Mark Codner
For The Purcell Register

McClain County Commissioners “declined to move forward” with a Tax Increment Financing Project Plan for development of property near Santa Fe Avenue/N.W. 24th Avenue in-between West Burr Avenue and West Chestnut Road.

The TIF had been proposed for “facilitating the development of property” in the area, composed of a housing addition and ancillary community features.

County Commissioner Wilson Lyles said the commissioners have voted not to pursue it anymore.

He said this is just not the right time for McClain County

Basic rules for planting wheat this fall

Donald Stotts
Agricultural Communications

Although some of Oklahoma received rain showers as October began, many wheat growers in the state are facing drought conditions as they plant their fall crop.

There is always risk involved when planting wheat in dry conditions, both in general and for specific types of operations, said Amanda de Oliveira Silva, Oklahoma State University Extension small grains specialist.

“For example, dual-purpose wheat producers should determine the amount of forage their operations will need when charting out their livestock feed supplies, in addition to concerns every wheat grower may have about planting and crop performance,” she said.

OSU Extension recommendations are that seed depth be between 1 to 1-1/2 inch when planting wheat. Oklahoma doesn’t typically experience the winter kill issues seen in more northerly states.

Producers who choose to “dust in” wheat at an optimum planting date are essentially betting that October will bring sufficient rainfall to their area. The good news is the seed should remain viable in the soil provided it hasn’t germinated.

Be cautious with in-furrow nitrogen or potassium fertilizers as they can damage the seed and make it more challenging for the seed to absorb moisture needed for germination.

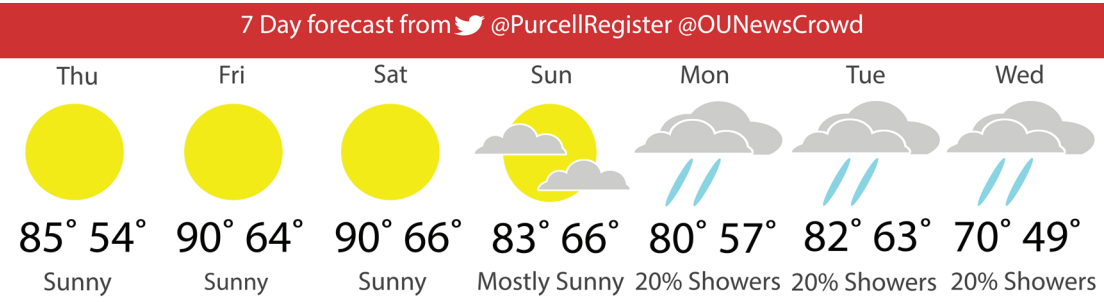

“The biggest risk for wheat planted into dry soils would be if a light rain occurs and the seed gets just enough moisture to germinate but not enough for the seedlings to emerge through the soil or to survive very long if dry conditions return,” Silva said.

“Also, if a heavy rain occurs in a short period of time, it could peak the seed and cause issues with emergence,” she said.

Silva recently provided additional insights about “dusting in” wheat on the agricultural television show “SUNUP.”

Headed back to the 90s

After enjoying a beautiful week over the last week, a stubborn heat dome is looking to return to Oklahoma. Good news?

It just wants to stay for the weekend.

High pressure overhead is going to lead to sunny skies as we round out this week, with highs in the mid-80s on Thursday and poking into 90s for Friday and Saturday.

These days will feel more like late August than early October, but as the end of the weekend approaches, you’ll notice quite the pattern change.

Cloud cover will start to build in Sunday and we will see a fairly stout cold front push through in the Sunday-Monday time line.

This will shove those afternoon highs back down into the 80s, and bring a small chance for some scattered showers.

This will last until Tuesday, but then the strongest cold front we’ve seen all year is set to arrive going into Wednesday.

Finally giving us some seasonal highs into the 70s.

Cold front timings this time of year have the tendency to change and be variable, so stay tuned into local media about our first real fall front.

As lawmakers prepare for redistricting special session, what you need to know

Trevor Brown
Oklahoma Watch

Lawmakers will be returning to the State Capitol this fall for a special session to carry out the once-a-decade task of redrawing legislative and congressional boundaries.

Gov. Kevin Stitt announced last week that he is calling lawmakers into a special session on November 15 to solely focus on redistricting work that must be completed this year.

State officials originally hoped to finish months ago. A delay from the U.S. Census Bureau in delivering the data caused states, including Oklahoma, to scramble to finish in time for the 2022 elections.

The work will have far-reaching consequences. The final legislative and congressional boundaries will help define Oklahoma’s political landscape and, depending on how the lines are drawn, could give one party an advantage in key parts of the state.

Here’s what you need to know about the next steps, what lawmakers are facing and how the public can weigh in.

State Population Growth Will Cause Shifts

Oklahoma lawmakers will be representing a much more diverse, urban-centric and larger population than in the past.

The new Census data, which was finally published in August, revealed that Oklahoma grew its population by more than 200,000 since 2010. The state’s 5.5 percent population growth (compared to 7.4 percent growth nationwide) wasn’t enough to give Oklahoma another congressional seat.

But it will cause lawmakers to adjust legislative and congressional lines since each legislative and congressional district must roughly include the same population.

That means the state’s 101 House seats will need to represent roughly 39,200 residents (an increase of 2,060 since 2010), the 48 state Senate seats will have 82,500 residents (+4,330) and the five congressional districts will each have about 791,900 residents (+41,601).

Some of the largest growth was seen in urban/suburban areas. Among the biggest movers, Canadian County grew by 33.6 percent, Logan County grew by 18.4 percent, Cleveland County grew by 15.6 percent, Tulsa County grew by 10.9 percent and Oklahoma County grew by 10.8 percent.

Many more rural counties, particularly in southeastern and southwestern Oklahoma, saw minimal growth or lost population. The biggest losses came in counties bordering Texas, including Jefferson County (17.5 percent decline), Harmon County (-14.9 percent) and Tillman County (-12.8 percent).

In some cases, residents won’t see too many obvious changes when the districts are redrawn, although their legislative or congressional district might shrink or expand somewhat. Others could see larger changes as lawmakers might need to move entire districts, at least on the legislative side, or adjust the lines in a way that will give voters new representatives in 2022.

What Lawmakers Have Done So Far

Lawmakers won’t be starting from scratch when they return to the Capitol in November.

A clause in the state’s constitution required them to pass a legislative redistricting plan during the general session, which ended in May. Though final Census data wasn’t ready, they relied on estimates and will now revise with the new data.

But plans passed earlier this year offer a glimpse at potentially far-reaching changes.

The House and Senate plans keep intact almost all of the 101 House districts and 48 Senate districts, although many will see their boundaries altered. According to legislative documents, 16.4 percent of Oklahomans would live in a different legislative House district and 28.6 percent would live in a different legislative Senate district.

To account for population growth in Oklahoma City, the Senate’s plan moved District 18, which currently covers parts of Cherokee, Mayes, Muskogee, Tulsa and Wagoner counties, to parts of Canadian and Oklahoma counties.

The Legislature’s state House plan also follows suit by moving District 36, which covers parts of Tulsa and Osage counties, to eastern Oklahoma County along with the northwestern corner of Cleveland County.

Rep. Ryan Martinez, R-Edmond, chairman of the House State and Federal Redistricting Committee said they will need

Purcell to host OCA Fall Gathering

The Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association (OCA) has planned the 2021 OCA Fall Gatherings. There are 12 locations scattered around the state with the idea that everyone should have a Fall Gathering within a comfortable drive distance.

Wheat:

tober may still reach its yield potential but fall forage yield may be reduced.

For grain-only enterprises, the optimum time for planting wheat for most regions of Oklahoma is mid-October. Planting winter wheat in November leaves less time for the crop to develop tillers and roots, which could affect yield potential.

"In this case, producers need to adapt their seeding rate to offset the shorter period between planting and the arrival of harsher weather conditions," Silva said.

Grain-only wheat growers probably will need to increase seeding rates if planting is delayed to November and December, according to OSU Extension recommendations.

Consider using a fungicide seed treatment to help with establishment by preventing diseases caused by fungi. A starter fertilizer may be beneficial as well.

"Be sure to test the soil to assess the potential need of fertilizers and most effectively manage input costs," Silva said. "Soil testing removes much of the guesswork and is therefore a good risk management tool."

New Main St. decoration?

This year’s Purcell Homecoming Parade was a little bit different.

As usual City of Purcell crews roped off Main Street with cones and rope so folks wouldn’t park in the middle of the street to block the parade.

But this year there was a twist.

Adilapidated maroon and tan vehicle was left abandoned on Main Street the night before the parade.

So city employees simply had to drape the rope over the vehicle.

Problem was that vehicle has now seemingly become a permanent fixture in beautiful downtown Purcell.

Editor’s Notebook

John D.
Montgomery

The car hasn’t been moved since last Thursday night and has now leaked something that needs attention of HAZMAT to clean up.

The vehicle should have been towed off prior to the parade and surely should have been towed off by now.

The Purcell Band had to split in two to march around the vehicle that is parked squarely in the middle of the street.

Floats had to veer around the car which made it even more dangerous for children scavenging for candy that was thrown along the parade route.

It was pretty humorous when band director David Hilger laughed as he directed his band to split in half to go around the car but now it is quite ridiculous, especially with it leaking some kind of fluid on to the pavement.

Galloping goats, biting gators and more in your local newspaper

Dean Ridings America’s Newspapers

If you happened to read The Albuquerque Journal recently you would have learned about a family who used their (galloping) goats to gobble up weeds and earn some extra money while keeping the city’s weeds and grass trimmed. In The Orlando Sentinel, you would have discovered that a man was attacked and bitten by an alligator while hunting near one of the local lakes.

Neither of these stories are life-and-death issues, unless you happen to be the hunter, but they provide interesting glimpses into life in their communities.

While these headlines easily grabbed your attention, these same newspapers also covered the more important stories, like the actions of the local city council, the school board and state government, and you probably won’t see those stories elsewhere.

Journalists tell the stories that are fun to read, but even more importantly, the ones we need to know. America needs journalists!

While you can’t turn on a TV, radio or even look at Facebook without seeing mentions of COVID-19, there has been as much misinformation disseminated as actual facts. Chances are your newspaper has covered the pandemic and its real impact on your community.

Your newspaper is a reliable source that provides information about the number of new cases, hospitalizations and deaths, so you are better equipped to make an informed decision about how best to cope with these new challenges. America needs journalists!

And what if you really need to know the details about which face mask works better and which ones you should avoid? Check your newspaper. It probably has the information, or you could give Google a try.

Many of the results will be from newspapers. America needs journalists.

I happen to live in Florida, the state with the most hurricane landfalls. Hurricanes are a big deal here, and if I want to know the path of the storm, there are lots of options. But if I want to know where my local shelters are located, where I can get sand bags, the expected impact on my city, and what I need to do to prepare, there is no better source than the local newspaper.

And yes, Florida needs journalists. Whether you live in Iowa and face routine tornadic activity, or live in Montana with its blizzards, newspapers provide insights into dealing with those routine challenges better than any other source.

NEWS FROM CAPITOL HILL

A blank check for Democrats

Congressman Tom Cole

A topic that has come up during both of the last couple weeks in Congress is the issue of adjusting the debt limit, which requires legislation signed by the president to either raise or suspend it.

Although Democrats control both chambers of Congress and the White House and they have refused to work with Republicans on much of anything this year, they are claiming that Republicans will be the ones to blame if the United States defaults on its debt.

While it is correct that Democrats and Republicans have come together in the past to address the debt ceiling, the circumstances were drastically different. Moreover, such efforts were often paired with provisions seeking to reduce the deficit and slow the growth of the national debt, which is not the case with both measures brought to the floor in the last couple weeks.

However, while both parties have shared the responsibility of dealing with the debt limit before, it is categorically false for Democrats, especially current members of leadership, to act as if they have always participated and been supportive.

Indeed, the same Democratic leaders who are blasting Republicans now refused to raise the debt limit on more occasions than not when Republicans controlled the White House and both chambers.

In fact, during the last five times Congress addressed the debt limit under unified Republican control, now House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer only voted to raise it once out of five times.

Regarding this current situation and issue of the nation quickly nearing its debt limit, Republicans have made it known for months that they would not support raising the debt limit as long as Democrats peddle their bloated and irresponsible spending plans and socialist-style policies.

Since the beginning of the year, Democrats have been pushing their radical and wildly expensive policy agenda despite having the bare minimum of a majority in both the House and Senate. The results have been shocking: more big government socialism, increased spending, rising inflation and higher taxes.

Remember, Democrats already rammed through a massive $1.9 trillion spending package earlier this year using a special tool called “reconciliation,” which allows certain legislation to pass the Senate with 51 votes, rather than the usual 60.

Although that legislation was billed by Democrats as coronavirus relief, it was really about advancing a laundry list of socialist-style policies. As a result, it should come as no surprise that Republicans did not participate, nor was our input even welcomed.

Since then, Democrats have continued on their quest to bankrupt our nation and transform it into a socialist society. Their next target is to pass another reconciliation bill – this time costing at least $3.5 trillion – filled with even more socialist-style programs.

And if they are successful, they will have pushed through $5.5 trillion of partisan spending in just one year, which is nearly one and a half times the amount of normal yearly federal spending.

All which comes on top of regular spending for normal

Your Views

Hello from District 43

• Senator Jessica Garvin •

Update from the Capitol

Our weeks have been crammed at the Capitol this fall with many interim studies, redistricting work, pandemic federal funding meetings and other legislative business. I thought I’d give you a look into some of the issues being studied in the Senate, and there are just as many being looked at across the rotunda in the House.

As I mentioned before, around 70 interim studies were approved by the Senate Pro Tem. Around 20 of them have already taken place and presentations from these are available on the Senate website at www.oksenate.gov.

Just to give you an idea of the range of issues being tackled, Senate committees have studied the prevalence of overprescribing in the medical field, equitable farm tax exemptions, expanding energy resources through natural gas, criminal sentencing reform and reclassification, and agricultural sales tax exemption requirements.

They’ve also looked at enhancing economic opportunity and quality of life for disabled Oklahomans through improved transportation, equitable procurement for minority and women-owned businesses, what is keeping Oklahomans from returning to the workforce, and the prevalence of youth suicide in our state.

Interim studies are live streamed on the Senate website and must be concluded by Friday, November 5. Upcoming studies will cover teacher qualitative pay, medical marijuana tax funds, funding for historically black colleges and universities, supporting pregnant women in higher education, and revenue refund provisions.

They’ll look at equality issues relating to racial discrimination in state agencies and businesses, teaching certificate scholarship program, and teacher credentialing and certification.

These studies will also be examining film and media arts for K-12 students, helping individuals with developmental and intellectual disabilities successfully transition from school to adulthood, SAFE task force kits and the OSBI’s response to sexual assaults.

The Redistricting Committee is continuing their work to redraw the boundaries of Oklahoma’s five congressional districts. Several virtual and in-person town hall meetings were held statewide this summer to gather public input on the process.

Public map submissions will be accepted through this coming Sunday, October 10. Each Oklahoma citizen may submit one map that must include a statewide plan for all five congressional seats. Maps can be submitted at redistricting@oksenate.gov, along with any other questions or comments. More information on the process can be found under Redistricting on the Senate website.

The Redistricting Committee is also working on finalizing the legislative districts given the final census counts provided in August by the U.S. Census Bureau were different than the estimates the bureau gave to the state earlier this year. The new congressional districts and updated legislative districts will be voted on by the legislature in a special session the week of November 15.

The Joint Committee on Pandemic Relief Funding is also holding regularly scheduled meetings to look at possible ways to utilize the state’s nearly $1.9 billion in American Rescue Act Plan funding. This money must be used to respond to the public health emergency and negative outcomes caused by the pandemic.

While I’m not on this committee, I’m following their work closely as to how these one-time funds are used and will impact our state for generations. While the governor will make the final decision on how these funds will be spent, this committee will provide recommendations based on input they’re gathering from state agencies and other stakeholders in the business community.

This will be a long process as the federal funds don’t have to be allocated until December 2024 and expended until December 2026. I highly recommend tuning into their weekly meetings. If you’d like to follow along, the meetings are livestreamed on the Senate website as well.

If you have any questions or concerns on legislative matters, please contact me at the Capitol. Please write to Senator Jessica Garvin, State Capitol, 2300 N. Lincoln Blvd. Room 237, Oklahoma City, OK, 73105, email me at Jessica.Garvin@oksenate.gov or call (405) 521-5522.

Immigration desperation does not make it right

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

Imagine a family of six people coming to your house. They knock on the door. They look tired, frail, dirty and very hungry.

They are desperate. Two of the six people are under six years old. Their clothes are rags and their shoes are barely still on their feet.

They tell you about their plight. They have traveled a long way. They left their country in search of a better life. They need you to help them. They need you to give them shelter, food, clothes and some cash. They need to stay with you for a while.

What if your sole income is $2,000 a month in Social Security? What if your pantry is no longer overstocked? What if you have trouble saving enough money each month to pay your utility bills and keep your car running?

Your heart goes out to these people. You would like to help them, but you don't have the means to care for yourself and so you have to say, "I can't." The reason I can't is because seriously, I just don't have the financial means to do so.

The next thing that happens is they totally ignore what you've just said and come into your house anyway. They scatter out to your bedrooms and begin to make themselves at home.

They open your refrigerator and eat the food you have and then ask you to fix them more.

Next, they need money. "Do you have money you can please give us?" they ask. You ask them to leave but they remind you they are desperate people who need for you to help them.

Next they insist you go to the bank and draw out your life savings and hand it over to them. They are desperate and need money. They promise they will leave. Now you are scared. You wonder what's next?

You call The White House. You talk to Joe Biden and he lets you know that Kamela Harris is on top of this and hangs up. Of course, you don't see any of them moving in with him. Delaware is a long way from the border. He doesn't figure immigrants will be much of a problem up there when he retires.

At least sixty thousand immigrants are coming to the border of Mexico to enter the United States. They are all desperate people in search of adequate housing, jobs, free education, free medical insurance and more.

Panama's Prime Minister sounded a warning that a massive group is passing their country and many of them are coming from Haiti. Erika Mouynes is reported to have notified the White House of the most recent migration surge.

Prime Minister Mouynes recently described how her country has seen 80,000 Haitian immigrants and evacuees crossing from South America, through Panama, headed to the United States this year.

Outlaws rob out of desperation. Drug addicts steal and kill out of desperation. Rapists assault out of deranged desperation. We don't overlook these criminal acts in America.

They are coming here. They are moving in. They are desperate for shelter, food, free education, free Medicare, free transportation and more. Their desperation doesn't make it right.

America is a nation of immigrants. Most of them have come legally and followed an orderly process.

If our national leaders do not gain control of our border crisis a further humanitarian crisis unlike, we've ever seen is fast approaching.

This is the choice Democrats have made. They have chosen to govern in a majority-rules fashion pushing through bill after bill, larded up with huge spending and more and more big government socialism, all on their own.

benefits to those who never read them or even glance at a headline. Last year, The Anchorage Daily News did a series of investigative stories that showed how a third of Alaska's villages had no police protection.

The series led to the U.S. Attorney General declaring an emergency for public safety in rural Alaska, and he was able to free up $10.5 million to support local police efforts and public safety.

While many people in the affected villages never saw or even heard of the series in

They don't even really need Republicans to address the debt limit since they can do so simply by using their favorite tool of reconciliation.

Just as Democrats have been perfectly fine with moving their radical policies alone, they should take ownership of the need to address the debt limit — on their own.

After all, their desire to suspend the debt limit through the end of 2022, without restriction, is clearly intended to provide a blank check to continue on their spending binge of unprecedented proportions.

Republicans will have no part in that.

The Anchorage Daily News, they all reaped the benefit. America needs journalists.

Newspapers, and journalism in general, is under siege as the disruption of the internet, the rise of Google and Facebook and their use of newspapers' content without payment have all wreaked havoc on the industry. With many restaurants and retailers closing the during past months due to the pandemic, advertising revenue has plummeted even further. While newspapers continue to tell the story, it has gotten more difficult.

While America needs journalists, journalists need you. Your paid subscription and support of local journalism matters.

Bond support

Dear Editor:

As a resident of Washington and the Superintendent, I take great pride in our school district and community. I admire the way our Warrior community unites to overcome challenges and take care of one another. Our community's unified commitment to support Washington Schools and its students is the primary reason my wife and I chose to move to Washington.

On October 12 we have an opportunity to support our students and staff by taking action and voting to support the 2021 bond proposal. When passed, the bond will directly impact every student, every teacher, and every family in our school district. The bond proposal consists of over 64,000 square feet of new classroom space. The 2021 bond proposal will provide 20-plus new classrooms, an elementary multipurpose gym/performance space, and more. Fine Arts in Washington will gain a new band room and a performing arts stage for drama and choir performances.

The Washington School Community is a family. We live by the motto "Once A Warrior Always A Warrior." We help each other without hesitation, continuously give back and never waver in our commitment to improve. We have the power to increase and enhance opportunities for our students, to move our district from what it is to what it can be!

For a complete list of projects, please visit our school district website at www.wps-isd.com. where you will also find a sample ballot for Tuesday's election.

NEWS from the City of Purcell

Small lot of rain

Most rain gauges in the Heart of Oklahoma got 1/2" of rain or less last Thursday but it was better than most of the unusually dry September.

Another .4" was recorded October 1 giving Purcell just under an inch for the two days.

Prior to the dab of rain September 30, the last precipitation was September 4 when 1.85" was recorded.

That compares with 8.9" of rain in September of 2020. So far this year, Oklahoma City has recorded 26.10" while our number is 35.10".

Accident kills Lexington man

A Lexington man was killed in a one vehicle traffic accident in Texas County October 1.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported that Frank Magner, 69, died from injuries he sustained in a one vehicle accident just east of Hardesty.

Investigating OHP Trooper Eric Brown said the eastbound 2016 Ram 1500 pickup, driven by Magner, hydro-planed on US 412 going off the north side of the highway.

Brown said the vehicle rolled over two times and struck a tree coming to rest on its wheels.

Magner was admitted to Memorial Hospital of Texas County in Guymon in critical condition with head, arm and trunk injuries. He later died.

He was extricated from the vehicle by firefighters from Hardesty and Hooker using the Hurst Tool.

A passenger in the vehicle, Rose Magner, 19, was treated at the scene for minor injuries, the patrol reported.

Brown was assisted by Trooper Joan Alvarez, the OSBI, Texas County Sheriff's Department, Hardesty Fire Department, Guymon Fire Department and the Hooker Fire Department.

Dibble Senior Citizens

By Eddie Cantrell

Greetings to the Seniors of the Dibble Community!

Well it is here! We will soon say farewell to the building we have been in for 15 years now. We will be closed for meals through October 7 in order to move all of our kitchen items to the new location.

It has been a long haul these past 15 years and we think now of all the folks who have been regulars here and now have passed on to be with the Lord. This list is long but we have a Wall of Remembrance at the new location as we will never forget these folks.

We remember all the good food and fellowship we have had, especially the many field trips and fun stuff that we did. We can look back and say, “Job well done!”

Where are we at now and more importantly, where do we go from here? All we can wish for is our mission to carry on far into the future and serve the purpose it was meant to serve.

Remember, Friday October 8, at 11 a.m. is our dedication and ribbon cutting then lunch. Feel free to come join us! Be there or be square!

My cousin Oscar along with some other dignitaries will be on hand to give us a few choice words of encouragement at the dedication on October 8 at 11 a.m.

All for now...

The menu includes:

Thursday—Closed.

Friday—Roast beef and shrimp.

Fire Prevention Week: Test smoke alarms now

This Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, the Kansas and Oklahoma region of the American Red Cross urges you to test your smoke alarms before the threat of home fires increases with cold weather.

The Red Cross responds to 27 percent more home fires in November-March than in warmer months.

According to the National Fire Protection Association — which is sponsoring Fire Prevention Week with the theme, “Learn the Sounds of Fire Safety” — home fires are most common in cooler months when people spend more time inside, and cooking and heating equipment are the leading causes of these crises.

“Every day, people’s lives are devastated by home fires — a threat that’s increasing as winter approaches,” said Brittney Rochell, Chief Communications Officer for the Kansas Oklahoma region. “Help keep your family safe now by testing your smoke alarms and practicing your two-minute fire escape drill.”

How to protect your family
During Fire Prevention Week, test your smoke alarms and practice your two-minute home fire escape drill — the amount of time that experts say you may have to get out before it’s too late.

Teach children what a smoke alarm sounds like and talk about fire safety and what to do in an emergency. Visit redcross.org/ fire for more information.

• Place smoke alarms on each level of your home, including inside and outside bedrooms and sleeping areas. Test alarms monthly and change the batteries at least once a year, if your model requires it.

• Check the manufacturer’s date of your smoke alarms. If they’re 10 years or older, they likely need to be replaced because components such as batteries can become less reliable. Follow your alarm’s manufacturer instructions.

• Include at least two ways to exit every room in your home in your escape plan.

• Select a meeting spot at a safe distance away from your home, such as your neighbor’s home or landmark like a specific tree in your front yard, where everyone knows to meet.

• Tailor your escape plan to everyone’s needs in your household. If you are deaf or hard of hearing, install strobe light and bed-shaker alarms to help alert you to a fire. When practicing your plan, include any devices or people that can help you to get out safely.

If you cannot afford to purchase smoke alarms or are physically unable to install one, the Red Cross may be able to help. Contact your local Red Cross for help. Due to COVID-19 safety guidelines, smoke alarm installations are limited to where they’re safe to do so.

Preparing now can save your life

Since October 2014, the Red Cross Home Fire Campaign with community partners has saved at least 1,048 lives by educating families about fire safety, helping them create escape plans and installing free smoke alarms in high-risk areas.

To learn more about the campaign and how you can get involved, visit redcross.org/HomeFires.

Lawmakers returning in fall

Lawmakers will be returning to the State Capitol this fall to finish redrawing legislative and congressional boundaries. Their work will have far-reaching consequences.

Understanding COVID boosters

Recent COVID-19 surges have booster shots on the minds of many Oklahomans. But who should get one?

While an additional SARS-CoV-2 vaccine dose after initial vaccination is important for the most vulnerable, not everyone needs one just yet, say Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation experts.

“Extra doses are only recommended for specific groups,” said OMRF immunologist Eliza Chakravarty, M.D. “Certain immunocompromised people, as well as Pfizer vaccine recipients who are 65 and up, who live in long-term care facilities, or who are at high risk because of an underlying medical condition associated with severe COVID-19.”

The first group makes up just three percent of the U.S. population, but is critical, said Chakravarty. Because while the COVID-19 vaccines approved for use in the U.S. offer strong protection against severe illness and death in most people, studies have shown some moderate to severely immunocompromised individuals did not respond well to the initial vaccine series and may remain vulnerable.

“This includes people taking certain high-dose steroids and other immunosuppressant drugs,” said OMRF physician-scientist Hal Scofield, M.D. “People undergoing active cancer treatment for tumors or cancers of the blood, as well as people with advanced or untreated HIV infection are included, too.”

In response, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration expanded the emergency use authorization of Pfizer and Moderna’s Covid-19 vaccines to this fraction of Americans. They should consult with their doctor and, if advised, receive a third dose of the vaccine they initially received at least 28 days after their second dose.

In September, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention also recommended boosters for three groups who received their second Pfizer dose at least six months prior.

Those people are adults ages 65 and up, residents of long-term care facilities, and people aged 50-64 years who have underlying conditions such as chronic lung disease, dementia, diabetes, heart disease and obesity.

A full list of high-risk conditions is available at www.cdc.gov/coronavirus.

Additionally, the CDC said, adults aged 18-49 with those same underlying medical conditions or aged 18-64 who live or work in high-risk environments such as health care or schools may choose to get a Pfizer booster after assessing their own risk.

“Those who qualify in this first booster wave should check with their primary care physician and get the shot if advised,” said Scofield. “If you received a vaccine other than Pfizer’s, stay tuned.”

With high community rates of COVID-19 and more than 40 percent of Oklahoma adults not fully vaccinated, initial doses, masks, and physical distancing remain important, said Chakravarty.

“The vaccines work. The majority of patients hospitalized, ventilated and dying from Covid are those who haven’t been fully vaccinated,” she said. “Boosters may be top of mind for some, but moving the needle on initial vaccination is critical to save lives.”

Session:

to make changes to the House and Senate plans now that the final Census data is available.

“Statewide population in the final Census data was generally within estimates, but some individual House districts did see deviation beyond the estimates,” he said. “The final map after adjustments should still be substantially similar to the excellent map enacted with overwhelming bipartisan support in the regular session.”

What About Congressional Seats?

The state’s constitution does not include a deadline for the completion of the congressional maps so lawmakers did not pass a preliminary plan earlier this year.

That means the public hasn’t seen exactly what lawmakers have in mind for the five seats that represent Oklahoma in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Of notable national interest will be what happens to the state’s fifth congressional district held by U.S. Rep. Stephanie Bice, R-Okla. City. The district has easily been the most competitive the last four years with Kenda Horn, a Democrat winning the seat in 2018, before Bice turned the seat red again.

The other four congressional districts have easily been won by Republicans over the years. The last Democrats other than Horn to win a congressional seat in the last 20 years are Brad Carson (2001-2005) and Dan Boren (2005-2013). They both held the state’s second congressional district, which covers the eastern part of the state. Rep. Markwayne Mullin, a Republican who currently holds the seat, won his last election with 75 percent of the vote.

It would take a big geographical shift for Democrats to gain an advantage, at least in the short-term.

Will Incumbent Lawmakers Be Redistricted Out of Their Seat?

Sitting lawmakers won’t have to worry too much about getting redistricted out of their current elected offices. The state House and Senate plans passed by the Legislature avoided moving non-term limited incumbents to a new district.

Besides, state law allows lawmakers whose district is moved to change residence with the intent of becoming qualified in the new district.

Potential political challengers, however, will likely be closely following redistricting work. Depending on how lines are drawn, candidates who file for office in April could be running for open seats or challenging an entrenched incumbent.

Who Will Decide Oklahoma’s Redistricting Fate?

Like most states, Oklahoma gives the Legislature the authority to rewrite the state’s legislative and congressional boundaries every 10 years.

A growing number of states, up to 14 now, have moved that power to independent commissions as a way to remove gerrymandering concerns or lawmakers drawing lines to serve their interests.

A statewide group, called People Not Politicians, attempted to get a state question on the ballot for Oklahoma to join these states. After facing lawsuits, pressure from Republican leaders and signature-collecting issues related to the COVID-19, the initiative was dropped.

That means that Oklahoma Republicans are largely in the driver’s seat with their party holding the governor’s office and significant majorities in the House or Senate.

If Democrats or others think maps are unfair or were gerrymandered to give one party an edge, they can seek a lawsuit. State and federal courts have been reluctant to override maps based on politics alone.

Can the Public Weigh in?

If the public wants to share input with lawmakers or submit their own redistricting map, time is running out.

The House and Senate have set an October 10 deadline for the public map submission. The Legislature earlier this year partnered with Dave’s Redistricting App, a free redistricting mapping resource, that allows users to make their own maps and submit them to the Legislature.

With the site, users can see how the map would look under different criteria, including most proportional, most competitive, most compact and best minority representation and then make their own changes.

The Joint House and Senate redistricting committee will then also hold a public meeting on the week of October 18 to consider the public submissions and hear other comments.

The public can also submit feedback directly to the Senate and the House on their respective websites.

Funeral services for Chris Uhlenhake, 66, of Purcell were held Wednesday, October 6, 2021 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Services were under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Mr. Uhlenhake passed away Sunday, October 3, 2021.

Chris J. Uhlenhake was born December 5, 1954 in Kingfisher, Okla., the second of four children born to Jim and Ramona (Garms) Uhlenhake. He was raised in Norman and attended school there, graduating the Tigers Class of 1973.

Chris began working in construction, and spent a little time in the oil field, before taking a job with International Paper in the lumber industry.

He married Gayla Russell, and they welcomed two children, daughter, Amanda, and son, Scott. Chris worked for many years for the Weyerhaeuser Company at their Oklahoma City yard, as Operations Supervisor. He returned to oil field and worked for B & R Pump before retiring.

Chris was a hard worker and a great provider for his kids. He was never happier than the day he became a Papa to Tate, Hannah and Ainsley. When he wasn't working, you would find Chris doing what he loved. He was an avid gunman and participated in many clay shooting events. He enjoyed fishing and hunting, telling jokes with his granddaughters and looked forward to family time at the lake.

He was a wonderful son, father and Papa, who loved his family very much. He had a smile that could light up any room and a personality to match. Chris will be dearly missed!

He was preceded in death by his father, Jim Uhlenhake and brother, Jon Uhlenhake.

Chris is survived by his mother, Ramona Uhlenhake of Norman; daughter, Amanda Uhlenhake of Purcell; son, Scott Uhlenhake and wife, Hope, of Kingston, Okla.; sister, Rita Uhlenhake of Norman; brother, Max Uhlenhake and wife, Sam, of Noble; his pride and joy, granddaughters, Tate, Hannah and Ainsley, and a host of other family and friends.

Ralph “Rufus” Kemp

A Celebration of Life Memorial Service for Ralph “Rufus” Kemp, 70, of Lexington will be held Friday, October 8, 2021 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Services will be under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

The service will be livestreamed on the website, www.wilsonlittle.com or the Facebook page, Wilson Little.

Mr. Kemp passed away Sunday, October 3, 2021.

Ralph Douglas Kemp was born October 26, 1950 in Purcell, Okla., the second of seven children of Bill and Imogene (Yearly) Kemp. He was raised in Purcell and attended Purcell schools, and completed his education at Mid-America Vo-Tech.

By chance, while car pooling with his sister-in-law, he met a young lady from Lexington. She was staying with her grandma at the time, and needed a ride to the DMV to get her license. They hit it off right away, and the rest as they say is history. They settled in Lexington where together they raised two daughters, Lisa and Buffy.

Ralph worked in Waste Management for the City of Norman as a truck driver, retiring after more than 30 years of service. When he wasn't working, Ralph was probably out with Gloria riding his cycle, country dancing or tinkering on a car. He was Vice President of the Purcell CBER's Club and one of the most recognizable with his handle, “Cookie Duster.”

Ralph looked forward to family camping trips, and never missed an opportunity to go fishing. He was a wonderful husband and father, Papa, brother, uncle and friend. He will be dearly missed!

He was preceded in death by his father, Bill Kemp Sr. (Vena); mother, Imogene Reynolds (Pard) and siblings, Phillip Kemp and Vanessa Larrimore.

Ralph is survived by his wife, Gloria, of the home; daughters, Lisa Parker (Daniel) of Tioga, Texas, and Buffy Mowdy (Tony) of Lexington; sisters, Lavonda Reynolds of Moore and Alice Reynolds of Oklahoma City; brothers, Bill Kemp of Lexington and Terry Reynolds (Doyle) of Oklahoma City; grandchildren, Spencer Parker (Brittani) of Eggland Air Force Base, Fla., Andrea Jones (Hunter) of Valley View, Texas, Cody Mowdy (Brittany) of Pass Christian, Miss., and Thad Mowdy (Kristen) of Juneau, Alaska; six great-grandchildren, Chris, Aubrey, Beau, Gwen, Saige, Talen and a few extras are Payton, Cammy and Samual and a host of other family and friends.

TIF:

to consider something like that, and there's not enough beneficial objectives to it to consider it.

Lyles said McClain County is growing, and there is a possibility that in the future commissioners may revisit a TIF proposal, but he said it just depends on what people bring to the table.

“You want to bring good things to the county and bring things here locally,” Lyles said. “But there has to be enough positive to outweigh the negative in order to obligate the county and citizens to a long-term commitment.”

The TIF was in regard to the proposed Selah community.

Tina Adkins, founder, designer and builder with Southward Hills Home & Design LLC, describes Selah, as an up and coming 540-acre wellness community unlike any of its kind in Oklahoma just 10-15 minutes southeast of Newcastle in unincorporated McClain County.

“Selah offers front porch living, fresh air, fresh food and a focus on reconnecting family, neighbors and the local community,” she said. “This walkable community is set among acres of preserved green space with miles of nature trails connecting homes and restaurants with arts and businesses for those living within Selah as well as the public at large who choose to visit.

Adkins said, “Our vision for Selah has and always will be inspired by the past, built for the future. With this in mind, Selah will be an ever evolving project as we truly listen to the needs and desires of our local community members.”

Planned amenities at the community's public spaces are a pool house and restaurant, a lake for fishing and kayaking, walking trails, a working farm with farmer's market, flower gardens, and space for the agriculture community and visitors to attend educational classes.

They also plan skate parks, soccer parks, playgrounds and animal amenities including horse stables and boarding, and riding classes.

If the county commissioners had eventually approved a Tax Increment Financing District, the private developer would have received for an agreed upon time, any new taxes created in the district to pay for public infrastructure.

Crash:

off getting into the northbound lanes of Interstate 35.

The suspect vehicle reached speeds of over 100 m.p.h. nearly striking another vehicle, the deputy said.

Deputy Ogden said the Impala exited at mile marker 108 onto SH 9. When the deputy crossed 24th Avenue he terminated the pursuit due to department policies, conditions and the current charges on the suspect.

Deputy Ogden continued driving east on SH 9 noticing the Impala was traveling at a high rate of speed and had turned off the vehicle’s lights.

Norman Police were notified of the situation. Deputy Ogden said he lost sight of the vehicle when he crossed Berry Road but as the deputy approached Chattanooga and SH 9 he observed the vehicle’s brake lights come on.

The suspect lost control of the vehicle as it approached Jenkins and SH 9 crashing and coming to rest on its top.

Deputy Ogden advised dispatch to start the fire department and EMS as well as police.

Ogden said he exited his patrol unit and found the driver still in the vehicle but unresponsive.

Norman Police and EMS arrived and pronounced the driver deceased on scene. Norman Police determined the vehicle had been entered as a stolen vehicle out of Duncan.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol is investigating the accident.

The bonds will be repaid in 17 years.

The measure must receive at least 60 percent of the vote to pass.

Gray:

A: The best part of my job is getting to see my kids every day and getting to deal with the best teachers in Oklahoma. It makes me happy.

Q: Every job carries some degree of stress. What stresses you and how do you cope with it?

A: Some days are more stressful than others. I worry and stress over students who are dealing with problems and issues. Their stress is my stress.

Q: What are the perks of working in a small district, as opposed to a large district?

A: One of the perks of working in a small district is getting to know each individual student and parent. Sometimes students get ‘lost’ in the bigger schools and are just another number. There is a lot to be said about being in a class of 38 as opposed to a class of 2,000 students.

Q: What is something most people don’t know about you?

A: I think most people don’t realize I owned my own private investigator business.

COVID:

20th among 77 counties and is slightly better than the state’s overall percentage of 56.3.

However, the state number drops to 47.4 percent when counting those who are fully vaccinated.

Counties surpassing McClain County’s 57.4 percent are Oklahoma, 77.5; Caddo, 74.8; Noble, 73.5; Tulsa, 72.9; Comanche, 71.5; Canadian, 68.3; Craig, 63.4; Muskogee, 63.2; McIntosh, 63.1; Jackson and Pontotoc, 62.9 each; Kiowa, 62.4; Seminole, 62.2; Cleveland, 61.1; Garfield, 59.4; Custer, 58.7; Pawnee, 58.4; Major, 58.2, and Harmon, 57.5.

According to the report released on September 27, 2,229,487 Oklahomans had received at least one dose of a vaccine.

Total doses administered in the state was 4,120,769.

Perhaps more telling about the vaccine’s efficacy is the comparison of breakthrough cases versus unvaccinated cases in 2021.

Breakthrough infections are diagnosed by positive laboratory results (PCR/antigen) in fully vaccinated individuals.

From February through September 26, 10,447 cases were confirmed as breakthrough, while unvaccinated individuals accounted for 189,164 cases for a total case load of 199,611.

Just 5.2 percent of those cases were breakthrough, while 94.8 percent were unvaccinated.

The CDC showed Oklahoma had 8,437 confirmed and probable cases of COVID-19 between September 21 and 27.

That ranked Oklahoma 29th among the 50 states and District of Columbia.

For comparison, Texas’ number for the same period were 78,497 – the highest by far in the nation.

The Lone Star state was also the leader in number of COVID deaths – 2,158 – during that period.

Oklahoma’s death toll of 140 put the state in 20th position.

Warriors tame Wildcats

56-18 beat down of Bethel

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

A balanced offensive attack paved the way for Washington to pin a 56-18 beat down on the Bethel Wildcats last Friday night.

Cole Scott, who rushed the football 24 times for 217 yards, scored on runs of 11 and 37 and quarterback Major Cantrell threw four touchdown passes.

Washington finished the night with nearly 500 yards of offense grinding out 200 on the ground and throwing for another 291.

The Warriors forged a 21-6 lead after the end of the first

Dragons smother CHA

Keep the pedal to the metal to control Crusaders, 42-14

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Purcell found the gas pedal and never let up on it when they smothered CHA, 42-14, here last Friday night in the 2021 homecoming tilt with the Crusaders.

Head coach Tracy Scott said several players stepped up.

"We had quite a few people play well," Scott said. "Creed (Smith) played really well. Titus (Mason) had a big game and our entire offensive line did a good job up front."

Scott was referring to the play of Brendan Bacon, Rowan Ardery, Jace Clary, Carter Goldston, Mateo Ramirez and Jake Scott.

Senior Hayden Harp drew a word of praise from the head coach. Harp had two catches for 45 yards including a 30 yard touch-down reception.

Creed Smith scored three rushing touchdowns and threw for two more scores in the game that was controlled by the Dragons. He finished the night with 162 yards on the ground on 14 carries.

'Dawgs beat Holdenville

34-28 in come-from-behind victory

John D. Montgomery
The Purcell Register

Lexington Coach Keith Bolles credited a great home crowd and excellent work by his staff helping the Bulldogs come-from-behind last Friday night to knock off Holdenville, 34-28.

Chase Johnson and Ean Caywood both returned interceptions for touchdowns and Heath Winterton tossed three touchdown passes in the contest.

"We had some young players step up and play well for us," Bolles said.

Winterton was 11-20 for 175 yards and the three scores. Josh Scott was on the receiving end of two Winterton scoring aeri-als. Scott caught five passes for 107 yards and the two six point plays.

Bolles said nose guard Keegan Martin played great getting penetration.

Bolles also praised the offensive play of linemen Chandler Soto and Baron Steelman, both of whom graded out at 67 percent against the Wolverines.

"And our receivers did a good job of blocking for each other," Bolles said.

Caywood led the defense with 12 tackles and the interception that he returned 35 yards to pay dirt.

Soto had nine tackles, a number matched by Seth Pyle. Pyle also had two sacks and

Purcell bows out of playoffs

Mother Nature extended the Regional fast-pitch tournament here last week but North Rock Creek put an end to Purcell's season.

The Lady Cougars knocked off the Dragons 14-5 last Wednesday and shut them out 6-0 on Friday after Thursday's games were rained out.

Sandwiched in between the North Rock Creek games were a 3-0 shutout win over Alva on Wednesday and a 10-1 victory over Davis last Friday.

The Dragons finished their season at 20-18.

Hannah Whitaker tossed a two hitter against Alva while the Dragons pushed across three runs in the bottom of the fifth to seal the deal.

KK Eck had two RBIs in the inning. Ella Resendiz led the offense going 2-3 at the plate.

Resendiz tucked away the victory in the circle against Davis.

Whitaker had three RBIs

an RBI while Harp had a pair of RBIs.

... we appreciate all the parents, fans and community support and last but not least our administration for everything you have done and the support you have given us.

— Sarah Jones, head coach

Sarah Jones said.

"This group of girls is special and I know they will never want to feel that way again.

"We are young but everyone learned so much in whatever role they were in," the coach said.

She expressed her appreciation to senior Haileigh Smith.

Jones also said she is excited to see where next year's seniors Eck, Lauren Holmes and Madi Veach take the club next year.

She said next year's juniors will have a bigger role.

Jones said next year's sophomore class will continue to hold themselves to a high standard and that next year's freshmen should be ready to jump on the adventure.

Jones also expressed appreciation to coaches Cunnius and Raper.

"I know it wasn't easy but they handled it with grace," Jones said.

She also pointed out the junior high coaching of coaches Clay and Sikes for preparing those players to be ready for high school competition.

"Also, we appreciate all the parents, fans and community support and last but not least our administration for everything you have done and the support you have given us," Jones concluded.

Dragons:

Smith scored on of four, 62 and one yards and hooked up with Mason for a 16 yard touch-down pass and found Harp open for a 30 yard scoring play.

Purcell's other touchdown was a 97 yard interception return by junior Jose Ochoa in the third period.

Before being injured, sophomore running back Ryker Fink had 43 yards rushing on four carries. Payson Purcell had five carries for 21 yards and freshman Boston Knowles had 31 yards rushing on six carries.

Creed Smith was 9-13 passing for 230 yards. His favorite target was Mason who finished with 109 receiving yards on 5 catches.

Creed led the tackling chart on the other side of the ball with a dozen stops. Luke Edelman's 10 tackles caught the eye of the head coach.

"He had a good game. So did Brodrick and Payson," Scott said. "And in a backup role Keven Lawson had a good game for us."

Brodrick Smith finished with nine tackles a number matched by Payson Purcell. Brodrick also had a sack for a six yard loss.

To go along with his pick six, Ochoa registered five tackles.

"We pretty much controlled the game," Scott said. "We kept the hammer down to not let them come back. We pretty much did what we had to do."

Purcell will travel to Holdenville this Friday night for a 7 p.m. kick off.

The Wolverines operate out of the spread formation on offense and employ a five man front on defense.

Scott reports they will walk their linebackers up at times but are mainly in a 5-2 defense.

The coach said it is important for the Dragons to continue to improve each week.

"We're taking steps forward every week at every position," he said. "We just need to keep moving forward."

Purcell finished with 487 yards of offense, 257 rushing and 230 passing.

Warriors clinch Regional title, State bound again

Washington makes it 24 consecutive seasons at State

JohnDennyMontgomery
The Purcell Register

Washington took care of business in their Regional tournament and punched their ticket to Hall of Fame Stadium for an opening-round game today (Thursday) against Comanche.

Washington defeated Kingston 8-0, Newkirk 4-0 and Chandler 2-1 in the tournament.

"We pitched it really well," said Washington head coach Tylor Lampkin. "We hung our hats on our pitching and defense."

The Warrior pitching staff only allowed seven hits in the three games.

"None of the seven hits made it out of the dirt," Lampkin said. "They were balls that spun weird where we just didn't have a chance to get it to first base."

Maggie Place was straight fire at the plate against Kingston, going 4-4 with three RBIs and a double.

Skylar Wells was 1-3 with two ribbies.

The Warriors had 12 hits.

Ellie Loveless got the start in the circle and struck out five batters in as many innings. Emjay Lucas came on for two relief innings and struck out one.

Against Newkirk Elly Allison went 2-3 with a ribbie and scored two runs herself. She doubled for both hits.

Senior Isa Portillo went 2-3 with two RBIs.

Newkirk's two-pitcher system forced Washington into adjustments during the game.

"One girl threw slow and one threw faster," Lampkin said. "Our batters slowed down for the slow girl then they brought in the fast one. It threw us off balance and we just weren't on time."

Still, Washington managed 11 hits in the game but it was the Warriors' failure to capitalize on hits that kept them from running away with the game.

"We got runners on and then couldn't get the timely hit,"

Wayne:

54-14 win. Quarterback Ethan Mullins rushed for 327 yards on 16 carries and four touchdowns. The senior averaged an eye-popping 20 yards per carry. He scored touchdowns on runs of 5.8, 45 and 45 and all was accomplished through three quarters of play. He also threw a 42-yard touchdown pass to Kaleb Madden with seven seconds remaining in the first half. Wayne scored five touchdowns in the first half to take a 34-6 lead into halftime. “We got off to a slow start but we took care of business after we got going,” Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp said. “We got after it in the second quarter.”

We got off to a slow start but we took care of business after we got going. We got after it in the second quarter

— Brandon Sharp, head coach

Wayne’s second quarter efforts resulted in four touchdowns. It wasn’t just Mullins tearing up the turf for the Bulldogs. His fellow senior Brannon Lewelling rushed for 96 yards on four carries and had two scores himself - one from four yards out and another on a 42-yard scamper. Madden also scored a rushing touchdown on a 19-yard jet sweep for his second touchdown of the day. He finished with 61 yards of offense. Jairo Hernandez had five carries for 22 yards and Rhett Kennedy had one carry for eight yards. Dom Sampson also had one carry, taking his for 13 yards. As a team Wayne finished the night with 532 yards rushing. “The offensive line played pretty well,” Sharp said. “When you rush for that many (yards) you’re playing pretty good.” Wayne was just four yards shy of having two 100-yard rushers, with Lewelling coming up short of the mark. “Being able to get all these kids some carries makes teams have to worry about other things and it helps our offense,” Sharp said. Consistent defense The first-team Bulldog defense gave up its first score of the season on a busted play in the second quarter against Rush Springs. But past that Wayne was the normal, stingy unit that’s propelled the team so far this season. “We had two busts in the game and the one they scored on was a stunt and we didn’t get the line strength called right,” Sharp said. “It was another good game and each game the kids are getting better. If we hadn’t have had the two busts (Rush Springs) would have been in negative yards.” Rush Springs finished the game with 25 yards rushing and 57 yards passing. Lewelling and Mullins each registered 10 tackles. Kennedy had six tackles and Kevin Bynum threw the quarterback for a sack. Maddox Mantooth had a huge game in the interior of Wayne’s defense, accounting for nine tackles. “When you get nine tackles at defensive tackle you’re being pretty active,” Sharp said. Next game Wayne travels to Healdton (1-4) Friday night for a District showdown with the Bulldogs. Healdton is 0-2 in Districts but Sharp says their record doesn’t sum up their talent. “They’ve played 2A schools and also good teams like Dibble and Elmore City,” he said. “They’ve put up points and have been in every game.” Offensively they operate out of the shotgun and use motion and shifts to exploit mismatches for the opposing team. “They attack you with multiple hats in the hole and run jet sweeps, which they’ll boot off of,” Sharp said. “They are big and physical up front.” Healdton runs a 4-4 on defense and will have the biggest defensive line Wayne has seen to this point. “Their size will present problems and we’ll have to have good leverage and stay glued up,” Sharp said. “We’ll have to get after it.” Notes Wayne head coach Brandon Sharp nominated Ethan Mullins for Heart of Oklahoma Offensive Player of the Week. The senior rushed for 327 yards and scored four touchdowns. Sharp’s nominee for Heart of Oklahoma Offensive Lineman of the Week was Andy Lee. He graded out at 82% from his center position. Sharp’s nominee for Heart of Oklahoma Defensive Player of the Week was Brannon Lewelling. He had 10 tackles. The nomination for Heart of Oklahoma Defensive Lineman of the Week was Maddox Mantooth. Mantooth registered nine tackles at defensive tackle. Wayne and Healdton kickoff at 7 p.m.

Warriors:

period and built it to 35-12 at intermission. They out-scored the Wildcats 21-6 in the second half. Cantrell opened the scoring with a 53-yard scoring strike to Cage Morris. Later in the first quarter the sophomore signal caller found Luke Hendrix open for a 48 yard touchdown. Scott legged it in from 11 yards out to close out the Warriors’ first quarter scoring. In the second quarter, Jacob Jones scooped up a fumble on a punt return and scored from 20 yards out. Lane Steele followed that score with a six yard touchdown jaunt. Scott bolted 37 yards for another rushing touchdown followed by a 37 yard pass from Cantrell to Kobe Scott. Cantrell’s seven yard strike to Steele closed out the Washington scoring in the fourth quarter. Layne Spaulding led the team in tackles with 15. Keller Howard registered seven tackles and Hayden Milner made six stops including two for a loss and had a quarterback sack. Safety Jaxon Hendrix picked off an errant Wildcat pass that came at a crucial time during their second possession. “That was a timely pick that swung momentum our way,” head coach Brad Beller said. “They couldn’t run and after the interception they struggled with their passing game the rest of the night. The Warriors were led defensively by their defensive line including Hayden Milner, Rope Scott and Caleb Bruce. “That’s the unit we’ve been waiting to play really, really well,” Beller said. “Bethel is big and strong and those three catapulted our defense. They did a great job. “Overall, it was a very solid performance by our defense. We have to figure out how not to give up a touchdown on the opponent’s first possession, something we’ve done four out of the five weeks. We need to come out swinging and not soft,” the coach said. The Warriors added a new wrinkle to their offensive playbook using some option, something they hadn’t shown before. “We knew we’d be able to throw on them but we needed to run the ball effectively and Cole Scott and our offensive line got the job done,” Beller said. Paving the way for Scott was the blocking of Jordan Vanya, Tanner Winlock, Easton Berglan, Wyatt McCauley and Naithen Spaulding. “Staying balanced was the difference in the game,” Beller said. “I think we caught them off guard with the option game.” Up next for the 5-0 and No. 2 ranked Warriors is CCS at 7 p.m. Friday at Reed Field. It’ll be Little League appreciation night and the 1971 Warrior football team will be honored as well. They were the first high school football team for Washington, Beller reported. The Royals operate out of the spread formation on offense and utilize a 3-4 scheme defensively. “We’ll have to be able to pick up their blitzes because they bring so much pressure,” Beller said the key for a victory. “We’ll have to make sure we are mentally in tune with their alignments and what our roles are.” Beller said following their blocking assignments will be crucial. “We’ll have to be very fundamentally sound and be knowledgeable about our roles. On defense we will have to keep their quarterback in check. He is their spark plug and has a cannon for an arm. He does a great job of getting the ball down field to their receivers,” Beller said. Warrior notes: Washington Head Coach Brad Beller nominated Hayden Milner as the Defensive Lineman of the Week. Milner had six tackles including one for a loss and had one quarterback sack last Friday night. Beller nominated Layne Spaulding as the Defensive Player of the Week for his 15 tackle performance against Bethel. Tanner Winlock was nominated as the Offensive Lineman of the Week, grading out at 87.2 percent. Beller nominated Cole Scott as the Offensive Player of the Week. Scott rushed the ball 24 times for 217 yards and two touchdowns.

Reed Field. The Legacy Behind the Name

Warrior Fans, on Friday, October 8, at Reed Field, please join us for the recognition of the first WHS football team to make it to the state playoffs and help us honor the legacy of Bill Reed.

Coach Reed became the head coach of the Warriors in 1974, after a two-year hiatus from being an assistant coach due to suffering a heart attack. In 1974, he led the Warriors to the first state playoff appearance in school history.

In the late '70s, Washington's football field was respectfully and endearingly named after Coach Reed, who unexpectedly passed away from another heart attack at the young age of 41 years old on December 24, 1975. His motto was, "Don't coach to win; you coach to learn." His legacy still lives today as each team, year after year, runs on the field.

Bill Reed is responsible for developing the football field that now carries his namesake. The field the Warriors play on was once an uneven, rough, and rocky cotton field that stretched all the way to where the Warrior softball field sits today. Many community members brought their tractors to shape the field; dirt and grass were brought from local farms with the players' hay trucks, that were later used to haul concrete blocks to build the first field house.

Coach Reed and his two young sons at the time, Mike and Darwin, plugged the field with sprigs of grass by hand. Reed also had each player line up in one end zone with buckets, and each player was responsible for walking every yard of the field and filling their buckets up with rocks. It has been told that the players were not afraid of the other team tackling them; they were afraid of hitting rocks when tackled, so they did their very best to stay on their feet!

This is the team we will recognize Friday night. Coach Reed and his labor of love was the catalyst that helped make Warrior football what it is today. How fitting that the football field was named Reed Field.

Thank you, Coach Reed, your legacy will be forever appreciated and remembered. Go, Warriors!

Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation

Since COVID-19 became a part of all our daily lives, we have had a lot of changes. We used to have over 200 veterans lined up waiting their turn for assistance, and now we are working most veterans and surviving spouses digitally. We are still able to help most of them receive the VA benefits they are eligible for even when never meeting them personally.

We are continuing to use our evidence-based claims process that has helped so many veterans and their families over the years. There will always be some of them who do not have access to a computer, and for those veterans we will make an appointment for them to come in to our office for assistance.

With our digital system some of our volunteers have found it more convenient to work from home. As we now have volunteers in other states, we will soon be able to increase the number of veterans and surviving spouses who we can accept when we open our portal again.

Over the last 20 plus years that we have been helping veterans and their families the only thing that has stayed the same is the needs of those who have served in our military. There is no comparison to what the VA was 30 years ago to what it has become today.

When we started assisting veterans with their VA claims for benefits it seemed that VA denied almost all the claims we filed. As most of you who we have worked with know we use our own system we call an evidence-based claim. This means that we are going to send in evidence that supports the veterans request for service connection of a disability for an increased rating on a current service-connected disability.

After the VA receives a veterans claim for benefits, they will usually request one of their contracted examiners to evaluate the veteran's disability using a VA Disability Benefits Questionnaire (DBQ) to evaluate. Our system of evidence-based claims uses a similar DBQ that can be used to provide a diagnosis, a nexus, and the severity of the condition.

Some veterans have asked why they must see the VA contract provider even after they provided a DBQ from their medical provider. We send veterans for medical evaluations and opinions that can be used as evidence to support their claim for VA benefits. Without this type of evidence most claims would be denied by VA.

For those of you who would like to be a part of our team volunteer applications are available either online or at our building in Norman at 1268 North Interstate Drive. One of our goals is to help veterans to receive the VA benefits that they are eligible for.

To donate to our Foundation, you can do so online at dalekgrahamveteransfoundation.org or mail a check to Dale K. Graham Veterans Foundation, 1268 N. Interstate Drive, Norman, OK, 73072.

James Kyzer sang “I Don’t Need to Understand” for the morning special.

Brother David used Malachi 1 6-14 for his sermon and said we should be the people whom God uses to make His name great again.

We are to make sure we have a genuine relationship with Jesus Christ before we worship. It’s through Christ that we come to the Father.

We need to make sure our heart is right when we worship. Half-hearted worship to God is evil. We should have a passion for God and bring it to church with us. We are to proclaim the word of God. We know that God can handle all our troubles.

We held our quarterly business meeting at our evening service.

Brother Dennis Clark brought a devotion from John 9:1-3. The blind man from birth in these verses was used by God to manifest His great power. Sometimes we may question what God is doing and why. Our tragedies put us in position for God to manifest His power.

Those in attendance enjoyed snacks and fellowship following the meeting.

This coming Sunday will be Pastor Appreciation Day. Our annual ladies casserole cookoff will be held following morning worship. There will be no evening service.

We at Sunray love and appreciate our pastor David Pickard. We thank God for bringing brother David and his wife, Cheryl, to serve with us at our church.

You are always welcome at Sunray Baptist Church. Please join us for Sunday School and worship at Sunray Baptist Church. We are located at 2223 North 9th Street in Purcell. Our Sunday morning service is streamed live on our facebook page. For additional information call 527-6808.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church

By Stella Bledsoe

The twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time was September 25, 2021. Two of the readings were especially noteworthy. In Numbers 11:25-29, 70 members were given the gift of prophesy. Moses was told of two others who were not present at the time but who had begun to prophesy. “Stop them” was the request. Similarly, in Mark 9:38, Jesus was told that “two not of us” were healing. “Stop them” was the request.

Isn’t human nature funny? Even when others are doing something good like prophesying or healing, we either don’t want them doing that at all or at least not doing it as well as we can. Competition has its place: being the best in sports or academics or whatever can be a good goal. However, each of us has different gifts and there is no need for jealousy to get in the way of fulfilling our greatest talent.

For example, think how bad these things would have been:

Jonas Salk decides to be an opera singer, Billy Graham decides to be a florist, Reba McEntire chooses to be a barrel racer, Mother Teresa becomes a chef, or John Glenn becomes a rancher. All of the alternate occupations would have been worthy endeavors but the gifts of greatest value would have been unknown and lost. What a terrible possibility.

In 1 Corinthians, Chapter 12, we are told: 4 There are different kinds of gifts. But it is the same Holy Spirit Who gives them. 7 The Holy Spirit works in each person in one way or another for the good of all. He gives to each person as He wants to give. 27 You are all a part of the body of Christ.

28 God has chosen different ones in the church to do His work. Some are missionaries, some preachers, some teachers. He has also chosen those who do powerful works and those who heal. And He has chosen those who help others and those who lead others in work. 29 Are they all missionaries, preachers, doers of powerful works, or healers? Certainly not.

This week, let us honor God’s wishes by using the gifts he has given us. Let us be grateful for the gifts given to others and encourage each other. Focusing on His gifts to us will leave no time for jealousy or pettiness.

Our Lady of Victory parish is located at the 307 West Jefferson. The office is open weekday mornings (405-527-3077). Weekend mass services are Saturday, 5 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. (Spanish). Daily masses are Tuesday, 9 a.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon; Thursday, 7 p.m. (Spanish), and Friday, 9 a.m. Peace be with you.

Lexington Westside Church of Christ

A Matter of Life and Death

Good week to all: Welcome to the ‘front porch.’ We enjoyed our weekend of visits and worship with the church in Lexington and taught on “Are you a man of faith?” and “Thirsting for God.” Both studies took us to a good number of biblical forefathers whose life was marked by great devotion and sacrifice. Those themes always remind me of the story you’re about to read.

Preaching today is not as easy as it may look, but I still don’t know of any current-day preachers who have received death threats -- well, except one. My grandfather Preacher Miller who hailed from Georgia but held many revivals in the Washington and Lexington area, received such a threat and was ‘promised’ that it would happen before he stepped down from the pulpit.

Back in the 1950s, he went to preach way up in the hills of Kentucky. Folks in those hills back then were rough, and that’s a severe understatement. But, in Preacher Miller’s way of thinking, that put them in greater need of the gospel; and nobody was better equipped to deliver what somebody needed than this Georgia preacher-man.

Preacher Miller understood that when the Lord sent him to preach that he didn’t say to go preach to a bunch of angels flying around in the sky. No, preacher, you go way down in the valley. You preach to those people down there, people such as you and I.

That old-time preacher always wielded a two-edged sword: On one blade he carried an undying courage, and on the other was a strong conviction in what he believed. Brother Miller had one belief, in particular, that he knew could lead him into trouble. It involved Christians’ involvement in certain worldly organizations that he felt required them to compromise their faith.

Such was likely the case with the church in Pergamos with many of their members way back then being part of various guilds associated with their jobs (Revelation 2:12-17).

Brother Miller believed being involved with certain of these groups would cause a

Our next Food Give Away will be Saturday, October 16, from 12 to 4 p.m. We are still asking people to be cautious, since many have not been vaccinated and are in extra danger of contracting the Delta variant of COVID-19.

As we continue in this time of pandemic guidance, we find that even being vaccinated doesn’t stop us from passing the virus on to the unvaccinated, especially our children under the age of 12. Masks can be provided if you do not have one and wish to wear one. Hand sanitizer is also available.

Remember that these steps will also help us to fight the “regular” flu. Flu season is estimated to begin Oct. 1, 2021 and end March 1, 2022. So please get your regular flu shot in addition to a COVID-19 vaccination.

Let’s look at the question “Is salvation by faith alone, or is it by faith plus works?”

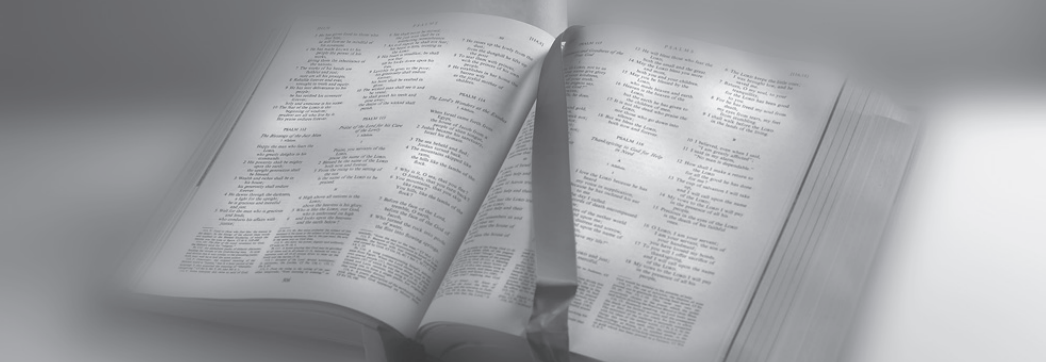

First off: what is salvation by faith? In general, it is preservation or deliverance from harm, ruin, or loss. Theologically, it is deliverance of a person’s soul from sin and its consequences (separation from God, “hell”, true death), believed by Christians to be brought about by faith in Jesus Christ.

Faith is a strong belief that is based on something missing in us spiritually that is not seen or held as opposed to something, or someone, that can be proved by logic.

Salvation is not anything that can be earned. It is a free gift of grace from God. Grace is goodness shown to all of us. We have no reason to expect it nor do we deserve this mercy

Maggie Place struck out six batters in seven innings in the circle.

The Chandler game was similar to the Newkirk game for the offense. They scattered seven hits but were lacking timely hits to score runners.

“They kept us just enough off balance,” Lampkin said.

Place struck out five batters in seven innings and only gave up two hits.
