Martinez Body Shop rebuilds after fire

By Chris Howell
chrish@sedaliademocrat.com

After a devastating overnight fire March 9, 2021, the Martinez Auto Body Shop at 101 W. Washington Ave. lay a distorted pile of smoldering ruins. Leobardo Martinez and Gabriella Galban were left with no livelihood, no insurance compensation, and responsibility for not only the clean-up but for the cars that were destroyed in the blaze.

"People would drive by and see us basically clean up the property," said Galban through interpreter Omar Paz, "but what we were doing was trying to scrap everything we could get metal-wise to be able to sell and come up with extra funds."

Working seven days a week since the fire, the Martinez family was able to remove the destruction and barely four months later a partially-finished shop sits on the site.

"We feel blessed to be able to have another chance to rebuild," said Galban. "It's been hard. But we've been trying our hardest to make sure everything is done right. To have a proper place again. It's hard and it's been painful to watch but it's united the family, so it's kind of been a blessing in that sense."

The Martinez's were able to secure a loan and received some donations for which they are very grateful. They say another big help was a friend who loaned them a Bobcat and other equipment so they could clean up the property instead of hiring somebody else, which they say is very expensive. Volunteers helped scrap the twisted metal building, sift through ashes for tools, keys, and anything salvageable and clean up the property after the fire.

"It was hard money-wise," said Martinez. "Part of what we did to be able to keep moving forward was we had a rental property we were able to sell. It wasn't just a hardship of building a new facility, we also sold that rental property to be able to fix the cars the customers had left and that were burned in the original building. That was another thing we had to come up with was money to be able to fix the cars that were destroyed so we could give them back to their customers in the best shape."

Martinez said he believes in one or two months they'll be able to start working again and is very excited although he knows the hard work will continue once the new shop opens. The new shop will also have features the old shop did not

Youthful photographer receives several awards

GREEN RIDGE — Capturing rural Pettis County life and nature through the lens of her cell phone camera is bringing awards for a local young woman.

Maggie Reed, 12, of Green Ridge, began photography by taking photos for the Junior National Hereford Expo Photo Contest last year. Since October, she has received several photography awards for her work. Maggie is the daughter of Craig and Natalie Reed and has two sisters, Mallory, 14, and Macy, 16. Together the family shows cattle several times a year and will participate in the Pettis County Junior Livestock Show this Sunday and Monday and the Missouri State Fair.

Maggie's mother said once she began taking photos for the Hereford Expo contest, her daughter began looking for other contests to enter. She recently learned she had received two awards from the 2021 Focus on Missouri Ag Photo Contest. She received a runner-up award for a sunset photo with cattle, "Standing Watch," and an honorable mention for "Enjoying the Warm Sun," a photo of her dog Milo.

Maggie said this week at the farm that she thinks photography is interesting.

"If I go out in the pasture to take pictures, later in a couple of years I can say, 'I remember when I took that when I was younger,'" she noted. "When we are at shows, they take pictures of you showing your animal and I think it's so cool.

"Because they do a lot of different and cool angles," she continued. "So, I just think that's interesting."

One of her rural landscape photos received first place, for her age division, in the 2021 Missouri Cattlemen's Association Photography Contest. The photo will be on display at the Missouri State Fair Beef Office during the fair.

Her interest in photography also stemmed from COVID protocols moving the Junior National show from a distant location to Kansas City.

"So, we went to that and I just took pictures," she noted.

Minnesota friends ride Katy Trail during cross-country trip

By Skye Melcher
news@sedaliademocrat.com

On Thursday afternoon, two bike riders from Minneapolis, Minnesota, stopped at Pro-Velo Cycle Sport in downtown Sedalia to get one of their bikes looked at.

Trevor Born, 32, and Carter Haaland, 30, are making a cross-country journey from Los Angeles to New York City. They started their journey 27 days ago on Friday, June 18 and will hopefully be in New York City by Aug. 3.

"We're riding from Los Angeles to New York so we're a little over halfway. We are just people who have been biking for a long time," Born said.

Born said Haaland came up with the idea for them to make the cross-country journey together after feeling restless after COVID.

"This was sort of the logical conclusion, this is an adventure we've had on our list for a long time and so this was just kind of the time to do it," Born added.

Born and Haaland then spent around two months making plans and deciding which specific trails they were going to use to make the trip.

"There are few established ways to get across the country on a bike and I think the most common one is called the Trans-America Trail, which cuts across southern Missouri," Born said.

As many schools prepare for the upcoming school year, Sacred Heart School will begin the year with a new assistant principal.

Jose Maria Gonzalez

duties as assistant principal, Register added Gonzalez will be teaching two hours of mathematics.

According to Gonzalez, he and his family previously lived in the Des Moines suburbs after first immigrating from Chile. He was first involved in education when he was a double major in Philosophy and Civil Engineering in Chile, working as a teacher's aide.

"I was also enrolled in extra-curricular activities to help to educate impoverished communities in Santiago, Chile," Gonzalez said via email. "We would teach math, physics, language arts, and science to the students, as well as essential household skills to parents. I did that for more than six years."

Missouri unemployment increases from May to June

By Warrensburg Star-Journal Staff

According to the Missouri Economic Research and Information Center's (MERIC) June 2021 Monthly Jobs Report, the Missouri labor market saw an increase of 130,000 jobs over the past year, but the state's unemployment rate saw a slight increase from May 2021 to June 2021.

MERIC states that with the initial wave of COVID-19-related layoffs now more than a year in the past, the six-figure over-the-year job losses that had characterized the Missouri labor market for the last nine months of 2020 and the first three months of 2021 were replaced with an increase of more than 130,000 jobs from June 2020 to June 2021.

MERIC states Missouri non-farm payroll employment increased from May 2021 to June 2021, but the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate also increased by a tenth of a percentage point.

MERIC states employment, seasonally adjusted, increased by 4,200 jobs over the month, with job gains in both goods-producing and service-providing industries. The state's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 4.3% in June 2021, up from 4.2% in May 2021. MERIC states short-term shortages of semiconductor chips may hold down employment in manufacturing in the next few months.

MERIC states Missouri's smoothed seasonally adjusted unemployment rate increased by a tenth of a percentage point in June 2021, rising to 4.3% from the May 2021 rate of 4.2%. With the start of the COVID-19 pandemic now more than a year in the past, the June 2021 rate was 3.8 percentage points lower than the June 2020 rate.

The rate had reached a low of 3.1% starting in July 2018, before gradually edging up to 3.5% by the end of 2019, and then to 3.7% in March 2020. The COVID-19 effect hit in April 2020, spiking the rate to 12.5% for that month. The rate decreased monthly for the rest of 2020, reaching 4.4% in December, and continued gradually downward through the first four months of 2021.

MERIC states the increase of two-tenths of a percentage point over the last two months appears to be related to a temporary shortage in the supply of semiconductor chips, which caused production slowdowns in some manufacturing industries.

MERIC states that due to benchmark revisions, Missouri's unemployment rate rose a tenth of a percentage point higher than the national rate in January and February of 2020, but has been below the national rate for every month since February 2020. The national unemployment rate increased from 5.8% in May 2021 to 5.9% in June 2021. The estimated number of unemployed Missourians was 133,380 in June 2021, up by 4,343 from May's 129,037.

MERIC states that the state's not-seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate also increased in June 2021, rising by four-tenths of a percentage point to 5.1% from the May 2021 not-seasonally-adjusted rate of 4.7%. The shortage of semiconductor chips was a factor in the increase. The corresponding not-seasonally-adjusted national rate for June 2021 was 6.1%.

A year ago, the state's seasonally adjusted rate was 8.1%, and the not-adjusted rate was also 8.1%.

PASTOR'S PULPIT

Facing your giants

By Pastor Dr. Don Satterwhite
Calvary Baptist Sedalia

The story of David and Goliath tells about three men and their relationships with God: Saul, David and Goliath.

Israel had decided they wanted a king and so God granted their request even though it wasn't good for them. According to I Samuel chapters 13, 14 and 15, King Saul, who began in humility, became rebellious and proud. It was at this time that God chose another man who was really just a lad to be the next king. The Prophet Samuel was used by God to anoint the one who would become King of Israel even though he was the smallest among his brothers. "The LORD said unto Samuel, look not on his countenance or on the height of his stature…for the LORD sees not as man sees; for man looks on the outward appearance, but the LORD looks on the heart."

The soldiers in the army of Israel were afraid of the giant, Goliath of Gath. He had been taunting the troops for days asking if anyone would be willing to fight him. They were shaking in their boots. It's no wonder because Goliath was 9-foot, 6-inches tall and weighed more than 400 pounds. He appeared to be unbeatable. Then the shepherd boy who had come to bring provisions to his brothers heard the giant mocking the army of Israel. He said to the troops, "why are you allowing this uncircumcised Philistine to mock the armies of the Lord our God?" David's older brother, Eliab asked David, "why are you here and who did you leave the sheep with?" David replied, "What have I done now? Is there not a cause?" David was in essence saying, "I have something to live for that is worth dying for."

You know, as Paul Harvey used to say, "the rest of the story." David defeated the giant Goliath with five smooth stones from the brook Elah. He said to the giant, "This day the Lord God will hand you over to me, I'll strike you down and cut off your head, the whole earth will know that there is a God in Israel."

David went on to be the King of Israel even though King Saul tried to kill him. God protected David and the Shepherd boy ultimately sat on the throne of Israel. God basically took the least of these and made him a champion and warrior who won many victories for the Lord.

If you think about it, David wasn't anybody special. He was just someone who believed in the Lord God of Israel and sought to follow God's precepts. God is still looking for ordinary people who will simply be faithful to Him. I Corinthians 4:2 says, "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful." He didn't say He was looking for the rich and famous or the talented and popular. He said he was looking for those who would be faithful. God just wants people who will say yes Lord, what is it you want me to do?

The following story was adapted from a missionary friend of mine, Mike Sullivan of Ethnos 360.

Fred & Frieda Somebody, Thomas and Tara Everybody, Peter and Pam Anybody and John and Sue Nobody were neighbors in Barrensville, Mixupedy. They were active in their community and went to the same church. The Everybody's were able to do the things that he wanted because he had saved up plenty of resources for retirement. The Anybodies spent time watching movies and sports on TV for many hours each week. The Nobodies didn't suggest that Anybody and Everybody should get more involved working in their church as they thought Somebody was already doing it.

Everybody thought Somebody was volunteering to serve in various ministries in the church but the reality was that Nobody was volunteering to do the work and tell others about Jesus. Soon each of these families realized that Nobody was telling Anybody about Jesus and that Everybody needed Somebody to share with them the gospel of the grace of God that Jesus Christ died on the cross and rose again so that Everybody could be a Somebody in Christ.

God is looking for nobodies who will go and tell Anybody about Somebody who died for Anybody. Will you be that Somebody? Share the good news today and invite somebody to join you in worship at your church this Sunday.

"Yes, it'll be 100 times better, and better for the workers," said Martinez. "In the old facility the lack of AC and heat were very hard on the workers. Now to have this new building with the proper equipment and AC and heat, it'll actually be better for the employees as well, so we're grateful for everything that has happened."

Martinez and Galban give God credit for seeing their family through the fire to a place of rebuilding and faith in the future.

"The main thing we would say would be to keep faith and to keep moving forward and overall, just keep faith in God," Galban said. "We've seen His help because He provided help from other people in the community. Our faith also kept our family united and strong. So, don't give up but keep your faith and you can overcome whatever adversity comes, just like we did."

New chapter of rocketry organization takes flight in Warrensburg

By Sara Lawson
saral@warrensburgstarjournal.com

WARRENSBURG — The oldest space modeling organization in the world has started a new chapter in Warrensburg.

The Warrensburg chapter of the National Association of Rocketry hosted its first meeting Thursday, July 8, at Warrensburg Church of the Brethren, 702 E. Hale Lake Road.

The effort to start the new chapter was headed by Section Advisor Jason Unwin.

"It's a group of persons that like to fly model rockets, model and high powered rockets for like science experiments for youth education," Unwin said. "We do it safely, we have insurance and we have a model rocket safety code. We try to fly, in a controlled and safe manner, rockets of all types and sizes."

Unwin said the NAR has participants of all ages, youth to adults, who come out to learn and show off their rockets.

Unwin said the local chapter is still in the beginning stages and is waiting on the right authorization from the Federal Aviation Administration to launch more high-powered rockets.

Unwin said he has a high-powered license and the favorites of his rockets are Big Bertha and The Fat Man.

"There's level one, level two and then level three and each level determines what size motor you can fly, you are authorized to fly," Unwin said.

Unwin said he wanted to start the chapter after he moved to Missouri from Colorado.

The chapter is using land owned by Jeff Irle, chapter president, for launching.

"We've been working together to develop this club in Warrensburg," Unwin said.

Unwin said the focus of the organization is aerospace education, fun and to get more kids and adults involved in the science behind space exploration.

He said he is still looking to work with any local astronomy clubs.

Unwin said he became interested in rocketry from watching the Apollo rockets when he was a kid and flew rockets from the ages of 10 to 18 before joining the U.S. Army.

"When I got out of the Army and moved to Colorado I looked into, wanted to get back into the hobby of rocketry, and I discovered the National Association of Rocketry," Unwin said.

Unwin started a chapter in 2001 in Colorado.

"That club eventually, is now big (and) won national-level events," Unwin said.

Unwin said previous knowledge and experience with rocketry are not required to join a chapter.

"Just walk in the door and be willing to learn, but hopefully be safe," Unwin said. "Just follow the guidance to be safe. That's really the only thing. You don't have to have any experience, just be willing to be safe."

The NRA was founded in 1957, has more than 7,400 members and approximately 195 affiliated clubs across the United States.

He went on to complete his degree and spent a few years working for a construction company. Despite creating a prosperous career in construction, Gonzalez noted he knew from the beginning his true passion was education.

"The reaction of the people around me was unanimous. They all commented that I was leaving behind a prosperous economic future to pursue my dream to become an educator," he said. "I always thought that was a shallow understanding of success."

After four years of working at a Catholic school in Santiago, Gonzalez explained he gave up the job in anticipation of immigrating to the United States. From there, he began working toward a Master's degree in Educational Leadership at the University of Iowa, noting he will be finishing some final requirements this summer.

"We're just looking forward to having him here, and looking forward to him administering to all of our students that are here, and those that the Lord'll be sending us," Fr. Joe Corel said.

Corel added Gonzalez's fluency in Spanish is needed at Sacred Heart, as he will be reaching out to families who are bilingual or Spanish speaking.

"My inspiration to become an educator relies on two ideas. First, I understand education as one of the main instruments to make this world a better place," Gonzalez said.

He noted education empowers people, citing how students rely on their parents and educators to become "people of goodwill."

"The second idea is the understanding of my life as an unrepeatable opportunity to answer God's call," he said.

Gonzalez noted he was inspired to apply for the position at Sacred Heart because he wanted to work in a Catholic school in a small community so he could get to know everybody.

"We feel very fortunate to have him," Register said. "We think he's gonna fit in wonderfully with… the current makeup of school and our parish… we just feel very blessed to have a man of his background and his capabilities, and his goals and aspirations to be willing to dig in and become part of our school community."

Gonzalez explained he is very aware of his position as a newcomer, noting it represents both a challenge and an opportunity.

He said he enjoys connecting with people and he thinks what he is looking forward to the most is getting to know everybody involved in Sacred Heart School, such as families, students, teachers, staff, and administration.

"In synthesis, my plan is to listen, observe, and learn a lot. I want to get to know every aspect of the educational process at Sacred Heart School and every member of the educational community…" Gonzalez said. "A school is not only an educational entity but a system that works with and for people. My goal, then, is to help everybody to be their best."

Sheriff: 2 Missourians die in small plane crash in Iowa

MUSCATINE, Iowa (AP) — Two people from Missouri died when a small plane crashed into a cornfield in eastern Iowa's Muscatine County, authorities said.

The single-engine Piper went down Wednesday afternoon about 4 miles north of Muscatine, Sheriff Quinn Riess said.

Daniel Slack, 68, and Sharon Slack, 69, of El Dorado Springs, Missouri, died in the crash. Daniel Slack was superintendent of schools in Deerfield, Kansas, from 2015 until he retired last year, KSNW-TV reported.

A preliminary investigation determined the plane took off from Ford Airport near Iron Mountain, Michigan, to fly back to Missouri, Riess said.

The Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board were investigating the cause of the crash.

Police: 2 killed in Kansas City house fire were children

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Two people killed in a house fire in northwest Kansas City were children under the age of 11, police confirmed Thursday in a news release.

Two others injured in the Wednesday fire remained in critical condition and a third injured person suffered injuries not believed to be life-threatening, police said.

Officials had not released the identities of the five victims of the fire by Thursday afternoon. In the aftermath of the fire Wednesday, fire officials said three children and one adult had been taken to local hospitals.

Officials have not given the cause of the fire, saying it's under investigation.

St. Louis man charged in beating death of 2-year-old son

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A St. Louis man has been charged with second-degree murder in the death of his 2-year-old son.

Dewight D. Williams, 25, was also charged Monday with child abuse resulting in death and child endangerment after his son, Jeremiah Williams, died on Feb. 15, 2020.

Doctors said the child died of brain trauma and his death was ruled a homicide, The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported.

After Jeremiah's mother found the boy pale and unresponsive at the family's home, Williams gave conflicting accounts of how he was injured, according to charging documents.

The Circuit Attorney's Office declined charges in the case last year and Williams was released pending a follow-up investigation.

He was not in custody Thursday and had no lawyer listed in court records.

"So, we went to that and I just took pictures," she noted.

Maggie said although she is taking photos with her cell phone, she hopes one day to buy a digital camera. While on the farm, she has plenty of opportunities to take photographs. Her mother noted the family not only runs a cattle farm but also produces hay.

"Because we have 80 females," Natalie said. "So, we grow enough hay for ourselves plus some hay to sell, and then we have a couple hundred acres that are in row crop that we hire another farmer to farm for us."

Natalie noted photography is a good "secondary hobby" for Maggie.

"Because she loves showing cattle so much," she added. "This has been something else she can do that still involves cattle. She and her grandma have edited some of the pictures and enhanced them a little bit."

Maggie credits her grandmother Linda Reed, also of Green Ridge, for helping her learn more about photography and Photoshop.

"When we take pictures of our cows for sales, someone does it for them and he sends it to my grandma," Maggie explained. "Then she edits out the fence and makes them look a little nicer."

Natalie added when there is a cattle sale, Linda puts the sale book together and mails it out to patrons.

Maggie's advice to others who wish to take up photography is to go out and find something that looks interesting.

"Take a picture of it and keep doing that and you'll get better and better at it," she said. "And if you have someone you know that does photography, you could get tips from them."

Maggie, who is the Brown 4-H Club reporter, said her favorite subject matter is sunsets with her cows silhouetted in it and calves.

"The babies are super cute to take pictures of," she added. "But if they are laying down it's hard to take pictures of them because they get so scared too easily."

"Standing Watch," a sunset photo by Maggie Reed, received a runner-up award in the Children's Barnyard, 2021 Focus on Missouri Ag Photo Contest. Reed began taking photos last October and hasn't stopped.

She added when she graduates from high school she'd like to become an eye doctor, but also a cattle judge. She would also like to be a Missouri State Fair livestock photographer.

Trip

"So we strung it together because we wanted to go LA to New York for one, that just seemed like if you're going to go across the U.S. that's like the natural two endpoints."

During the planning, they both wanted to get on the Katy Trail, which spans most of Missouri. This gave them an opportunity to bike safely instead of on country highways like they have been for most of their trip.

Before reaching Missouri, Born and Haaland were met with large amounts of combine harvesters during the wheat harvest in Kansas.

Born talked about some of the struggles they have run into. The one that stuck out the most was the need to stick to a regiment so they could complete the trip in the number of days they originally planned.

"One thing we struggle with is just balancing how much of it is an athletic endeavor versus a traveling endeavor," Born said. "We're covering a lot of ground every day and we want to keep moving and get it done in a reasonable time frame but then there's this tension to want to stop and smell the roses."

Along with the want to stop, Born and Haaland ran into a heatwave when they were traveling through the Mojave Desert.

Haaland spoke about adventures they had both taken before deciding to make the trip across the United States, and the need to make this type of trip now before starting a family and missing the chance.

Carter Haaland, 30, and Trevor Born, 32, stand outside Pro-Velo Cycle Sports Thursday afternoon before starting their journey to Boonville on the Katy Trail.

"We have been doing these micro-adventures," Carter Haaland said. "This was just the logical next step. My wife and I are on the cusp of talking about having kids so it was kind of now or when we retire in 30 or 40 years so it was kind of like, 'Let's just scratch that itch now.'"

Haaland and Born both have partners at home who are supporting them through their journey and will meet them in New York City at the end of their trip.

"They're very supportive, they have come out and visited on it and I think they were pretty excited about the idea for us," Haaland said. "My wife likes to say she's fine with me biking as far and as much as I want as long as I don't make her bike with me."

Haaland spoke about one of the good days during the beginning of their trip after they finally made it out of the desert.

"I really appreciated the day that we climbed into Flagstaff because we had just spent a week and a half biking through the desert and then all of sudden there were trees and it was green again everywhere. I think that was the starkest contrast or the most drastic change in landscape within one day," Haaland said.

Haaland said both he and Born are treating hydration like it is part of a job during this trip but also spoke on how he is feeling now halfway through their trip.

"I feel very good. A couple of days ago we hit the halfway point," Haaland said. "I remember for the first part of the journey something that was weighing on my mind was this question of will we actually pull this off? Are we going to run into physical problems? Are we going to run into bike problems or logistical problems? But now I'm feeling like we strung enough days together where I'm feeling more and more confident that we'll actually be able to finish it and that feels really good."

Haaland and Born both have plans for when they finally reach New York City and meet their families. That includes dipping their wheels into the ocean, as they did in Los Angeles at the beginning, to symbolize the trip they made and celebrate a job well done.

"We'll stop at a park that overlooks the Statue of Liberty and our partners will be there to meet us and some potential friends and family," Haaland added.

Haaland and Born both thanked Ebby Norman from Pro-Velo but also Connie Kiburz, who paid for their lunch during their afternoon in Sedalia; Haaland called it unprompted acts of kindness.

Haaland and Born's next stop after Sedalia was Boonville and then St. Louis before traveling on to the next state in their adventure.

After a first-round win Wednesday, Post 642 Sedalia Aux. will host a make-up game 7:30 p.m. Friday at Liberty Park Stadium.

Sedalia's scheduled matchup with St. Joseph in Blue Springs was rained out Thursday.

Gavin Locke scattered seven hits and struck out seven during a complete-game performance Wednesday in a 6-4 win over Independence. He surrendered a run in the third, fifth and stymied a seventh-inning rally to secure the win.

Sedalia's Hayden Sleeper plated the go-ahead run in the fourth with a bases-loaded walk. Karson Evans followed with a bases-clearing double to increase the lead to 5-1.

Trevor Payne hit an RBI flyout to give Sedalia the lead in the first inning. Mylan Hawkins added another run via sacrifice in the fifth, making it 6-2.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Sedalia Bombers 7, Chillicothe Mudcats 2

Sedalia rallied to score all its runs in the fifth and sixth innings Tuesday during a 7-2 victory over the Chillicothe Mudcats at Shaffer Park.

Bombers starter Austin Droge surrendered two runs on four hits in six innings. Bennett Brownfield and Conner Wolf combined for three shutout innings in relief to seal the fourth win in five games.

Zach Dillman and Jacob McWhirter each recorded two hits, with the latter driving in a pair of runs.

Monday, Braden Desonia had five hits and RBIs apiece to help the Bombers to a 14-6 win visiting the Jefferson City Renegades.

The Bombers (16-15) hold a one-game lead over the Nevada Griffons and are two games ahead of the Jefferson City Renegades. Sedalia continues its road trip Friday against the Nevada Griffons and visit the St. Joseph Mustangs and Joplin Outlaws over the weekend.

Bucks get confidence boost in win without Giannis scoring 40

By Steve Megargee
AP Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — As remarkable as Giannis Antetokounmpo has been in delivering MVP-caliber performances during the NBA Finals while playing with an injured knee, there have been games in which he was good but not great.

Good hadn't been good enough for a Milwaukee Bucks win — until Game 4.

And while Antetokounmpo will likely need to be great again, his teammates must prove they can deliver on the road the way they have at home. The Bucks and Phoenix Suns are tied 2-2 as the series returns to Phoenix for Game 5 on Saturday.

The Bucks need to maintain what they found in Milwaukee to rally from a nine-point, fourth-quarter deficit in a 109-103 Game 4 victory Wednesday night.

"Going down the stretch, we kept believing in ourselves," Antetokounmpo said after Game 4. "We kept executing, setting screens. We kept running, we kept rebounding the ball, we kept blocking shots. We wanted this bad, and the team showed it tonight. But we've got to keep getting better."

Yankees-Red Sox ppd after 3 NY pitchers test COVID positive

By Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees' post-All-Star break opener against the Boston Red Sox on Thursday night was postponed because of positive COVID-19 tests among vaccinated New York pitchers Jonathan Loaisiga, Nestor Cortes Jr. and Wandy Peralta.

"It's a fluid situation that could spread. It has spread to some degree," Yankees general manager Brian Cashman said. "We have three positives and we have three pending that we've had rapid tests on. ... We'll wait now for the lab tests to come back, which I'm assuming is going to be positive, as well. So that would increase our number to six, but we're not at six yet. We're at three confirmed."

Loaisiga went on the COVID-19 injured list Saturday, when the Yankees were in Houston, and he did not travel home with the team Sunday. Cortes and Peralta went on the COVID-19 IL on Thursday.

Cashman said all three were fully vaccinated, as are most of the players on the team. Among the three, two received the Johnson & Johnson vaccine, and the other was either Pfizer or Moderna, according to Cashman.

"Those players are doing well thus far," he said. "And that would speak again to the belief that those vaccinations are working and ultimately they're to protect us from severe illness and/or death."

The three players awaiting lab results are in quarantine. Cashman would not say whether they include the Yankees' All-Stars who were in Denver: Aaron Judge, Gerrit Cole and Aroldis Chapman.

MLB was conducting contact tracing under its protocols.

"The vaccines that we encourage everybody to get guarantee not getting hospitalized and not getting death coming from COVID, which is important, but it doesn't prevent you from contracting COVID," Cashman said. "It just obviously protects you from the severe worst-case scenario effects from COVID."

Athletes go it alone in Tokyo as families watch from afar

By Beth Harris
AP Sports Writer

Michael Phelps reached for his mother's hand through a chainlink fence near the pool. The 19-year-old swimmer had just won his first Olympic medal — gold, of course — at the 2004 Athens Games, and he wanted to share it with the woman who raised him on her own.

That kind of moment between loved ones won't be happening at the pandemic-delayed Tokyo Olympics.

No spectators — local or foreign — will be allowed at the vast majority of venues, where athletes will hang medals around their own necks to protect against spreading the coronavirus. No handshakes or hugs on the podium, either.

"I like to feed off of the crowd," defending all-around champion gymnast Simone Biles said, "so I'm a little bit worried about how I'll do under those circumstances."

Catching sight of familiar faces during competition can bolster an athlete on a big stage. It helped Matthew Centrowitz at the U.S. track trials, where fans were allowed.

"Seeing my family in the crowd and hearing them gave me a little sense of comfort, and what I needed to hear and see to calm my nerves a little bit," said Centrowitz, the defending Olympic 1,500-meter champion.

The youngest athlete on the U.S. team in Tokyo calls it "weird" that her family won't be in the stands.

"They're usually at all my meets," said Katie Grimes, a 15-year-old swimmer from Las Vegas.

Katie Hoff was the same age as Grimes when she was the youngest member of the U.S. team in Athens. Nerves got to her in her first event, and Hoff hyperventilated and vomited on the pool deck.

Sarkisian: No magic trick to make Texas contenders again

By Stephen Hawkins
AP Sports Writer

Texas head coach Steve Sarkisian wraps up his press conference during the NCAA college football Big 12 media days Thursday, July 15, 2021, in Arlington, Texas.

ARLINGTON (AP) — Texas fans want more than top 10 rankings and bowl victories. They would like to win some Big 12 titles and be in contention for national championships.

While the Longhorns are still the last Big 12 team to win a national title, that was long ago — the 2005 season with Vince Young at quarterback. Their last conference crown came four years after that in a league where Baylor and Kansas State have since both been champions twice.

That is why Steve Sarkisian is already the third Texas coach in eight seasons since Mack Brown's departure in 2013. Tom Herman won four consecutive bowls and got the Longhorns into the top 10 during each of the past three seasons, but never won a Big 12 title.

"I haven't been focused on what happened before. I'm putting all our energy in what we're doing now," Sarkisian said Thursday. "I do believe in, at the end of the day, teams win championships. Locker rooms, facilities don't win championships, big stadiums don't win championships, bright lights don't win championships, recruiting rankings don't win championships."

Sarkisian is one of two new coaches in the Big 12, and both were part of the second-day wrap of the league's football media days. New Kansas coach Lance Leipold appeared via Zoom after the Jayhawks' charter plane got grounded because of inclement weather in the Lawrence area.

Texas is routinely the richest college athletic program, has all of the necessary modern facilities and its own ESPN-backed television network.

"We can't sit back and relax and think because we've got a great stadium, because we've got great resources, because we've got the five-star, four-star players, that we just sprinkle a little magical fairy dust and all of a sudden we're a really good football team," Sarkisian said. "Winning is hard, and winning takes work, and winning takes perseverance. Winning takes grit. Winning takes great teamwork and great leaders and great teammates and an awesome culture."

In the Big 12's preseason media poll, the Longhorns were picked third behind six-time defending champ Oklahoma and Iowa State, which lost to the Sooners in the league championship game last December.

This is Sarkisian's third head coaching job, after previous stops at Washington and USC. But he is coming off a stint as Alabama's offensive coordinator and being part of Nick Saban's most recent national championship last season.

The Longhorns hired Sarkisian in January, only hours after they fired Herman. Sarkisian at least got to go through spring drills.

Leipold wasn't hired until the end of April to take over a Kansas team that has won only seven Big 12 games total over the past 12 seasons. The Jayhawks were picked to finish last again in the Big 12 on all 39 votes returned for the preseason poll.

"There's no simple quick fixes in building a program or in rebuilding a program," Leipold said. "Our approach is going to be consistent in what we're going to do, consistent in our recruiting methods, starting locally, again, spreading out throughout the nation within the Big 12 footprint. Our expectation is we'll be very similar to other places that we've been."

Over the past six seasons, Leipold turned a downtrodden Buffalo program into a perennial bowl contender and going 37-33 overall. Before that, Leipold won six Division III national championships in eight seasons while going 109-6 as the head coach of his alma mater, Wisconsin-Whitewater.

Kanas announced the departure of Les Miles in March, only days after he was placed on administrative leave amid sexual misconduct allegations from his tenure at LSU, where he won a national title in 2007. The Jayhawks were coming off a winless season in the second year of his five-year deal and were led through the spring by an interim coach.

Sarkisian said he couldn't believe it's already been 6 1/2 months on the job in Austin, and all that has gone on in that time. He hired a new coaching staff, implemented a strength and conditioning program, recruited and installed new schemes on offense, defense and special teams. He still hasn't named a starting quarterback.

Casey Thompson went 8-of-10 passing with four touchdowns in the second half of the Alamo Bowl when stepping in for injured and since-departed Sam Ehlinger. But backup Hudson Card is a talent who also is getting his chance in Sarkisian's scheme.

"When I took over the job, I gave everybody a clean slate in our program, Sarkasian said.

The coach said the Longhorns have two fantastic players competing for the QB job, but said 15 spring practices weren't enough to name a starter in a new system with a new scheme and new coaches.

"We're in a good position," he said. "But at some point in training camp, I'm going to have to trust my gut and I've got to name a starter."

HOROSCOPES

By Jacqueline Bigar

Moon Alert: There are no restrictions to shopping or important decisions today. The Moon is in Libra.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, July 16, 2021:

You are warm and sociable but sometimes shy. You're very intuitive and an accurate judge of other people's character. You are a firm believer in the power of positive thinking. This year you are at the beginning of a new nine-year cycle, which means everything is up for grabs. Be courageous and flexible. Open any door!

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★ You will be more emotional than usual expressing yourself in your most personal relationships today (marriage, friendships and even enemies). This means no matter what happens -- a friendly exchange or a conflict -- it will be emotionally charged! Guard against knee-jerk reactions. Tonight: A lively discussion!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★ Today you have to put your own emotional considerations second to the welfare or the demands of someone else. This doesn't mean you have to play the martyr game, but it does mean that something will take precedence over your own needs today. Stay chill. Tonight: Get organized.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★★ Today you are wearing your heart on your sleeve! Romance, flirtations and fun times with others will appeal, and you won't conceal your delight and your feelings! (Relations with women will improve today.) You also might feel extra protective and nurturing to others, especially children. Tonight: Socialize!

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★ You might want to cocoon at home today because you will enjoy relaxing among familiar surroundings. A conversation with a female relative could be significant. You might see how much your life is controlled by your daily habits. Tonight: Strong feelings.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★ You're very keen to communicate to others today. You want to go out to see people and also to be seen. In conversation with someone, you want a true bonding -- something honest and real. You don't want to waste time on superficial chitchat. You want a genuine exchange. Tonight: A debate?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★ Today it's easy to identify with your possessions or whatever you value. This is why you might have a strong attachment to something. You certainly won't want to lend it to someone. Or in terms of your values, you might find you are defending yourself in an area where there is really nothing at stake. Tonight: Check your assets.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ Today the Moon is in your sign, for the second day. (It's in your sign for two days every month.) This will heighten your emotions and give you a stronger need to belong to others and relate to them. The good news is the Moon in your sign will improve your good luck! Tonight: Strong opinions!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★ Today the Moon is hiding in your chart, which means you will be tempted to withdraw and keep your feelings secret. You will value your privacy and not feel much like socializing. You might want to explore mystical or spiritual disciplines. Tonight: Pamper yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★ You will feel more protective of a friend or more nurturing today. This is because your emotional contact with others, especially friends and groups, is more important to you today. You might even feel jealous if a friend pays more attention to someone else. (An "Othello" moment.) Tonight: Talk to someone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★ Regardless of what you are doing, you are more high-viz today, which means other people notice you more than usual. Some people will be talking about you, especially about personal details concerning your private life. Tonight: Be self-aware.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ At a subtle level today, you long for adventure! You want something different and exciting to happen because you need some stimulation in your life. If you cannot travel, you might enjoy a mental journey through study, a film or a discussion with someone else. Tonight: Fiery debate?

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★ Today your emotional experiences will be more intense than usual. This includes your interactions with friends, family members and even the general public. You might feel possessive about property or something that holds memories from your past. Tonight: Check your assets.

Bradley Beal out of Olympics for health and safety reasons

United States' Bradley Beal brings the ball up court against Argentina during the second half of an exhibition basketball game in Las Vegas on Tuesday, July 13, 2021.

By Brian Mahoney

AP Basketball Writer

Bradley Beal will miss the Olympics after being placed into health and safety protocols and the U.S. men's basketball team said it will replace him on its roster at a later date.

The Americans also announced Thursday that forward Jerami Grant has also been played in health and safety protocols "out of an abundance of caution."

Beal had started all three exhibition games for the U.S. so far in Las Vegas, averaging 10.3 points on 10-for-21 shooting.

The Washington Wizards guard was second in the NBA this season with 31.3 points per game. Coach Gregg Popovich said it was devastating news for Beal and his family.

"I'm dying for him," Popovich said. "We all are."

Beal was expected to play for the Americans two years ago in the Basketball World Cup in China, but had to withdraw from consideration before training camp for family reasons.

He finally had his chance to suit up for the senior national team now and he seemed ready for it.

After scoring just two points in the Americans' loss to Nigeria in their opener, he followed with 12 points against Australia and then had 17 on Monday against Argentina in the first U.S. victory.

"Bradley is no doubt, he's a huge loss. He was playing every well, understanding everything and fit in well with the group," Popovich said. "So there's no next Bradley Beal."

Beal's NBA team was hit hard by a coronavirus outbreak early in the season and every club had to navigate players going in and out of the lineup because of the strict protocols in place.

Golden State's Draymond Green said it's difficult to see the impact the virus still has after 17 or 18 months.

"The experience, the opportunity to represent your country is one that you all dream about growing up," Green said. "So to see that opportunity taken away, you can only sympathize with Brad."

The Americans have already been playing short-handed during their exhibition games, with Khris Middleton and Jrue Holiday of Milwaukee and Devin Booker of Phoenix playing in the NBA Finals.

Popovich said the challenge for the Americans will be finding a player who is in good shape, after the NBA regular season ended in May.

He said they are going through names who are available and trying to see who would be a fit. He added that the Americans wouldn't be able to replace Beal as a scorer and might end up with someone like a utility player in baseball.

The Americans are scheduled to play two more games in Las Vegas before heading to Tokyo, with their opening game against France set for July 25.

Father-in-law says he pepper-sprayed NFL's Richard Sherman

By Gene Johnson

Associated Press

SEATTLE (AP) — Richard Sherman's father-in-law armed himself with a handgun and fired pepper-spray at the NFL cornerback to protect his family as Sherman tried to bust in the door of his in-laws' home, according to a police statement obtained by The Associated Press.

Sherman was arrested early Wednesday after police said he crashed his car in a construction zone and then tried to break into his in-laws' home in the Seattle suburb of Redmond.

Sherman remained in jail Thursday and was expected to make an initial court appearance in the afternoon. It was not clear if he had an attorney who might speak on his behalf.

According to the police report, which had not been made public, Sherman's father-in-law, Raymond Moss, told investigators that the former Seattle Seahawks and San Francisco 49ers star partially broke in the door by repeatedly ramming it with his shoulder. Sherman called out, "Come through, Ray!" in a hostile and threatening tone, Moss said.

"The family began to yell in fear," Moss told police. "I used pepper spray on Sherman's face through the partially opened door as he was still banging and attempting to gain entry. I told him to stop. I armed myself with my handgun at this time fearing for the safety of myself and my family."

Sherman's wife, Ashley Moss, called 911 late Tuesday to report that he was being belligerent, had threatened to kill himself and was driving away after drinking two bottles of hard alcohol.

"At this time, we're going to make no statements, except he didn't harm anybody," she told The Seattle Times on Wednesday. "My kids were not harmed in the incident. He's a good person and this is not his character. We're doing all right, just trying to get him out. I want people to know no one was injured."

In February, King County prosecutors and the sheriff obtained an "extreme risk protection order" for Sherman, which barred him from having guns after a judge determined he posed a danger to himself or others. Details of the case were sealed, and it was not immediately clear if any weapons had been seized from him.

Sherman was booked into jail Wednesday in Seattle on suspicion of resisting arrest, malicious mischief and residential burglary. The Washington State Patrol said it also would recommend charges of driving under the influence and hit-and-run.

The burglary allegation is a felony that includes a domestic violence component because it was the home of relatives. Sherman did not enter the home, strike or try to hit any family members, authorities said.

Shortly before 1:30 a.m. Wednesday, the Washington State Patrol received a 911 call from a construction crew working along a freeway east of Seattle. The caller said an apparently intoxicated driver had entered the closed construction zone. As the vehicle left the area, it struck a barricade, causing significant damage on the driver's side, Patrol Capt. Ron Mead told reporters.

The vehicle soon became completely disabled, Mead said.

Just before 2 a.m., Redmond police received a 911 call from the in-laws' home, reporting that Sherman was trying to break in, Police Chief Darrell Lowe said.

Officers and state troopers responded and tried to calm the situation by developing a rapport with the football star, authorities said.

It initially seemed to work, but Sherman's demeanor changed when the officers told him he was under arrest, Lowe said. He began walking away rapidly and fought as police tried to take him into custody, and a K-9 officer released the dog to subdue him.

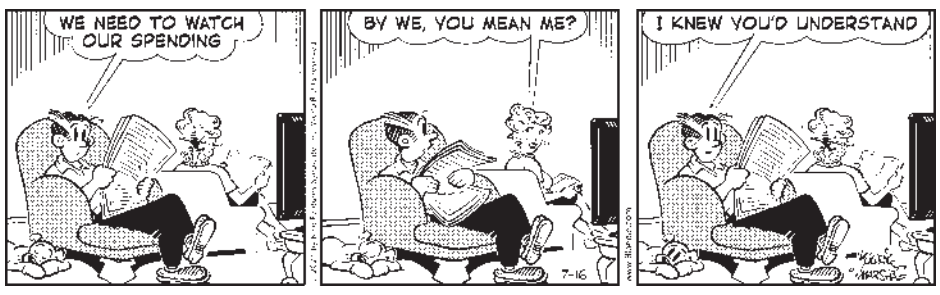

Sherman got minor cuts to his lower leg and was treated at a hospital before being taken to jail. At his first court hearing, a judge will determine if there is probable cause to believe he committed a crime.

Sherman, 33, became a Seattle sports legend during seven seasons with Seahawks. The cornerback was a star in their run to a 2014 Super Bowl victory, making a game-saving play to deflect a pass in the NFC Championship Game against the 49ers.

He left the Seahawks after the 2017 season and played three seasons with San Francisco. He is now a free agent.

Dick Tidrow, former pitcher, Giants executive, dies at 74

By Janie McCauley
AP Baseball Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dick Tidrow, a former major league pitcher and longtime member of the San Francisco Giants' front office, has died. He was 74.

The Giants announced his death Wednesday on behalf of the Tidrow family. He died unexpectedly Saturday in Lee's Summit, Missouri.

"Our entire organization is heartbroken by the news of Dick's passing," Giants President and CEO Larry Baer said. "So much of our success over these past three decades is directly linked to Dick's contributions."

Tidrow pitched parts of 13 major league seasons for the Indians, the Yankees, Cubs, White Sox and Mets. The 6-foot-4 right-hander had a 100-94 career record with a 3.68 ERA over 620 appearances with 138 starts.

Tidrow most recently served as the Giants' senior adviser to the president of baseball operations. He spent 28 seasons in a half-dozen roles with the Giants after joining the franchise before the 1994 season as a major league scout.

The former pitcher's guidance was crucial during the Giants' three World Series championship seasons of 2010, '12 and '14. The 2010 championship was the first for the franchise since moving West in 1958.

"Dick was a unique and special person whose influence and impact was legendary throughout the game and whose fingerprints are all over our three World Series trophies," said Brian Sabean, the Giants' executive vice president and senior adviser. "On a personal level, we shared some incredible highs and lows together and I'm forever grateful for his 40 years of friendship and support."

Before returning to his native San Francisco, Tidrow worked as a special assignment scout for the Yankees from 1985 through 1993.

"Crushing! Yet another great baseball man we have lost!" former Giants infielder Kevin Frandsen posted on Twitter. "The 'ninja' was so influential with all of us. His random times he'd pop up, maybe say a few words that might help you out, say a few words that you might not of wanted to hear at the time. But he ALWAYS was HONEST!"

Tidrow was born on May 14, 1947, in San Francisco. A former Marine, he attended high school and college in the East Bay suburb of Hayward, graduating from Mount Eden High in 1965 and Chabot Junior College two years later.

He is survived by his wife, Mari Jo, three children — Andy, Matt and Richelle — and one grandchild, Trista.

"Dick was truly one of a kind. He is loved and missed beyond measure and irreplaceable in our hearts and lives," Mari Jo Tidrow said.

Tennis player de Minaur has COVID-19, out of Tokyo Olympics

By Associated Press

TOKYO (AP) — Australian tennis player Alex de Minaur has tested positive for COVID-19 and has withdrawn from the Tokyo Olympics.

The Australian Olympic team's chef de mission Ian Chesterman told media in Tokyo on Friday that de Minaur was "shattered" over the news.

"We are very disappointed for Alex," Chesterman said. "It has been his dream to represent Australia at the Olympic Games since he was a child." De Minaur, Australia's top-ranked men's player at No. 17, was scheduled to play both singles and doubles. It was unclear if de Minaur's doubles partner John Pearce would maintain his spot on the team.

"Alex undertook both the 96-hour and 72-hour PCR test as required by the Japanese authorities and unfortunately both returned a positive result," the Australian Olympic Committee said in a statement from Sydney. "He was due to fly to Tokyo on July 18 from his base in Spain.

Alex has not been in contact with other members of the Australian Olympic team since returning a negative test on July 5th."

Chesterman said de Minaur returned at negative test at Wimbledon.

"We do know that no other tennis players have had physical contact with Alex since he left Wimbledon," Chesterman said. "All other Australian players have tested negative."

He said while the situation was unfortunate, it was testament to the "bubble" system working effectively.

"We need to protect this bubble and Alex has been caught up in that system, but it does show that the system is working and while we will miss Alex, he understands the reasons why he cannot be with us."

De Minaur lost to American Sebastian Korda in the first round at Wimbledon. De Minaur has five career ATP titles and a career-high ranking of 15.

Nick Kyrgios had earlier withdrawn from the Australian team, citing health concerns and the heavy restrictions on participants at the Olympics.

The Australian women's tennis team will be led by top-ranked Ash Barty, who is coming off a title win at Wimbledon.

COVID

Cashman said Major League Baseball had not yet decided whether to postpone Friday's second scheduled game of the four-game series.

"The last year, year and a half, has kind of in some ways kind of prepared you for this kind of stuff," Yankees manager Aaron Boone said. "Certainly disappointing and frustrating."

This was the eighth COVID-related postponement this season but the first in nearly three months. Also put off were a three-game series that had the New York Mets at Washington from April 1-4, and Atlanta's game at the Nationals on April 5, two Minnesota at Los Angeles Angels games on April 17-18 and a Twins at Oakland game on April 19.

There were 45 regular-season games postponed for virus-related reasons during last year's pandemic-shortened season but just two were not made up, between St. Louis and Detroit.

New York, fourth in the AL East at a disappointing 46-43, was among the first MLB teams to reach the 85% vaccination threshold that triggers a lessening of coronavirus protocols such as dropping mask use in dugouts and bullpens.

MLB said in its last announcement June 25 that 23 of it 30 teams had reached 85% vaccinations among tier 1 individuals such as players and on-field staff. The Red Sox were not among them.

Despite all those vaccinations, the Yankees had more than a half-dozen positive COVID tests in May involving staff, including pitching coach Matt Blake, third base coach Phil Nevin and first base coach Reggie Willits. Nevin, despite being vaccinated, became seriously ill with a kidney infection that kept him away from the team for more than three weeks.

No Yankees players tested positive then, though shortstop Gleyber Torres had a false positive, according to Boone.

New York players were on the field taking early batting practice about 3 1/2 hours before the scheduled start Thursday when the Yankees asked media to leave the field while the team conducted COVID testing.

Boston, whose 55-36 record matched Houston for best in the AL, came onto the field as the postponment was announced, then took batting practice until 6 p.m.

MOVING UP

Red Sox: Boston is bringing up OF Jarren Duran and RHP Tanner Houck. Duran, a 24-year-old who hit .368 for the U.S. in Olympic qualifying, was in the lineup for a major league debut, playing center and batting seventh. Houck, who pitched in three game for the Red Sox in April, will be in the bullpen at first and likely will start Wednesday against Toronto in Buffalo. Duran hit .270 with 15 homers and 32 RBIs in 189 at-bats at Triple-A Worcester. Coach Bruce Crabbe called him into coach Billy McMillon's office after Wednesday's game. "They opened up a spot on the Olympic roster for you," Duran recalled Crabbe saying. "I was like: `Oh, awesome, cool.' And then he goes: 'Oh, but you could actually go to the big leagues if you want to do that. That could be a side job for you.'" His mother, father, brother, girlfriend and two uncles were in New York for his debut.

Yankees: OF Trey Amburgey's contract was selected from Triple-A Scranton/Wilkes-Barre. The 26-year-old right-handed hitter was batting .312 with seven homers and 35 RBIs in 141 at-bats. C Rob Brantly and INF Hoy Jun Park were scratched from the RailRiders' lineup Thursday night, a sign they may join the Yankees on Friday.

NUMBERS GAME

New York 2B Rougned Odor has switched to No. 12 from No. 18.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Red Sox: LHP Chris Sale pitched in a game for the first time since Tommy John surgery on March 30, 2020, throwing 39 pitches over three scoreless innings for the FCL Red Sox at the FCL Orioles Orange. The 32-year-old left-hander allowed four hits and struck out five. Sale threw at up to 97 mph, according to manager Alex Cora, and likely will start Tuesday for Double-A Portland.

Yankees: LHP Zack Britton was activated from the injured list after recovering from a strained left hamstring that had sidelined him since June 25.

Bucks

Antetokounmpo has averaged 32.3 points, 14 rebounds and 5.5 assists in the finals despite hyperextending his left knee in the Bucks' previous series, causing him to miss the last two games of the Eastern Conference finals.

But the Bucks showed in Game 4 that they can beat the Suns even when their two-time MVP isn't at his absolute best.

Antetokounmpo had a more-than-respectable 26 points, 14 rebounds and eight assists in Game 4 as well as a spectacular block that prevented Phoenix's Deandre Ayton from tying the game with 1:14 left. Those numbers would make just about any other NBA player envious, but they actually represented a step back after Antetokounmpo delivered back-to-back performances of over 40 points and 10 rebounds in Games 2 and 3.

It was Khris Middleton – not Antetokounmpo – who scored 40 points to lead the Bucks to their come-from-behind victory. Middleton reeled off eight straight points in the closing minutes to help the Bucks turn a 99-97 deficit into a 105-99 lead.

"That's what he does down the stretch," Antetokounmpo said. "We want him to have the ball. We want him to be the decision maker."

Other players chipped in as well.

Jrue Holiday followed up his 21-point Game 3 performance by shooting just 4 of 20 in Game 4, but he also made one of the game's biggest plays when he stole the ball from Chris Paul, sparking a fast-break that resulted in a Middleton layup to put the Bucks ahead 103-99 with 27.2 seconds left.

"That's what it's all about - learning, learning how to win different types of ballgames, different styles," said Middleton, who scored 10 of the Bucks' last 12 points. "And that's what that was moment was about, finding a way to win a game where it seemed like we weren't going to win, and give us a chance to still have a life, going to Phoenix with a little bit of confidence, with a little bit of momentum."

The Bucks must win at least once in Phoenix to have a shot at their first title in 50 years. The last time the Bucks played there, they lost by double digits even as Antetokounmpo produced 42 points, 12 rebounds and four assists.

Phoenix's wall of defenders handled Antetokounmpo well enough Wednesday to make the Suns believe they can prevent him from repeating those superhuman outbursts he delivered in Games 2 and 3.

"We're trying to give him some different looks, especially in the half court," Suns coach Monty Williams said. "I thought our guys did an unreal job in the half court. We were doubling him at times and firing out to their shooters, just trying to take him off of his rhythm. In transition the wall was a lot better tonight. It's something that we can get better at."

That's going to put more pressure on Antetokounmpo's teammates to play better on the road.

Holiday must regain his shooting touch while maintaining his ferocious defense. Pat Connaughton has to continue producing off the bench. But most of all, the Bucks will need a huge road effort from Middleton, the unsung star who has turned this postseason into a personal showcase.

Antetokounmpo said Middleton's Game 4 performance was "incredible., then added:

"We need him to keep doing it," Antetokounmpo noted. "We are within reach of our goals."

Tokyo

"I hope us older swimmers can show them the ropes a little bit and create that family environment," three-time Olympian Katie Ledecky said. "We will make sure we stay in touch with our families and keep them connected to what we're doing."

The decision to prohibit fans was made for health and safety concerns. The Games will be held during a state of emergency in Tokyo, with rising coronavirus infections in a country where 16.8% of the population is fully vaccinated. Variant strains of the coronavirus are emerging around the world, too.

Those reaction shots of excited, shocked or crying family members in the stands? Forget it. Singing, chanting and cheering among flag-waving fans at the venues? TV producers will have to look elsewhere. Phelps' son, Boomer, who was 3 months old at the time, became an adorable sight at the Olympic pool in 2016. No kids allowed this time.

The people who raised them, comforted them, financed them, and encouraged them through injury and defeat will have to be content to keep up with their athletes through calls, texts and video chats, when they're not watching the competition on various devices.

"She said, 'On TV, I can see it better anyway,'" Dutch swimmer Kira Toussaint said of her mother, Jolanda de Rover, a gold medalist swimmer at the 1984 Olympics.

Building support and camaraderie among athletes who usually compete individually has taken on new importance for coaches during the pandemic. They're turning to veterans to inform and reassure younger first-timers.

"We're going to have to rely on each other a lot more than we would have to if our loved ones were able to come to Tokyo to watch," said Lindsay Mintenko, national team director for the American swimmers. "The bond might be stronger because we don't have that outlet."

American high jumper Vashti Cunningham will have her coach, Randall Cunningham, who is also her father, on hand. But she'll be missing the rest of the family.

"It just feels good to go and eat with them, for them to be at the Bible studies with me, just everything, going to the stores," she said. "But it doesn't really matter to me if there are fans or not. I'm just really excited to go out there and jump. I do wish that our families could come and watch, though."

American discus thrower Mason Finley is prepared to hunker down at the athletes village with his Nintendo Switch for endless gaming while his pregnant wife and two dogs wait at home.

"I'm just going to kind of nest in there and stay entertained," he said.

Some athletes' families will host watch parties back home. Biles' mother, Nellie, won't attend.

"I will be home watching gymnastics by myself," she said. "I just get too nervous."

The family of swimmer Chad le Clos is flying to the United States to watch on TV because the competition will air at 3 a.m. in their native South Africa.

"It must be terrible to watch me at 3 in the morning," Le Clos said. "Then what do you do afterwards?"

Caeleb Dressel, the world's dominant male swimmer, barely gets to see, let alone spend time with his wife and family at major meets.

"It's not something I'm dependent on," he said. "I know they will be back home and you can feel that energy, and I can text or FaceTime whenever I need to."

Nellie Biles and her husband run a gymnastics training center in Spring, Texas, so she knows about COVID-19 protocols and restrictions. Still, she thinks having spectators in the 12,000-seat venue in Tokyo would have worked.

"We could social distance and not see each other. That's how huge their complex is, their venues are," she said. "It's hard for me to understand that they cannot make accommodations. Of course, that's just me being selfish. This will be one gymnastics event that I will never forget because I will not be present."

AP Sports Writers Andrew Dampf, Pat Graham and Will Graves contributed to this report.

WHAT'S NEW ON DISNEY+

"Turner & Hooch" - Season 1

Get ready to roll over laughing with "Turner & Hooch," premiering on Disney+ on Wednesday, July 21. This brand new TV series is a reboot of the classic 1989 buddy-cop comedy film of the same name, which starred Tom Hanks ("Cast Away," 2000) and his canine sidekick, played by Beasely the Dogue de Bordeaux, in the titular roles. Now, in this legacy sequel series, Josh Peck ("Drake & Josh") fills the role of U.S. Marshal Scott Turner Jr., the son of Hanks' character. Turner may be a marshal now rather than a detective, but the show's idea remains generally the same as the film: Turner inherits his father's large, rambunctious dog named Hooch, and the dog that he didn't want turns into the partner he didn't know he needed. While the crime-fighting duo solves mysteries together, Turner starts to realize his father's death may have not been so innocent after all. Starting the series off strong with 12 hour-long episodes, "Turner & Hooch" packs in all the furry, slobbery comedy and action that made the original so beloved. Starring alongside Peck in the main cast are Lyndsy Fonseca ("Kick Ass," 2010), Carra Patterson ("Straight Outta Compton," 2015), Vanessa Lengies ("Stick It," 2006), Anthony Ruivivar ("The Haunting of Hill House"), Brandon Jay McLaren ("She's the Man," 2006), Jeremy Maguire ("Modern Family"), Paul Campbell ("Battlestar Galactica") and Reginald VelJohnson ("Die Hard," 1988), who returns to reprise his role from the film. There is no word yet, however, on whether fans will luck out with an appearance from Hanks. Written by Matt Nix ("The Good Guys"), the series is directed by James Genn ("Private Eyes"), Jay Karas ("Workaholics"), Shannon Kohli ("The Magicians"), McG ("Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle," 2003) and Craig Siebels ("Burn Notice").

Josh Peck poses with one of the five French Mastiffs who star as Hooch in "Turner & Hooch"

"Behind the Attraction" - Season 1

Dive into the history and magic behind Disney's most popular features and attractions with "Behind the Attraction," the new series coming to Disney+ on Wednesday, July 21. Featuring interviews with fans, Disney Imagineers and key behind-the-scenes players, this new series explores how each attraction came to be, how it's changed over time and why fans still love it today (per Disney). From the 1950s until now, Disney parks have awed millions of fans and had them coming back for more. These are the stories of how they made it happen. Narrated by Paget Brewster ("Criminal Minds") and directed by Brian Volk-Weiss ("Down to Earth With Zac Efron"), the series comes from executive producers Volk-Weiss, Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson ("Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle," 2017) and Dany Garcia ("Ballers").

WHAT'S NEW ON NETFLIX

"The Last Letter From Your Lover" (2021)

Fall in love with "The Last Letter From Your Lover" when it makes its premiere on Netflix this Friday, July 23. The romantic drama is based on the 2012 novel of the same name by Jojo Moyes and follows two love stories — one in the past and one in the present. When reporter Ellie (Felicity Jones, "The Theory of Everything," 2014) finds a trove of love letters from the 1960s, she sets out to uncover the mystery of a decades-old affair while finding her own love story along the way. Alongside Jones, the film stars Shailene Woodley ("The Fault in our Stars," 2014), Joe Alwyn ("The Favourite," 2018), Callum Turner ("War & Peace"), Emma Appleton ("The Witcher"), Ben Cross ("Star Trek," 2009), Vilhelm Blomgren ("Midsommar," 2019) and Ann Ogbomo ("Wonder Woman," 2017). "The Last Letter From Your Lover" is directed by Augustine Frizzell ("Euphoria") and written by Nick Payne ("Wanderlust") and Esta Spalding ("Bury the Lead").

Shailene Woodley and Callum Turner star in "The Last Letter From Your Lover"

"Sexy Beasts" – Season 1

Walk on the wild side of dating with Season 1 of "Sexy Beasts," debuting on Netflix on Wednesday, July 21. This out-there British reality series takes dating beyond looks to the next level. In an effort to get away from superficial dating, contestants on the show dress up in elaborate makeup and prosthetics to conceal their true faces and see if they really can fall in love based on personality alone. From jungle creatures to mythical beings, the show's makeup artists get creative to make their true faces as unrecognizable as possible while narrator Rob Delaney ("Deadpool 2," 2018) keeps audiences apprised of all the action. So, who will find love and who will be unable to "bear" it? Find out with this wacky new show's premiere season.

"Trollhunters: Rise of the Titans" (2021)

The Trollhunters return with the new computer-animated film "Trollhunters: Rise of the Titans," coming to Netflix on Wednesday, July 21. Based on Netflix's Trollhunter series about a boy who finds a magical amulet that chooses him to be a Trollhunter — a guardian to defend the world of humans and the secret world of trolls — this new movie is bringing even more adventure to fans. This latest Trollhunters story includes characters from creator Guillermo del Toro's ("Pacific Rim," 2013) Arcadia universe, including the series "Trollhunters: Tales of Arcadia," "3Below: Tales of Arcadia" and "Wizards." This epic adventure sees the Arcadia universe heroes teaming up to fight the Arcane for control over the magic that binds them all. WHAT'S NEW ON APPLE TV+

"Ted Lasso" – Season 2

Believe in the power of positivity once again when "Ted Lasso" returns to Apple TV+ for its second season on Friday, July 23. This feel-good series follows the titular Ted Lasso (Jason Sudeikis, "The Last Man on Earth"), an American football coach who moves to England to take over as the head coach of a failing Premier League soccer team. Despite being completely clueless about the rules of soccer or the customs of the country he's living in, Ted's infectious positivity and unorthodox coaching strategies start to change the lives of everyone around him. Sudeikis created the series alongside Brendan Hunt (who also plays his assistant, Coach Beard), Joe Kelly ("How I Met Your Mother") and Bill Lawrence ("Scrubs"), with writers Brett Goldstein (who stars in the series as Roy Kent) and Phoebe Walsh ("Four Weddings and a Funeral"). The show also stars Hannah Waddingham ("Game of Thrones"), Jeremy Swift ("Downton Abbey"), Phil Dunster ("Murder on the Orient Express," 2017), Nick Mohammed ("The Martian," 2015), Juno Temple ("Maleficent," 2014), Toheeb Jimoh ("The Feed"), Billy Harris ("Something's Wrong"), Kola Bokinni ("Toy Boy") and Stephen Manas ("A Friendly Tale," 2020).
