Eddie Clouse

Editor's note: Answering The Purcell Register's five questions this week is Purcell Banker Eddie Clouse.

Q: How did you get into banking?

A: Always had aspirations of being a banker. I received a degree in Business Administration/Economics from East Central. Went to work in the energy field immediately after college. Worked there for about 1 month, couldn't stand it. Was offered a job in my hometown of Blanchard and accepted it. I took about a $1,000 cut in pay from my oil field job. My first banking job paid $900 a month.

Q: How has the industry changed during your career?

The Tik Tok threat that went viral across the nation about disruptions at schools last Friday brought out a police presence at buildings in Purcell and elsewhere.

Bring a bit of spring color inside

MelindaMvers

The Purcell Register

Pot them up, give them a chill and enjoy spring flowering bulbs indoors or outside on a patio, deck or porch. This is a great way to enjoy any bulbs that didn't make it into the ground this season or take advantage of late season discounts on bulbs.

Larger flowering bulbs like tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and alliums put on quite a display in your home or in a window box or container. Add some smaller bulbs like crocus, squills, and grape hyacinths to the mix for added beauty.

All you need is a container with drainage holes, potting mix, and a few bulbs. Shorter varieties work well or give when displaying indoors.

Cover the bottom of the container with soil. Set several bulbs, pointed side up, on top of the potting mix. Set the tallest bulbs in the center surrounded by shorter varieties when creating a mixed garden.

Place tulips with the flat side of the bulb facing out for a better display. Cover the bulbs and fill the container with Water the freshly planted container thoroughly, then move it to a cool location, about 35 to 45 degrees for at least 12 to 15 weeks. This cold period is needed to initiate flowering in these bulbs.

Eliminate this step by purchasing pre-chilled bulbs. These have received the needed cold treatment and are ready to pot up and grow indoors or outdoors in warmer regions. Once the cold treatment is complete, you can move the forced bulbs to their final location where you can enjoy the spring flowers. Place the container in a cool location with bright indirect light indoors.

The Most Wonderful Time of the Year

I love Christmas.

I love the small-town parades, the lights on poles along Main Street, the houses being decorated, people being decked out in their Christmas apparel, school, church and community the food, and so much more.

Most of all, however, I love the true reason for the season. God loved the world so much that He sent His only Son to our sins. Of course mangers are animal

This is exactly why the only time mangers are mentioned in Jesus' birth story is when it's being told to the shepherds. In Luke 2 it says, "This will

Gifts of hope and freedom

Congressman Tom Cole

The month of December is marked by many holiday traditions celebrated by Americans across different backgrounds and faiths.

During this Christmas and throughout this wonderful season, I am reflecting not only on the miracle and joy of the Savior's birth thousands of years ago but on the blessed gifts of hope and freedom we share as Americans.

At this time of year, I am often reminded of the fight of a new nation to defend its independence and secure freedoms for its people nearly 250 years ago – a struggle that was ultimately won for the United States by God's grace.

In fact, it was on Christmas of 1776 that General George

Washington led the Continental

Battle of Trenton that altered the course of the Revolutionary War and boosted American morale when it was needed most. This served as a critical reminder to our forefathers that independence was not an empty cause or out of reach. Indeed, freedom is a God-given gift to every American and one that must never be taken for granted. It is a precious treasure that has inspired millions to volunteer for military service and risk their lives to defend liberty over the course of history. Our service members and their families truly know the meaning of sacrifice, especially during the holidays while many are stationed abroad away from their loved ones. Every American should appreciate the gifts of peace and

Army to a critical victory in the security bestowed on us all because of their willing and selfless service. This holiday season, I am also thinking of the selfless gift of those serving on the front lines of any emergencies at home including our dedicated first responders, healthcare heroes and law enforcement officers.

And as we near two years since the COVID-19 pandemic began, I remain grateful for the numerous others who rose up to care for us all - including farmers, ranchers, truck drivers, grocery store workers and energy producers.

As you celebrate this joyous holiday season, I hope you will join me in reflecting on these precious gifts. May God continue to bless our great country – unsurpassed in freedom, opportunity and security for its citizens.

Christmas 2021

As I have considered how I wanted to end this year, I knew I wanted to try to bring a message of hope and unity. We are truly living in dark days, where it seems we have lost any pretense of civility towards anyone who thinks differently than ourselves. There have always been political differences, but in most cases, we have found ways to accept these differences, at least enough to co-exist.

Currently, however, it seems that we do not even attempt tolerance, but instead instantly go to hate. Unfortunately, it is our political leaders modeling this behavior for us. Instead of standing above the fray and trying to unify this great nation, they are complicit in the hate for political gain. One thing that has taken a hit from this political feud is our history, as we are battling about what should and should not be taught.

The historical episode that has become the largest casualty is the Civil War. However, as it is Christmas, I want to look at a particular Christmas and maybe we can learn a lesson and give us something to hope for.

The Civil War brought some of the darkest days to our great nation as it split in two over one of its founding documents. 700,000 men gave their lives to determine what The Declaration meant by, "All men are created equal." By the time this conflict was over, no family was untouched by this war. Everyone had lost someone or something important to them.

A fourth of the population were buried in graveyards from na-

Gift ideas for Christmas

By Dr. Glenn Mollette

This Christmas give somebody the gift of mercy and forgiveness. Be broad with your giving and generous. We all need a lot of both.

For such a joyful holiday of cheer, giving and yuletide merriment there is much to be stressed about.

Typically, people have been of us have. stressed about all the holiday parties, gatherings and Christmas scheduling.

This year there is more stress related to sickness, masks, vaccinations, Omicron, natural disasters, filled hospitals, massive numbers of funerals and inflation. The last couple of Christmases have not been life as usual for most of us.

You may have watched Chevy Chase in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation. He becomes over the top stressed out when his Christmas lights won't work and he literally streak across his yard.

It's a funny scene. Mostly because in some way we've all been there a time or two.

Most of us enjoy giving if we can. We enjoy giving to the people we love. Christmas trees, decorating, eating and gatherings are all a part of the taught people that we should season.

Many people are in the nursing home and will never go to the mall again. Some have a terminal disease and this may be their last Christmas.

Depression will weigh heavy on many who have lost their homes, buried loved ones or experienced financial devastation from medical care or natural disasters. Most of these people would love to have a house to decorate or gifts to buy for a loved one.

Celebrate Christmas this year. Give away some special gifts. Give gifts that money kicks, stomps and curses a blue can't buy or time cannot fade.

Give love, give forgiveness and give some mercy. Extend these generously to yourself. If you can't give them to yourself it's impossible to give them to

We don't get our groove back and miss out on some of Christmas' most wonderful characteristics- mercy and forgiveness.

The Christmas story is about a child who came to show us the way. He showed us how to love, forgive and be merciful.

Some of the people in your life probably need it more than you know. Give generously and start with yourself.

Many in the North held a grudge. They were forced from their farms and factories to hold the nation together because the South decided it could not live under Republican rule. They feared how a Republican president might harm their way of life and the nation. For many of you today, this might not seem as much of a stretch as thousands of demonstrators marched in the streets shouting "Not my president" or stormed the Capitol to stop the last election.

In 1860, Southerners selfishly believed the Republicans would harm their particular institution, their practice of slavery that they had built their economy on. To Northerners, Southerners had turned their back on the nation and the Constitution and had committed treason, a crime punishable by death.

After four years of fighting, these Northerners, rightfully so, wanted to seek a measure of retribution for their own pain and suffering. The difference between their dark days and ours might be in leadership.

Whenever you discuss positive presidential leadership, you almost always start with Lincoln. In the midst of heartbreak and pain for the thousands of lives lost, Lincoln took on the attitude of reconciliation.

In his Second Inaugural Address, Lincoln closed with, "With malice toward none, with tional cemeteries to unmarked the right as God gives us to see ditches across the South. At the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in to bind up the nation's wounds."

Lincoln understood that even the bitterest of enemies could and needed to come together to strengthen the nation and just as much to heal their own personal wounds. Yet for the purpose of this story, it is not just Lincoln I want to discuss, but the man who would replace him.

More than 2,000 years ago, the Bible reports that angels appeared to the shepherds announcing the birth of the Christ child. In their proclamation, they declared, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." The problem has been, in the years since, the world has seen very little peace and today it seems like there is nothing but hate. I have spent the past few years trying to bring historical examples of peace through Christmas, the World War I Christmas truce, or Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," that dealt with the death of his son in the tragic Civil War. One more time I want to share an example of peace and unity.

Political leadership does not come to mind when we consider President Andrew Johnson. After all, he was the first President impeached. Yet, he chose Christmas Day 1868 and the spirit of that day to issue his Christmas Day Declaration pardoning all Confederate Troops.

He wrote, that "a universal amnesty and pardon for participation in said rebellion extended to all who have borne any part therein will tend to secure permanent peace, order, and prosperity throughout the land, and to renew and fully restore confidence and fraternal feeling among the whole people, and their respect for and attachment to the National Government, decharity for all, with firmness in signed by its patriotic founders for the general good."

Johnson was an interesting president and had as much of a reason to hate Southerners as anyone else. He was a Southern slaveholder but grew up a poor kid from the mountains of east Tennessee. He hated the elitism of the planter class and completely disagreed with secession. He was the only senator from the South to retain his seat but, being from a Confederate state, he was never able to return home during the War.

Also, during the fighting the Southern leaders labeled him a traitor, destroyed his property, and drove his wife and kids from the state. He despised what the South had done to him and his nation. In today's world, he probably would have sought retribution. Instead, he followed the example of his predecessor and decided that on Christmas day he would do what was best for the nation and not for himself.

This Christmas may we strive to follow their example. May we try a little bit harder to find the good in those who we may not agree with. When it comes to history, if those who lived through the War could forgive, we should be able to do the same 150 years later.

As Lincoln said, "We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory will swell when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

From the Historically Speaking family, I want to wish you all a very merry Christmas.

National Bank for the $3,500 donation. It will go a long way in helping with our ongoing renovations of our new facility. That money will get much needed electrical work done.

I will have the monthly report next week for last November. I am running a bit behind these days.

I appreciate all the volunteers who make it all possible and especially big appreciation to the Town of Dibble Council for supporting us all the years and especially the previous mayor, Rama Christian, for having the vision to see what was needed 20 years ago for Dibble. Thanks to all. Also big thanks to Mc-Clain County Commissioner Wilson Lyle for providing gravel and overhauling of our driveway this last week.

My cousin Oscar has been having medical issues the last few months. He said his head was stopped up all the time and he couldn't hear anything. He went to an ear, nose and throat specialist and got it all fixed. First they flushed out his sinuses with hot water and cleaned out his nose. He lost 2 pounds during this procedure but now he can breathe! Then the doctor dug down in his ears and pulled out two dead bugs and 1-1/2 pounds of ear wax and now he can hear just fine. He ain't right!

All for now... E.C./G.G.T.W.

Birth of Christ

Throughout the entire expanse of eternity There existed, exists, and will continue to Exist one event that redefined life as it Moves and inhabits an endless universe

This event consumes all time and space,

And yet was and is so personal that it pierces The mind, heart, and soul of every person

So blessed to be created by the One and Only Living God This event, the birth of the Son of God,

The Messiah, the Christ Child, is only overshadowed By the existence of the Glory of God Himself, Words, emotion, or descriptions cannot define The eternal impact of this occurrence that happened upon our Created home called Earth.

We say happened but for some reason this event Seemingly is always alive and each reborn person On individual pilgrimages returns again and again To the birthplace.

Maybe we are not the Magi, but we travel, And we follow the star that illuminates our hearts And beckons our spirits to be united to the warmth, Essence, meaning, and eternal impact of this event. We do not bring gold, frankincense, or myrrh, But instead bring and present our minds, bodies, and Souls as a living sacrement of service and obedience;

Like the shepherds we celebrate in the joy of the Moment and are overwhelmed by the presence of angelic

Because we are the blessed ones.

Our mission is not to remain,

But to leave, travel, live, and spread the good news; Spread the good news that all mankind has a Savior.

We must enjoy our lives as given, for they are blessed by The ever-presence of our Father.

We must remain in a

Obedience and thanks to our Living Father who on This special occasion allowed each of us to hold

Obituaries

Floyd Milton Pugh

Graveside services for Floyd Milton Pugh, 81, were held Monday, December 20, 2021 at Hillside Cemetery in Purcell. Services were under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral Home in Purcell.

Floyd Milton Pugh was a lifelong learner who, in his retirement, often greeted the newspaper carrier at the curb to get his hands on the latest edition of The Washington Post or the Wall Street Journal. The front page, politics, health and business sections were devoured first. But his favorite section was the obituaries — especially those of ordinary people with extraordinary stories. Well, Milt, with sadness and joy for a life well-lived, we hope you enjoy your place on this page! Milt was born November 6, 1940 and died in Oklahoma City from complications from a stroke on December 17, 2021. He was the son of Milton Reed Pugh and Anna Louise Jacobs and was a big brother to his sister, Jo Frances Beauchamp. He grew up in Purcell, played sports, and attended Boy's State.

He worked part-time as a janitor at the telephone company, joined the school marching band and was selected Outstanding Senior Boy at Purcell High School. While in high school he met Shirley Lack, of Norman, and they married on August 29, 1959. They defied the norms of their generation by both graduating from Central State College and waited six years to start a family. First came Chris (Karla Gutierrez-Pugh), then Stephanie (Andy Lattig) and later Beth (Will Madland).

Milt's interest in science led to a 40-year career in pharmaceutical and surgical equipment sales with Abbott Laboratories. He moved his family to Illinois and later to the Washington D.C. area for his career.

Milt had a quirky outlook on life. Upon retirement he calculated all the unpaid over-time he did at work. With his work ethic, it was a lot! He often spoke of his plan to live until 92 to get that money back in his monthly pension checks. We bet his only regret was that he was 11 years shy of reaching that goal. Perhaps another regret was raising three children who later became Democrats. Yes, healthy political debates were encouraged in the Pugh family.

Milt looked forward to retirement, and here is where his story picks up speed. His very young boss, weary of Milt's threats of retirement, suggested he use up some vacation time. Milt took his newly purchased Honda Gold Wing motorcycle and drove the speed limit from Maryland to Oregon where he promptly put the bike up for sale. Soon he discovered Pilates. He began taking some classes and then decided to become a Pilates instructor in his late sixties. He often drove up to New York City to work with an instructor who was a student of Joseph Pilates.

Ten years ago, he and Shirley moved back to Oklahoma to be closer to his sister. Milt took loving care of Shirley in her advanced stages of Alzheimer's disease. He even taught chair Pilates classes to the memory care residents where Shirley stayed.

Milt and Shirley enjoyed 56 years of marriage together. When we called home to wish our parents a happy anniversary, we would always hear dad teasing in the background: "I'm not renewing this contract!" When Shirley died in 2016, we worried about Milt being lonely. Milt was reintroduced to the game of Duplicate Bridge and the points he acquired in the 1970's still counted. He went on to become a Life Master in Bridge, meeting new friends at the Fun & Games Duplicate Bridge Club in Oklahoma City. Milt loved investing, Costco and wearing colorful socks.

Milt is survived by his sister; three children; three grandchildren, Seaman Bradley Davis, Coleman and Ella Madland, as well as many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his wife; parents and stepfather, Dean Jacobs.

In lieu of flowers the family asks for you to think of Milt, who never stopped learning. Let's give each other permission to try something new.

Eddie W. Sullivan

Funeral services for Eddie W. Sullivan, 74, of Goldsby were held Wednesday, December 22, 2021 at the Wilson-Little Funeral Home Chapel. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery in Purcell under the direction of the Wilson-Little Funeral three children born to Ted and June (Barnett) Sullivan. He was raised in Maysville and attended school there, graduating with the Warrior Class of 1966. By chance, he met a young lady named Theresa Tippit. They met at Don's Dairy Mart in Purcell, on a night that would change their lives forever. On March 11, 1967 in Purcell, Okla., Eddie and Theresa were married. They traveled the country for his military career, and by 1980 had settled in Goldsby. Together they raised three daughters, Becky, Sherry, and Mindy, or as

He transferred to the Oklahoma Air National Guard, where he was proud to continue serving his country, and for years he simultaneously worked as a Police Officer in Oklahoma City, as a motorcycle officer. Eddie was a true patriot, and retired as LT Col from the 185th ACS, after more than three decades of service.

Take a proactive approach to wildfire season

- Check with the insurance conditions," said John Weir, company for details of current wildfire coverage. Make sure the policy is up to date and determine if the plan needs to be enhanced.

Flames can consume Oklahoma's flat grasslands as fast as the fires that burn in states along the western seaboard, but Weir said fires out west are fought with different strategies. Blazes in California, for excurrently at risk of succumbing ample, are fueled by vegetation containing flammable oils and "Urban landowners who live compounds, and the topography on the edge of Oklahoma City, also poses more of a challenge

"The landscape is steeper, alheavy fuels growing right up lowing fire to move rapidly up a slope," Weir said. "The heat Weir advised residents should rises and preheats everything, causing intense emissions at a quicker rate."

As fire climbs the terrain of the western U.S., destructive landowners living in remote flames threaten remote areas where it is difficult for emergency support to travel and "The elevation here ranges ing precautions as discussed on from 4,000 feet to 9,000 feet, so topography plays a huge part in how the fire moves," said Brett Roberts, a city of Tulsa firefighter. He often accompanies a hand crew or will hike into an area with a hotshot crew. After teaming up with firefighters from across the U.S., he's learned wildfires in his home state have a national reputation.

"I've worked with guys from Florida to New Jersey to New York, and they talk about Oklahoma fire," Roberts said. "Oklahoma is wide open. The fires are driven by wind, and there's nothing to stop it."

Half of Oklahoma's 45 million acres are flammable areas of forests, rangelands, prairies and pastures, Weir said. Although 1 to 2 million acres are ignited every year for prescribed burns, some regions of the state are more active than others

Additional controlled burns, which are those conducted on a particular piece of land with specific goals and objectives during ideal conditions, are encouraged.

"The more prescribed fire we put on the ground, the less bad fire we'll have," Weir said. "Landowners understand the risk of fire, and many try to reduce cedar encroachment. If we could see a third of the burnable area of the state burned every year through prescribed fire, that would be beneficial for the state."

A raging blaze, controlled or wild, is a scary thought, but the more Oklahomans are proactive with their property, the more apt they are to avoid a devastating fire event. Scorched earth is adaptive and will recover, but a human life is priceless.

"The further we get behind in prescribed fire, the more biofuels will build up and make wildfires more extreme, putting human life and property at risk,' Weir said.

Pack named Outstanding Wrestler

Izzy Pack was named the Outstanding Wrestler in the Lexington 89er City Showdown wrestling tournament December 10 and 11.

"The Bulldogs and the Lady Bulldogs had a good showing," confirmed head coach Jared Garrett.

On the girls' side, Izzy Pack at 165 pounds and Cilee Turner at 185 finished as tournament champions. Elexa Collins finished as a runner-up and Hope Wise 152 finished fourth. The girls' team finished third as a team and Izzy Pack brought home the Outstanding Wrestler award for girls' upper weights.

"They all did a great job and wrestled well," Garrett said.

For the boys Jesse Stockdale placed fourth at 113 pounds, Cian Kimerling at 120, Cash Sessions at 145 and Brady Rillema at 182 all finished as runners-up.

This past weekend the Bulldogs traveled to Weatherford for the Max Dippel Invitational. Freshman Tristan Buchanan 132 finally got his chance > for mat time. He finished the tournament with a second place after losing a close match to a 5A state placer.

Brady Rillema at 182, wrestled a great tournament. Rillema finished sixth place after injuring defaulting his last two matches.

"He's working hard and trying his best. But there are still affects he has to battle from an injury last spring. Other than that I believe he would have won that tournament," Garrett said.

The Bulldogs will travel to Sulphur January 6 for a dual at 6 p.m.

"The resiliency of this team this semester has been incredible. I could not be more proud of them and their competitive spirit," Raper said.

"We've battled through a number of adversities that could have easily wrecked any team. With great leadership and sacrifice they have pushed through to a great start. In our two losses we were right there and with just a few bounces going our way we have a great chance at winning those games.

...And then there's my favorite column we share around Christmas...

It was more than 20 years ago when we first told the story we are about to share together. Sometimes our favorite stories are the simplest, aren't they! They're the ones that run out to meet you in the front yard. Those heart-warming types of stories seem to live the longest, as it is with today's story about a little lady on the side of the road...

The idea for this Christmas story comes, I suppose, from an appropriate place: from a homeless lady standing on the side of the road at a red light with a sign,

"Please help. Trying to get home for Christmas."

Seeing that lady, many days shy of 30 years, with teeth unkept and clothes shabby, standing there during the Christmas season begging, brought a lump to my throat. I couldn't help it.

I know. She may make more money in a day than we make in a week. I know. She may use the money to buy drugs or alcohol. But I couldn't think about those things as I rolled down my window and handed her a little money, and asked: "Where's home?"

"Oklahoma," she said, kindly, "I want to go to Oklahoma for Christmas to see my two kids.'

"I hope you make it," I said, "I really hope you do."

The light turned green, and she said "God bless you," and my daughter Rachel and I pressed on about our holiday business, buying gifts, hustling and bustling along with the rest of the world.

After a moment, I looked over at my daughter Rachel, and I could tell that she was still processing that little thirty-second

"Idon't know whether that girl was really in need or not," I said, "but whatever brings a person to stand on the corner of a street to beg for money is sad." Especially during the holidays. I've carried that little memory with me during this week as I've spent time with my own family. And I thought of all the things I hope to do this week during this holiday season.

Ah, the list is long: Drink a cup of hot chocolate with marshmallows. Roast marshmallows in the fireplace. Open presents in front of the fire and watch faces glow.

Watch "It's a Wonderful Life" and "Home Alone" one more time. Eat fudge and chocolate covered cherries and pretzels dipped in white chocolate.

Play cards around the kitchen table. (Not Uno, I always lose at Uno!)

Sleep late and wake to the sound of cartoons and the smell of breakfast cooking.

Watch football.

Go for a walk together in the crisp wintry air.

Jump in the car with family and drive around ooo-ing and ahhh-ing at all the lights and decorations.

Drink spicy hot apple cider. Call my grandma and wish her a happy 89th Christmas.

Listen to my favorite Christmas song: "Away in a manger, no crib for a bed. The little Lord Jesus laid down his sweet head. The stars in the sky looked down where he lay. The little Lord Jesus asleep in the hay..."

And then listen to our second favorite: "Silver Bells. Silver Bells. It's Christmas time in the city. Ding-a-ling. Hear them ring. Soon it will be Christmas Day...'

Walk around the house, lighting the mood singing "Dashing through the snow, in a one horse open sleigh. O'er the fields we gooo, dashing all the waaaay" – until my kids say, "Dad, please stop singin' that song!"

Be nice and accommodate my kids' request to "Please stop singing that song!" choosing instead: "Rudolph the red nose reindeer. Had a very shiny nose. And if you ever saw it, you would even say it glows ...'

Then change songs, and the mood, again, this time for my

How long does it seem since last Christmas? For me, it seems just a short time ago. For my youngest grandchild, it seems like there have been 365 days this month! It is all about perception.

Have you ever had occasion to watch a kindergarten or first grade teacher? At least part of the time, that teacher is on the same level as the children. Whether kneeling, squatting, or sitting on the floor, the teacher is on eye level with the students. Teachers don't do this just to be nice. Their connection with the students is strengthened by stooping to the child's level.

God, our Father, sent many different ambassadors to the people.Moses,Noah,Abraham, Merry Christmas. The great- Isaac, Jacob, Jonah, and many est gift any of us will ever receive others tried to lead the people to God. Some were successful, but the people always drifted back and forth in their commitment to God.

> If you are a parent, you know how frustrating your children can be. "If I told you once, I've told you a thousand times blah, blah, blah." "If you know what's good for you, do what I tell you." "If you live in my house, you follow my rules." Every one of those things that we say to our children, God could say to us. (Maybe that is why he has white hair!)

Just like teachers of young ones get down on their level, God got down on our level by sending Jesus. Since God could do anything, he could have sent Jesus as an adult. Instead, he sent him as an infant just like all of us arrived.

Jesus was like us in all ways except sin. Because he got down on our level, it is easier to feel his loving connection. That precious little baby boy. For today, let us adore that baby. We know trials he faced later but fortoday, just embrace that little boy with all your heart.

Due to a mistake on my part, I missed submission of the description about the celebration of the Fourth Sunday of Advent last weekend. I will talk about it, even though it is in the past, as we continue our anticipation of "the coming" with lighting the fourth purple candle which reminds us about God's Love.

There are a few different readings associated with the fourth Sunday: 2 Samuel 7:1-11, 16: Luke 1:47-55: Romans 16:25-27; Luke 1:26-38. You may want to read them as part of your preparation for Christmas.

From Psalms 89:1b-2 "With my mouth I will proclaim your faithfulness to all generations. I declare that your steadfast love is established forever; your faithfulness is as firm as the heavens."

Based on Matthew 1:18-25 God is with us! When Mary was engaged to Joseph, she was found to be with child from the Holy Spirit. An angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Do not be afraid to take Mary as your wife, for the child conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit. She will bear a son and you are to name him Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins."

All this took place to fulfill what the Lord had spoken through the prophet: "Look, the virgin shall conceive; and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel, which means God is with us."

We re-lit the first purple candle to remind us to keep awake and be ready. The second purple candle reminds us to change our ways and walk in faith. We re-lit the pink Advent candle to remind us of the good news that the blind can see and the

The light glowing from our Advent wreath is now burning brighter with its four candles. Its radiance warms our hearts and fills us with joy! The Lord has done many great things for

Once God's plan was a mystery, hidden from our sight. Now God has disclosed what was kept secret for so very long; he has brought it out in the light. In the brighter light on this fourth Sunday in Advent, may we see more clearly the glory of God in Christ and sing of the steadfast love of the Lord forever. On Christmas we will light the white candle that celebrates the birth of the Christ Child. The glow of the wreath with all of its candles lit imitates the light of the Christmas Star.

Dear God, we carry many burdens and worry over many things. Help us to hear your promise in this Advent season, that in hearing, we may receive the Spirit's gifts of joy, faith, love, and peace. Let us see your kindness, and grant us salvation by your grace. Remind us of your great faithfulness, leading us to this season of anticipation and celebrations.

May the glorious light of your steadfast love shine brightly in us and through us, that all may give you praise and glory. Remind us to pray without ceasing. Help us to stay awake and be ready for your coming. And in all circumstances, let us give thanks and rejoice! In the Savior's name we pray. Amen.

We invite all of you to worship with us at 9:30 a.m. to see how we're different from other churches. Sunday School starts at 11 a.m. Our address is 631 East Ash, just west of Lexington High School. For more information, please call the church at (405) 527-3506 to leave a message, or contact Pastor David Cook directly at (405) 406-6174.

As many of you know, we will be moving to our new location in Norman at 1233 West Main in January. We held our volunteer Christmas party there Friday afternoon which was a great success with plenty of food and great entertainment. All of us agree that this is a good move for our organization as it will have over one hundred workstations for volunteers. We will have a computer lab for veterans to use to fill out their intake forms and scanners to upload their military records. We will also have over 120 parking spots for veterans and volunteers to use.

As we continue to provide more services, we will add volunteers to help process veterans and surviving spouse claims. Much of our training is done now using ZOOM technology on our computers for training and meetings. This means that our remote volunteers can receive the same training and updates even though they live in different cities or states.

One of the main reasons this organization is more successful than others helping veterans to be approved for benefits is because we encourage almost all veterans to obtain evidence before filing a claim for VA benefits. We try to use the VA Disability Benefits Questionnaires filled out by a medical provider whenever possible.

Recently, we added a provider in the Dallas, Texas, area who will be able to evaluate musculoskeletal and mental conditions. This should save the veterans in that area some travel time. We will continue to process most claims digitally, while continuing to schedule some in-person appointments at our location in Norman.

Also known as the winter blues or seasonal depression, the temporary condition causes people to feel tired and sluggish, lonely or sad. They may sleep poorly, have mood swings, overeat or avoid social activities.

Studies have shown those who live farther from the equator are more impacted by seasonal depression.

Oklahoma is known for its mild weather, but in the winter, that can help those feeling low. Most winter storms are shortlived, and 70-degree-days in January can be an uplifting preview of spring.

"We all cope with it in different ways, but it's not a lifelong condition," Morse said. "Talking about seasonal affective disorder is a good way to discuss how we're all doing this time of year and normalize conversations about mental health.'
