As new session begins, Pollitt talks education, energy rates, temp tags

By Chris Howell
chrish@sedaliademocrat.com

Rep. Brad Pollitt

Wednesday, Jan. 3, the 2024 Missouri Legislative Session began, and state lawmakers were on the floor of the Missouri Capitol working for the interests of their constituents.

State Rep. Brad Pollitt, R-Sedalia, spoke to the Democrat by phone during a break from the action in Jefferson City.

"I'm chair of the Education Committee and I'm on the Ag Committee," Pollitt said. "I'm on five committees, but those are the two that I contribute the most to."

Already in the new year, Pollitt is pushing back against a plan that has energy rates determined by time of day.

"I have filed some legislation dealing with green energy that I hope to make some headway. It's a real concern in Missouri on converting to this green energy as it came to everybody's attention when Evergy sent out the time-of-use rates and the time-of-use plans that people are going to have to," Pollitt said. "I'm all in on taking care of our environment, but we need to approach this with some common sense, and it seems like, in a lot of the things we do, common sense just goes out the window."

As home and business owners are trying to understand the latest complications on their energy bills, lawmakers are trying to deal with the effects on their base.

"I took it upon myself to converse with Evergy and go up and meet with Evergy," Pollitt said. "Sen. (Cindy) O'Laughlin and I did that along with Sen. Rusty Black and Sen. (Mike) Cierpiot, and just found out what the heck's going on here with the Public Service Commission, who controls utilities in the state of Missouri, and I've filed three bills associated with that."

Pollitt has filed some education bills and is working to change teacher salaries in statute from $28,000 to at least $38,000.

"Even though we do have $38,000 based in the state now, it's not in statute," Pollitt explained. "It needs to be in there. We need to continue to work on increasing teacher pay and I've got a credentialing bill that has to do with some certification of teachers. We've got such a shortage of teachers and are trying to use some common-sense methods of certifying some folks but seem to be hitting some roadblocks on those types of bills."

In a year when many in the Capitol are up for reelection, some bills pass easily while others languish.

"I did file a bill that's really made state headlines as far these temporary tags that you see driving around that are one, two, three, even four years past the due date," Pollitt announced. "In 2020, we passed the bill last year that in 2025, when you buy a vehicle, you're going to pay your sales tax at the dealership when you buy the vehicle."

Pollitt's bill would allow officers to pull over those driving on long-expired temp tags, confiscate the tag and deal out some new, harsher penalties.

"There's a $200 fine and that goes on top of all the rest that you have to do to become right," Pollitt warned. "Pay your sales tax, that means you haven't been paying sales tax, personal property tax, you don't have insurance on your vehicle, you haven't paid for your licensing fee."

The Missouri Automobile Association estimates between 70 and 80 million people are out there on temporary tags, according to Pollitt, and he has had many complaints from constituents who have had close encounters with the scofflaws.

Mayor Andrew Dawson declares Sedalia as a "Community of Kindness," early Thursday, Jan. 4, in honor of Anthony Wheeler's trademark symbol of kindness. ## Mayor declares Sedalia a 'Community of Kindness'

By Faith Bemiss-McKinney
faithb@sedaliademocrat.com

Thursday morning, Jan. 4, Mayor Andrew Dawson proclaimed Sedalia as a "beacon of kindness" due to the efforts of two-time Sedalia visitor Anthony Wheeler, a retired firefighter of Colorado.

Wheeler revisited Sedalia in October. The Democrat reported that Wheeler was looking to improve the world, so much so that he trademarked the symbol for kindness. Wheeler, of Westcliffe, Colorado, noted that he first came to Sedalia in 2018 for the National Soap Box Derby Race hosted on the Missouri State Fairgrounds. His second visit was to check in with a friend, Dr. Doug Kiburz, whom Wheeler met at the Derby. Wheeler said he was attending a conference at the Lake of the Ozarks and returning to Colorado when he decided to stop in Sedalia.

Due to Wheeler's thoughts on kindness, Dawson proclaimed, "our city as a beacon of kindness, the 'Community of Kindness,'" and recognized Wheeler's symbol as "an eternal emblem of our unwavering commitment to fostering an environment where love and truth reign supreme."

In a phone call on Thursday, Wheeler noted he hopes the world can become a better place.

"It's a good start," he said. "It's fantastic, we need other people to do the same. Only the consciousness of other people will make the world a better place."

"The registered symbol of kindness is an aerial view of two persons hugging designed by Anthony Wheeler, a retired firefighter," Kiburz explained. "He lives in the outback in Colorado, and his mission in life is to promote the power of kindness.

Johnson County & Warrensburg designated as WWII Heritage City

By Warrensburg Star-Journal Staff

The City of Warrensburg and Johnson County have been jointly designated as American World War II Heritage Cities.

On Dec. 28, the National Park Service announced 11 communities across the United States had received the designation.

According to information from the National Park Service, the American World War II Heritage Cities Program honors the contributions of local towns, cities, counties and their citizens who stepped into the workforce to support America's war effort during World War II. Only one American World War II Heritage City can be designated in each state or territory.

"It is an honor for Johnson County and the City of Warrensburg to represent World War II heritage for Missouri," a City of Warrensburg news release states.

According to the National Park Service, the World War II Heritage Cities program was established by the John D. Dingell Jr. Conservation, Management, and Recreation Act of 2019 "to recognize the historic importance of the United States' domestic involvement in World War II and ensure the continued preservation of a defining period in American history."

According to the city's news release, for a community to be designated, it must meet two sets of criteria, including contributions by a city to World War II as well as achievements by a city to preserve the heritage and legacy through memorials, museums, recognition of wartime anniversaries, and identification of World War II-related structures and sites.

The city's news release states that Johnson County and the City of Warrensburg have a rich history with the creation of the Sedalia Glider Base (Whiteman Air Force Base) and the Navy V-12 program at Central Missouri State Teachers College's (University of Central Missouri) campus. Johnson County residents volunteered their time and efforts to support the USO in Warrensburg and the Red Shield Club in Knob Noster.

OBITUARIES

Don and Leveta Hopkins

Born March 11, 1938, in Sumner, MO, she was the daughter of the late T. Howard Grimsley and Nellie E. Spencer Grimsley Whitmer. On February 23, 1966, she married Donald M. Hopkins.

She had lived in Houstonia since 1971 and worked at ConAgra Foods, where she was a union steward, retiring in 2000 after many years of service. After retirement, she worked for Scheid Farms. When she was younger, she was an avid bowler and later bowled in a senior league. She and Don enjoyed going to their place at the lake, fishing and sitting on the front porch swing watching the squirrels on the feeder, and watching traffic go by.

Donald M. Hopkins, 90, of Houstonia, MO, died Wednesday, January 3, 2024, at The Living Center in Marshall, MO.

Born May 7, 1933, in Sedalia, MO, he was the son of the late Alfred James Hopkins and Nettie Elizabeth Martin Hopkins. On February 23, 1966, he married Leveta M. Grimsley Lightfoot, who preceded him in death on January 1, 2024.

He was a U.S. Army veteran serving in the Korean Conflict. After his discharge from the Army, he worked as a welder at DeLongs, MOPAC and Sedalia Structural Steel, all in Sedalia, later working at Quinn Concrete in Marshall, retiring after many years of service.

He enjoyed fishing, tinkering in the garage, visiting with family and friends and going to their place at the lake. Later in life, he enjoyed going sitting on the front porch, keeping the squirrel feeder full, watching the squirrels on the feeder, and watching traffic go by.

Don and Leveta are survived by two children, Linda Pointer (Huey) of rural Marshall and Donald E. Hopkins (Kelley) of Houstonia; son-in-law, Christopher Scheid of rural Marshall; eight grandchildren, Brandon Pointer, Lyndsey Davis (Derek), Cody Ballenger, Kristina Riley, Mara Scheid, Walter Hall (Stephanie), Jessie Abey (Mark) and Zachary Hopkins (Samantha); 21 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandson; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Leveta was preceded in death by her parents; one daughter, Donna L. Scheid; and four siblings, Earl Lee "Bud" McCollum, Gale Whitmer, Sandy Hill and Marilyn Portman.

Don's surviving siblings include Judy Wasson of Sedalia, Larry David Hopkins, and Ruth Prihoda of El Campo, TX; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Don was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Leveta; one son, Russell James Hopkins; one daughter, Donna Scheid; and seven siblings, Mike Hopkins, Hazel Hepburn, Loraine Stevens, Elaine Preuitt, Lois Caton, Elsie Huffman, and Arlene Hopkins in infancy.

A Celebration of Life visitation for Don and Leveta will be held from 9 to 10:15 a.m. Wednesday, January 10, 2024, at Campbell-Lewis Funeral Home in Marshall. Graveside services with military rites will follow at 11 a.m. in Houstonia Cemetery. Memorials are suggested to Fitzgibbon Home Health and Hospice. Friends may sign the online register book at www.campbell-lewis.com.

Von Holten publishes third children's book

Brandy Von Holten's third children's book, "Adventures at Von Holten Ranch-Chalkboard," was published for the holiday season this winter.

Each of Von Holten's children's books features a horse or a mule as the main character with a moral lesson in store. Chalkboard's book is about how having a bad childhood or going through a difficult event does not define a person as an adult.

Von Holten's children's books, as well as her other printed materials such as planners and equine logbooks, are available at www.brandyvonholten.com.

LCAA looks at events for 2024

The Liberty Center Association for the Arts and the Hayden Liberty Center made great strides over the past year, including adding an accessible lift, constructing an outdoor venue that is a work in progress, creating an Artist In Residence program, and hosting art classes for both children and adults and theatrical productions.

Several events have already been planned for 2024.

On stage, Ken Ludwig's "Moon Over Buffalo" will be presented in February and the classic "Godspell" will be performed in late April/early May to wrap up the 2023-24 theatre season. For music lovers, the Sedville Jazz Company will be playing at the LCAA Gala on Jan. 27. Other concerts include Damen Gunn, a Selena Tribute, Earth Day Festival and more.

The galleries will be filled with works of art, beginning with Brett Butler in January and February, and the Cooney Studio is finalizing its class schedules for the new year.

The 2024-25 theatre and concert seasons will be announced soon, with season tickets available at that time. LCAA will also be introducing a special program in 2024 for Liberty Center volunteers.

Highway Patrol Troop A announces promotion

Capt. Steven V. Wilhoit, Missouri State Highway Patrol commanding officer of Troop A, Lee's Summit, announced the following promotion effective Jan. 1.

Trooper Corey D. Parrott has been promoted to the rank of corporal and designated the assistant zone supervisor of Zone 13, serving the citizens of Pettis County. Parrott was appointed to the Missouri State Highway Patrol on July 5, 2016, as a member of the 103rd Recruit Class. After graduating from the Patrol's Law Enforcement Academy, he was assigned to Troop A, Zone 12, Johnson County. On May 1, 2019, Parrott transferred to Zone 13, serving the citizens of Pettis County, where he remained until his promotion.

Trooper Corey D. Parrott

Cpl. Parrott was born in Columbia. He graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia in 2007. Before joining the Patrol, he served in the United States Army from 2007 to 2015 before being honorably discharged. Parrott is a member of the Troop A Special Weapons and Tactics Team (SWAT). He is married to Tabitha (Hill) and they have two sons.

Two companies will attempt first US moon landings since Apollo missions

By Marcia Dunn
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — China and India scored moon landings, while Russia, Japan and Israel ended up in the lunar trash heap.

Now two private companies are hustling to get the U.S. back in the game, more than five decades after the Apollo program ended.

It's part of a NASA-supported effort to kick-start commercial moon deliveries, as the space agency focuses on getting astronauts back there.

"They're scouts going to the moon ahead of us," said NASA Administrator Bill Nelson.

Pittsburgh's Astrobotic Technology is up first with a planned liftoff of a lander Monday aboard a brand new rocket, United Launch Alliance's Vulcan. Houston's Intuitive Machines aims to launch a lander in mid-February, hopping a flight with SpaceX.

Then there's Japan, which will attempt to land in two weeks. The Japanese Space Agency's lander with two toy-size rovers had a big head start, sharing a September launch with an X-ray telescope that stayed behind in orbit around Earth.

If successful, Japan will become the fifth country to pull off a lunar landing. Russia and the U.S. did it repeatedly in the 1960s and 70s. China has landed three times in the past decade — including on the moon's far side — and is returning to the far side later this year to bring back lunar samples. And just last summer, India did it. Only the U.S. has put astronauts on the moon.

Landing without wrecking is no easy feat. There's hardly any atmosphere to slow spacecraft, and parachutes obviously won't work. That means a lander must descend using thrusters, while navigating past treacherous cliffs and craters.

A Japanese millionaire's company, ispace, saw its lander smash into the moon last April, followed by Russia's crash landing in August. India triumphed a few days later near the south polar region; it was the country's second try after crashing in 2019. An Israeli nonprofit also slammed into the moon in 2019.

The United States has not attempted a moon landing since Apollo 17's Gene Cernan and Harrison Schmitt, the last of 12 moonwalkers, explored the gray, dusty surface in December 1972. Mars beckoned and the moon receded in NASA's rearview mirror, as the space race between the U.S. and the Soviet Union came to a close. The U.S. followed with a handful or two of lunar satellites, but no controlled landers — until now.

Not only are Astrobotic and Intuitive Machines looking to end America's moon-landing drought, they're vying for bragging rights as the first private entity to land — gently — on the moon.

Despite its later start, Intuitive Machines has a faster, more direct shot and should land within a week of liftoff. It will take Astrobotic two weeks just to get to the moon and another month in lunar orbit, before a landing is attempted on Feb. 23.

If there are rocket delays, which already have stalled both missions, either company could wind up there first.

"It's going to be a wild, wild ride," promised Astrobotic's chief executive John Thornton.

His counterpart at Intuitive Machines, Steve Altemus, said the space race is "more about the geopolitics, where China is going, where the rest of the world's going." That said, "We sure would like to be first."

The two companies have been nose to nose since receiving nearly $80 million each in 2019 under a NASA program to develop lunar delivery services. Fourteen companies are now under contract by NASA.

Astrobotic's four-legged, 6-foot-tall (1.9-meter-tall) lander, named Peregrine after the fastest bird, a falcon, will carry 20 research packages to the moon for seven countries, including five for NASA and a shoebox-sized rover for Carnegie Mellon University. Peregrine will aim for the mid-latitudes' Sinus Viscositatis, or Bay of Stickiness, named after the long-ago silica magma that formed the nearby Gruithuisen Domes.

Intuitive Machines' six-legged, 14-foot-tall (4-meter-tall) lander, Nova-C, will target the moon's south polar region, also carrying five experiments for NASA that will last about two weeks. The company is targeting 80 degrees south latitude for touchdown. That would be well within Antarctica on Earth, Altemus noted, and 10 degrees closer to the pole than India landed last summer.

Scientists believe the south pole's permanently shadowed craters hold billions of pounds (kilograms) of frozen water that could be used for drinking and making rocket fuel. That's why the first moonwalkers in NASA's Artemis program — named after Apollo's twin sister in Greek mythology — will land there. NASA still has 2025 on the books for that launch, but the General Accountability Office suspects it will be closer to 2027.

Astrobotic will head to the south pole on its second flight, carrying NASA's water-seeking Viper rover. And Intuitive Machines will return there on its second mission, delivering an ice drill for NASA.

Landing near the moon's south pole is particularly dicey.

"It's so rocky and craggy and full of craters at the south pole and mountainous, that it's very difficult to find a lighted region to touch down safely," Altemus said. "So you've got to be able to finesse that and just set it down right in the right spot."

While Houston has long been associated with space, Pittsburgh is a newcomer. To commemorate the Steel City, Astrobotic's lander will carry a Kennywood amusement park token, the winner of a public vote that beat out the Steelers' Terrible Towel waved at football games, dirt from Moon Township's Moon Park, and a Heinz pickle pin.

The lander is also carrying the ashes or DNA from 70 people, including "Star Trek" creator Gene Roddenberry and science fiction writer Arthur C. Clarke. Another 265 people will be represented on the rocket's upper stage, which will circle the sun once separated from the lander. They include three original "Star Trek" cast members, as well as strands of hair from three U.S. presidents: George Washington, Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy.

What is the Epiphany? And when do Christians celebrate it?

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world will mark the Epiphany on Jan. 6 with a series of celebrations that go from parades and gift-giving for children to the blessing of water. The holiday is also called the Feast of Epiphany, Three Kings Day and Theophany.

Why is it known with different names?

Some Western Christian churches know the feast day as Three Kings Day. It recalls the visit of three Magi, or wise men, to the infant Jesus, and their sense of wonder at the encounter. It is the 12th day after Christmas and closes the Christmas season.

Eastern traditions call it Theophany, and they focus on the baptism of Jesus by John the Baptist. Orthodox Christians also know it as the Baptism of Christ.

What does Epiphany mean?

The Greek word "epiphaneia" means "appearance" or "manifestation," and it refers to the manifestation of Jesus to the world, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

How is it celebrated?

The day is often celebrated by Catholics in Spain with parades that include decorative floats carrying people dressed as the biblical kings who brought gifts to the infant Jesus. Children in Spain and in some parts of Latin America traditionally unwrap holiday gifts that elsewhere in the world are delivered by Santa Claus on Christmas Day.

Greeks celebrate Epiphany with blessing of the waters ceremonies across the country, which is primarily Orthodox.

In Bulgaria, some observers plunge into rivers and lakes to retrieve crucifixes, in an old ritual marking the feast of Epiphany, also known as the Apparition of Christ.

By tradition, a crucifix is cast into the waters of a lake or river. It's believed that the person who retrieves it will be freed from evil spirits and will be healthy through the year. After the cross is fished out, the priest sprinkles believers with water using a bunch of basil.

When is it celebrated?

Orthodox Christian churches in Bulgaria, Greece and Romania celebrate the feast on Jan. 6. But for Orthodox Churches in Russia, Serbia and Ukraine that follow the Julian calendar, Epiphany is celebrated on Jan. 19, as their Christmas Eve falls on Jan. 6.

What is the origin of Epiphany?

It originated in the Eastern church and originally included a celebration of the birth of Jesus, according to Encyclopedia Britannica, which in its entry says that by the fourth century, the church in Rome began celebrating Epiphany separately on Jan 6.

Police: 17-year-old killed one, wounded five in Iowa school shooting

By Nicholas Riccardi and Hannah Fingerhut
Associated Press

PERRY, Iowa — A 17-year-old opened fire at a small-town Iowa high school on the first day of school after the winter break, killing a sixth-grader and wounding five others Thursday as students barricaded in offices, ducked into classrooms and fled in panic.

The suspect, a student at the school in Perry, died of what investigators believe is a self-inflicted gunshot wound, an Iowa Division of Criminal Investigation official said. Authorities said one of the five people wounded was an administrator, and later identified as Perry High School Principal Dan Marburger by an eastern Iowa school district where he graduated from high school.

Authorities identified the shooter as Dylan Butler, 17, and provided no information about a possible motive.

Perry has about 8,000 residents and is about 40 miles (65 kilometers) northwest of Des Moines, on the edge of the state capital's metropolitan area. It is home to a large pork-processing plant, and low-slung, single-story homes spread among trees now shorn of their leaves by winter. The high school and middle school are connected, sitting on the east edge of town.

Authorities said the shooter had a pump-action shotgun and a small-caliber handgun. Mitch Mortvedt, the state investigation division's assistant director, said during a news conference that authorities also found a "pretty rudimentary" improvised explosive device and rendered it safe.

The suspect's motive is being investigated and authorities are looking into "a number of social media posts" he made around the time of the shooting, Mortvedt added. All of the shootings occurred inside the high school, but he said other students from other grades may have been there for a breakfast program.

Perry High School senior Ava Augustus said she was awaiting a counselor in a school office when she heard three shots. Unable to flee through a small window, she and others barricaded the door and were ready to throw things if necessary.

"And then we hear 'He's down. You can go out,'" Augustus said through tears. "And I run and you can just see glass everywhere, blood on the floor. I get to my car and they're taking a girl out of the auditorium who had been shot in her leg."

Three gunshot victims were taken by ambulance to Iowa Methodist Medical Center in Des Moines, a spokesperson said. Some other patients were transported to a second hospital in Des Moines, a spokesperson for MercyOne Des Moines Medical Center confirmed, declining to comment on the number of patients or their statuses.

Mortvedt said one person was in critical condition but the injuries did not appear to be life-threatening. The other victims were stable, he said.

Vigils were planned Thursday evening at a park and a local church. A post on the high school's Facebook page said it would be closed Friday with counseling services being made available to students and faculty, and others in the community.

Gov. Kim Reynolds ordered all flags in Iowa to be lowered to half-staff immediately on Thursday and to remain at half-staff until sunset on Sunday, in support of the community and the school's students, families, teachers.

"This senseless tragedy has shaken our entire state to its core," Reynolds said during the news conference.

In Washington, U.S. Attorney General Merrick Garland was briefed on the shooting. FBI agents from the Omaha-Des Moines office are assisting with the investigation led by the Iowa Division of Criminal Investigation.

The shooting occurred in the backdrop of Iowa's looming first-in-the-nation presidential caucuses. GOP candidate Vivek Ramaswamy had a campaign event scheduled in Perry at 9 a.m. about 1 1/2 miles (2.4 kilometers) from the high school but canceled it to hold a prayer and intimate discussion with area residents.

Mass shootings across the U.S. have long brought calls for stricter gun laws from gun safety advocates, and Thursday's did within hours. But that idea has been a non-starter for many Republicans, particularly in rural, GOP-leaning states like Iowa.

As of July 2021, Iowa does not require a permit to purchase a handgun or carry a firearm in public, though it mandates a background check for a person buying a handgun without a permit.

Ramaswamy said the shooting is a sign of a "psychological sickness" in the country. In Des Moines, GOP rival and Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis said that gun violence "is more of a local and state issue" in an interview with the Des Moines Register and NBC News.

The high school in Perry is part of the 1,785-student Perry Community School District. The town is more diverse than Iowa as a whole, with census figures showing that 31% of the residents are Hispanic, compared to less than 7% for the state. Those figures also show that nearly 19% of the town's residents were born outside the U.S.

Authorities said an active shooter was reported at 7:37 a.m. Thursday and officers arrived within minutes. Emergency vehicles surrounded the middle and high school.

"Officers immediately attempted to locate the source of the threat and quickly found what appeared to be the shooter with a self-inflicted gunshot wound," Mortvedt said.

Zander Shelley, 15, was in a hallway when he heard gunshots and dashed into a classroom, according to his father, Kevin Shelley. Zander was grazed twice and hid in the classroom before texting his father at 7:36 a.m.

Kevin Shelley, who drives a garbage truck, told his boss he had to run. "It was the most scared I've been in my entire life," he said.

He later posted a photo on Facebook of his son being treated at the Methodist Medical Center and said the boy was feeling fine.

He added: "I am still shaking and tho I dont show it I'm not ok."

Rachael Kares, an 18-year-old senior, was wrapping up jazz band practice when she and her bandmates heard what she described as four gunshots, spaced apart.

"We all just jumped," Kares said. "My band teacher looked at us and yelled, 'Run!' So we ran."

Kares and many others from the school ran out past the football field, as she heard people yelling, "Get out! Get out!" She said she heard additional shots as she ran, but didn't know how many. She was more concerned about getting home to her 3-year-old son.

"At that moment I didn't care about anything except getting out," she said.

Blinken heads to Mideast as fears of regional conflict surge

By Matthew Lee
AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON — As the Biden administration grapples with an increasingly tense and unstable situation in the Middle East, Secretary of State Antony Blinken is heading to the region this weekend for the fourth time in three months on a tour expected to focus largely on easing resurgent fears that the Israel-Hamas war could erupt into a broader conflict.

With international criticism of Israel's operations in Gaza mounting, growing U.S. concerns about the end game, and more immediate worries about a recent explosion in attacks in the Red Sea, Lebanon, Iran and Iraq, Blinken will have a packed and difficult agenda. He leaves just days after a suspected Israeli attack killed a senior Hamas leader in Beirut and, while a White House spokesman said "nobody should be shedding a tear" over his death, it could further complicate Blinken's mission.

"We don't expect every conversation on this trip to be easy," State Department spokesman Matthew Miller said. "There are obviously tough issues facing the region and difficult choices ahead. But the secretary believes it is the responsibility of the United States of America to lead diplomatic efforts to tackle those challenges head on, and he's prepared to do that in the days to come."

Blinken leaves late Thursday on his latest extended Mideast tour, which will take him to Turkey, Greece, Jordan, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Israel, the West Bank and Egypt.

Apart from Gaza-specific priorities he will bring to Israel — including pressing for a dramatic increase in humanitarian aid to Gaza, a shift toward less intense military operations and a concerted effort to rein in violence against Palestinians in the occupied West Bank by Jewish settlers — Blinken will be seeking regional assistance in calming the situation.

"It is in no one's interest, not Israel's, not the region's, not the world's, for this conflict to spread beyond Gaza," Miller said. The key elements to preventing this will be deterring attacks by Yemen's Iran-backed Houthi rebels on commercial Red Sea shipping, deterring attacks on Israel by Lebanon's Iran-backed Hezbollah and deterring attacks on U.S. military facilities and interests by Iran-backed militias in Iraq and Syria.

Yet, U.S. influence with Iran is minimal and it must rely either on its own military deterrence or on partners to make the case with Iran that a regional war would be catastrophic.

"Strategically, Iran is winning," said Paul Salem, head of the Washington-based Middle East Institute. He said Hezbollah and the overall network of Iranian-allied groups are pleased with what the current level of hostilities has achieved.

"Iran is sitting pretty," he said. "It doesn't need to do anything dramatic. It is kind of on the winning side."

Since the Gaza war erupted with Israel's response to the deadly Oct. 7 Hamas attacks, the Biden administration has been seriously concerned about a potential spread in the conflict.

It had breathed a sigh of relief in the weeks following the start of the the Israeli operation, when it successfully counseled Israeli officials not to mount pre-emptive strikes against Hezbollah in Lebanon and sent two aircraft carrier strike groups to the eastern Mediterranean to serve as a deterrent.

Two and a half months later, though, the chances of a regional war have increased with Israel determined to strike Hamas operatives and leaders no matter where they are. Meanwhile, Hamas, Hezbollah, the Houthis and pro-Iran militias have been stepping up attacks on U.S., Israeli and international interests.

As with his previous Mideast visits, Blinken will be concentrating on expanding humanitarian aid to Gaza, pressing Israel to minimize civilian Palestinian casualties, pushing for the release of hostages held by Hamas and stressing the importance of planning for the administration of a postwar Gaza.

But, his agenda has been clouded by recent developments, including a drone strike attributed to Israel that killed Hamas deputy leader Saleh Arouri in Beirut's southern suburbs, explosions in Iran that targeted a memorial service for U.S.-assassinated Revolutionary Guard commander Qassem Suleimani, a drone attack on a pro-Iranian Iraqi militia group in Baghdad and U.S. and allied responses to Houthi attacks on commercial shipping in the Red Sea.

For example, the first speech by Hezbollah leader Hassan Nasrallah during the Israel-Hamas war, nearly a month into the conflict, was widely seen by analysts as telegraphing that his group had no interest in engaging in a full-on war with Israel.

On Wednesday, however, following the killing of Arouri, Nasrallah took a more belligerent tone and appeared to be making a case to the Lebanese people that a wider war might be necessary.

Nasrallah said Hezbollah had so far calibrated between "the need to support Gaza and to take into account Lebanese national interests," which have limited its military involvement. But he said in the event that "war is launched on us, then Lebanese national interests require that we take the war to the end, without limits."

On Thursday, an armed unmanned surface vessel launched from Houthi-controlled Yemen got within a "couple of miles" of U.S. Navy and commercial vessels in the Red Sea before detonating, just hours after the White House and a host of partner nations issued a final warning to the Iran-backed militia group to cease the attacks or face potential military action.

And, in Baghdad on Thursday, a U.S. airstrike on the headquarters of an Iran-backed militia killed a high-ranking commander, identified as Abu Taqwa, with the Popular Mobilization Force, or PMF. A U.S. defense official said Taqwa was targeted because he was actively involved in attacks on U.S. personnel.

An Iraqi military spokesman, Yehia Rasool, said the Iraqi army blames the U.S.-led International Coalition Forces for the "unprovoked attack on an Iraqi security body operating in accordance with the powers granted to it by" the Iraqi military.

The primary mission of the U.S.-led coalition is to fight the Islamic State, the Sunni group that many believe was behind Wednesday's bombing in Iran.

Mayor Andrew Dawson reads the "Community of Kindness" proclamation Thursday morning in honor of the efforts of Anthony Wheeler of Colorado, who created a trademark symbol for kindness. PHOTO BY FAITH BEMISS-MCKINNEY | DEMOCRAT

"The need and importance of kindness is not new, but believing that it can be a forceful paradigm shift in the world may be," he continued. "Watching the news, we see plenty of coercion and hostile force, but we don't often think of kindness as a transformational entity. That is the concept that Anthony wants to disseminate in how the power of kindness can shape the world."

Kiburz added that Wheeler's registered international symbol "may be the focus that brings spirit and energy to his mission."

"Sedalia's being the first 'community of kindness' may be the spark that Anthony was looking for — it only takes a spark to get a fire going," he noted. "As a pebble thrown in a pond creates rings of ripples that spread in all directions."

Kiburz said the kindness declaration is "not a reward but an opportunity or challenge."

"Sedalia is indeed a philanthropic and neighborly town with acts of kindness and caring all around where volunteer activities abound," he explained. "According to 'Points of Light,' volunteer hours have economic value rated at $31.80 per hour, having a huge impact on our economy.

"Volunteering has many benefits, including making new friends, boosting spirits, developing new skills, living longer, building community, relieving stress, combating depression, expanding networks, and allowing talents to be optimized," he continued. "Mayor Dawson has written a gem of a kindness declaration with 'genuine' intelligence and clarity."

Kiburz recited two quotes, "Kindness is doing what you can, where you are with what you have," by Raktivist, and "There is no such thing as a small act of kindness as every act creates a ripple with no logical end," by Scott Adams.

"Bill Kiburz, my father, always said, 'Try to do some good every day and not get caught,'" he added. "The more love and respect and compassion we give away, the more is returned to us in abundance. If this declaration had a theme song, perhaps it would be 'Humble and Kind' by Tim McGraw. 'Kindness is not a sign of weakness but a sign of strength' (Jeff Davis)."

"I've had a lot of communication from folks around the state that have had an accident with somebody on a temporary tag. They have no insurance," Pollitt said. "This isn't any increase in taxes, this is just enforcing a law that's already on the books. The rule of law is important to me – if we have laws, we need to enforce those laws."

Pollitt also mentioned a move Gov. Mike Parson made to protect Missouri land from being purchased by hostile powers.

"The governor came out yesterday (Tuesday) and issued an executive order that no Missouri farmland can be sold within 10 miles of a military installation to any of our adversaries," Pollitt explained, "and that includes a lot of Pettis County because it also included the National Guard bases, and we've got a National Guard base on the fairgrounds. I believe Pettis County farmers understand the importance of not selling our ground to adversaries of this country and I believe they will understand and won't be upset with the governor's executive order."

Tax relief for seniors came in 2023 in the form of Senate Bill 190, a bill that now needs to be revisited to correct any confusion in its implementation.

"Senate Bill 190 we passed last year, which basically gave tax relief to our senior citizens, and there's some areas of that bill that weren't very clean," Pollitt said. "Our goal is to address that bill and hopefully clarify that so our counties will have more of a concrete explanation of what that bill entails. Our goal on that bill is just to shore it up and fix some of the questions that our counties have so they can implement it and give our senior citizens a tax cut or a tax freeze on their personal residencies and Social Security."

After the war, memorials were dedicated, and university alumni created the Alumni Memorial Chapel "to the memory of those in our number who have served, fought, and died in World War II in the defense of our nation's honor," the news release states. Johnson County's World War II history is remembered through displays and collections at the Johnson County Historical Society, McClure Archives and University Museum, and Leeton Museum.

The other newly designated communities are Foley, Alabama; Tempe, Arizona; Richmond, California; Wilmington, Delaware; Waterloo, Iowa; Baltimore County, Maryland; Hastings, Nebraska; Boulder City and Henderson, Nevada (joint community nomination); Yonkers, New York; and Bedford County, Virginia.

This year's additions follow the inaugural designation of Wilmington, North Carolina, in September 2020.

Texans, Colts embrace Saturday's high-stakes game with playoff spot on the line

By Michael Marot
Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Houston coach DeMeco Ryans always anticipated his team's late-season trip to Indianapolis would look far different from their September matchup.

He never envisioned the storyline could change this much.

Sixteen weeks after the two new coaches — Ryans and Shane Steichen — were peppered with questions about their quarterbacks of the future, they're playing a high-stakes, prime-time game with more immediate consequences: Win or go home.

"We're a completely different team now," Ryans said. "You put the tape on and it's like, 'Wow.' I'm encouraged by how much better we've gotten. You kind of know who we are now. I think early in the year every team in the league is trying to figure out who you are, figure out your identity. How are you going to play?

"I think now, we know who we are."

The Colts do, too.

With 9-7 records, Houston and Indy surprisingly find themselves in a three-way tie atop the AFC South with one of those teams a win away from ending their playoff droughts. Houston last made the postseason in 2019, Indy in 2020.

And if Jacksonville loses Sunday to Tennessee, Saturday night's winner also would take the division title and play another home game on wild-card weekend.

It's not just that Houston and Indy are playing a meaningful regular-season less than eight months after selecting new quarterbacks with top-five draft picks, it's how they got here.

Houston made it thanks to a historic first season from C.J. Stroud and a better-than-expected defense. He has thrown 21 touchdown passes, just five interceptions and is 156 yards from topping the 4,000-yard mark despite missing two games with a concussion.

Indy has relied on veteran quarterback Gardner Minshew since rookie Anthony Richardson went down with a season-ending shoulder injury in Week 5. Minshew responded by winning six of his eight starts to pull the Colts out of the division cellar.

"You kind of build, you gel, the chemistry – like I said, it always starts in the middle of the season," Steichen said. "Obviously, you want that stuff to keep rising up. I think that's what our guys have done to put ourselves in the position we are in right now."

The result: Two teams that were not projected to do much this season will square off in one of the most watched games on the NFL's final regular-season weekend.

"I told my teammates earlier, it's the same game we've been playing since we were young, so nothing changes," Stroud said. "We've got to just prepare hard and do everything we need to do to try to win this game and I think that will take us home."

MOTOR RUNNING

Stroud has been Houston's big star, but running back Devin Singletary also has proven to be a key cog in the Texans' offense.

Singletary, nicknamed "Motor," replaced the injured Dameon Pierce in early November and played so well he kept the starting job even after Pierce returned.

Singletary has three 100-yard games in nine starts this season and had 80 yards in last week's big win against the Titans. He now has 1,026 yards in total offense — his third straight season over 1,000 yards. Singletary's best game came in Week 15 when he posted a career-best 170 total yards in a 19-16 overtime victory at Tennessee — as Stroud sat out with a concussion.

ADMIRING FROM AFAR

Two-time Pro Bowl defensive tackle DeForest Buckner would ride with the Indianapolis Colts' quarterbacks in any game. But Buckner also has been impressed with Stroud's development.

And while the Colts hope to get Stroud out of rhythm and force some mistakes, Buckner has seen enough in eight NFL seasons to recognize the challenge.

Central Missouri extends Lamberson through 2028

WARRENSBURG — A result of a turnaround season that led to a co-MIAA title and appearance in the NCAA Division II Central Region semifinals, Josh Lamberson is staying in red and black for the immediate future.

Central Missouri announced a 5-year extension for Lamberson on Thursday, Jan. 4. The contract is set to expire after the 2028 season.

Lamberson was hired after national signing day in February 2022, inheriting a coaching staff other than fellow newcomer Joe Holtzclaw.

The Mules went 4-7 in the 2022 season. Following an overhaul highlighted by changes in staff, Central Missouri went 11-2.

The two losses were by a combined two points, including a 35-34 downfall to DII national champion Harding in the Super Region 3 semifinals.

"We are extremely excited to reach this agreement for a contract extension with the University of Central Missouri," Lamberson said in a statement. "This has been such an amazing team effort from our players, staff and coaches who have worked tremendously hard in building a championship-level program."

The 2023 AFCA Super Region 3 and MIAA Coach of the Year, Lamberson hired eight new coaches, including offensive coordinator Justin Bane, defensive coordinator Greg Jones and special teams coordinator Stephen Franklin, last spring.

UCM also welcomed 78 players (54 freshmen, 24 transfers) into its program, including Harlon Hill Award Winner Zach Zebrowski.

Zebrowski did not go into the season as the Mules starter, but took over midway through the first half of a 45-38 win against Missouri Western in week 1.

Over a decade after their Super Bowl matchup, Harbaugh brothers soaring again with Michigan, Ravens

By Noah Trister
Associated Press

OWINGS MILLS, Md. — Eleven years after turning the Super Bowl into one of football's most memorable family reunions, John and Jim Harbaugh are again at the forefront of the sport.

This time, the two coaches are chasing different prizes — and won't be in each other's way.

John Harbaugh's Baltimore Ravens have the NFL's best record and have clinched the top seed in the AFC playoffs. Jim Harbaugh's Michigan team faces Washington on Monday night in Houston for college football's national title, a game John said he's planning to attend.

Ekeler weighs future after disappointing season for Chargers with free agency on horizon

By Joe Reedy
Associated Press

COSTA MESA, Calif. — Hardly anyone knew about Austin Ekeler when he made the Los Angeles Chargers' roster as an undrafted rookie in 2017.

As the running back approaches what could be his final game in powder blue, Ekeler has been a fan favorite among Chargers fans — even during a frustrating season.

Ekeler has reached 1,000 yards from scrimmage for the third straight year and fourth time in five seasons, but it has also been his most challenging season.

He led the NFL with 18 touchdowns from scrimmage last season, but has only six going into Sunday's finale against Kansas City. After becoming the fifth running back in league history to have at least 100 catches in a season last year, Ekeler has 44 this season.

Fire at home of Dolphins WR Hill started by child playing with cigarette lighter

By Freida Frisaro and Alanis Thames
Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A fire at the $6.9 million home owned by Miami Dolphins receiver Tyreek Hill was started by a child playing with a cigarette lighter in a bedroom, a fire official said Thursday.

"It was an accidental fire," Davie Fire Marshal Robert Taylor told The Associated Press.

Taylor did not provide the age of the child, or the amount of damage caused by the fire. He said the investigation is now closed.

The house is located in Southwest Ranches, which is about 30 miles northwest of Miami, and was purchased by Hill in May 2022 shortly after the Kansas City Chiefs traded him to the Dolphins.

Miami television station WSVN showed a large amount of black smoke coming from the roof as firefighters doused the house with water. Firefighters appeared to be working on the highest parts of the structure. Many of the bedrooms, a home theatre and a den were among the rooms upstairs, according to the property listing.

Hill's agent, Drew Rosenhaus, told reporters gathered outside the house on Wednesday that some family members were home at the time of the fire.

"He and his family are safe," Rosenhaus said. "No one was injured No. 1, no pets, so for that, we're very grateful. We're very grateful to the firefighters that put the fire out. Thankfully, the fire was contained to a limited area in the home. Obviously, there'll be some smoke and water damage. It's very difficult for anybody obviously to have your home catch on fire, but Tyreek was handling it, he and his family, with as much poise as you could hope."

Hill has not yet commented on the matter and was not at Dolphins practice Thursday.

Hill is currently the NFL's leader in receiving yards with 1,717. He is the only player in NFL history to record at least 1,700 yards in multiple seasons. He is hoping to help lead the Dolphins to a win over the Buffalo Bills on Sunday night. A victory would clinch the AFC East for Miami for the first time since 2008.

Hill's teammates expressed their concern and support for him.

"You don't think that it's ever going to happen to you until it does," fullback Alec Ingold said. "It's something as a team, we've got to be able to come together and make sure that we can reach out to Tyreek and be human beings with him and make sure everything is squared away and we can do everything we possibly can to help our teammate."

Zebrowski ended up setting the Division II record for single-season all-purpose yards with 5,690, single-season passing touchdowns with 61, single-season touchdowns responsible for with 63 and single-season points responsible for with 380.

He also led the country in total offense per game with 437.7 yards per game and passing yards with 5,157 (396.7 per game). He was second in completions per game, averaging 32, and passing efficiency with 173.0.

Zebrowski was named as the MIAA Offensive Player of the Year and garnered first-team All-American honors from several entities.

Other All-Americans from this year's team included redshirt senior wide receiver Arkell Smith, redshirt junior offensive lineman Gabe Clark and redshirt senior defensive back Wyryor Noil.

UCM had 16 All-MIAA athletes this season.

"What we've been most impressed with under Coach Lamberson's leadership is his ability to quickly establish a culture that elevates the experience of our student-athletes," UCM Vice President for Intercollegiate Athletics Matt Howdeshell said in a statement. "Coach Lamberson has achieved a good amount, and this contract extension represents our belief and investment in him and his staff to keep us at the top of the MIAA conference and beyond."

Zebrowski's individual offensive success translated to team success, leading DII with 598.3 passing yards per game, scoring offense with 49.4 points per game, passing offense with 417.9 yards per game and first downs with 398 yards per game.

The Mules set several team season records including most plays with 1,042, most yards gained with 7,721, most touchdowns with 89, most points with 642, most passing yards with 5,433, most yards passing per game with 417.9, most touchdown passes with 62 and most first downs with 398.

"The University of Central Missouri, our fan base, the alumni association and our donors are what makes this place special," Lamberson said. "We are so very thankful for the resources they provide and the investment in our people. We will continue to uphold the highest standards of excellence both on and off the field in representing this incredible institution. We are proud of the past, excited for the future and grateful for the opportunity to serve the University of Central Missouri."

UCM's release notes Lamberson's contract includes incentives for MIAA championships, postseason achievements, coach of the year awards and team GPA.

It also includes adjustments to the assistant coach salary pool. By winning percentage, Lamberson is the eighth-all-time winningest coach in UCM history with .600 over two seasons.

He sits directly behind Phog Allen, who had a .625 winning percentage as head coach between 1912-17. Allen also coached the school's men's basketball team from 1912-19 before moving on to the University of Kansas.

HOROSCOPES

By Georgia Nicols

Moon Alert: Avoid shopping and important decisions from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. EST today (3:30 a.m. to 5 a.m. PST). After that, the Moon moves from Libra into Scorpio.

Happy Birthday for Friday, Jan. 5, 2024:

You are dedicated to your work and are capable of sacrifice. You're a sophisticated perfectionist and a natural leader. Expect exciting changes this year, plus increased personal freedom. Seek out new opportunities and be ready to act fast on them. Travel will expand your horizons.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★★★ This is a tremendous day for you in terms of productivity and getting things done. Long-range plans concerning inheritances and shared property can be dealt with. You might make travel plans. You might get permission from bosses or authority figures for a special project. You're on fire! Tonight: Schmooze with others!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★★ This is an excellent day to deal with partners and close friends. However, because the Moon is opposite your sign, you will have to go more than halfway to get what you want. Someone older might give advice or support. Meanwhile, gifts and goodies can come your way! Tonight: Socialize.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★ You will get a lot done today because you're motivated; plus, someone in authority might support you. This is a great day for long-range plans related to your work, your health or a pet. You might do something to firm up the financial support you want from someone. ("Give it to me.") Tonight: Get organized.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ Be patient with others today. There's lots of energy in the air, which is why people are accomplishing a lot. Nevertheless, you need time off for good behavior. Enjoy a long lunch. Explore travel plans or vacation ideas. Practice a technique. ("Every day in every way, I'm getting better and better.") Tonight: Party and have fun!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★★★ Most people will accomplish a lot today, and you're one of them. However, you might work from home. You might be more involved with family matters. Today you will have mega bursts of energy to do whatever you're doing, and yet you'll still want to party! Classic Leo energy. (You can do it all.) Tonight: Entertain.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★★★ You can explore many directions today. Your communication skills are tops! That's great news for those in sales, marketing, teaching, acting or writing. You will thrive in the entertainment world and the hospitality industry. Enjoy family discussions and DIY projects. Tonight: Contagious optimism.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★ Business and finance are favored today. It's an excellent day for real estate discussions and long-range plans about real estate and family matters. Conversations with others will be smooth and rewarding because you're on the ball and charming! Tonight: Generosity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★★ Today the Moon is in your sign dancing with both fiery Mars and Saturn, which gives you drive, purpose and stamina to accomplish a lot. In particular, you will want to address practical, grassroots situations. You'll be an effective communicator, which is why people will listen to you. Tonight: Friendships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★ Financial matters are on your mind today. Behind-the-scenes research can give you the confidence to act on a new job, ask for a raise or improve your finances in some way. Family discussions with an older person (perhaps a parent) will be solid. Tonight: A feel-good time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★★★★ You're pumped with energy today because both the Sun and fiery Mars are in your sign. This makes you charismatic and convincing when talking to friends, groups or conferences. It's a great day to teach and learn. It's a good day to make long-range goals for the future. Make a list. Tonight: Mingle!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ People notice you today! Quite likely, they will see you as purposeful and intent on achieving your goals. Discussions about earnings, cash flow and possessions will be conservative, realistic and successful. Tonight: Show respect.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★★ Today you want some stimulation or a little novelty! Travel would be ideal. Don't underestimate how much you will enjoy seeing a store, restaurant or someplace you've never been before in your own town. Sports and team efforts will appeal to you. Cooperation is key today. Tonight: Explore!

Veteran guard Rubio says his NBA career is over

By Tom Withers
Associated Press

CLEVELAND — With uncommon vision on the basketball court, Ricky Rubio could make a basic pass look extraordinary.

A true playmaker.

After stepping away from his playing career — and the Cleveland Cavaliers — this season to address mental health issues that he's still working on, Rubio said Thursday that his NBA career is over after 12 seasons.

The 33-year-old Rubio, who has also had a distinguished international career with Spain, alluded to his recent struggles while adding that he's "doing much better and getting better every day."

Rubio's announcement on X, formerly known as Twitter, came after he and the Cavs came to an agreement on a contract buyout, a person familiar with the negotiations told The Associated Press.

The Cavs will get some financial relief from his $6.1 million this year and $6.4 million for 2024-25, said the person, who spoke on condition of anonymity because the sides were still finalizing details of the package.

Rubio has spent the past two seasons recovering from a torn knee ligament, an injury that was not only a personal blow but a major setback for a Cleveland team he had helped get turned around following consecutive 19-win seasons.

Rubio was limited to just 33 games last season, and had lost any explosiveness following his second ACL injury.

He didn't report to training camp this season, and Rubio posted on social media that "July 30th was one of the toughest nights of my life."

"My mind went to a dark place. I kind of knew I was going on (sic) that direction, but I never thought I wasn't under control of the situation. The next day, I decided to stop my professional career."

Rubio said he hopes to share his experiences going forward "so I can help support others going through similar situations. Until then, I would like to keep it private out of respect for my family and myself, as I'm still working on my mental health."

Rubio had a major impact in his first season with Cleveland as his veteran presence helped many of the team's young players, and he was able to reunite with good friend and former teammate Kevin Love, himself a mental health advocate.

Rubio has been on the international basketball stage since he was a teenager, first catching the eye of scouts and fans as a 14-year-old hoops prodigy. He won an Olympic silver medal in 2008, a bronze in 20012 and was named FIBA World Cup MVP in 2019.

He was drafted in the first round by the Minnesota Timberwolves in 2009 and spent seven seasons with the team before going to Utah.

Rubio thanked all his teams, especially Cleveland and Koby Altman, the team's president of basketball operations, and coach J.B. Bickerstaff.

Ekeler

Ekeler said he would like to continue playing, but will assess all his options going into the offseason, when he will be an unrestricted free agent.

"I think I'm going to be real selective on where I play next season," said Ekeler, who is averaging a career-low 3.7 yards per carry. "This season has been a collective of not good things happening. It's hard to be like this is the reason why, in my opinion. The product on the field hasn't been at a level where it needs to be for us to win."

Kellen Moore was hired as offensive coordinator to help improve the run game. Ekeler had 117 yards rushing for his fifth career 100-yard game in the opener against Miami as the Chargers had 234 yards on the ground in a 36-34 loss.

It has all gone downhill since. Ekeler missed the next four games because of a high ankle sprain and has only four games since Week 1 with more than 50 yards rushing.

The Chargers — 5-11 and on a four-game losing streak — are ranked 25th in the league in rushing, averaging 95.3 yards per game. Take away the Miami game, though, and that average dips to 86.1 yards on the ground, which is third-worst over the past 15 games.

Ekeler also hasn't factored into the passing game much since the Chargers have gone to a more downfield attack, even with backup quarterback Easton Stick under center following a season-ending injury to Justin Herbert with four games remaining. The Bolts have also been without wide receivers Keenan Allen and Joshua Palmer.

"It hasn't been there because of the philosophies. There's a whole bunch of other things too that play into it, and then maybe me not playing as well," Ekeler said. "It's an accumulation of things that have kind of put ourselves in a position where we haven't been playing at the highest level."

Ekeler generated plenty of headlines during the offseason when the Chargers granted his request to seek a trade after the two sides weren't able to agree to a contract extension. Former general manager Tom Telesco ended up giving Ekeler a bump in salary for the season, when he was making $8 million. Telesco and coach Brandon Staley were fired on Dec. 15.

One of the immediate areas where a new coach and general manager will need to focus is at running back. Joshua Kelley will also be a free agent, and second-year back Isaiah Spiller has had a tough time getting on the field.

NOTES: Interim coach Giff Smith said the chances Allen and linebacker Joey Bosa will be able to play on Sunday are slim. Allen has missed the past four games because of a heel injury and Bosa remains on injured reserve after suffering a foot injury Nov. 19 at Green Bay. "Their bodies haven't progressed like we thought they would and they thought they would," Smith said. "I'm not going to rule anybody out on a Wednesday, but it's been a long time since they've played the game, so it'll probably be difficult." ... Linebacker Kenneth Murray Jr. (shoulder) and guard Zion Johnson (neck) also did not practice, but Smith left open the possibility of both playing.

Brothers

"I've never seen either of them have as much fun with their team as they're having now," said Joani Crean, their younger sister. "It brings a pure smile to my face."

The family should be used to the publicity by now. At the end of the 2012 season, John's Ravens defeated Jim's San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl. Jim took over the Michigan program after the 2014 season and now has the Wolverines playing for the national championship.

Of course, Jim has also been as polarizing as ever this season, suspended once by his school amid allegations of recruiting violations, and then by the Big Ten during the fallout from Michigan's sign-stealing scandal. Through all of that, John Harbaugh was quick to support his brother, saying at one point that Jim had "come through this thing with flying colors" and that an investigation into Jim's phones and computers had turned up nothing of substance.

Lately, the mood at Michigan has been far more celebratory. After Monday's semifinal victory over Alabama at the Rose Bowl, Jack Harbaugh and his wife Jackie — the parents of Jim, John and Joani — did an exuberant, endearing interview for WXYZ, a TV station in Detroit. Jack said at a key moment in the game, he and Jackie superstitiously traded seats.

"That is so classic of them. ... It probably did make the difference," John Harbaugh said Wednesday. "My dad is fun, but he's a little bit polished, he's been interviewed before. My mom — you put a microphone in front of her face, or you hang out with her for a couple of minutes, you don't even have to ask her what she thinks, she's going to tell you what she thinks."

Jack was an assistant coach at Michigan under Bo Schembechler, and Jim played quarterback there during the mid-1980s. John was a defensive back at Miami of Ohio. The family's saying — "Who's got it better than us?" — is one Jim has made somewhat famous. And John has worn a Ravens-colored shirt with that question on it at practice.

With the Harbaughs in charge, the ties between the Ravens and Michigan run deep. "The team, the team, the team" — one of Schembechler's mantras — is on the wall at the Ravens' facility.

When Jim Harbaugh was on shaky ground at Michigan before the 2021 season, he hired Ravens linebackers coach Mike Macdonald as his defensive coordinator. After helping the Wolverines win a Big Ten title, Macdonald came back to Baltimore to be the defensive coordinator there. Now it's Jesse Minter, who was on John Harbaugh's staff with the Ravens from 2017-2020, who runs the Michigan defense.

"Michigan and the Ravens is a very similar culture because of the men running it, Jim and John Harbaugh," said Ben Mason, a former Michigan player who is now a fullback on Baltimore's practice squad.

The Ravens finish the regular season Saturday, then have a first-round bye in the playoffs.

Mason said he could "potentially" go to the Michigan-Washington game Monday in Houston. John Harbaugh is heading down there with his wife Ingrid.

Crean is married to ESPN analyst Tom Crean, the former basketball coach at Marquette, Indiana and Georgia. She lives in Florida but was at Michigan's victory over Ohio State and the Ravens' preseason game at Tampa Bay. Like John Harbaugh, she's planning to be in Houston to watch Jim.

"Everybody in a family has a different personality. They care about the same things," she said. "Maybe they go about things differently, but I think that's more of a perception than reality. They're caring human beings. I know people don't want to hear that, but that's the truth. You can't fake things in a locker room, or a building, in sports and there's nothing fake about them and that's part of why they're successful."

Texans

"He's not afraid to make those big throws. He's always looking downfield to make a big play," Buckner said. "He extends plays really well using his feet. He just knows how to get the guys going, he brings a lot of juice to the game for that team and we've got to do a really good job defensively and really just apply pressure."

FIGHTING THROUGH

Houston rookie defensive end Will Anderson Jr., the No. 3 overall draft pick behind Stroud, returned last week after missing two games with an ankle injury. Though he was back on the field, he was not 100%, played limited snaps and still had two sacks.

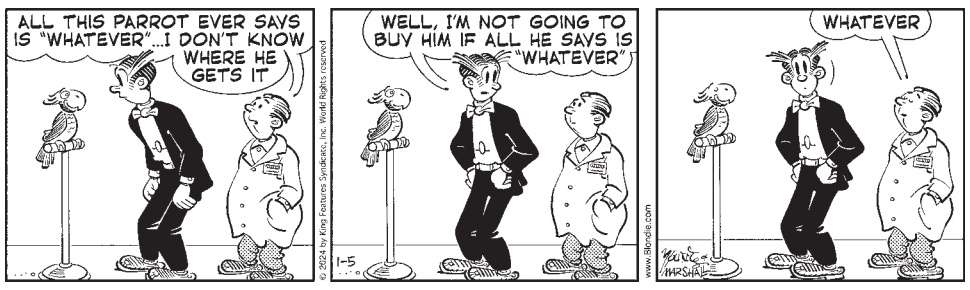

"He has that relentless mindset that he's going to be out there no matter what and he's going to find a way to help us win games," Ryans said. "Love Will for his mindset, love him for his toughness, and just his will to win."

Anderson broke the Texans' franchise rookie record for sacks last week. With seven this season, he has now passed Whitney Mercilus and Brooks Reed, who each had six as rookies.

AP Sports Writer Kristie Rieken in Houston also contributed to this report.

WHAT'S NEW ON PEACOCK

"Ted"

Go back to the very beginning with Peacock's new comedic prequel event to the Ted films, when "Ted" debuts with seven episodes Thursday, Jan. 11. Produced by UCP, a division of Universal Studio Group, Fuzzy Door and MRC, the series heads back to 1993, as Ted (Seth MacFarlane, "Family Guy"), the sentient teddy bear, finds that his moment of fame has passed and he's back to living in Framingham, Massachusetts, with his best friend, 16-year-old John Bennett (Max Burkholder, "Parenthood"), as well as John's parents, Matty (Scott Grimes, "The Orville") and Susan (Alanna Ubach, "Girlfriends' Guide to Divorce"), and his cousin Blaire (Giorgia Whigham, "The Punisher"). While Ted may be a terrible influence on John, getting the pair into endless trouble, he still remains a loyal companion who's willing to risk everything for their friendship. Created, written and directed by MacFarlane, "Ted" also features writing by Dana Gould ("Stan Against Evil"), Julius Sharpe ("United We Fall") and "Modern Family's" Paul Corrigan, Brad Walsh and John Pollack. The series cast also includes Ara Hollyday ("Asteroid City," 2023), Liz Richman ("Little America"), Jacob Zelonky ("A Dance Story," 2019), Dustin Pewitt ("9-1-1: Lone Star"), Francesca Xuereb ("The Sex Lives of College Girls") and Erin Moore ("He Went That Way," 2023).

"The Traitors" - Season 2

Back with more adventure and deceit, Season 2 of "The Traitors" premieres Friday, Jan. 12, on Peacock. Hosted and produced by Alan Cumming ("The Good Wife"), this new season sees some of the entertainment industry's most competitive reality stars and famous faces taking on the ultimate murder mystery game. Set at an ancient castle set deep in the Scottish Highlands, the show challenges the contestants to work together, as they take on a series of exhilarating missions that will help them build up a prize fund worth up to $250,000. However, hidden in plain sight amongst the Faithful — the team members truly working together — are the Traitors, whose goal is to "murder" the Faithful one by one, eliminating them from the game in order to take the prize for themselves. And the stakes are high, because "if the Faithful contestants banish all the Traitors, they will share the prize fund, but if a Traitor or Traitors makes it to the end, they will steal all the money" (per Peacock). This season also features an after-show following each episode, called "The Traitors Postmortem," which includes additional footage and interviews with eliminated contestants. Hoping to fight their way to the bitter end, the Season 2 contestants are: Carsten "Bergie" Bergersen, from "Love Island USA"; Chris 'C.T.' Tamburello, Johnny "Bananas" Devenanzio and Trishelle Cannatella from "The Challenge"; Dan Gheesling and Janelle Pierzina from "Big Brother"; professional boxer and former boxing heavyweight champion Deontay Wilder; Ekin-Su Culculoglu from "Love Island UK"; former Speaker of the U.K. House of Commons, John Bercow; "Bling Empire's" Kevin Kreider; "The Real Housewives of Miami" star Larsa Pippen; fashion entrepreneur Marcus Jordan; Maksim Chmerkovskiy from "Dancing with the Stars"; Mercedes "MJ" Javid from "Shahs of Sunset"; "Survivor" contestants Parvati Shallow and Sandra Diaz-Twine; Peppermint from "RuPaul's Drag Race"; Peter Weber from "The Bachelor"; Phaedra Parks from "Married to Medicine"; Shereé Whitfield of "The Real Housewives of Atlanta"; and Tamra Judge from "The Real Housewives of Orange County."

WHAT'S NEW ON HULU

"Self Reliance" (2023)

After months of delays, writer, actor and producer Jake Johnson's ("New Girl") feature film directorial debut finally makes it to the screen. The new comedy thriller "Self Reliance" premieres Friday, Jan. 12, on Hulu. Offered $1 million to take part in a reality game show where assassins all over the world have 30 days to try to kill him, Tommy (Johnson) thinks he's found the perfect loophole: they can only attack when he's alone. But, when none of his family believe the game is real, Tommy finds himself fighting to stay alive with the help of an unlikely team and learning that he has a lot to live for along the way. Anna Kendrick ("Love Life"), Natalie Morales ("Dead to Me"), Andy Samberg ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine"), GaTa ("Dave"), Wayne Brady ("Whose Line Is It Anyway?"), Emily Hampshire ("Schitt's Creek"), Mary Holland ("Happiest Season," 2020), basketball player Boban Marjanovic (of the NBA's Houston Rockets), Christopher Lloyd ("Back to the Future," 1985) and Daryl J. Johnson ("Friends in Therapy") also star.

WHAT'S NEW ON PRIME VIDEO

"Role Play" (2024)

Try out something new with the action thriller "Role Play," premiering on Prime Video Friday, Jan. 12. Emma (Kaley Cuoco, "The Big Bang Theory") has a seemingly perfect life in the New Jersey suburbs with her husband, Dave (David Oyelowo, "Lawmen: Bass Reeves"), and their two kids, but what her family doesn't know is that Emma leads a secret double life as an assassin for hire. Deciding that they need to spice up their marriage with some role play, Dave and Emma meet as "strangers" at a hotel bar in New York City. But, when the mysterious older man (Bill Nighy, "About Time," 2013) who was buying them drinks the whole night at the bar winds up dead the next day, the couple's innocent game turns into a high-stakes mystery. Directed by Thomas Vincent ("Bodyguard") and written by Seth W. Owen ("Morgan," 2016), "Role Play" also stars Connie Nielsen ("Gladiator," 2000), Rudi Dharmalingam ("The Lazarus Project"), Lucia Aliu ("Hijack") and new talent Reagan Bryan-Gudgeon.

Anna Kendrick, Gata and Jake Johnson in "Self Reliance"

WHAT'S NEW ON NETFLIX

"Lift" (2024)

The stakes are sky high in the new action crime comedy film, "Lift," premiering Friday, Jan. 12, on Netflix. Led by Cyrus Whitaker (Kevin Hart, "True Story"), an intrepid international heist crew is hired to do what they do best: rob the rich. What should be a simple lift — nabbing $500 million — is made just a touch more complicated than they're used to when they find out the job is set to happen on a plane mid-flight. On top of that, they'll (hopefully) stop a terrorist attack along the way. Starring alongside Hart in the film are Gugu Mbatha-Raw ("Loki") as Interpol agent Abby Gladwell; Vincent D'Onofrio ("Godfather of Harlem") as Denton, a master of disguise and Cyrus's close friend; Úrsula Corberó ("Money Heist") as Camila, the team's gifted getaway driver; Billy Magnussen ("Mad For Love") as Magnus, a genial safecracker; Jacob Batalon ("Spider-Man: Homecoming," 2017) as the mysterious digital artist N8; Jean Reno ("Léon: The Professional," 1994) as investment banker Lars Jorgensen; and Sam Worthington ("Avatar," 2009) as Dennis Huxley, Abby's boss at Interpol. Directed by F. Gary Gray ("The Italian Job," 2003), "Lift" is written by Daniel Kunka ("12 Rounds," 2009).

WHAT'S NEW ON PARAMOUNT+

"SkyMed" - Season 2

Following the trials, tribulations and triumphs of some of Canada's bravest, the high-stakes drama series "SkyMed" returns Friday, Jan. 12, to Paramount+ for its second season. "Weaving together intense personal journeys with jaw-dropping medical rescues in the most remote conditions" (per Paramount+), the series looks at the lives of a team of young medics and pilots who fly air ambulances across Northern Canada. Diving into the new season, the diverse group of first responders take on even bigger, more intense emergencies as they lay it all on the line for their patients — and each other. This season, Natasha Calis ("Nurses"), Morgan Holmstrom ("Day of the Dead"), Praneet Akilla ("Motherland: Fort Salem"), "Ace" Aason Nadjiwon ("Arrow"), Mercedes Morris ("Slasher"), Thomas Elms ("The Order"), Kheon Clarke ("Gabby Duran & The Unsittables"), Braeden Clarke ("Outlander"), Emilia McCarthy ("Zombies," 2018) and Aaron Ashmore ("Ginny & Georgia") return to the cast, alongside new series regulars Sydney Kuhne ("Ginny & Georgia"), Ryan Ali ("Foundation") and Nadine Whiteman-Roden ("Take Note") as Dr. Yana Noah. The series comes from creator Julie Puckrin ("Motive").
