S.D. Farm and Ranch Recognition Program

Thursday, Aug 29

10 a.m.

Farm Bureau Dakotaland Stage

The farm and ranch has long been the cornerstone of South Dakota history. None more perhaps than the farms and ranches we honor as South Dakota Century Farms and Ranches.

If your family has retained ownership of a farm or ranch for 100 years or more in South Dakota, and if the farm or ranch consists of a minimum of 80 acres of the original farmland, you may be interested in having your farm or ranch designated as a Century Farm or Century Ranch.

The South Dakota Farm and Ranch Recognition Program is a joint program of the South Dakota Farm Bureau and the South Dakota Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources. The ceremony at the State Fair will recognize those Century Farms/Ranches that have not been previously honored. More than 2,100 farms and ranches have been honored statewide.

For more details, call the South Dakota Farm Bureau office at (605) 353-8052 or the SD Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources at (605) 773-5425 or visit their website.

• S.D. Farm and Ranch Recognition Program

Thursday, Aug. 29, 10 a.m.

The farm and ranch has long been the cornerstone of South Dakota history. None more perhaps than the farms and ranches we honor as South Dakota Century Farms and Ranches. If your family has retained ownership of a farm or ranch for 100 years or more in South Dakota, and if the farm or ranch consists of a minimum of 80 acres of the original farmland, you may be interested in having your farm or ranch designated as a Century Farm or Century Ranch.

The South Dakota Farm and Ranch Recognition Program is a joint program of the South Dakota Farm Bureau and the South Dakota Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources. The ceremony at the State Fair will recognize those Century Farms/Ranches that have not been previously honored. More than 2,100 farms and ranches have been honored statewide.

Other performances scheduled on the Farm Bureau Dakotaland Stage will include:

Must see exhibits at the South Dakota State Fair

BY CRYSTAL PUGSLEY OF THE PLAINSMAN

Fairgoers entering the gates on the first day of the South Dakota State Fair Wednesday, Aug. 28, will be treated to an extravaganza that has been weeks in the making by dozens of behind-the-scenes volunteers and staff.

Thousands of exhibits will have been meticulously, and artfully, displayed in Horizon's Hall (formerly the Women's Building), the Arts and Education Building and the Horticulture Building.

Horticulture Building

One must-see is always the beautiful Mirror Room in the center of the Horticulture Building.

"The Mirror Room will feature different themes each day," said building superintendent Michael Bishop of Alexandria. "We utilize the exhibits that come in. That way we make it interesting, and it changes every day.

"We did that last year and it went over very well," he said. "To ask any one organization to spend the kind of money needed to decorate the Mirror Room is very expensive."

They currently have more than 1,400 entries that will be on exhibit in the building.

Bishop said most people really liked seeing the different daily displays. "People called their friends to come see their exhibit in the Mirror Room," he added. "They were taking pictures and making memories — and that's what the fair should be, making memories."

New this year will be live tasting and judging of tomatoes Wednesday afternoon.

Guest speakers will talk about everything from alternative gardening, a program planned on Friday, to utilizing raised flower beds.

On Saturday morning and afternoon they will feature Farm to Flowers programs, featuring two groups that will tell their story of how they raise their flowers and create bouquets. People in the audience will be able to try their hand at floral arranging.

"The big feature will be Sunday when we have Dr. John Ball come in and talk about trees — all things trees," Bishop said "How to manage trees, what kinds of trees to pick for various uses, how to plant and how to water."

Horizons Hall

More than 1,600 exhibits are expected to fill Horizons Hall, formerly the Women's Building on the S.D. State Fairgrounds.

"Men can exhibit in this building just as much as women," said Jo Freier of Mitchell, who has been superintendent of the building since 2016. "Our big draw is our quilts."

Quilts customarily line the interior of the large building in a colorful display, with other displays of baked goods, canning and needlework and crafts.

"We have wonderful cooking demonstrations planned," Freier said. "Pam Linton is coming back this year on Friday morning for a cooking demonstration. She provides recipes and samples of her food. She will also be here on Thursday afternoon in the Auditorium, she has what's called a Cotton Patch Boutique."

Thursday is Value-Added Ag Day at the fair, and they plan to have four back-to-back cooking demonstrations; and each day South Dakota Pork will be providing demonstrations in the kitchen.

On Friday the popular Sew Your Own event will be held with two brand new sewing machines to be presented as sweepstake prizes. A Sew Your Own style show will be held at 3:30 p.m.

"On Saturday we'll give the Bert Stiner Award," she added. Freier said the Stiner family provides that award in memory of their mother. The grand prize winner receives $250 and their name placed on a plaque displayed in the building.

Sunday at noon they are planning a style show through Diamonds in the Rough, a Huron boutique.

Sarah Fridley of Mitchell will give a presentation Sunday at 3 p.m. on the Quilts of Valor program.

They will again host the Family Heirloom Recipe contest, which is judged by a woman from Illinois who travels to South Dakota each year for the event.

"We again are having our fun homemade wine contest," Freier said. "That's at 12:30 p.m. Monday, that's our last fun exhibit we do in the building."

Canning exhibits are popular, and those are judged by the actual canning process used.

"We have a huge assortment of baked goods that come in, and that is always fun," Freier said. "After we display a slice of the baked goods, we distribute the remainder to staff and volunteers at the fairgrounds."

"It's a huge variety of things we have in the building, from beautiful quilts to crafts to baked goods," she added. "Every day, every hour, there's a lot going on in the building all the time."

One window display will feature the County Best in Show, representing an exhibit from each county fair. Those all come in the Tuesday before the fair to be judged and organized in an exhibit.

"Then we open the doors Wednesday, Aug. 28, at 9 a.m.," Freier said. "It's a three-week process, it takes that long to do what we do."

"I have a wonderful crew, I could not do my job without them," she added. "It's a busy job and it's a job I get a lot of pleasure out of. When I lock the door on Labor Day, I go home with a sense of accomplishment."

Arts & Education Building

As superintendent of the Arts & Education Building at the S.D. State Fairgrounds for the past dozen years, Mary Helen Wipf of Huron is always amazed by the creative entries that come from schools throughout the state.

Arts & Education Building

"We have a lot of talent here in South Dakota," Wipf said.

Along with the usual photography and artwork, they've added some new mediums for art expression.

"This year we added rock painting," Wipf said. "There is a 20 pound limit though, and we added duct tape art. They make a picture using different colors and sizes of duct tape."

They also added coloring pages, which are pre-printed pages filled with tiny segments to be colored to create a full picture. "We also added paper cutting, but we didn't get any entries for that. A good example would be a silhouette using a tiny scissors or a blade to make fancy cuts."

The Arts & Education Building is filled top to bottom with artwork, including 110 entries from artists in mediums including oil, watercolors and pastels, and 308 photography entries featuring all levels from professionals to youth.

The largest division of entries are children's artwork that is submitted by schools in South Dakota.

"We have 6,131 entries from 30 schools that entered artwork this year," Wipf said. "We also had some home school entries, as well. They're all hung and on display."

They also have a selection of South Dakota Books, which are made by fourth graders, and they hosted an essay contest for students titled, Great State of South Dakota.

Wipf said they will have the Mural of Infinite Variety in the building that people will be invited to help create.

Each day different South Dakota authors will speak and sign books.

Check the South Dakota State Fair web site for schedules of events in each of the buildings.

Showing at the Grandstand . . .

Goo Goo Dolls

Friday, Aug. 30

8 p.m.

Formed by Rzeznik and Takac in Buffalo, NY during 1986, Goo Goo Dolls have quietly broken records, contributed a string of staples to the American songbook, connected to millions of fans, and indelibly impacted popular music for three-plus decades. Beyond selling 15 million records worldwide, the group has garnered four GRAMMY® Award nominations and nearly a dozen platinum and gold singles combined, and seized a page in the history books by achieving 16 number one and Top 10 hits. As a result, they hold the all-time radio record for “Most Top 10 Singles.”

Trace Adkins

Sunday, Sept. 1

8 p.m.

In his 25-year career in Country music, Trace Adkins has sold over 11 million albums, charted over 20 singles, earned numerous awards and Grammy nominations, and garnered over two billions streams.

A Grand Ole Opry member for nearly two decades, the Louisiana native is known for dynamic baritone and fiery, always memorable live performances, and has expanded his Country career to include film and TV acting. He broke out in 1996 with the debut album, Dreamin' Out Loud, cracking the Top 5 of Billboard's Hot Country Songs chart with “Every Light In the House Is On.” Since then, Adkins has pioneered a mix of classic country minded traditionalism and adventurous, good-natured showmanship, breaking open new avenues in modern country through fun-filled hits like “Honky Tonk Badonkadonk” and “Hillbilly Bone” (with Blake Shelton). He celebrated the silver anniversary of his album debut in 2021 with “The Way I Wanna Go,” doing exactly what he always has — mixing pure Country reverence with standout collaborations.

Opener:

Kory and the Fireflies

Kory and the Fireflies are celebrating 30 years this summer. The band has shared the stage with over 80 national artists and consistently delivers energetic shows with a gift for connecting with their audience. The band has released 4 CDs, 2 DVDs and had airplay in all 50 states with, “Sometimes”, “Virginia”, “Pop Fly” and “Everyone”, with the latter two charting “Top 20” in New Music Weekly. Their single “She’s Comin’ Back Again” has aired on over 30 TV networks and “Let it Shine” was used statewide supporting healthcare workers.

Opener:

Tyler Halverson

Born and raised in the tiny town of Canton, (population. 3,054), Tyler Halverson isn't just any cowboy. He's got the hat and the boots, but he also plays a mean guitar and writes an even meaner tune. He has no problem bouncing around the country chasing adventure, and is telling his different kind of cowboy tale with his self-described “Amerijuan Music,” bridging honest storytelling with songcraft inspired by country powerhouses Garth Brooks, George Strait, and Hayes Carll as much as Boyz II Men, Taking Back Sunday, and The Used Halverson fell in thrall to music at an early age, receiving his first guitar while in middle school. A local bluegrass festival convinced him to focus on music, throwing down at 4H and FFA festivals before heading to Nashville to attend the prestigious Belmont University. Upon graduation, he decided to hit the road and spent an extended run traveling around South Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming, all the while writing and playing his songs on social media.

Riley Green

Saturday, Aug. 31

8 p.m.

Riley Green has been compelling Country music fans to raise a drink, shed a tear, and, above all, celebrate where they are from, since first releasing his self-titled EP in 2018. His songs like “There Was This Girl,” the heart-tugger “I Wish Grandpas Never Died” and his chart topping collab with Thomas Rhett, “Half of Me,” have made Riley synonymous with what Country music does best: making listeners feel something with his no-gimmick, relatable writing and classic feel.

An avid sports fan, former athlete and outdoorsman, Riley is riding a wave of success after being named the Academy of Country Music's 2020 New Male Artist of the Year, a former MusicRow Breakout Artist of the Year, a CMT “Listen Up Artist,” and one of CRS's 2020 New Faces.

Opener:

John Morgan

With a style that's defined by melodic grit and a craftsman's approach to songwriting, John Morgan brings a blue-collar toughness to Country that's pulled straight from the only life he knows. Hailing from a tiny town called Sylva, deep in the Great Smoky Mountains of North Carolina, John Morgan grew up immersed in Bluegrass tradition and even toured the festival circuit each summer in a family band, before diving into songwriting, inspired by six-string legends from Tony Rice to John Mayer.

More than a year after selling everything he had to follow his dream, an only-in-Nashville story involving Uber drivers and impressive demos led to a writing session with Kurt Allison and Tully Kennedy — two incredible songwriters and longtime bandmates of Jason Aldean.

RED: A Taylor Swift Tribute Band

Monday, Sept. 2
1 p.m.

Red – A Taylor Swift Tribute” is a jaw dropping, faithful recreation of a live Taylor Swift concert. RED is fronted by Lauren Corzine, an amazingly talented and stunningly beautiful young vocalist and performer. Throughout her career as a singer/songwriter, Lauren was told that she looks and sounds just like Taylor Swift. Lauren decided to embrace her striking resemblance to the pop icon and founded RED. The result has been explosive. Taylor Swift fans flock to RED shows to see an authentic recreation of a live Taylor Swift show. Lauren’s on stage appearance and show leaves “Swifties” feeling like they are watching Taylor Swift herself live in concert!

In fact, the LA Times recently took notice of Lauren Corzine’s incredible likeness. In 2021, LA Times writer Randall Roberts interviewed Lauren Corzine for a story that centered on Lauren’s love and commitment to the “Swiftie” community. Lauren may be a small town girl from McAllen, Texas, but she and RED are catching the eyes and ears of the world.

RED is a four piece national touring act complete with backup dancers. At a RED show, fans are treated to an epic journey through Taylor Swift’s entire discography. The crowd sings along as RED performs songs ranging from Taylor’s self-titled debut album Taylor Swift all the way through her most recent release “Evermore.” Lauren Corzine has brilliantly internalized Taylor Swift’s onstage mannerisms and style, and is a ringer for the superstar. Lauren has this to say about paying tribute to Taylor Swift on stage:

The RED experience is magical and can only be described as pure joy for the audience. At a RED show, you will see fans dancing, singing, screaming, laughing, and even crying tears of joy. Most special to the members of RED is witnessing people from all ages, races, and backgrounds come together as one to celebrate Taylor Swift and enjoy an afternoon of world class entertainment. We invite you to come experience RED... and dare you not to dance!
