Back to the lab: 'CSI: Vegas' returns to prove one of their own's innocence

When a famed forensics lab drops everything to prove your innocence, your days being held in custody for murder are numbered, right? That's what lead investigator Josh Folsom (Matt Lauria, "Kingdom") is hoping for in the season premiere of "CSI: Vegas," airing Sunday, Feb. 18, on CBS. After Folsom's mother's killer was found dead in last season's finale episode, the investigator was dragged away, suspected to be responsible for the death.

The whodunnit cliffhanger has kept audiences on their toes for months in the extended break between seasons of "CSI: Vegas," affected by the strikes last year. It doesn't seem like the killer's identity and Folsom's fate will be a mystery for very long, per the premiere episode description from CBS, as the new season opens with "the CSI team [combing] through every crumb of forensic evidence to determine his innocence or guilt."

Paula Newsome ("Barry") leads the team as Maxine Roby, head of the crime lab, supported by Mandeep Dhillon ("Avoidance") as investigator Allie Rajan, Ariana Guerra ("Promised Land") as Det. Serena Chavez, Jay Lee ("Looking for Alaska") as investigator Chris Park, Lex Medlin ("Drop Dead Diva") as investigator Beau Finado, Sara Amini ("Lucky Hank") as chief medical examiner Sonya Nikolayevich, Sarah Gilman ("Those Who Can't") as rookie investigator Penny Gill, and reprising her role as investigator Catherine Willows from the hit establishing series "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation," Marg Helgenberger ("All Rise"), the only original series cast member to appear in more than one season of the "Vegas" reboot.

Ahead of her first appearance last season, Helgenberger spoke with Entertainment Weekly about her return to the franchise, praising the new cast.

"They couldn't have been more welcoming. But it was interesting because I had played Catherine Willows for so many years. It's like a part of me," said Helgenberger. "In terms of establishing a camaraderie or an instant chemistry it was pretty natural, I have to say, and I think it's because I played this character for so long."

Meanwhile, Folsom's fate is in the hands of the CSI team, but it's not just work for some members of the lab. Det. Chavez herself may just be a little too close to Folsom to help build a case for his innocence — the pair have established a romantic relationship when they are off the clock. Complicating matters more, Allie, in addition to being a senior investigator in the lab, is Folsom's ex. Bolstering a former boyfriend's innocence is all in a day's work.

It's no secret that salacious cases are part of the DNA of any "CSI" series, and "Vegas" is no exception. The procedural has a habit of using comedy to create some levity over gory crime scenes and graphic medical examinations. Suspicious deaths at a clown hotel, a secret sex dungeon and a masquerade party are just a few examples of the cases that have ended up in the lab over the course of the show's first two seasons. Nothing less could be expected from the crimes of Las Vegas.

"CSI: Vegas" moves from Thursday nights to a coveted Sunday prime time spot on CBS, alongside action drama "The Equalizer," returning for its fourth season, and the brand new series "Tracker," starring Justin Hartley ("This Is Us"). The second season of "CSI: Vegas" upped the episode order from its first season's 10 episodes to a whopping 21 episodes, however this season is back to a tight 10. Many network procedurals have premiered abridged seasons of 10 to 13 episodes given the work stoppage during the writers and screen actors guild strikes.

Checking in with FREDDIE HIGHMORE

As has long been known, all good things must come to an end, and that's about to be the case for "The Good Doctor."

The ABC drama begins its seventh and final season Tuesday, Feb. 20, with title star Freddie Highmore putting the final touches on his portrayal of autistic Dr. Shaun Murphy. While such other cast members as Richard Schiff ("The West Wing"), Fiona Gubelmann ("Wilfred"), Will Yun Lee ("Altered Carbon"), Christina Chang ("Live Free or Die Hard," 2007) and Paige Spara ("Kevin from Work") will also be back, two have left while two others are joining the show for its concluding stanza.

Founding co-star Hill Harper ("CSI: NY") and Brandon Larracuenté ("13 Reasons Why") are gone. Entering the series are Kayla Cromer ("Everything's Gonna Be Okay"), a medical student who's on the autism spectrum, and Wavyv Jonez ("Young Rock"), another medical student who may not be entirely suited to the profession.

For Highmore, who also is an executive producer of "The Good Doctor" and has directed episodes occasionally, there still are plenty of aspects to examine with his alter ego Shaun — not the least of which are his first-time parenthood with his wife, Lea (Spara), and his strained relationship with his mentor, Dr. Aaron Glassman (Schiff).

Though he also has considerable movie work to his credit, television has been the London, England-born Highmore's consistent home for some time now. He started "The Good Doctor" immediately after finishing five seasons as the young Norman Bates — the unsettling character famously played as an adult by Anthony Perkins in Alfred Hitchcock's chiller "Psycho" (1960) — in the A&E Network prequel series "Bates Motel."

While working on "The Good Doctor," Highmore also was a star and executive producer of "Leonardo," a docudrama series about legendary painter Leonardo da Vinci (with that part played by Aidan Turner) that had an American run on The CW. A second season was ordered, but the status of that has been uncertain for a while. However, it's a good bet that with the well-planted TV roots he has now, Highmore will be back on home screens sooner or later after "The Good Doctor" closes up shop.

2024 People's Choice Awards Red Carpet

46 5 6 p.m.

Smoking in the boy's room might have been fashionably rebellious in the 1980s (thanks, Motley Crue), but it will not be tolerated by Miss Teagues (Quinta Brunson) or the other teachers at Abbott, no matter who is doing it. And no, vaping is not excluded.
