'The Umbrella Academy' siblings face the final timeline

Stripped of their powers and facing new foes that want them dead, the Hargreeves siblings are back in the fourth and final season of "The Umbrella Academy," premiering Thursday, Aug. 8, on Netflix.

Stuck — for now, at least — as mere mortals with no powers and feeling enemies encroaching upon them, there's no telling just what is about to happen to the Hargreeves in this final 10-episode season. On top of past time jumps and their resulting paradoxes affecting the timeline the siblings now find themselves in, a new group, calling themselves The Keepers, don't believe their own reality and see a day of reckoning on the horizon.

The formerly estranged superhero siblings, brought together by the apparent death of their father, are now just strange, as they have spent the past three seasons joined at the hip, taking on a world out to get them. Spontaneously born on the same day to different mothers all over the world and adopted and raised by Sir Reginald Hargreeves (Colm Feore, "For All Mankind") at the Umbrella Academy, each of the seven siblings possesses a unique power.

Elliot Page ("Tales of the City") is Viktor, who can control soundwaves; Tom Hopper ("Black Sails") is Luther, an astronaut with super strength; David Castaneda ("Most Dangerous Game") is the telekinetic Diego; Emmy Raver-Lampman ("The Beekeeper," 2024) is Allison, who controls reality with her well-placed rumors; Robert Sheehan ("Misfits") is Klaus, who is able to speak to the dead; Aidan Gallagher ("Nicky, Ricky, Dicky & Dawn") is the time-jumping Five; and Justin H. Min ("Beef") is Ben, whose trusty tentacles are always at the ready.

Joining this season is David Cross ("You Hurt My Feelings," 2023) as Sy Grossman, a family man on a desperate hunt for his daughter. Returning this season is Ritu Arya ("Feel Good") as Lila Pitts, another superhuman with the ability to mirror anyone else's power. Lila wasn't raised with the Hargreeves as a member of the academy, but she's joined the crew of reunited siblings in adulthood.

Ben is back from the dead this season, having died during one of the siblings' missions years ago. At first appearing only to Klaus as a ghost, the rest of the Hargreeves encountered him again in an alternate timeline where he was a member of a different superhero family at the Sparrow Academy. In the final season, all of the siblings are reunited on the same timeline, though Ben still has no memory of the Umbrella Academy, and it's revealed in an official trailer that the siblings cannot recall any concrete memories about Ben's death.

They all have a lot to catch up on while some new enemies are hot on their tails. New cast members include a real-life married couple, portraying what else but an on-screen married couple. Nick Offerman ("Parks and Recreation") and Megan Mullally ("Party Down") are Drs. Gene and Jean Thibedeau, two seemingly normal Midwestern community college professors teaching a radical curriculum.

Somehow, the Thibedeaus have pieced together the puzzle constructed by the Hargreeves time-jumping chaos and are keen to share their theories with others who are open to believing their reality is a lie. "That tentacle boy is the key to understanding all the timelines," Gene lectures in the trailer for the upcoming season, training all eyes on Ben.

Netflix has teased fans with Easter egg-filled posters, a full set of episode titles, thrilling trailers and even a peek at a page of the season premiere's script. But so far, cast and crew have remained tight-lipped about what's to come during the show's final season. In an interview with Radio-Times in March, Page shared all he could about the upcoming season, saying, "I'm not allowed to say anything, but it's gonna be, as per usual, very fun, classic Hargreeves chaos and hijinks."

celebrity scoop

Others have been moving from one Dick Wolf-produced series and role to another, but Alana De La Garza was among the first to do it.

The actress previously played prosecutor Connie Rubirosa not only in the parent "Law & Order" show but also in the spinoffs "Law & Order: LA" and (as a guest star) "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit." When Sela Ward ("Gone Girl," 2014) left Wolf's "FBI" after its first season, De La Garza was summoned to join that CBS series as Isobel Castille, the special agent in charge of the New York division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation … and the actress remains with the Tuesday drama as it heads towards its seventh year, the first in a three-season renewal. "FBI" repeats also run regularly on Pop TV and ION Television.

Though it remains primarily a procedural show focused on the crime of the week, "FBI" has gradually been delving more into the personal lives of its regular characters. In Isobel's case, that has meant viewers meeting her father (Nestor Serrano, "Bad Boys," 1995) — a veteran lawyer with whom she has a very strained relationship — and some of her past romantic mates, including one who also was a partner of hers professionally.

While Isobel can display empathy and compassion for her agents, as with her recent support of Maggie Bell (played by Missy Peregrym, "Rookie Blue") while the latter was considering motherhood, she also can be stern and unyielding when the circumstances dictate that. Such was the case early in Isobel's current tenure when she took a hard line with Omar Adom "OA" Zidan (Zeeko Zaki, "Six"), when his personal involvement in a case threatened to compromise the entire office.

De La Garza has an additional link to the Wolf television empire: she's a distant cousin of producer-writer Rene Balcer, who has been involved in shows in both the FBI and Law & Order franchises. And thanks to her current role, one of many she has played in series TV, De La Garza will continue to have a degree of job security that relatively few actors do.

Alex vs America

(31) 8 p.m.

It's a seafood bonanza in the latest episode of this food competition show as three lobster specialists step up to challenge superstar chef Alex Guarnaschelli for a chance at $15,000. Will their expertise be enough to beat Alex? Eric Adjepong hosts.

Grantchester on Masterpiece

Intervention who leave the country to live abroad with their partners. (42) 7 p.m. From their first meeting.

Corinne and Joev have been mixing love with drugs. Now. the two live in Northern California, where they scrounge together any money they can get their hands on for meth. However, time may be running out to help them.

90 Day Fiancé: The Other Way

This season watches their stories unfold in China. Iceland, Ireland, Turkey, Indonesia and England. Below Deck Mediterranean

(57) 8 p.m. It seems like someone is rock-

ing the boat and Capt. Sandy has had enough of the shenanigans. The stewards are too busy flirting their way with guests and each other, causing tensions that are coming home to roost. Aesha might need to clean house.

BBQ Brawl

(31) 8 p.m. Knowing one's way around a grill can go a long way, but becoming a BBQ master means they know secrets others do not. Team captains Bobby Flay, Sunny Anderson and Michael Voltaggio put their grillers to the test to see who can handle the heat.

History's Greatest Escapes with Morgan Freeman (48) 8 p.m.

Sometimes all you need is a good plan. Escape artist Forrest Tucker was serving time

Quentin prison when he constructed a makeshift kavak using pieces of wood, sheets of plastic, duct tape and formica to row his way to freedom. Mayor of Kingstown

(435) 8 p.m. With things are getting out of control, someone needs to step up in this season finale. But when Mike (Jeremy Renner) delivers a plan that could finally subdue the dangerous factions waging war in Kingstown. Mich.. it is met with surprising resistance.
