Boys & Girls Club summer program in full swing

By Skye Melcher
skym@sedaliademocrat.com

A time-honored tradition for kids and teenagers continues this summer with the Boy & Girls Clubs of West Central Missouri summer program.

The summer program provides activities for children from kindergarten through teenagers, with the Parkview Elementary site for kindergarten through fourth grade and the First Baptist Church site for fifth grade and up.

Communications Director Emily Schmidt said that they host a 10-week summer program every summer to give them something to do during the day but also give them academic time, reading time and playtime.

“This summer we have a big focus on literacy,” Schmidt said. “Next week is Boys & Girls Club week and it is full of literacy projects. We are going to have celebrity readers come and Dress-up Days.”

In February, the club received a $24,000 grant from The Simmons First Foundation that helped launch a new literacy program for the club.

“Other than that we do a lot of outside play, science experiments, cooking programs, a lot of art, lots of hands-on, messy play,” Schmidt said. “Flag football starts next week which is in partnership with the (Kansas City) Chiefs.”

Skyline Director Vicki Hart said that the club has almost 200 kids every day once summer school releases. This number is pretty high for the program which excites the directors because they love to see kids during the summer program.

As the summer goes on, the number of kids at the program fluctuates due to family vacations and sign-up being open for all 10 weeks.

The Parkview site kids line up at the gym doors with their summer reading books before moving on to the next activity.

At First Baptist Church, Boy & Girls Clubs fifth grade and older, are split into two groups for gym activities like capture the flag. The kids were very excited to play during the day.

The other half of the kids, not participating in the gym, at the downtown location play a quiz game in another room.

Truman Lake Master Plan being revised

By Abram Tabor
news@sedaliademocrat.com

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has begun the process of updating Harry S. Truman Lake's Master Plan for the first time since October 1988. Public comments can be submitted until July 1.

“The Master Plan is the strategic land use management document that guides our management and development of the project's recreational, natural and cultural resources throughout the life of the project,” Truman Lake's

Park Manager Bradley Wright said. “The Master Plan guides efficient and cost-effective management, development and the use of our grounds.”

The last time the plan was changed was in October 1988. A revision means bringing Truman Lake up to date on procedures, policies and regulations while also considering future recreational use and trends.

“Maybe there's something, some need or recreational trend that's changed over the years,” Wright said.

Firefighters host Memorial Run this Saturday

By Chris Howell
chrish@sedaliademocrat.com

Saturday will be the 12th Annual Firefighters Memorial Ride hosted by Sedalia Firefighters 103. The ride leaves Liberty Park at 11 a.m., and will continue to Versailles, Laurie, Stover, and Cole Camp before returning to Sedalia.

“We have the firefighter's memorial down at Liberty Park,” firefighter Jeremy Pepin said. “We fully fund that ourselves, Local 103 does, there's no cost to the citizens.”

Construction, maintenance, and the expansion of the Firefighter's Memorial is paid for through funds raised by the run.

“We started this 13 years ago trying to raise funds to build that and it took off,” Pepin said. “Now there's obviously the upkeep of it, and expanding it, and taking care of it, as well as we use the money to pay for scholarships for local students who want to become firefighters.”

The money raised for those scholarships is considerable.

Gas prices fall slightly this week

By Democrat Staff
Over the last week, gas prices have fallen slightly from record highs but remain at a high point, stretching the pocketbooks and wallets of Americans. Although prices have fallen below $5 a gallon, they still will be at the highest rates this season for the Fourth of July.

The week is seeing a slight decrease in gasoline prices, with the average costs in Missouri falling 1.3 cents per gallon, averaging $4.70 a gallon on Monday, according to GasBuddy's survey of 3,940 stations in Missouri. On Thursday, in Sedalia, gas prices ranged from $4.59 to $4.64.

On Thursday, according to GasBuddy's annual summer travel survey, of the 58% of Americans planning to take a road trip this summer, 33% planned to travel specifically on Independence Day weekend. This will be the second most popular travel weekend of the summer, following Memorial Day. And though many will hit the road for the upcoming holiday weekend, 70% of drivers said they changed their summer trip plans because of high gas prices, a 52% increase from last year.

Amazon's Alexa could soon mimic voice of dead relatives

AP- Amazon's Alexa might soon replicate the voice of family members - even if they're dead.

The capability, unveiled at Amazon's Re:Mars conference in Las Vegas, is in development and would allow the virtual assistant to mimic the voice of a specific person based on a less than a minute of provided recording.

Rohit Prasad, senior vice president and head scientist for Alexa, said at the event Wednesday that the desire behind the feature was to build greater trust in the interactions users have with Alexa by putting more "human attributes of empathy and affect"

"These attributes have become even more important during the ongoing pandemic when so many of us have lost ones that we love," Prasad said. "While AI can't eliminate that pain of loss, it can definitely make their memories last."

In a video played by Amazon at the event, a young child asks "Alexa, can Grandma finish reading me the Wizard of Oz?" Alexa then acknowledges the request, and switches to another voice mimicking the child's grandmother. The voice assistant then continues to read the book in that same voice.

To create the feature, Prasad said the company had to learn how to make a "high-quality voice" with a shorter recording, opposed to hours of recording in a studio. Amazon did not provide further details about the feature, which is bound to spark more privacy concerns and ethical questions about consent.

Amazon's push comes as competitor Microsoft earlier this week said it was scaling back its synthetic voice offerings and setting stricter guidelines to "ensure the active participation of the speaker" whose voice is recreated. Microsoft said Tuesday it is limiting which customers get to use the service -- while also continuing to highlight acceptable uses such as an interactive Bugs Bunny character at AT&T stores.

POLICE REPORTS

This list is a sampling of crime in Sedalia and the surrounding area. Information is taken from official police reports, which do not necessarily contain statements from all parties involved in each case.

Sedalia Police Department Arrests June 22

12:10 p.m.: Nolana A. Edwards, 23, of Raytown was arrested after officers were dispatched to GameStop, 3040 West Broadway Boulevard, in reference to a theft. The suspect was later located near the intersection of West Broadway Boulevard in South Moniteau Avenue when a traffic stop was conducted. Stolen property was recovered and returned.

During the investigation the suspect was placed under arrest, but was released from police custody with no charges.

7:30 p.m.: Dalton T. Hayes, 22, of the 700 block of East Fourth Street, was arrested after an officer was dispatched to a disturbance in the 1000 block of East Third Street. When the officer arrived there were several individuals arguing in the roadway and during the course of the investigation it was discovered the suspect had assaulted his step sister and father. Hayes was transported to the Pettis County Jail where he was placed on a 24-hour hold pending a charge of third-degree domestic assault.

Incidents June 22

8:43 a.m.: Victims came to the police department to report their storage unit was entered and items removed. Clothing, holiday decorations, and collectibles were valued at over $1,200. There are no suspects.

11:37 p.m.: Officers were informed of found property in the 300 block of East 16th Street. The property was collected and taken into the police department for safe keeping. The property will be stored until an owner collects it.

4:18 p.m.: A victim came to the station to report that someone had changed his financial institution for banking and the address concerning his social security benefits. He was informed by the Social Security office the date of the incident was June 14. He was also told he would likely be out the amount of May's payment. There are no suspects at this time.

6:16 p.m.: Officers were dispatched to the 1800 block of South Stewart Avenue for a found red suitcase. It was taken to the police department and placed into evidence for safe-keeping.

June 23

4:15 a.m.: Officers took a report of a theft in the 1700 block of East Fourth Street. The victim reported that her green and black Coleman bt200x motor bike was stolen from her front yard.

Pettis County Sheriff's Office Arrests June 22

10:47 p.m.: Darwin Potts, 51, of Sedalia, was arrested after deputies attempted to conduct a traffic stop in a vehicle with an incorrect license plate. The vehicle fled from deputies at high rates of speed around the northern Sedalia for approximately four minutes before the driver bailed out of the vehicle and ran on foot. Deputies took him into custody but the vehicle continued forward due to being left in drive, coming to a stop in a ditch. Deputies took a female passenger into custody who was later released from the scene. Potts was transported to the Pettis County Jail where he was placed on a 24-hour hold pending charges of resisting arrest, operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license, and careless and imprudent driving. Potts was also booked on a Pettis County failure-to-appear warrant on original charges of identity theft.

Reports: Six people die in helicopter crash in West Virginia

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP) — A Vietnam-era helicopter that carried tourists over West Virginia crashed and burned, killing all six people on board, authorities said.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the Bell UH-1B "Huey" helicopter crashed along Route 17 in Logan County about 5 p.m. Wednesday.

All six people on board were killed, said Ray Bryant, chief of operations for Logan County emergency ambulance service authority. The helicopter crashed in clear weather on a highway near the local airport, he said. "The entire cab of it was on fire," Bryant said in a phone interview Thursday.

"It was recognized by the first responders as being a helicopter from this area because we see it a lot," he said.

The crash occurred during an annual reunion for helicopter enthusiasts at MARPAT Aviation in Logan. It was scheduled to begin Tuesday and end Sunday, according to MARPAT's website.

During the event, visitors could sign up to ride or fly the historic helicopter, described by organizers as one of the last of its kind still flying. The helicopter was flown by the 114th Assault Helicopter Company, "The Knights of the Sky," in Vinh Long, Vietnam, throughout much of the 1960s, according to MARPAT. After the Huey returned to the U.S. in 1971, it was later featured in movies like "Die Hard," "The Rock" and "Baywatch."

Neither reunion organizers nor MARPAT officials returned requests for comment Thursday.

The crash was near the Battle of Blair Mountain historic sites, where a deadly clash erupted a century ago as thousands of coal miners marched to unionize in West Virginia.

Bobbi Childs, who lives nearby, saw smoke and flames and got close enough to see a man who was trapped.

"I saw that there was a guy trapped, I guess the captain. I tried to get down to the door where he was at. You could see him plain as day. I tried to get to him, but the fire was too hot. I couldn't get to him," Childs told WOWK-TV.

The road was expected to remain closed for at least 24 hours. The FAA and the National Transportation Safety Board will investigate.

Elon Musk's daughter granted legal name, gender change

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California judge has approved a request by Tesla CEO Elon Musk's adult daughter to change her name and gender on her birth certificate.

Vivian Jenna Wilson filed the petition in Los Angeles County Superior Court the day after turning 18 in April.

She listed gender identity and an apparent dislike of her father, as the reason for the change.

"I no longer live with or wish to be related to my biological father in any way, shape or form," she wrote on the petition.

Judge Rafael Ongkeko approved the petition Wednesday in the Santa Monica courthouse after no one objected to the change. A hearing that had been scheduled for Friday was canceled. The court order said a new birth certificate would be issued reflecting the change.

Vivian will now legally use the last name of her mother, Canadian author Justine Wilson, who was married to Musk from 2000 to 2008.

The couple had five children, the oldest of which died as an infant. Vivian has a twin brother.

Musk has been married three times, including twice to "Westworld" actress Talulah Riley. He has two young children with the singer Grimes.

On Father's Day, Musk tweeted: "I love all my my kids so much."

Musk, 50, who is currently trying to buy Twitter for $44 billion, has previously said he supports transgender people, though he was criticized for dismissing the use of different pronouns.

"I absolutely support trans, but all these pronouns are an esthetic nightmare," he tweeted in December 2020.

In July 2020, he tweeted "Pronouns suck."

The Associated Press attempted to reach Vivian Jenna Wilson for comment but phone calls were not answered and text messages were not immediately returned.

Mid-Missouri Artists to host fused glass, mixed media program

MMA members Barb and Mike Byrne will present the Thursday, June 30, program, “Fused Glass and Mixed Media Art,” for Mid-Missouri Artists.

Work by both artists can currently be viewed in the MMA Summer Exhibition in the UCM Gallery of Art and Design along with work by other members. That exhibit and the Great Gossamer Exhibition can be viewed through July 8. The MMA June program will begin at 7 p.m. in the Arts and Crafts Room of the Warrensburg Community Center, 445 E. Gay St.

Barb Byrne began her fused glass journey in 2009 taking a class at a local community center and falling in love with the medium. She has continued to gain experience through live classes, online webinars and tutorials, private tutoring, glass forums, books, and lots of experimentation.

Barb says that for close to 20 years, she and her husband Mike lived on a 300-acre farm in the beautiful Missouri countryside close to the Gasconade River.

“My connection to animals and nature drew me into doing animal portraits and landscapes using fine glass powder,” she said. “I also do abstracts and glass casting.”

Mike Byrne has been working with concrete for over 35 years.

“Years ago, I joined my love of Japanese gardens with my love of concrete and began casting Japanese lanterns and other garden sculptures from molds I custom built myself,” he noted. “Then, I began to specialize in bas-relief tiles, wall hangings, and geometric shapes. I like working in concrete because of its unassuming raw texture, while at the same time providing a reassuring feel.”

Mike’s concrete work is heavily influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright, Buckminster Fuller, Arman, and Art Deco architecture. He utilizes found objects to create fun and satirical part pieces. He “My focus is on elevating mass-produced objects to celebrate industrial designers who have created artistic pieces that are often overlooked,” he said. “I serve up objects in unexpected ways, but try not to disguise their original purpose. I often add titles to my pieces that are intellectually playful and produce a connection to the viewer.”

Gas

Prices in Missouri are 49.1 cents per gallon higher than a month ago and stand $1.95 a gallon higher than a year ago. The price of diesel has risen 2.6 cents nationally in the past week and stands at $5.80 per gallon.

According to GasBuddy price reports, the cheapest station in Missouri was priced at $4.23 a gallon on Sunday, while the most expensive was $5.39 a gallon, a difference of $1.16.

The national average price of gasoline has fallen 4.2 cents per gallon in the last week, averaging $4.97 on Monday. The national average is up 37.3 cents per gallon from a month ago and stands $1.92 a gallon higher than a year ago, according to GasBuddy data compiled from more than 11 million weekly price reports covering over 150,000 gas stations across the country.

Mid-Missouri prices range from $4.57 a gallon in Kansas City, which is down 3.4 cents per gallon from last week’s $4.61; $4.65 a gallon in Topeka, Kansas, up 1 cent per gallon from last week’s $4.64; to $4.90 a gallon in St. Louis, down 1.6 cents per gallon from last week’s $4.92.

On Wednesday, GasBuddy reported that President Biden announced his desire to halt the federal gas tax for three months, potentially leading to an 18.4-cent decline in gas prices to offer relief. If the tax is suspended, prices at the pump could drop even further this summer, saving American drivers collectively about $70 million per day while the average motorist saves $25-$70 over three months.

To save money on gas while traveling, GasBuddy recommends drivers shop around for the best prices, using a price comparison tool like the GasBuddy app. Drivers can also stretch gas dollars farther by increasing fuel efficiency with better driving habits and proper car maintenance.

“Finally, some relief,” Patrick De Haan, head of petroleum analysis at GasBuddy, said. “For the first time in nine weeks, gasoline prices have fallen, following a broad sell-off in oil markets last week, pushing the national average back under the $5 level with most states seeing relief at the pump.

“I’m hopeful the trend may continue this week, especially as concerns appear to be mounting that we may be on the cusp of an economic slowdown, putting downward pressure on oil,” he continued. “But the coast isn’t yet entirely clear. We could see the national average fall another 15 to 30 cents, if we’re lucky, by the time fireworks are flying, barring any unexpected shutdowns at a time when the market is extremely sensitive to such.”

Fix the Hog: Harley, Westinghouse ordered to fix warranties

Marcy Gordon

Associated Press

Federal regulators have accused Harley-Davidson and Westinghouse of imposing illegal warranty terms on customers and ordered them to fix their warranties and ensure that their dealers compete fairly with independent repair-makers.

The companies have imposed illegal warranty terms that voided customer warranties if they used anyone other than the companies and their authorized dealers to get parts or repairs — restricting their options and costing them more money, the Federal Trade Commission announced Thursday in actions against the Milwaukee motorcycle maker and MWE Investments, which makes Westinghouse-brand outdoor power generators and related equipment.

Under a proposed consent agreement with the agency, the companies will be prohibited from telling customers that their warranties will be voided if they use third-party services or parts, or that they should only use branded parts or authorized service providers.

The companies also will be required to add specific language to their warranties recognizing consumers’ right to repair: “Taking your product to be serviced by a repair shop that is not affiliated with or an authorized dealer of (company name) will not void this warranty. Also, using third-party parts will not void this warranty.”

The companies must send and post notices telling customers that their warranties will remain in effect even if they buy aftermarket parts or get service from independent repair-makers. They must direct their authorized dealers to remove deceptive display materials, train employees, and not promote branded parts and dealers over third parties.

Last year, the FTC adopted a policy statement supporting the “right to repair” that pledged beefed-up enforcement efforts and opened the way to new regulations. The regulators maintained that anti-competitive restrictions have steered consumers into isolated repair networks or led them to replace products before the end of their useful lives. The idea was to make Americans freer to repair their broken cellphones, computers, videogame consoles or even tractors themselves, or to use independent repair shops.

“Consumers deserve choices when it comes to repairing their products, and independent dealers deserve a chance to compete,” Samuel Levine, director of the FTC’s consumer protection bureau, said in a prepared statement Thursday. “These orders require Harley and Westinghouse to fix their warranties, come clean with consumers and ensure fair competition with independent providers. Other companies that squelch consumers’ right to repair should take notice.”

Unavailable parts, instruction manuals and diagnostic software and tools, product design restrictions and locks on software embedded in devices have made many consumer products harder to fix and maintain, regulators and industry critics say. Do-it-yourself repairs often require specialized tools, hard-to-obtain parts and access to diagnostic software that’s guarded by manufacturers.

“The rubber is hitting the road on the FTC’s new focus on protecting your right to repair,” Nathan Proctor, senior right-to-repair campaign director for U.S. Public Interest Research Group, said in a statement. “Harley-Davidson and Westinghouse are not the only companies that use the threat of a voided warranty to restrict repair. The FTC’s actions ... send a clear signal that it’s time to stop violating consumer rights and honor right-to-repair protections.”

Spokespeople for Harley-Davidson didn’t immediately respond to a request for comment; Westinghouse spokespeople couldn’t be reached.

The proposed consent agreement will be opened to public comment for 30 days, after which the FTC will decide whether to make it final.

PUZZLE

June 18th Answers
$600 Could Have Been Yours!

There was NO WINNER last week, so be sure to look in Saturday’s Sedalia Democrat for your chance to win up to $650

ACROSS

1. CRUISER not cruises. The clue’s reference to the “crew onboard” links up well with a single warship (i.e. CRUISER). Grammatically speaking, it would be crews in the plural form when referring to cruises.

5. START not smart. Since the definition of the verb to smart is to feel a sharp, “stinging” pain, the clue word “stinging” is superfluous. To START (e.g., to make a small, jerking movement) is a better choice.

8. WRY not dry. The very nature of WRY “humor,” being twisted or paradoxical, can make it so that jokes are lost on some people, especially if they have been drinking heavily. Dry “humor” may be restrained, but it can still be easy to understand.

10. SHOES not shows. The clue suggests that it is the length of time that caused the action to cease; in other words, it’s because the “run” was “a long” one that the SHOES were “taken off.” Shows can be “taken off” the air because, for instance, they have lost viewership or sponsorship.

12. MOPE not hope. There may well be reason for the victim to “sit” and hope to be rescued, especially if he sees the rescue of others around him. But the “frightened relative” who’s following the “disaster” story on the “news” might well advise his cousin not to “just sit there and” MOPE.

16. CALL not cell. The son could have “been given” the opportunity to make a CALL from the police station “following his arrest,” but grammatically speaking, he would have been assigned a prison cell.

18. AGED not awed. AGED is apt. The clue phrase “waiting” for a “long time” for a “selfie with” a “celebrity” makes awed superfluous.

19. DAY not hay. DAY is a good answer. Hay needs further explanation; for example, the hay would have to be out in the open to “be spoiled,” but if it’s stored in a building, it might not “be spoiled” at all.

20. LEAKING not leading. The fact that the “car” is LEAKING means its driver was probably forced to pull “off” the “racetrack,” causing groans from the stands. It is quite normal for race cars to pull “off” the “racetrack” for a very short pit stop.

DOWN

2. RUNGS not rings. “Loose” RUNGS on a ladder can be dangerous, but rings is too vague as to the kind of rings being referenced, since shower curtain rings or equipment rings can be intentionally loose in order to function properly.

3. SPY not shy. SPY is apt. A shy person could “show discomfort,” not only “when questioned by authorities” but in normal situations as well.

4. TAR not mar. TAR has a direct link to “roofers” who use TAR to repair cracks in a roof. Mar is not as straightforward since there are many ways to mar a “wall” that don’t involve “roofers” at all.

6. TRUNK not truck. Even with “clever thinking,” a truck cannot be altered in order to make it fit “into tight space”; whereas a TRUNK could be altered by emptying its contents to make it easier to lift, to lower and to wedge “into tight space.”

7. ROOT not riot. A riot, by its very nature, is already out of “control,” but a big ROOT can be cut or pulled and thereby controlled, if “dealt with as soon as possible.”

11. RESCUED not rescuer. RESCUED could refer to more than one, which matches up well with the clue words “series” and “life-threatening situations,” as opposed to rescuer, which implies only one.

13. REGAIN not retain. The fact that he stumbled “badly” means that he momentarily lost his “composure.” Therefore, he would be attempting to REGAIN his “composure” rather than retain it.

17. LIME not limo. “Every opportunity to have” a LIME in a drink or as an ingredient in a dessert could indeed be “a pleasure.” But grammatically speaking, the clue phrase should read: “every opportunity to” take a limo.

PASTOR’S PULPIT

Living a purposeful life

Pastor Jeremiah Greever

Founders Midwest Committee
Co-Chair
Senior Pastor First Baptist Church of Sedalia

Is there a more important question in life than how to live purposefully? Everyone wants their life to matter, but how can we know that we’ve lived purposefully? What makes a life well lived?

While there’s inevitably various good things to do in life to make a difference, there’s only one way for our lives to truly have lasting meaning and purpose. A purposeful life is one that is reconciled to its Creator. More than mere chance, humanity was created for a purpose and is defined and determined by our Creator. The good news of the Bible is that the decision isn’t up to us to discover or wonder what our purpose is in life. We can have complete confidence that our lives are purposeful if we have been made right with the God who created us and calls us to follow Him.

The beautiful picture of purposeful living is wrapped up into two verses by Jesus — “If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it; but whoever loses his life for My sake will find it” (Matthew 16:24-25) Jesus gives us the blueprints for purposeful living, but it’s not finding our truth, discovering our passions, or pursuing our desires. It’s in giving up everything to be right with God.

Purposeful living is shockingly simple — it’s giving up our ambitions to be right with Christ. It’s seeing Christ as more beautiful and satisfying than anything this world has to offer and delighting our souls in the rich goodness of a merciful and gracious God. It replaces striving with trusting. It’s delighting in what Christ has finished on the cross instead of in the futility of our own efforts.

How freeing to know that we were made to be in a sweet relationship with the God who made and loves us! Our lives have meaning and purpose because we were created to be with our Maker and Sustainer for all eternity. When we rightly see that we were made to be eternally safe and secure with our God, the questions of life become increasingly clearer. We have a purpose in this life, and that purpose is to live in relationship with our God through His Son, Jesus Christ. Paradoxically, to gain purpose, we must abandon our pursuit of it and instead pursue Christ. Perhaps no one said it better than the missionary martyr, Jim Elliot, who gave his life believing the axiom, “He is no fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain that which he cannot lose.”

At the end of our lives, may we not be found to be fools. May we each determine today to purposefully live a meaningful life by knowing Christ and living abundantly in sweet relationship with Him.

Greitens RINO video spurred threats to family, lawyer says

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The family of Missouri U.S. Senate candidate Eric Greitens has been subjected to “serious threats” in the days since he released a violent campaign video in which he declares he’s “hunting” RINOs, or Republicans in Name Only, the lawyer for his ex-wife said in court Thursday.

Attorney Helen Wade said Sheena Greitens has received written threats, noting her email address is a public record because she’s an employee at a public university.

After the gun-toting campaign video was released, “she’s received some serious threats,” Wade said.

“She’s scared,” Wade added during a hearing in the former couple’s child custody case. She said the video “has created a situation where others may perceive it as a call to arms.”

The hearing was part of the case to decide whether custody of the couple’s two sons should be overseen by a court in Missouri or in Texas, where Sheena Greitens and the boys now live. In a March affidavit as part of the case, Sheena Greitens accused her husband of verbal and physical abuse.

Greitens, who resigned as Missouri governor in June 2018 after an extramarital affair spawned a criminal charge in St. Louis, has repeatedly called the abuse allegations lies. He accused Sheena Greitens of collaborating with people he considers RINOs — Republicans in Name Only — such as Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell and longtime GOP operative Karl Rove, in an effort to sabotage his Senate campaign.

The 38-second campaign ad that dropped Monday shows Eric Greitens brandishing a shotgun. An armed tactical team breaks into a home and throws what appear to be flash-bang grenades. Greitens enters through the smoke and says: “Join the MAGA crew. Get a RINO hunting permit. There’s no bagging limit, no tagging limit and it doesn’t expire until we save our country.”

Eric Greitens said the ad was meant to be humorous and not taken literally. He was not at the hearing.

“I’m disappointed Eric isn’t here today because we were hoping that we would be able to get him to make a statement clearly denouncing the use of any sort of violence against my client,” Wade said.

Eric Greitens’ attorney, Gary Stamper, said in court “it’s disingenuous to suggest” that Greitens “would want harm to befall her.” But Stamper said he will talk to him about making a statement denouncing any threats of violence against Sheena Greitens and his children.

Wade said the threats should be taken seriously and referred in court to written threats the family had received. She did not specify how the threats came, whether by email, social media or other means.

“We live in a country where this kind of rhetoric has resulted in violence,” she said. “It’s in writing, ‘Wouldn’t it be awful if someone hunted down and killed Eric Greitens and his entire family. Golly that would be terrible. That’s one of them. The other one is so horrible I can’t read it aloud in court.”

Eric Greitens is among 21 Republicans running for the Senate seat being vacated by incumbent Roy Blunt’s retirement. Most polling has shown Greitens at or near the top of the field, though in close competition with U.S. Rep. Vicky Hartzler and Attorney General Eric Schmitt.

Some GOP leaders fear that if Greitens wins the Aug. 2 primary, he could lose in November. With the Senate evenly divided, the GOP can’t afford to lose what would otherwise be a safe seat.

Greitens is a former Navy SEAL officer and Rhodes Scholar who was largely unknown in politics before he was elected governor in 2016. With abundant charisma, good looks and his military background, Greitens was seen by many as a future presidential contender. He didn’t hide his ambition, reserving the website Eric-GreitensForPresident.com.

His star seemed to fade as fast as it rose. In January 2018, he admitted to a 2015 extramarital affair with his St. Louis hairdresser and a month later, he was indicted on an invasion-of-privacy charge that accused of taking a compromising photo of the woman.

In short order, a Missouri House committee began investigating campaign finance issues, and Greitens faced a second felony charge in St. Louis related to campaign finances. Both charges were eventually dropped. Under the risk of the charges being refiled, and still facing possible impeachment, Greitens resigned in June 2018. Eric and Sheena Greitens divorced in 2020.

In the March affidavit, Sheena Greitens said her ex-husband demonstrated such “unstable and coercive behavior” as his political career appeared to be collapsing in 2018 that steps were taken to limit his access to firearms.

At one point, she said, Eric Greitens purchased a gun but refused to tell her where it was. He also threatened to kill himself “unless I provided specific public political support,” she wrote. The behavior was so alarming, she wrote, that on three separate occasions in February, April and May 2018, “multiple people other than me were worried enough to intervene to limit Eric’s access to firearms.”

The latest campaign ad sparked a pushback on some social media sites. Facebook removed the video “for violating our policies prohibiting violence and incitement.” Twitter said Greitens’ post violated its rules about abusive behavior but said it was leaving it up because it was in the “public’s interest” for the tweet to be viewable. The company’s move prevented the post from being shared any further.

Lawyer leaving 1/6 panel amid talk of Missouri Senate run

An attorney working as a senior investigator for the U.S. House committee investigating the Jan. 6 insurrection will leave the post amid calls urging him to run for a Missouri U.S. Senate seat as an independent.

John F. Wood’s resignation is effective Friday. The resignation was confirmed Wednesday by Steve Crim, a political consultant working with the group formed to back Wood as a Senate candidate, johnwoodformo.org.

Crim said Wood has not declared a Senate run but is exploring the possibility.

“We are encouraged by John’s decision to leave the select committee on Friday as an important next step in providing Missourians a principled, common-sense choice this November,” Crim said in a statement.

The committee launched a website on Monday urging Wood to run for retiring GOP Sen. Roy Blunt’s seat. The website called Wood a “principled leader who has put country over party when the stakes are highest and is committed to serving the people of our state with integrity.”

The launch came the same day a leading Republican candidate, former Gov. Eric Greitens, released a campaign video showing him brandishing a shotgun and declaring that he’s hunting RINOs, which stands for Republicans in Name Only.

The ad’s violent imagery drew strong criticism, including from some conservatives, though Greitens contended it was meant to be humorous. Facebook took down the ad.

Former Republican U.S. Sen. John Danforth of suburban St. Louis also has urged Wood to run as a right-leaning independent. Wood once worked for Danforth’s staff.

Wood, 52, served as U.S. attorney for Missouri’s Western District from 2007 to 2009 and prior to that held key roles in the George W. Bush administration. He was working as general counsel for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce when he stepped down in September to become senior investigative counsel for the Jan. 6 committee.

Republicans are skeptical of a third-party bid in Missouri, but some acknowledged there is no backup plan if Greitens wins the primary.

Danforth plans to contribute $5 million from his political action committee to advertise in support of a campaign and is seeking to “raise substantially more to build on that donation,” a person familiar with Danforth’s decision told The Associated Press Wednesday. The person was not authorized to speak on behalf of Danforth and confirmed the amount on condition of anonymity.

To get on the November ballot as an independent, Wood would need to submit petitions signed by 10,000 registered voters by Aug. 1.

Twenty-one Republicans are competing in the August primary election. Greitens is considered a frontrunner despite resigning as governor in 2018 in the midst of an investigation into whether he used a compromising photo to blackmail a woman from speaking about their extramarital affair.

Many Republican leaders fear Greitens could win the nomination but lose to a Democrat in November, ceding what should be a safe Republican Senate seat in an election where control of the Senate is on the line.

Other GOP contenders include Attorney General Eric Schmitt, U.S. Reps. Vicky Hartzler and Billy Long, Missouri Senate President Pro Tem Dave Schatz and St. Louis attorney Mark McCloskey. Schatz is positioning himself as a “Reagan Republican.” The others are strong supporters of former President Donald Trump, who has not yet endorsed a candidate in the race.

Leading Democratic contenders include former Marine Lucas Kunce and Trudy Busch Valentine, who is part of the Busch brewery family.

“(Sign-up) through our website is probably the easiest way but we take kids all summer long,” Schmidt said. “Sometimes parents sign-up their kiddos and they are only here for a week or two when they need us and we’re happy to do that.”

The Parkview site is $10 a day for K-fourth grade kids and the First Baptist Church site is $5 a day for fifth-grade kids and older.

Schmidt said another exciting thing about this summer is the club is serving breakfast, lunch and snacks thanks to Simmon’s Bank.

She continued by explaining what she likes about the summer program and the help it provides.

“I think it’s fun,” Schmidt said. “I think it gives kids some structure. Sometimes kids can just sit at home, in front of a T.V., just laze about but this gives them something fun and interesting while also learning a little bit.”

The summer program helps kids with summer learning loss, such as the reading levels and education learned during the school year that is lost during the summer due to not having that same learning structure.

“Summer slide is a big thing,” Schmidt said. “And right now, we’re doing reading buddies and they’re actually practicing their reading skills.”

Other classes do a program called “Brain Gain,” which gives kids the opportunity to continue science, math and other learning activities.

“Disguise learning as fun and games,” Schmidt said. “One of our pillars is academic success, so we try to bring academics to everything they do.”

The summer program will end on Aug. 12 and the staff will go through two weeks of training before the beginning of the school year.

Head of drug trafficking ring gets 15-year prison sentence

The leader of a large-scale drug trafficking organization that imported millions of doses of cocaine and fentanyl to several U.S. states has been sentenced to 15 years in prison, federal authorities in Rhode Island said.

Juni Rafael Jimenez-Martinez, 47, a Dominican national who had previously been deported but was living in Providence, attempted to insulate himself from the drug trafficking operation by using people he trusted to carry out much of the organization’s day-to-day business, according to a statement from U.S. Attorney Zachary Cunha.

But he oversaw and directed the importation, transportation, storage, and distribution of multiple kilograms of drugs to New York City, that were later moved elsewhere for distribution, prosecutors said.

“A lot of things have changed since then. We’re hoping we can capture some of those changes.”

Many of the current comments Wright has seen talk about changing the hours for the lake’s visitor center, which were originally changed due to budget cuts, but the scope of the Master Plan is actually far larger than regulation on when things are open and closed.

“We kind of view the Master Plan more like a city planning or city building document,” Wright said. “The Master Plan itself is more like a 30,000-foot view down towards the project.”

Wright says that includes checking if land areas around Truman Lake need or want any updates to classification, adjusting things to meet current and future recreational needs and even managing certain environmental aspects.

The submission period for public comments ends July 1; however, that does not end the long process of change. According to Wright, comments from the public and stockholders will be considered, a draft will be made, submitted for people to comment on and then adjusted again.

“We’re at step three of about 70 to 100,” Wright said. “It’s going to be about a year and a half to two year time frame until we’re done with the revision.”

To learn more about the Harry S. Truman Dam and Reservoir Master Plan Revision and give public comments, visit go.usa.gov/xugxv or send an email to harry.s.truman@usace.army.mil. “We estimate 40 or $50,000 in local scholarships,” Pepin said. “A lot of our firefighters were previous recipients and it helped them to get through and become firefighters. Some of the EMTs at PCAD are also recipients of that scholarship.”

Pepin hopes for a big turnout Saturday, and a presentation will be held at 9:30 a.m. honoring the four Sedalia firefighters killed in the line of duty, William Collins, Edward May, Edward Shine, and Rickey S. Morris.

“We get everyone, all the city leaders usually come, the council members and local business owners will come out to support it,” Pepin said. “Depending on the weather, anywhere from 100 to 200 people show up, motorcycle riders, people who just drive their cars, will come out and do this poker run.

“We’re going to recognize all the firefighters who died in the line of duty over the years protecting Sedalia,” he continued. “We’re expecting a huge crowd for that, we’re hoping somewhere in the three to 400 people down there.”

Pepin has a goal this year of raising more money on this run than has ever been raised for the memorial and scholarships.

“We have a goal to raise $10,000 this year,” Pepin said. “So we can give out even more scholarships. This ride will help us raise enough money to build additions to the wall. It’s a big granite wall where we can now put the names of every firefighter who’s ever worked here when they pass away, even if it wasn’t in the line of duty.”

Pepin said remembering the fallen firefighters and those who passed after a life of dedication to Sedalia is an honor Firefighters Local 103 is proud to do.

“It’s one of the biggest honors of working here, this is one of the nicest firefighter memorials in the entire state and we have it,” Pepin said. “The fact that we’re able to self-fund this with the help of the community is huge to us and it’s huge to the families.

for the City they don’t want to feel like it was all for nothing,” he added. “We were humbled by what it means to the families of the firefighters.”

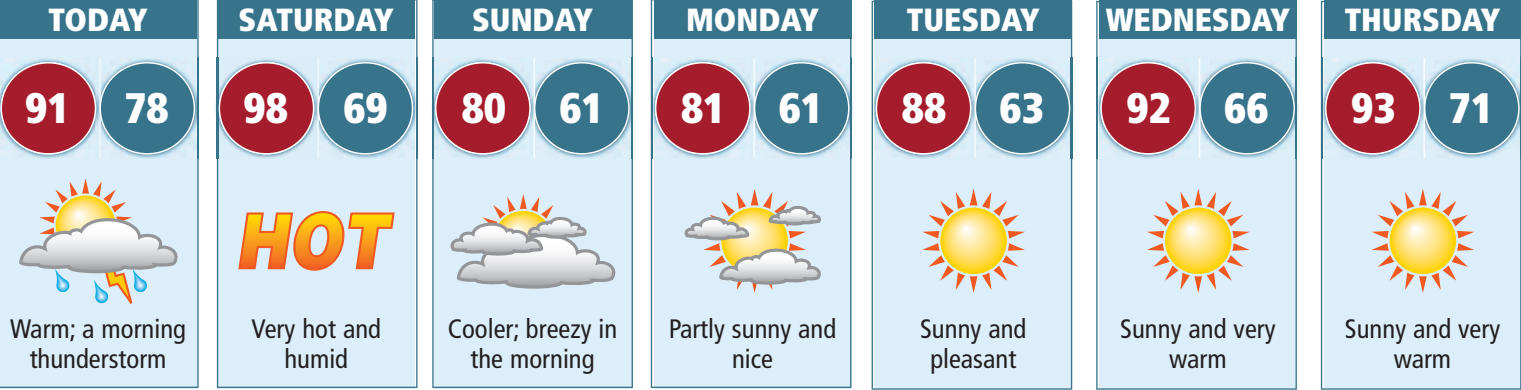

To register online or for more information, visit the Sedalia Fire Department or Local 103’s Facebook page.

Registration in person starts at 9 a.m. at Liberty Park just east of Convention Hall. Early registrants will pay only $15 and get a pin commemorating the ride. Registration on the day of the event is $20.

No one may be happier that the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup has returned this year than Sporting Kansas City and its supporters.

Absent the past two years due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the four-time winners booked a place in this year's tournament semifinals with Wednesday night's 6-0 domination of Union Omaha at Children's Mercy Park.

Plymell promoted to White Sox's High-A affiliate

By Joe Andrews
joea@warrensburgstarjournal.com

Smith-Cotton High School, State Fair Community College and University of Central Missouri alumnus Chase Plymell is on to the next step of his professional baseball career.

The right-handed pitcher within the Chicago White Sox organization was called up from Single A to High-A, according to minor league transactions.

The move relocates him from Kannapolis, North Carolina to Winston-Salem, North Carolina, a 57 mile difference. Plymell was activated by the Winston-Salem Dash on Tuesday, June 21.

The promotion marks Plymell's first since being assigned to the Kannapolis Cannon Ballers upon the conclusion of Spring Training. He appeared in 15 games for the Cannon Ballers, all from the bullpen.

Plymell's performance translated to a 4.19 ERA through 34 1/3 innings pitched. He held opposition to a .285 batting average, surrendering 39 hits. He walked just seven batters and struck out 43. His baserunners turned to 18 runs (16 earned).

Plymell's time with Kannapolis led to a 2-3 record, while also clinching three saves in five opportunities.

His pitching has improved throughout the Spring, going from a 27.00 ERA in his second appearance in May, gradually decreasing to 4.19 in his last trip to the mound with Kannapolis.

Plymell had just one run to his name in his last four games with the Cannon Ballers, putting his WHIP for June at .94. When Tuesday's transaction was made, Kannapolis held a 26-37 record.

Plymell's advancement to High-A puts him with a Winston-Salem Dash team that holds a 32-31 record.

He made his debut Wednesday, throwing a scoreless inning while walking one and striking out one.

The Dash are a member of the South Atlantic League, and sit ninth in terms of team pitching with an ERA of 4.57. They mark the third team Plymell has been a part of since joining the White Sox organization as an undrafted free agent last September.

He began with rookie ball in the Arizona Complex League following, appearing in two games before the offseason. His Low-A stint in Kannapolis began in April.

Plymell's game-by-game statistics can be found at milb.com/player/chase-plymell-684384.

WIMBLEDON 2022: No Russians, no rankings, but Serena's back!

By Howard Fendrich
AP Tennis Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — At least at the outset, before a tennis ball is struck, this edition of Wimbledon is as much about who — and what — is missing as who's here.

And that's even taking this into account: It is no small matter that the grass-court Grand Slam tournament marks the return of Serena Williams to singles play after a year away.

The No. 1-ranked man, Daniil Medvedev, was barred from competing by the All England Club, along with every other player from Russia and Belarus, because of the war in Ukraine.

"It's a mistake," International Tennis Hall of Fame member Martina Navratilova said about the ban. "What are they supposed to do, leave the country? I wouldn't wish that on my worst enemy."

Avalanche a win away from dethroning 2-time champ Lightning

Colorado Avalanche defenseman Cale Makar (8) controls the puck next to Tampa Bay Lightning center Anthony Cirelli (71) during the third period of Game 4 of the NHL hockey Stanley Cup Finals on Wednesday, June 22, 2022, in Tampa, Fla.

By Pat Graham
AP Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Cale Makar and the Colorado Avalanche weren't all that interested in glancing back at the simmering controversy over the way Game 4 ended in overtime.

Of way more importance was looking ahead to this: A chance to clinch the franchise's first Stanley Cup title since 2001. In front of their home fans, too, where ticket prices have soared to more than $1,300 for an upper-level seat.

On Friday night in Game 5, Colorado has a chance to not only dethrone two-time defending champion Tampa Bay, but possibly jumpstart its own dynasty, behind a core of young, dynamic players like Makar.

"It's going to be the toughest one that we've had so far," said Makar, whose team leads 3-1 in the best-of-seven series and boasts a 3-1 mark in close-out games this postseason. "We have to expect them to bring obviously everything they have at us because it's do-or-die. We just have to be ready."

The Lightning weren't unhappy with how things ended in overtime on Wednesday night. Nazem Kadri, injured thumb and all, scored the winner on a shot that slipped under the right arm of goaltender Andrei Vasilevskiy.

Tampa Bay's gripe: The Avalanche appeared to have too many players on the ice.

A day later, Lightning coach Jon Cooper softened his stance.

"It's unfortunate but it's water under the bridge now," Cooper said. "It should be a hell of a Game 5."

All Colorado needs is one win in three tries — two at home — for its third Stanley Cup title since relocating to Denver from Quebec in 1995-96. The Avalanche swept Florida in their inaugural season and earned title No. 2 in '01 with a Game 7 win at home over the New Jersey Devils.

Sprinter Richardson's speed, swagger returns for nationals

By Anne M. Peterson
AP Sports Writer

Sprinter Sha'Carri Richardson appears to have both her speed and swagger back for the U.S. track and field championships.

A victory this week at Hayward Field in Eugene, Oregon, and it's on to the world outdoor championships, the sport's highest-profile event outside of the Olympics. Richardson missed out on the Tokyo Games because of a failed drug test for marijuana.

Known for her flashy track suits, fingernail extensions and ever-changing hair colors, Richardson certainly doesn't lack confidence.

"Don't let the media, don't let people, don't let a company, try to stop you from shining, because you sunshine," Richardson said as cheering young fans called her name at a recent race in New York. "We are the light."

Richardson entered in both the 100 and 200 meters at the national championships, which kicked off Thursday in the Oregon city known as "Track Town." If she places in the top three in those events, she move on to worlds next month, also at Hayward Field

Richardson garnered attention last summer when she won the 100 meters at the Olympic trials, which determined the team for Tokyo. But her title was stripped after she tested positive shortly after the race.

She was handed a 30-day suspension that kept her out of the event in Tokyo, and she was also left off the U.S. team as part of the relay pool, although her suspension would've been completed by the time of the 4x100 race.

She acknowledged the mistake in an interview with the "Today" show after her suspension. She said she used marijuana as a way of coping with her mother's recent death. But on Twitter this week she lamented the interview: "I wish I never did this. I wish I had the choice when it was time for me to tell my story."

A few weeks after missing out on racing at the Olympics, Richardson finished last in the 100 at the Prefontaine Classic. She faced criticism after that August race from some of the more traditional corners of the sport that she was all talk and no substance.

But at this year's Pre, as it is known, the 22-year-old Texan finished second to Olympic gold medalist Elaine Thompson-Herah of Jamaica in the 100, running in a solid 10.92 seconds.

This month at the inaugural NYC Grand Prix, Richardson won the 200 in 22.38, and came in second in the 100 in 10.85, a season-best. And she did it in style, with a unique red fishnet track suit and rhinestones dotting her face.

"I feel phenomenal," she said afterward.

She said her pre-race hype music was Drake's "No Friends in the Industry." The lyrics even have an ode to her: "And I'm like Sha'Carri, smoke 'em on and off the track."

HOROSCOPES

By Georgia Nicols
Moon Alert: There are no restrictions to shopping or important decisions today. The Moon is in Taurus.
Happy Birthday for Friday, June 24, 2022:

You are a natural leader who is independent. You influence others. You're an excellent problem-solver, and you value home and family. This year is the last year of a nine-year cycle, which means it's time to wrap up things. Let go of people, places and things that are no longer relevant.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★ Be sensible and respect your money and your wealth, because today you're tempted to make impulsive purchases. Likewise, guard what you own against loss, theft or damage. This is an unpredictable day for your wealth and your assets, which is why you might find money or lose money. Tonight: Keep your eyes open.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★ Today seems to be full of electric energy, and you can feel it! This is why you might impulsively do something or suddenly go off in a new direction without a word to anyone. Guard against doing something rash, because your moods will change quickly today. You want some action! Tonight: Stay chill.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★ This is a restless day for you. That's because both the Moon and Uranus are lined up together, but they're in a hidden part of your chart. This could make it difficult for you to fully concentrate on something. You also might be unconsciously impatient with others. Relax and stay chill. Tonight: Relax.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
★★★★ Very likely, a friend or a member of a group will say or do something that surprises you today. This could be intriguing, or irritating. Alternatively, you might meet someone today who is a real character. Something or someone might even cause you to rethink or change your goals for the future. Tonight: Be cautious.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
★★★★ You will bristle if someone tries to stop you from doing something today, even if your plans are last minute. You don't want to be dictated to by others. You have a strong drive for freedom, and you definitely want to be able to do your own thing. Tonight: Be aware.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
★★★ A chance to travel might drop in your lap today. On the other hand (you have different rings), travel plans might be canceled, changed or delayed. Likewise, something in the media might surprise you, or perhaps the surprise relates to legal or medical matters. Tonight: Listen to someone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
★★★ Double-check details related to inheritances, insurance matters, shared property, taxes and debt, because something unexpected could impact something related to these areas for you. Check your banking details. It's important to stay on top of things, because you snooze, you lose. Tonight: Be aware.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
★★★ A partner or close friend might throw you a curveball today. Or they might say something that shocks you. Or perhaps you feel impatient with them. Tread carefully, because why do something or say something that you will regret later? Think twice before you act. Tonight: Patience.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
★★★★ This might be an accident-prone day for you because work-related accidents are likely. They might simply be equipment breakdowns. Meanwhile, staff shortages, power outages, late deliveries and unexpected surprises will impact your day. Check your pet. Tonight: Get organized.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
★★★★ Parents should know this is an accident-prone day for their kids. Meanwhile, anyone might discover that they have a sudden change in social plans or a sudden change in schedules related to sports. Be smart and guard against sports accidents. Tonight: Be gentle.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
★★★ Your home routine will be interrupted today. Small appliances might break down or a minor breakage could occur. Someone might knock at your door. It could be anything. Get dressed. Be ready for the unexpected, because that's half the battle. Tonight: Cocoon at home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
★★★ This is an accident-prone day for your sign -- no question. We might be talking about a physical accident; however, it also could be a gaffe -- you might suddenly say something you regret later. Take extra precautions driving, walking and jogging. On the upside, a brilliant idea might amaze everyone. Tonight: Stay calm.

Ohtani strikes out career-high 13 in Angels' win over KC

By Greg Beacham
AP Sports Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Shohei Ohtani adheres to strict routine in nearly every aspect of his life. When his latest mound start was delayed 12 minutes by a pregame ceremony honoring the Angels' 2002 World Series champions, his meticulous preparation took a hit before he even threw a pitch.

A slightly bumpy beginning still led to a second straight incredible night for the two-way superstar.

Ohtani struck out a career-high 13 over eight dominant innings of two-hit ball, and the AL MVP also reached base three times in Los Angeles' 5-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals on Wednesday.

After giving up two singles to start that delayed first inning, Ohtani (6-4) retired 16 straight Royals and 23 of the final 24 batters he faced. While matching the longest start of his major league career, he allowed just one baserunner over his final seven innings — on a walk that was quickly erased by a double play.

"I think the biggest thing was putting up that zero in the first inning after giving up those first two hits," Ohtani said through his translator. "I was able to do that, and it set the tone for the game. I wanted to go as long as I could, but I wasn't really thinking about the pitch count early in the game."

With the backdrop of a rare Southern California lightning storm illuminating the sky far beyond center field at the Big A, Ohtani also had a single and two walks at the plate in his latest electrifying two-way performance.

One night after Ohtani hit two three-run homers and drove in a career-high eight runs in an extra-inning loss, he set a new personal best for strikeouts by fanning Emmanuel Rivera on his 108th and final pitch.

"He just put us on his back," Angels interim manager Phil Nevin said. "I thought about taking him out going into the eighth, and he was adamant: 'No. This is mine. I'm staying.' ... What a day. What a performance by him."

David MacKinnon got his first major league hit with an RBI single in the seventh for the Angels, who avoided a series sweep with their fourth victory in six games overall. Luis Rengifo had an RBI double in the seventh before scoring on that single to right by MacKinnon, who got his first career RBI two innings earlier with a sacrifice fly.

After scoring 18 runs in the previous two games at Angel Stadium, the Royals were shut out for the second time in four days and the 10th time this season. Kansas City still has won five of seven.

"That was a display," Royals manager Mike Matheny said. "It's a very unique repertoire of pitches. I don't think you're going to find as many guys with as many weapons as what we saw today. He was throwing three different sliders, plus a cutter and a curve. When the split started going, that's when the strikeouts really started to happen, and he's got 100 (mph) in the tank that he hardly ever showed. ... It's going to be a tough day at the plate."

Ohtani is unbeatable on the mound lately, allowing just one run in his last 20 innings over three starts. In his most recent home start two weeks ago, he pitched seven innings of one-run ball and also homered in a victory that snapped the Angels' franchise-record 14-game skid.

Whit Merrifield and Andrew Benintendi singled in the Royals' first two at-bats against Ohtani, but he subsequently set down every batter he faced until Merrifield drew a one-out walk in the sixth — and Benintendi quickly grounded into a double play.

Ohtani's fastball topped 99 mph twice in the second half of his start while he baffled Kansas City, getting a whopping 34 combined strikes on swing-and-misses or called strikes.

Daniel Lynch (3-7) wasn't as effective for the Royals early on, but the left-hander resourcefully shut down the Angels until they loaded the bases in the fifth on two walks and an infield single. Lynch, who left after MacKinnon's sacrifice fly, gave up three hits and five walks on a career-high 104 pitches.

Mike Trout got a rest day for the Angels, leaving their struggling lineup decidedly lacking punch. But MacKinnon came through as the team's improbable clean-up hitter, getting first major league hit after getting called up last weekend for his MLB debut.

MacKinnon was pleased by his breakthrough swings, but other aspects of the game also thrilled him.

"I got to play the field behind Shohei and see how good he is," MacKinnon said. "It's crazy being here."

TRAINER'S ROOM
Royals: C Salvador Perez sat out after reinjuring his left thumb on a swing Tuesday night, but Matheny said the team is still determining the seriousness of the injury after an MRI exam.

Angels: RHP Jimmy Herget went on the 15-day injured list with a right shoulder impingement. Right-handers Elvis Peguero and Oliver Ortega came up from Triple-A Salt Lake, while inconsistent rookie Reid Detmers went down just six starts after throwing a no-hitter.

UP NEXT
Royals: Zack Greinke is expected to come off the injured list Friday to start when Kansas City opens a three-game weekend series at home against Oakland. Greinke (0-4, 5.05 ERA) went on the IL three weeks ago with a strained forearm.

Angels: After a day off at home, Los Angeles opens a three-game weekend series against Seattle on Friday night. Neither team had confirmed a starter.

The two professional tours reacted by pulling their ranking points from Wimbledon, an unprecedented move in a sport built around the rankings in so many ways. In turn, some athletes opted not to show up, including 2014 runner-up Eugenie Bouchard and four-time major champion Naomi Osaka.

For others, though, it was a no-doubt-about-it decision to show up. This is, after all, Wimbledon, with its unique surface and long-standing traditions, its powerful prestige and — let’s face it — tens of millions in prize money.

“It’s definitely hard to swallow that there are no points. I’m not going to sit here and tell you I’m happy about it. But the cards are dealt. At the end of the day, if I tell my mom I’m not playing Wimbledon, she’d be like, ‘Are you nuts?!’ So I’m going to go, no doubt,” said Frances Tiafoe, an American who is seeded 24th in the men’s field. “It’s out of everybody’s hands. It’s a tough situation, a crazy time. And it’s not just about you. It’s not a ‘Why me?’ problem.”

There were rumors among players that prize money would be cut, too, prompting one, Fabio Fognini, to joke that he’d be thankful for that because — without any ranking points available and with less cash on offer — he’d head to an island for some vacation time with his wife, 2015 U.S. Open champion Flavia Pennetta, and their young children.

But it turned out that’s all that was — a rumor: The All England Club wound up announcing it would provide a record total of about 40 million pounds ($50 million) in player compensation.

There are other important names staying away for different reasons.

Reigning women’s champion Ash Barty retired in March at age 25. Eight-time men’s champion Roger Federer still has not returned from the latest in a series of knee operations; he has not participated in any tournament since last year’s Wimbledon. No. 2-ranked Alexander Zverev is sidelined after tearing ligaments in his right ankle at the French Open.

Also gone in 2022 at Wimbledon, for the first time in its lengthy history: a scheduled day off on the middle Sunday (so what had been a 13-day tournament becomes a full two-week event).

Ah, but guess who’s back? Yes, Williams, thanks to a wild-card invitation, bringing enough star power to fill the spotlight for however long she remains in the bracket.

The owner of seven championships at the All England Club — and 23 from all majors, a record for the professional era — last competed in singles in June 2021, when she slipped on the slick Centre Court grass and injured her right leg, forcing her to stop in the first set of her first-round match.

Williams made a surprise appearance in doubles with Ons Jabeur on grass at Eastbourne this week, but the 40-year-old American will not have played singles before next week.

If Williams can crank up her best-in-the-game serve and move well enough to stay in points until she can end them with her stinging groundstrokes, who knows what she’ll be able to do? Plus, she has made a habit of winning matches soon after returning from lengthy absences.

Also planning to play is Rafael Nadal, who is halfway to a calendar-year Grand Slam for the first time after winning the Australian Open in January and the French Open this month. The latter title, his 14th in Paris and men’s-best 22nd at a major, came despite chronic pain in his left foot, which made the 36-year-old Spaniard question whether he could be at the All England Club — or continue at all.

This fortnight will not lack for story lines, certainly. French Open champion and top-ranked Iga Swiatek enters on a 35-match winning streak. Novak Djokovic bids for a fourth consecutive championship at Wimbledon and 21st Grand Slam trophy overall, knowing that, as things currently stand, he will not be able to go to the U.S. Open in August because he is not vaccinated against COVID-19. And this marks the centenary of the current Centre Court, which made its debut in 1922.

“I’m going to be in Wimbledon if my body is ready to be in Wimbledon. That’s it. Wimbledon is not a tournament that I want to miss,” said Nadal, the champion in 2008 and 2010 but absent last year because of his foot. “Nobody wants to miss Wimbledon.”

Their opponents, champions last year of third-division USL League 1, chose to play an attacking brand of soccer that played to Sporting’s favor, even if no one was taking the visitors lightly.

“I think you’ve got to give them a lot of credit,” Sporting KC manager Peter Vermes said. “They came to play. They didn’t just sit back and defend. They tried. I think when you’re in these competitions, you have to take your shot. Obviously, you can’t throw tactics and game plans to the wind, but you also have to come and try and play. I think that they should walk away feeling really good about the fact that they did.”

Though two of Sporting’s Open Cup titles came in years (2004, 2012) when the club also finished first in its conference, its last pair in the past decade (2015, 2017) coincided with MLS campaigns where its postseason seeding was less stellar, and both resulted in first-round playoff exits.

This season, Sporting sits in 12th place in the Western Conference, just a point from the bottom through 16 matches. But fresh off a 2-1 road victory Sunday at Nashville SC, who had its 25-match home unbeaten streak broken at brand new GEODIS Park, Sporting kept the momentum Wednesday, beginning with a 10th-minute opener scored by Daniel Salloi, who was spotted by Khiry Shelton and fed a ball in front of the face of goal for an easy finish.

Omaha temporarily kept Sporting at bay through several stops by goalkeeper Rashid Nuhu, but he couldn’t prevent center back Kourtne Ford from opening his scoring account for SKC in the 37th minute, as Felipe Hernandez found his head on an outswinging corner to double the lead.

Salloi’s second in the 53rd minute was far more memorable. He put one defender on the deck and left another flat-footed before he beat Nuhu with his right foot to make it 3-0.

“I just tried to do the most with the space and tried to create something with the fake shot, and then trying to shoot the ball,” Salloi said. “I think it all worked out well. I just watched it back, and it looked really good so I’m happy about it.”

Both he and Johnny Russell tormented the outside defenders of Omaha throughout the night. Teammates used long passes to switch the point of attack to the opposite flank frequently, and Salloi did well to time his runs.

“I thought that because of our movement of the ball, it was going to be good and we could move from side to side and then find 2-v-1 or 3-v-2 situations,” Vermes said. “That was going to be big. But the other is that Khiry (Shelton) was very good at coming off the backline and pulling guys out with him. And if they didn’t come, then we had four against two in the midfield, which I think we overpowered them just with numbers, and that was a big part of the game [plan], too.”

Three minutes later, Nicolas Imimat-Mirin hoofed a ball forward to Shelton, who out-muscled his marker and poked his shot off the post and in for Sporting’s fourth goal of the evening.

In the 66th, substitute Marinos Tzionis played a cutback that demanded better defending to dispatch, but instead Hernandez curled it past Nuhu, and Hernandez made it a brace in the 81st from just outside the box on a feed from just wide of the 18 by Logan Ndenbe.

Wednesday’s victory gives Sporting its sixth semifinal appearance in the Open Cup. Those previous four aforementioned years when the club reached the penultimate stage, the team went on to lift the trophy.

Sacramento Republic FC defeated two-time Open Cup champion L.A. Galaxy in the quarterfinals and will be Sporting’s opponent in the semifinals. A draw late Thursday night was set to determine hosting priority for both the semifinals and the final.

Back then, Hall of Fame forward Joe Sakic was leading the charge on the ice.

Now, his fingerprints are all over this fast-flying team as the general manager. He saw five players he picked up right before or during the season combine for five points on the tying and winning goals in Game 4. Kadri was acquired by Sakic as part of a deal with Toronto in 2019.

Sakic assembled this squad around playmakers such as Makar, captain Gabriel Landeskog, Mikko Rantanen and Nathan MacKinnon. They’ve been a big reason why this team is 15-3 in these playoffs and on the verge of knocking off the champs.

“You can see they’re hungry,” said Hockey Hall of Famer Bryan Trottier, who won six Stanley Cup titles as a player and another with the Avalanche as an assistant coach in 2001. “Landeskog’s been in the league for a long time, MacKinnon’s been in the league for a long time and now they’re getting a taste and they’re right on the cusp of something pretty exciting.”

But win No. 16 won’t be easy. Rarely is this time of year.

“They’re probably preaching, ‘They’ve never been here. They’re going to be tight’ and that’s fair,” said MacKinnon, who scored his first goal of the series Wednesday. “But we’ll be ready to go. We’ve been great under pressure all playoffs, all season.”

This is a proud Lightning crew who’ve bounced back before. They faced a 2-0 series deficit in the Eastern Conference final against the New York Rangers before rallying. They also were down 3-2 to Toronto in the first round.

“If there’s one thing I know about this group it’s that we respond well to adversity,” Tampa Bay defenseman Victor Hedman said. “We’re a resilient group. We believe in what we have.”

DARCY’S REBOUND

Avalanche goaltender Darcy Kuemper rebounded from being pulled in Game 3 with a 37-save performance Wednesday. He also had an assist on the winning goal when he sent the puck to Artturi Lehkonen, who dished it over to Kadri. Kuemper became the first goalie in league history to record an assist in OT of a Stanley Cup Final game, according to NHL Stats.

“Great awareness by Kuempers,” Landeskog said.

COMEBACK KIDS

The Game 4 win marked the 15th time this season the Avalanche have rallied for the victory after trailing in the third. That total (11 in the regular season, four in the playoffs) is tied for third-most in a season in NHL history. The top mark belongs to the Anaheim Ducks, who had 22 in the 2014-15 season.

“Our guys have done a nice job of focusing on our things and it’s given us success,” Avalanche coach Jared Bednar said. “We’re going to continue with that.”

AP Hockey Writer Stephen Whyno contributed to this report.

WHAT'S NEW ON HULU

"Only Murders in the Building" - Season 2

Dig into a new case with the highly anticipated Season 2 release of "Only Murders in the Building," making its way to Hulu Tuesday, June 28. Starring Selena Gomez ("A Rainy Day in New York," 2019), Steve Martin ("The Pink Panther," 2006) and Martin Short ("Innerspace," 1987) as Mabel, Charles and Oliver, an unlikely trio of amateur sleuths brought together in the first season by their mutual love of the same true crime podcast. When a murder happened to take place in the high-end New York City building where they all live, the true crime aficionados took it upon themselves to create their very own podcast as they try to solve the murder themselves. While Season 1 ended on quite a cliffhanger (and another murder in the building), Season 2 kicks off with Mabel, Charles and Oliver trying to keep themselves out of hot water as they look into their newest case. Created by Martin and John Hoffman of "Grace and Frankie," "Only Murders in the Building" Season 2 is directed by Jamie Babbit ("Silicon Valley") and Cherien Dabis ("Ramy"). The series is written by Hoffman, Martin, Joshua Allen Griffith ("Mrs.

America"), "The (curious case of the) Watson Intelligence" playwright Madeleine George, "Ohio" author Stephen Markley and "The Field Guide to the North American Teenager" author Ben Philippe. Vanessa Aspillaga ("Morning Glory," 2010), Kirk Kelly ("Do No Harm"), Ariel Shafir ("M'larky"), Cara Delevingne ("Suicide Squad," 2016), Michael Rapaport ("Atypical"), Jayne Houdyshell ("Little Women," 2019), Jackie Hoffman ("Garden State," 2004) and Michael Cyril Creighton ("Dexter: New Blood") also star.
