailed most of the night and led for only 1:47 of game action. The Blue Devils scored nine straight points in the final 50 seconds of regulation, and then the first six points of overtime.

LINCOLN, Neb. - South Dakota State rewrote the program's all-time list during a two-meet weekend at the Dakota Realty/ Alumni Invitational and Frank Sevigne Husker Invitational.

Jackrabbit distance standouts Ellie Friesen and Anna Donnay turned in marks good enough for spots on the program's top 10 list in the women's 3,000. Friesen turned in a 9:50.69 for fifth place and the new eighth best all-time mark, while Donnay finished sixth, running a 9:52.44 and claiming the 10th best SDSU mark of alltime.

On the men's side, Lukas Nelson found his name on the top ten list for the second time this season (previous was a 4:09.06 mile from Jan. 25 that put him at No. 10 all-time), running a 3,000 time of 8:17.65 to take seventh place and the new No. 5 spot on the all-time list. Joseph Minor-Williams took ninth place with a time of 8:22.54, passing head coach Rod DeHaven's 1989 mark of 8:22.90 to claim the seventh best time in Jackrabbit history.

In the early afternoon section of the men's mile, Tom Breuckman took second with a mark of 4:12.61.

Oksana Covey picked up fifth place in the women's 800m with a 2:10.67, and Blake Iverson followed, also picking up fifth in the 800, this time with a mark of 1:54.15.

On the men's side, Nick Wessels went .02 seconds off of his PR with a 8.09 and took first in the men's 60m hurdles finals.

Jacob Lackas continued his success this season in the 60m hurdles. Lackas took third place in finals with a time of 8.22 to grab a new PR, and is now tied for 6th on the program's top 10 list.

Emily Altenburg took third in the 60m dash finals with a 7.91. Jake Werner represented the Jacks in the men's 60m dash finals and picked up a PR along the way with his 7.14 mark.

In the men's 200m dash, Coby Hilton took first with a 21.96 and Sam Zenner picked up second with a 22.03.

In the pits, Annie Wendt and Emma Stewart tied for second in the women's long jump with leaps of 18-02.00 and Daniel Clarke picked up a second place finish with his mark of 23-1.50. Trey Tiefenthaler took first in the men's triple jump at a distance of 46-06.74.

Jackrabbits win fourth-straight BY ANDREW HOLTAN

The Register

BROOKINGS - The South Dakota State women's basketball team came away with their fourth-straight victory Saturday as they topped the Omaha Mavericks 69-59.

The Jackrabbits led 15-12 after the first quarter, but outscored the Mavericks 21-6 in the second quarter and took a 34-18 lead into halftime. SDSU head coach Aaron Johnston said he thought SDSU had more structure in the second quarter.

"Tagyn [Larson] I thought was really important during the [second quarter]. She made some plays, got them a little bit in foul trouble with matchups. I thought Tagyn was really big in that second quarter," Johnston said.

Larson finished with 16 points and nine rebounds. The Jacks lead increased to 45-21 with 5:54 left in the third. The teams traded baskets and SDSU led 55-34 at the end of the quarter. SDSU had a lead of around 20 points in the first five minutes of the fourth guarter. Then Omaha went on a 11-2 run to end the game, but it was too little too late.

Larson led SDSU (18-7, 10-1) in scoring and in rebounds. Tylee Irwin, who has struggled this season with her 3-point shooting, shooting just 27.7% from beyond the arc, had 13 points and was 3-4 from three.

"Consistency has been kind of tough for all of our perimeter shooters at times. Tylee just took good shots today, I think that's a big part of it. She's really worked on her game here in the second half, since Christmas. The second half of the season she's put a lot of time into it and I think those things always help. She's a junior, she's been through this a lot. She's a multi-year starter for us. We need Tylee to continue to play well," Johnston said.

Megan Bultsma and Paiton Burkhard each had 10 points and five rebounds. Tori Nelson had eight points and seven rebounds. SDSU shot 43.1% from the field and was 5-15 from three. The Jacks went 8-17 at the charity stripe. Johnston said he's not worried about the team's woes on shooting free throws.

"We've shot the ball so well lately, especially from the free throw line. Today was kind of one of those unusual one's where everybody was struggling," Johnston said. With four women in double figures, the Jacks had a very balanced attack. SDSU has relied heavily on Burckhard, Bultsma and Larson to score most of their points and Johnston said Saturday's performance is how he wants the box score to look every game.

"I think for a while there we had so much offense from Paiton and Megan, that we became one dimensional. Not just one player, but one spot on the floor. The second time through the conference, everybody has seen that and they have a plan for how they want to defend it. So we do need have more balance not just in terms of people, but also areas of the floor. We can't just always go inside," Johnston said.

Omaha (6-17, 1-9) was led by Mariah Murdie and Akili Felici who each had 15 points. Murdie also grabbed four rebounds. Josie Filer had nine points and six rebounds. Rayanna Carter had seven points, seven rebounds and four rebounds.

SDSU is heading into the home stretch of the regular season. Right now, the sit in second place in the Summit League only behind South Dakota, who is undefeated in conference play. The Jacks host Denver on Thursday at 7 p.m. and then play Purdue Fort Wayne at 1 p.m. at home on Saturday.

The Jacks will then travel to North Dakota on Feb. 20th before hosting USD on Feb. 22nd. The game against the Coyotes will likely determine if SDSU will have a share of the Summit League regular season title. Johnston said his team has to be more consistent if they want to run the table to end the season.

"We have to be more consistent offensively," Johnston said. "Whether that's balance, making shots, taking care of the ball. That's always something this year that's been a little up and down. We've defended really well this year and rebounded the ball really well. We're playing really hard, we just have to find ways to consistently make shots."

ing, that we were going to win this game."

Anthony had 24 points and 11 rebounds for the Tar Heels (10-13, 3-9), who were unexpectedly in control of this one much of the way – only to be undone by missed free throws and an inability to come up with one or two more clutch plays to close it out.

BIG PICTURE

Duke: Jones offered a reminder of how good he can be in big moments. After big man Vernon Carey Jr. fouled out, the Blue Devils had to go small with Jones running the point with confident and aggressive precision. "He was at another level tonight," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said, adding: "He was a stud tonight, man."

UNC: For once, the Tar Heels' season-long struggles seemed in the past, and they had found probably their best mix of Anthony's ball-dominant style with getting the ball consistently in the post even while playing without No. 3 scorer Brandon Robinson due to an ankle injury. And yet, the Tar Heels – just as in their first-ever home loss to Clemson last month – faltered at the most critical moments. Most glaringly, they made just 21 of 38 free throws, including 5 of 12 to end regulation.

STAYING CLOSE

This one was fittingly close considering the history of the rivalry.

The teams were marking the 100th anniversary of the first basketball game between the teams with retro-inspired jerseys that had each team sporting their shade of blue. And in an odd stat, the teams had split the past 100 games evenly, even matching one another with 7,746 points in those meetings. And now, Duke's ahead by a bucket.

DISPUTED PLAY

DUKE-UNC: Marked 100th anniversary of first game between teams

A disputed no-call in the final seconds of overtime gave Duke the ball and its chance to win. After a driving basket by Moore got the Blue Devils within one with 12 seconds left, the Tar Heels tried to inbound the ball to Andrew Platek - only to see Moore make contact with Platek while knocking the ball away near the sideline. Officials didn't call a foul and ruled the ball touched Platek last, and then upheld the call after a replay review with 10.7 seconds left.

TIP-INS

Moore had 17 points and 10 rebounds for Duke. ... Carey had 18 points in a dominating first half but didn't score after halftime. ... The Blue Devils scored 25 points off 18 turnovers. ... The Tar Heels shot 52% and had five players in double figures, including Garrison Brooks (18) and graduate transfer Christian Keeling (13). ... Duke earned its first win in Chapel Hill since 2016.

UP NEXT

Duke: The Blue Devils host No. 8 Florida State tonight.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) – KJ Feagin scored 21 points, hitting five 3-pointers, and No. 4 San Diego State remained the nation's lone unbeaten team by beating Air Force 89-74 Saturday night.

Jordan Schakel had 18 points, Malachi Flynn 17 and Matt Mitchell 16 for San Diego State (24-0, 13-0 Mountain West), whose season-opening run is the nation's best since the 2016-17 Gonzaga team began the year 29-0.

The Aztecs' 13-0 conference opening is also the best start to a season in Mountain West history.

Chris Joyce scored 23 points to lead Air Force (9-15, 3-9), which fell to 4-86 against ranked opponents
